BOARD OF EDUCATION

Tecumseh School District No. 11

To All Residents of Our School District (Special attention Parents and Grandparents:

Is your school child's future worth four minutes of your time? That's all it takes to read this letter.

Your Board of Education is taking this opportunity to share with you the extremely serious problems confronting your public schools at this moment. We are also asking your help in solving some of them.

As you know, during the last several years we have acquired a deficit of approximately $164,000 in the operation of our schools. Two years ago a requested two mill operating levy was defeated at the polls as was a request for four mills for five years last spring. In keeping with our policy of living within our income, the Board of Education immediately reduced services and instruction offered by the schools so that we have operated on a balanced budget this year. However, only a small amount has been available for reduction of the debt.

After one year of such operation, the estimated debt at this time is still $150,000, and it appears we shall be unable to retire this deficit in the foreseeable future, even though we continue these current reductions in service and education. We find there are two courses of action open for us to follow in an effort to pay this debt. 1.) We can ask for enough millage from voters to pay this deficit in the next two years, at the same time maintaining our reduced operating budget and reduced services. 2.) We can reduce further our operating costs by making drastic cuts in the educational opportunities offered our children and eliminating instruction which we feel to be vitally important to our children. Even with such drastic cuts in the educational program, the debt could not be retired for many years to come.

After long study and careful consideration of these alternatives, your Board of Education has come to the conclusion that the first course is the best for us to follow. This would allow us to retain reasonable educational standards while retiring the debt in the next two years. For this reason we have decided to ask the voters to approve a four mill operating levy for a period of two years only. This election will be held March 20th.

If this millage is passed, our schools will retire the operating debt in two years. To assure the district voters that this millage will be used primarily for debt retirement, certain further reductions in services must take place to allow re-instatement of first grades to full days, and to allow some required revisions in the business management of the public schools. These reductions include elimination of our complete physical education program in the grades; elimination of all clubs, annual, school papers unless they become self-supporting; elimination of art supplies for our grade schools; and curtailment of school library services.

Your Board feels that our school system has grown in size to the point that one person cannot adequately fill the positions of both educational and business supervisor. For this reason we plan to hire a business manager to supervise the business affairs of the schools. A large part of the funds required for this adjustment would come from eliminating the post of Director of Elementary education, the duties of which would be assumed by the superintendent and elementary principals.

Your Board of Education also feels it necessary to advise the voters of the course of action which would be necessary in the event the millage issue fails. In addition to the above mentioned loss of educational opportunites, it would be necessary to make cuts in most of the following areas, all of which are under consideration at the present time by the Board of Education as probable "money saving" areas.

1. Elimination of all instrumental and vocal music in the schools.
2. Elimination of all high school athletic programs including varsity and team athletics.
3. Reduction of school library services in all categories.
4. Decrease in length of school days in junior and senior high schools.
5. Elimination of all physical education programs in the high school.
6. Reduction in high school counselling service.
7. Reduction to half days sessions of third, fourth, fifth, and sixth grades, Individually or some combination thereof.
8. Elimination of noon supervision paid for from Board funds.

It is realized that such education losses are severe blows to our children's development, and that they will inevitably result in the Tecumseh Schools no longer being accredited by the North Central Association. Such loss of accreditation will handicap or make impossible the efforts of our graduates to enter many of our colleges and universities. Even with these drastic cuts, it would take many years to retire the deficit.

Your Board of Education requests that you give these matters your most urgent, serious, and prayerful consideration. Tomorrow's America is in our schools and your hands today. Are you willing to deny them an education adequate to prepare them as leaders of America and the free world?

We earnestly solicit your YES vote on the four mill proposal March 20, 1962. The polls will be open 7:00 A.M. to 8:00 P.M. in the High School Cafeteria.

Your Board of Education,

Aden Mead, President
Dwight Hodges, Secretary

Sixty Take National Merit Scholarship Test

Sixty students at Tecumseh High School took the 1962 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test March 8.

The qualifying test of three hours duration gives the students taking the [illegible] opportunity to be considered for Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1963.

This test is the first step in the eighth annual competition for four-year Merit Scholarships provided by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation and by sponsoring corporations, foundations, associations, unions and individuals.

The test scores of students who are examined in March will be reported to their schools by May 15.

The scores are used by the high school counselors to help students make decisions about college attendance and field of study.

Many students who do not expect to win a scholarship take the test in order to learn more about their individual strengths and weaknesses in the areas measured by the test.

Some 10,000 semifinalists, the highest scorers in the state, will be named early next fall. Names of semifinalists are published in a booklet which is distributed to all colleges and to other sources of financial aid for undergraduates.

Further, their names and test scores are sent to the colleges they express an interest in attending.

An additional 25,000 students, selected on a national basis, receive letters of commendation for their high performance on the qualifying test.

Each semifinalist will be asked to take a second examination. Those who repeat their high performance will become finalists in the Merit Program.

Each year that the test has been given, Tecumseh High School students, who performed well on the test, have received letters of commendation or were named as semifinalists.

ARTIST'S RENDERING OF PROPOSED NEW ST. PETER'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH, WHICH WILL SEAT 300, OFFER MUCH GREATER PARISH HALL FACILITIES

Economy Will Improve

Lenawee and other counties of Southeastern Michigan will share in Michigan's improved economy this year, [illegible] reports Dr. Paul A. Herbert, chief of the research division of the Michigan Economic Development Department.

In forecasting a marked gain in the state's economy in 1962, which will be greater during the first half, Dr. Herbert said the Southeastern Michigan region should show much improvement during the year.

He said this region's economy [illegible] will largely dependent upon the production of durable goods.

The overall improvement in the state should continue during the second half of the year, but with less acceleration.

There is a slight possibility that the present national business cycle peak may be reached before the end of the year, and if so, it would also affect Michigan's recovery somewhat, Dr. Herbert said.

In any case, the state's economy will be at a higher level in 1962 than it was in either 1960 or 1961.

However, even an optimistic prediction for 1962 does not suggest that Michigan will have recaptured its earlier economic position among the several states.

Personal income as well as wage rates will be higher than they were in 1960 and 1961. The total labor force probably will remain relatively stationary and total number employed rise considerably; so unemployment will be lower than in 1960 or 1961.

Nevertheless, the unemployment rate will continue to be considerably higher than the national average.

Midshipman Richard Palmer Guest at Base

PENSOCOLA, Fla.-Midshipman first class Richard L. Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood J. Palmer of Britton, was a guest of the Naval Air Basic Training Command at the Naval Air Base Training Command at the Naval Air Station, here Feb. 5-6, for an introduction to naval aviation.

Along with other members of Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps units from colleges throughout the U.S., he was given an extensive tour of the air station, which included the School of Aviation Medicine, a survival exhibit and the training aircraft carrier USS Antietam.

In addition the visitors were afforded the opportunity to take demonstration flights in training aircraft.

Midn. Palmer is a senior at the University of Michigan, majoring in education.

New St. Peter's Will Seat 300, Cost $210,000

The new St. Peter's Episcopal Church and Parish House will greatly increase parish facilities.

Seating in the church proper will jump from 200 to 300.

The Parish House is being greatly enlarged and will feature a giant 34x60' room, which can be cut into quarters by folding doors. As a single unit it will seat 200.

Both the basement and first floor of the existing Parish House will be remodeled. All told, the new setup will provide space for 15 classrooms.

There also will be a 12x18' chapel which will contain the present altar and be used for weekday morning services. It will be next to the pastor's office.

Kitchen facilities will be moved so as to open onto the new, large room at one end and smaller rooms from the other side.

Facing to the south, the new church will be 47x99' in size, finished in Indiana limestone. It will have a peaked roof, topped with a long, copper spire and cross, containing a bell and chimes.

The front door will open into a narthex or vestibule, which will be divided from the church proper by a series of windows.

A high altar, situated centrally in the large sanctuary, is to be backed with an original carving of the Lord's Supper. A small prayer chapel will be located at one side of the sanctuary.

In a gallery over the narthex the organ and choir will be placed.

Marr & Marr, the architects, were careful to locate the building in such a manner as to save all but two of the existing trees in the parish's triangular lot.

Much of the present Church St., which will angle to the north of the structures, will be converted into parking areas to hold 70 automobiles.

St. Peter's building program will cost $210,000. A gift of $180,000 has already been given the parish. Balance of the fund will come in gifts from members.

The Macon Community Club will be held Tuesday, March 20, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton F. Moore. Supper will be served at 7:00.

WONDER WHEN YOU SPENT YOUR MONEY LAST YEAR? A cash expense budget will show this beforehand. A simple yearly budget can be prepared from last year's income tax return, with minor adjustments for any changes you have in mind for this year. A well-planned budget will show how much expense you have to meet and when it will come. It will help you eliminate those empty spots where expenses outrun income, and will be invaluable when you need to borrow money. Do it now, not next summer.

NARROW ROW SOYBEANS have consistently increased yields 10% to 15% in the North Central area. However, machinery problems, particularly cultivation, make it impractical for many farmers. With a normal yield of 30 bushels per acre, narrow row spacing will add about 4 bushels per acre or $8 or $9. Considering the cost of the extra equipment and trouble of changing tractor wheel width, a farmer must have about 60 acres of soybeans to break even.

BREED DAIRY HEIFERS AT AN EARLY AGE — 15 or 16 months, if they have had good growth. Cornell tests have shown that it will put their milk production nearly a year ahead of heifers bred only 6 months later. To assure good growth, feed young stock high quality roughage supplemented with grain, if necessary. Holsteins at 15 to 16 months should weigh 750 to 800 lbs.; Guernseys, 575 to 600 lbs.; and Jerseys, 500 to 550 lbs.

GET BREAKING PLOWS IN SHAPE NOW. Check plow points and landslides to be sure they are not worn too thin. Examine and grease rolling-coulter bearings and replace them if they are worn. Be certain the coulters are sharp and set right. You can save expensive delays for repair later by having equipment ready to go now.

TO THE EDITORS:

In the next few days, the voters of Tecumseh will have to make a decision. The outcome will determine whether we pay more for education at the local level or whether educational services in Tecumseh will be further reduced.

Should the latter be the case, the Tecumseh Junior High School will undoubtedly be under consideration as one area in which to reduce services. What would be those reductions and what would be their effect on our junior high school youth?

There is no doubt that the reduction would mean the elimination of those courses from the curriculum generally considered non-academic. To a few people this would not engender any great alarm, for they view these courses as "frills".

But are they?

To properly weigh this we should review the essential nature and purposes of the junior high school.

Junior high schools were established because it is believed that boys and girls during early adolescent years need special consideration. This consideration is concerned not only with intellectual growth of boys and girls but also with other aspects of child growth and development.

For instance, we are concerned with the physical development of adolescents, their emotional problems, their ability to get along with others, good citizenship qualities, leadership skills, cultural interests, chances in boy and girl relationships, social skills and avocational interests.

This concern is further amplified when we are aware that the pupils intellectual development is greatly influenced by his growth in these other areas.

We know that youths emotional problems, their difficulties in social relationship and their physical development may have a direct bearing on their progress in reading and other language skills, their interest in academic subjects and their attitudes toward the program of the school as a whole.

It is because of these factors that it is considered important for junior high school pupils to have experiences in many subjects, activities and areas of interest. These subjects besides the basic areas of academic knowledge are the study of music and art, industrial arts, home and family living, group orientation, health and physical education.

In a nation such as ours, whose very position in the world has been determined in a large part by the education system it has built, any thought of reducing its educational facilities to youth should be viewed with alarm.

This is especially so in view of the competitive position we have been forced into by our Communist adversaries.

Russia spends an amount on education which translated into our economy would be in the neighborhood of $500 a child.

A very few schools in the United States exceed this figure—a few equal it, but the vast majority are considerably below. Tecumseh is no exception.

Of course any reduction will save money, but in the long run it may be the most expensive savings our country has ever known.

David J. Dick
Principal
Junior High School

—o—

TO THE EDITORS:

If our school officials would present more straight forward facts and fewer, wearisome half-truths and sermons on duty, they would find the average taxpayer more receptive.

The assessed (equalized) valuation of property in the Tecumseh school district is $34,180,883.

A four-mill tax on this amount, for two years, would produce $273,447.06. This would retire our debt of $150,000 and leave an expendable balance of $123,447.06.

Why then the pretense that this tax is for two years only?

Clara M. Waldron

Editor's note: The board is figuring that the four mills would bring in $280,000 in two years. After the $150,000 debt is paid off the "surplus" will be used for operation, as follows:

1. Return all first grades back to full days.

2. Re-Open Macon School (first and second grades) and West Branch School (probably second, third and fourth grades.) This will cost $23,000 per year, or $46,000 for two-year period.

3. Due to another 100 in school enrollment, based on present enrollment and school census, hire three new teachers. This would cost approximately $15,000 or $30,000 for two-year period.

4. In second year, based on another 100 students, hire three more teachers, at approximately $15,000.

5. District is no longer receiving $25,000-per-year gift, which it has been getting for past four years and using for operations. Over two years this totals $50,000.

6. This totals $141,000 operational money over a two-year period, actually $11,000 more than the "surplus" from the four mills.

To help offset this, all elementary physical education is being dropped next year at a savings of $10,500.

—o—

TO THE EDITORS:

The State Constitution is the fundamental law of the state.

I should establish the framework of government, allowing freedom to the elected representatives of the people and at the same time protecting the people from abuse and authority.

Nominees to state government should know the meaning of the word "responsible" which means answerable — fit to be trusted with carrying out of a charge or duty, able and ready to meet obligations.

Financial inaction of state government to schools has caused our school board to borrow money to operate. Interest costs $4,500 per year.

Don't depend on state government for help at this time.

Vote "Yes" for the four-mill tax March 20.

Let's all be responsible.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

WHEN THE THAW COMES

A roaring Friday night blizzard dropped inches and inches of snow on our already snow-covered town. Saturday dawned clear and beautiful, the sky was a brilliant blue and the sun summer-time bright. A perfect day, winter at its best.

By Monday the temperature had done a dipsy-doodle and climbed into the mid 40's; thus our pretty snow scene watching ended but the excitement of a sudden thaw began.

At first there were three patches of water on the snow and ice-choked creek. Gradually these became larger and finally a small trickle connected them. The trickle became wider and the spots increasingly large 'til finally the whole surface was wet.

At this stage the water was but a few inches deep, lying upon the whole winter's accumulation of snow and ice. There was no current to ripple the surface and so we had one long, wide reflecting pool.

The dark thick trunks of the trees and Doctor's green bridge were mirrored perfectly—it was a lovely sight.

☆

AS THE thaw continued and the water rose, the reflections wriggled and waved and were completely washed out.

About this time the two drainage tiles, one up back of the duck's house, the other just a short way over on the bank started spilling slushy melted snow and ice.

This is what we had been waiting for because, with the run off from the streets pouring in, things would really start happening.

THE WATER started rising fast, we watched it climbing up the cement block foundations of Doctor's bridge. There was a current now too, a strong one.

The water raced along; it was awesome to see how fast and angry our creek had become. People who know Evans Creek in the summer as a quiet peaceful meandering little stream would not believe its sudden change of character—they would not recognize its wild ragings.

☆

AS THE creek rises, it of course spreads out. A high bank holds the water in check on our side but across the creek is a low flat expanse easily flooded.

About ten o'clock Monday night the folks looked out; Laidlaws had their yard lights on—I wonder if they found watching the creek rise as fascinating as the folks did.

The next morning water was everywhere; trees, the fence and wood piles all had wet feet. Across the creek was completely flooded, it was more as if we lived by a pond or lake than a little stream.

☆

A DROP in temperature and instead of wet feet everything suddenly had icy feet. While the water was high, it froze and so the bridge which, when the creek freezes at its normal level, the kids skate under easily, was only the height of two cement blocks above the ice.

A sudden rise in temperature or warm rain will really fix things up. This would not only raise the creek more but would jam it with cakes and blocks of ice.

It will be noisy too, the roar of the water will be joined by the cracking and grinding of ice.

So it is that living by a creek is exciting-there is always something interesting happening; this time of year we look forward to the excitement of the ice going out when the thaw comes.

Program on Aaron Copland

Mrs. Perry Hayden was hostess for the Tecumseh Music Club's February meeting.

Mrs. Hayden, assisted by Mrs. C. B. Brock, carried out a George Washington theme with the serving of cherry tarts and axe shaped cookies with tea and coffee.

The program on Aaron Copland was efficiently presented by Mrs. Ray Sommers. An original playlet by Mrs. Sommers was given with several club members in the cast. They were:

Lottie—Mrs. Ashley Chase

Grace—Mrs. J. Maynard Mulvaney

Agatha—Mrs. Fred Oberlin

Kate—Mrs. Sommers

During the play, the chapter entitled "America's Music" from the book, "Copland on Music" by Gilbert Chase was read by Agatha.

Mrs. Arthur Schwartz played a piano solo, "The Cat and the Mouse" by Copland.

A record, "El Salon Mexico", by the Boston Pops Arthur Fielder orchestra was played.

Members learned that Aaron Copland is the only musician who makes his complete living by writing music.

Following the program, Mrs. Hayden played a record of the music of the Mennonite Church Men's Chorus of Berne, Ind.

The next meeting will be held March 20 at the Presbyterian Church.

Quiz on Missionaries

Missionary Society of Tecumseh Friends Church met Feb. 22 in the church basement.

Mrs. Harold Righter led in the devotional program, with Naomi Sallows reading from the scripture concerning St. Peter's being questioned by our Lord three times concerning his love for Him.

Mrs. Charles Staples, Mrs. John Kelley, Mabel Lockwood, Mrs. Melvin Muhn, Mrs. Clark Pearson and Mrs. Percy Slater also participated.

A discussion on the missionary retreat of area Friends churches was held followed by a quiz, led by Miss Lockwood, on the various missionaries serving in India and Formosa.

Bandages were rolled for the Friends Mission Hospital in India.

Mrs. George Watson led in prayer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Righter and Mrs. Sheldon Chase.

Profits Fall, Scholarships Endangered

It is quite probable, according to Mrs. Charles Newell, chairman, that the Lenawee District Nurses Association will be able to give only one scholarship this year.

The "Spring Frolic," sponsored by the nurses to raise scholarship money, was poorly attended and a profit of less than $200 realized by the group.

The Tecumseh Country Club was beautifully decorated with forsythia and hanging bird cages.

The buffet table was enhanced with two compotes holding yellow candles and spring flowers.

Dancing was to the music by Ken Edwards orchestra.

The scholarship fund, which is reimbursed each year with profit from the dance, was established in memory of Freda Butts, Jessie Imerson and Jennie Gillespie.

These ladies were all registered nurses and charter members of the association. They spent most of their nursing years in Lenawee County.

Trouble that looks like a mountain from a distance, usually is only a hill when you get to it.

What's different about Rambler's rustproofing?
It goes all the way up to the roof. Only Rambler has Deep-Dip rustproofing—entire body immersed in primer paint right up to roof—plus 8 other body rustproofing steps.
What's different about Rambler's brakes?
They stop when other brakes can't. Double-Safety Brake System has tandem master cylinders. If front brakes fail, rear brakes still work and vice versa. Self-adjusting brakes standard, too.
What's different about Rambler's headroom?
It's greater than any other American car's. Rambler Classic 6 and Ambassador V-8 beat all other makes in front-seat headroom (even Cadillac!)—can seat six 6-footers easily.
What's different about Rambler's muffler and tailpipe?
They won't rust out. Ceramic-Armored muffler, tailpipe guaranteed against defect as long as you own your new Rambler. If either rusts out, collision damage excepted, a Rambler dealer makes free replacement.
What's different about Rambler's prices?
They're America's lowest. Only Rambler brings you America's lowest suggested retail prices for convertible, 2-door and 4-door sedans and wagons—all quality-built with Rambler excellence.

Con-Con Keeps Township Setup

By CHARLES FIGY

Township government will be maintained in Michigan, the Constitutional Convention has decided.

An effort to eliminate the constitutional status of townships and leave their future up to the Legislature was defeated on the floor of the convention by an 88 to 41 vote.

Thus, the large majority of delegates demonstrated their faith in the township form of government as one which provides valuable service to the people.

The vote came on a proposal to eliminate all reference to townships in the Constitution and permit the Legislature to keep them or to consolidate their functions into other units of government.

The discussion and resultant vote was part of extended debate on the future form of local government in Michigan.

One of the most important provisions in the Constitution, the sections on local government, have provoked considerable controversy with many different ideas offered and discussed.

The argument over this section and those including metropolitan authority and local home rule, a compromise version of which has just had its approval under General Orders, will continue for some time.

Convictions are deep on these points and almost everyone wants to have his say.

One section adopted on the floor will assist local governments in carrying out their responsibilities. This section reads:

"The provisions of this Constitution and the laws of this state concerning municipal corporations shall be liberally construed in their favor. Powers granted to counties and townships by this Constitution and the laws of the state of Michigan shall include those expressly granted or fairly implied and not inconsistent with nor prohibited by this Constitution."

In adopting this proposal, the delegates were motivated by a desire to assist local governments and prevent their being hampered by undue restrictions.

Some declared that this would start townships and counties on the same road to home rule already taken by cities and that it would improve local government operations.

Landrum-Griffin Bill Lauded

WASHINGTON — The Landrum-Griffin Act, co-sponsored by Michigan's Ninth District Congressman Robert P. Griffin, is lauded in an article entitled "Labor's Court of Last Resort" in the March issue of The Reader's Digest.

Congressman Griffin was feature speaker at the recent Republican Lincoln Day Banquet here.

The article, written by Irwin Ross and condensed from the Feb. 5 edition of The New Leader, points out that the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959, popularly known as the Landrum-Griffin Act, has earned the respect of rank-and-file members and local union officials.

It protects union members against abuse of power by their officials. It makes embezzlement of union funds a federal crime and opens union financial records to scrutiny of rank-and-file members.

The Act provides for members a Bill of Rights; sets standards for fair elections and trusteeships; requires union officials to be bonded to assure faithful discharge of their duties and requires full disclosure of union finances, payrolls and expense accounts.

Griffin, a third-term Congressman who rose to national prominence through his successful fight for more effective labor-management legislation, is a member of the House Committee on Education and Labor and the Committee on Government Operations.

NEWCOMERS
Who Have Moved to Tecumseh

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Kubitz and two children, Jeffrey 2, and Robin 5 months, moved to 505 Seneca St. Feb. 5 from Michigan Center.

Mr. Kubitz represents Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. His wife, Judith, enjoys sewing and baking. She also plays the piano.

They are members of the Presbyterian Church of Jackson. He is a member of Life Underwriters and Michigan Center Jaycees.

Both young people attended Western Michigan University.

☆

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Wanzeck and their family of seven children moved Feb. 24 to 603 W. Chicago Blvd. from Clinton.

Mr. Wanzeck is employed with the Clinton Engine Corp. and his wife, Sally, is a nurse, occasionally filling in at Herrick Memorial Hospital.

They came to Clinton a few months ago from Battle Creek.

The Wanzeck little people are Michael 10; Pat 9; Timmy 8; Mary Elizabeth almost 7; Kathleen 5; Tracy Ann 4 and Jane 2.

Besides nursing, Mrs. Wanzeck makes most of the children's clothing.

☆

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wooten moved to 719 Seneca St. Feb. 23 with their four children, Tommy 9; Laura 7; Buddy 2 and Jimmy, just eight months.

The family came to Michigan from Alabama in 1959. They lived in Wayne and moved to Centennial Rd. a year and one-half ago.

Mr. Wooten is a crane operator at the Ford Motor Co. Rouge plant in Dearborn.

His wife, Jeanette, has been kept extremely busy since the birth of little Jimmy because he will have to undergo open heart surgery soon.

The little boy will go to Ann Arbor hospital March 20 for treatment to determine how large the opening is between the heart chambers.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Sieler moved to the Lester Baker farm west of Billington's Corners March 1 from Petersburg.

They have a daughter, Carol, 20 who is employed in Toledo and comes home weekends and a son, LeRoy 17, who will graduate from high school in Petersburg in June.

There are six other children in the family, all married. They are Mrs. Merlin Youngs of Labardee Rd.; Norman of Petersburg; Orville of Adrian; Walter of Deerfield; Melvin with the National Guard in Ft. Gordon, Ga. and Wilbert of Dundee.

Mr. Sieler has nearly 60 head of dairy cattle, but will sell some soon because he says that is too many for the 113 acre which he will farm this year.

He likes cattle and farming, while his wife, Edna, enjoys sewing and quilting.

They are members of the Ottawa Lake Lutheran Church and the Farm Bureau.

☆

Lenawee County's new surge of oil exploration has brought the Otto Maynard family to Tecumseh.

Mr. Maynard was transferred here from Pikesville, Ky., by Good and Good Drilling Co. He is working on a well in the County Line area.

The Maynards live at 1000 E. Chicago Blvd., in a home built into the hill overlooking Raisin River. The house's bright log walls are a cheerful sight on the wooded hillside.

Although the family has been here only since Dec. 28, it soon will be tied to the area by bonds of marriage. The eldest son, Roger, 18, next month will marry a Britton girl.

Roger's two brothers, John Robert, 16, and Randall, 13, are busy with classes in Tecumseh schools.

Mrs. Maynard has been settling the family in the new home and trying to ignore a winter which has been severe even by local standards. Faye is accustomed to milder climates.

She says she hasn't been able to get out to meet her neighbors yet. Keeping her occupied — along with the four men and boys in the family — are two nieces, ages five and three. She has been caring for them to help out an ill sister.

"These two are into more miscief than my sons ever were," she laughed. "I think I'd rather raise sons than daughters."

Tories Meet St. Bernard

BRITTON—All eyes are on Livonia.

That's the city where Britton-Macon High's undefeated basketball team must make its next stand.

With 18 straight wins behind them the Tories face scrappy Detroit St. Bernard in the opening round of the Class D regional at Livonia Bentley High Thursday night.

St. Bernard is the same crew that broke many a Britonite's heart last winter, stopping the Tory five, 59-51, in the same regional finals.

Britton and St. Bernard's game opens a double header at 7 p.m. In the other tilt, Memphis meets Detroit St. Leo. Winners play for the championship Saturday evening at 7:30.

From there, the next stop is the sectional—then to East Lansing.

Britton came through in fine fashion to win the Adrian District last Friday, topping Cement City, 73-54, before a gym jammed with 2,000.

Although Phil Benedict poured through 27 markers, a pair of reserves — Southwell and Fred McCarty — played key roles in the victory. Ken and Fred were hustled into action when Benedict and Larry Hummel racked up several fouls and they kept the pace steady even with two stars on the bench.

Dave Bailey had another hot night, dunking 16 markers.

The Tories led at the half, 39-26, and were never in any real trouble.

But that is all behind them. Now the pressure builds and a careless misplay could doom the Britton hopes for the first Class D crown in the school history.

Sharon Claxton Marries Dr. Richard Sundling Saturday

BRITTON — Sharon Claudia Claxton and Dr. Richard W. Sundling were united in marriage Saturday in a candlelight ceremony performed by the Rev. Gustav Hannevik at the Congregational Christian Church.

Parents of the couple are Dr. and Mrs. Wilbert T. Claxton of Britton and Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Sundling of Gladstone.

Mrs. William Raeburn presided at the organ and accompanied Connie Sherman of Toledo, who was the soloist.

White gladiolis, white stock, carnations and poms in tall floor vases and on the altar formed the background.

Cathedral candelabra arranged with huckleberry and satin bows marked the entrance to the altar.

A quartet of five-branch candelabra, arranged with jade foliage, white glads and poms outlined the chancel rail.

The carpeted aisle with candelabra, greens and bows marking the pews was a beautiful setting as the bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage.

☆

THE BRIDE chose a gown of white rise paper silk, which featured a chantilly lace bodice, lace trimming on the skirt and long sleeves coming to points over the hands and a chapel length train.

A crown of chantilly lace held her finger-tip length veil in place.

Her only jewelry was pearl earrings.

Stephonatis and tuffs of white nylon tulle backed with aundantium foliage outlined three white cattleya orchids in cascade design for the bridal bouquet.

☆

MRS. GUNOR AKTURK of Ann Arbor, college friend of the bride, was the matron-of-honor.

Her gown of white organza featured a scoop neck line and bell-shaped skirt with slashed front fastened with bows at the top and bottom.

Her headdress was a band of white organza with white organza lillies on each side and trimmed with seed pearl stamens.

She carried a bouquet of loops of threaded white hyacinth with cascading of same centered with a cluster grouping of white carnations and backed with white lace leaves.

Christine Ahrens of Royal Oak, school friend of the bride and Mrs. Ronald Heim of Gladstone, niece of the groom were bridesmaids.

Their gowns, headdresses and flowers were identical to those of the matron-of-honor.

Kathleen Cooley was her aunt's flower girl, in a floor-length gown of white organza featuring a fitted bodice and scoop neckline.

She carried a miniature bouquet fashioned like the other attendants'.

Marty Keasel, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer and he carried a lace-covered white Bible with rings suspended from a cluster of fresh flowers in the center.

CHARLES BURGER of Detroit, college friend of the groom, was the best man.

Attendants were Dr. Fernando Houellmont of Kalamazoo, Zeke Jabbour of Ann Arbor and Gunor Akturk of Ann Arbor.

The guests were seated by Dr. Thomas Grifka of Detroit and Curtiss Simmons of Battle Creek.

Mrs. Claxton chose a gown of aquamarine lace with beige accessories for her daughter's wedding and her corsage was of pink cymbidium orchids.

The groom's mother wore a beige lace dress, rose hat and beige accessories and a corsage of brown cypredium orchids.

☆

A BREATH of spring prevailed at the Tecumseh Country Club for the reception for 250 guests.

The fireplace was a true point of interest with a series of lighted cone lanterns as a background

Tall gold cherubs with arrangements of white and mixed spring flowers outlined the lanterns.

China bird baths on tall pedestals centered with assorted colored bauble lights and arraigned with spring flowers were used in front of the lanterns.

Amid the flowers and foliage a continuous display of bubbles rose through the air.

The bride's table, graced by a yellow taffeta and white nylon overskirt was centered with a tiered wedding cake.

Silver coffee and tea services were used on either end of the table from which the rose shaped ice cream was served.

A crystal prism bowl and tall crystal chimney with white flowers arranged inside centered the table.

Three-tiered floor containers holding spring flowers and greens marked the area from which the orchestra played.

☆

MR. AND MRS. Neville Hart of Tecumseh and Mr. and Mrs. John Sposito of Jackson were hosts for the reception.

For their wedding trip to Acapulco and Mexico City the bride chose green wool costume suit, black coat with grey mink collar and a grey mink hat and a corsage of toast colored cymbidum orchids.

Following their honeymoon, the newlyweds will be at home at 1625 Gall Road, Apt. 16, Kalamazoo.

The bride graduated from Tecumseh High School in 1956 and the University of Michigan in 1961.

She attended Munich University in Munich, Germany in her junior year and is now teaching special education in Kalamazoo.

Dr. Sundling graduated from Gladstone High School and the University of Michigan Medical College in 1961. He is interning at Borgess Hospital, Kalamazoo.

A rehearsal dinner for the bridal party was held at the Claxton residence following the rehearsal Friday evening.

What do you look for when buying your fertilizer?

Convenience? Close-at-hand, immediate delivery—and cut-rate prices? (Why wait or pay more? All fertilizers look alike when you buy them!)

Extra dollar yields? (Your best insurance for this is Royster experience and Royster quality. Prosperous farmers know; they've got field-tested proof.)

Nobody ever got rich on the money or time they saved with cut-rate fertilizer brands. You may pay a little more for Royster—you may even have to plan ahead and order a few days before you need it—but extra crop profits are worth waiting for . . . What will you look for this year?

There's a difference in the dollar yields obtained from different brands of the same analysis used in the same way . . . You can measure Royster service with results in the field.

Four-Mill Levy Wins by 4-Vote Margin

Four mills for operating the Tecumseh schools were approved Tuesday by the narrow margin of four votes.

Final, official tally is 1,381 for, 1,377 against.

The millage issue attracted the biggest turnout for an election in the history of the Tecumseh schools. There were 2,804 voters, of whom 46 cast invalid votes due to their failure to properly operate the voting machines.

Over 50 people were present in the high school cafeteria Tuesday evening when the results were announced. School officials were especially elated.

A special school board meeting was to be held Wednesday night, March 28. Considerable work, such as teachers contracts, have been held back and undoubtedly will be processed at an early meeting.

Approval of the four mills for two years climaxed two years in efforts by the board to obtain additional monies for school operation.

The board has publicly stated the $150,000 deficit will be retired in two years and some services restored and others eliminated, to balance the budget and keep from going into debt.

If the millage had failed, it was a nearby certainty that the junior and senior high school would have been put on half-day sessions and possibly the fourth grade.

VOL. 111 — ONE HUNDRED TWELFTH YEAR — NUMBER 24 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, MARCH 22, 1962 | 16 PAGES — TEN CENTS A COPY

Long AND Short

By TOM RIORDAN

No Hollywood script or TV scenario could have topped the drama that unfolded about six minutes after nine Tuesday night.

The polls had been closed since eight and election officials conducting the four-mill vote were busy getting ready to tabulate the four voting machines.

After what seemed an eternity of checking and re-checking registrations and then adding 54 absentee votes to one machine, the stage was set.

"Would everyone remain quiet while we read the counts off the machines," Charley Manley asked about 50 people awaiting results.

One lady whispered, "I wonder if the kids will be going half days?"

Then there was another delay as Charley read off the numbers on the various machines, all needed as part of the voting law.

With two witnesses at his shoulder, Charley began to unseal the machines and read the count.

"Machine No. 1, yes, 185, no, 204."

It seemed like everyone in the room had fixed up a box score and immediately began to fill in the blanks.

"Machine No. 2," Charley went on, moving to the next one, "Yes, 316, no 305."

There was a quickening of breathing.

The tension was mounting, it almost seemed if someone was going to say, "And now a word from our sponsor."

Charley was like Col. Shortey Powers, the voice of the Astronauts, loud and clear, acting as if he were reading the numbers off a stack of laundry tickets.

"Machine No. 3, yes, 432; no, 424.

"Holy smoke," someone gasped. The vote is tied!"

Sure enough, the count stood 933 to 933, with one machine to go.

Hollywood was never this dramatic.

Charley paused as the buzz of excitement suddenly zoomed down to zero.

"Machine No. 4: yes, 448."

The pause now was almost unbearable.

"No, 444."

There was a deafening roar, followed with pandamonium, sort of like winning the big game of the year or a last-second basket.

"Over $56,000 deposited. Over 60 new accounts opened the first day. A hundred new accounts on Wednesday and deposits steadily increasing," wrote the late Earl Wickwire in his Herald column of April 20, 1933.

"This is the record of the new United Savings Bank of Tecumseh, which institution opened its doors to the public last Saturday," he went on.

"It is indeed an enviable record. A record that Tecumseh is proud to announce.

"A record made possible through confidence and cooperation, factors that spelled success

United Savings Names New President

John Thompson, Here Since 1933, Moves to Chairman

When John R. Thompson came to Tecumseh in 1933 to help in the organization of the United Savings Bank, there were $578,332 in resources.

As of its last statement of condition, this entry had grown to $19,904,851.

Capital accounts had swelled from $50,000 to $1,500,000.

Mr. Thompson's original position was as cashier. He became vice-president in 1945 and then president in 1958.

JOHN R. THOMPSON

Under his leadership, this has been a "liquid" bank, with a substantial surplus built up to weather any financial storm.

The United Savings opened its doors in '33, following the consolidation of old Tecumseh State Savings and the Lilley State Bank, two defunct local institutions, which had been placed in receiverships.

United Savings was opened under a moratorium-trust fund agreement with depositors. The first years were difficult, but gradually the institution became stronger and the moratorium was lifted in 1938.

☆

EMPLOYEES at the beginning, with Mr. Thompson, were Glenn VanDenburgh, Mrs. Harry Duncan and Mrs. Burnell Moon. Dr. E. E. Hendershot was president and George W. Smith vice-president.

"The one thing that impressed me about Tecumseh," Mr. Thompson recalls, "was the wonderful spirit of cooperation and the universal spirit of willingness to do everything possible

J. WAYNE (PAT) MEADOWS

Veteran Banking Executive Taking Over on April 16

A change in the management of the United Savings Bank has been announced by the board of directors.

John R. Thompson, a vital part of management at the bank since 1933, will remain active with the bank as chairman of the board.

Mr. Thompson is being succeeded as president by J. Wayne (Pat) Meadows, who will be the chief operational officer as of April 16.

Mr. Meadows, vice-president of the National Bank and Trust Co. of Ann Arbor, will take over his Tecumseh post in mid-April.

In another board announcement, Glenn VanDenburgh will retire April 1. A veteran of 60 years in banking, Mr. Van, now 79, has served United Savings since 1933.

Mr. Meadows, 52, has been with National Bank and Trust since he was 13, starting as a clean-up and errand boy while attending Ann Arbor High School.

He graduated from the School of Banking, University of Wisconsin, took courses for eight years from the American Institute of Banking.

☆

A NAVY veteran of World War II, Mr. Meadows has been extremely active in community and church affairs during his residence in Ann Arbor.

He and his wife, Dorothy, have two sons, John, a freshman at Alma College and Robert, a sophomore at Ann Arbor High School.

They are members of the First Presbyterian Church of Ann Arbor, where Mr. Meadows has been a deacon and elder, also chairman of the financial committee.

Prior to entering military service, he was president of the Ann Arbor Jaycees, state vice-president and later Michigan president of the JCs.

For 18 years, Mr. Meadows has been a director and treasurer of the United Fund, also served 10 years as director of the Washtenaw County Chapter National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Other civic posts have included director and treasurers of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, director and treasurer of the American Cancer Society and treasurer of Hospitalized Veterans Service.

Mr. Meadow's brother, John R. Meadows, is senior vice-president of the Ann Arbor Bank, having followed much the same course to his top position as the United Savings president.

Mr. Van To Retire from Bank

Since 1933, Glenn VanDenburgh has been a fixture at the United Savings Bank.

He came here as assistant cashier, earning $1,300 a year. Gradually he rose to a vice-presidency, the position he holds at the time of his retirement.

In banking since Sept. 1, 1902, when he joined the O'Donald and Scott Bank at Howard City, he later worked at the State Bank of Cadillac and the City National Bank and Trust Co. of Battle Creek.

Affiliated with the First Baptist Church here, Mr. Van has always been interested in music and is well known for his deep bass singing voice.

He is a member of the Tecumseh Masonic Lodge and a past worshipful master.

Now 79 years old, Mr. VanDenburgh has been a widower since 1957 when his wife, Mae, died.

Wonderlys Win Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Walt Wonderly, parents of three tiny sons, are the winners of the one-week Florida Vacation given by 39 local merchants.

A coupon Mrs. Wonderly had deposited at Pickard's Floral Shop was drawn from among 68,073 that were placed in a six-foot-high model corn crib.

The drawing took place Saturday evening at the Strand Theatre.

During the nine-weeks of the Florida fun, the Wonderlys were careful to clip all coupons in each week's Herald and even borrowed some from his folks.

They deposited nearly 500 over the route.

Mrs. Wonderly, 26, and Walt, 31, are trying to figure out how they can make the trip. Their No. 1 problem is who will care for sons Gary, 6, Greg, 3, and Glenn, 1½.

Another thing that concerns Walt is that although a 10-year man at Tecumseh Products Co.,

Railroad Fights Street Closing

By JIM LINCOLN

Initial construction work for a new $210,000 St. Peter's church was delayed Monday night when protests to closing Church St. were made to Council by the New York Central Railroad and Nash Delivery Service.

A representative of NYC told councilmen that egress and ingress to their freight house was necessary.

Fred Nash, owner of Nash Delivery Service, issued a similar protest for other businesses, which use a crossing from Church St. over the railroad tracks.

Attorney James P. McKenna, representing the church, discussed the problem with councilmen and the NYC official and urged the railroad to consider moving the crossing about 30 feet further south.

It was indicated that by closing the street, the church would permit business vehicles to cross the tracks from Church St., but hoped the crossing would be moved further from the proposed new church site.

A special Council meeting is anticipated for next week to complete negotiations.

to correct a most difficult situation.

"Our board of directors was composed of splendid men who served for several years without any compensation. The watch words were work and economy," he added.

Later, when the moratorium period was over, a bank examiner congratulated Mr. Thompson and the board, saying that this was one bank that had been operated for the benefit of depositors.

It was the examiner's opinion that local people were receiving about $100,000 more than they would have gotten otherwise.

☆

IN THE way of personal compensation, Mr. Thompson recalls he started at $2,200 a year and gradually worked up to $3,300.

"I made a valiant effort to get $4,000, when the moratorium closed but was unsuccessful," he grinned.

"We had one thing which I always thought contributed much to the brighter days that were to come," he went on, "In all matters of difference, the board acted as one man. When the members of the board were in disagreement, the matter under consideration was not done until a meeting of the minds was reached."

In 1938, at the close of the moratorium as World War II storm clouds gathered, the Banking Dept. issued an order that all sub-standard bonds must be marketed.

"We sold one lot of about $300,000 par value of bonds for nearly nothing, he explained. We were operating without any surplus and only $50,000 in capital. We were obliged to sell $50,000 of 4% preferred stock to strengthen the banks capital.

☆

"IS IT any wonder that the directors adopted conservative polices?" Mr. Thompson asks. "And the conservative policies appeared to be right and proper."

"It has been the purpose of management to build a bank as impregnable to financial storms as possible," he states.

At the same time, bank stock has become more valuable. Original par value was $100. Each original share has grown to 50 shares of $20 par value.

Stock dividends amounting to $450,000 have been paid in the past 17 years.

Mr. Thompson is a long-time member of Rotary. He was first president of the Community Fund board and then the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation, Inc.

He is a member of the Presbyterian Church.

THE SCULPTURED CONTOUR COAT

Vogue Patterns brings Venus to life as the in-curve sculptured coat takes the stage. Body conscious beauty with all the swinging freedom of the 1960's — the feminine loose-but-trim line of bodice, all the more exciting when the skirt puffs into flare, as with Vogue Pattern 4311. The boxy look of coats is gone, and the fresh, graceful contour blooms for spring.

Pigeon Hits 6,000-Volt Power Line

In a freak accident Sunday evening, a racing or homing pigeon shorted out a 6,000-volt Consumers Power Co. primary line.

The bird was killed instantly and the downtown area blacked out for several minutes. A standby circuit restored electricity to most homes, but about 25 were without power for an hour.

Police found a band on the pigeon's leg and tried to determine where the bird came from.

Ben Mahrle of Clinton, a member of the Maple City Racing Pigeon Club, was shown the band. He was unable to determine who might own the bird since his club had sold a number of bands to non-members last year.

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Did you know that subscriptions to The Tecumseh Herald for servicemen and women are only $1 per year?

This is a courtesy to those who serve their country extended by the publishers, Jim Lincoln and Tom Riordan, who are themselves veterans of World War II.

We, on the staff, think this is a real kindness since postage for the weekly paper to Alaska, Germany or wherever is far more than the dollar fee.

It also involves much time spent in changing addresses since service personnel seems to be always on the move.

√

Frequently we receive little thank you notes along with sub renewals like the one from Mrs. C. W. Gilman printed in another part of the issue his week.

These are the "jollies" that please all of us and we would like subscribers, who have taken the time to send them, to know that we appreciate their kindness.

Long & Short

in the banks re-opening.

"Saturday was indeed a gala day in Tecumseh. One week from Saturday will be another Red Letter Day in Tecumseh when the old bank declares a dividend of five per cent on moratorium accounts.

"Such a declaration means the releasing of $25,000 in this village and its trading territory. It means the freedom of $25,000 that have been 'frozen' dollars for 18 months.

"And indirectly it means that the fog of the depression is lifting. That Tecumseh is on the road back to normalcy," Mr. Wickwire concluded.

I imagine there was a happy grin on Earl's lips as he hammered out this news that Tecumseh was getting back on its feet following the disasterous crash.

Times were really tough then and let's hope they never dip that low again.

Certainly John Thompson and the others who help get the local banking situation righted deserve the community's praise.

The Herald has had differences of opinions with the local bank, but I never have lost my sincere respect for John and the sound foundation on which our local bank was fashioned.

Our new president, J. W. (Pat) Meadows, is also a fine man. We visited together for about an hour Saturday.

It turns out that he is a hockey fan and is originally from Dresden, Ontario, where he got in plenty of ice time. He never lost his enthusiasm for the same and has been director of the Ann Arbor Amateur Hockey League, which boasts 440 players. They play on the University of Michigan's indoor rink.

It was in Dresden, that Mr. Meadows was dubbed with the nickname "Pat" by an Irish neighbor. The handle has stuck and he seldom is called Jesse or Wayne, his two given names.

The Meadows family moved from Dresden to Ann Arbor when Pat was 13, following the death of his father.

Pat went to work for the Ann Arbor Bank and Trust Co. and continued his high school education, going to classes in the morning and learning the banking business in the afternoons.

So at 52, he has 39 years in the field, which could be some sort of a record.

With the hustle and bustle of getting out last week's 20-pager, I goofed—never once mentioned of St. Patrick's Day.

So, to follow Micks around this area, a belated "All the best."

☆

Another Tecumseh High grad is hitting it big these days.

He is Sam Hamilton, coach of the Britton-Macon basketball team, which proves to be one of the finest in the school's history.

After last week's regional win at Livonia, the team stopped at Howard Johnson's for steaks.

"That was the most wonderful steak I ever tasted," Sam mused later. It could have been shoe leather and Sam probably would have found it just as tempting.

You'll read this after the crucial Wednesday night test with Lawrence and we can only wish as it is written that the Tories will have collected No. 21.

But no matter the result, Sam and his Tories can be justly proud of this year's activities.

County Retail Business Going Up

(Special to the Herald)

NEW YORK—Retail business in Lenawee County was at a high level in the past fiscal year as local consumers — despite the unemployment that prevailed — spent freely for basic goods and services.

Not all retail lines fared equally. Gains were recorded by some and not by others because of a highly selective buying attitude shown by shoppers.

The new pattern that their spending has been taking reflects, to a degree, changes that have been observed in most parts of the nation.

The Department of Commerce reports that the consumer today is spending 7% more on services than he did in 1953 and 2% less on durable goods and 5% less on nondurables. His overall outlay, however, is much greater.

In Lenawee County, local residents spent 55% of their retail dollar for food and for automotive equipment and supplies in the past year. The total was $52,180,000.

The figures are contained in the recent survey made by the Standard Rate and Data Service. It shows, for all sections of the country, where people spent their money and for what in the 12 months ending July 1, 1961.

The volume of business done by local food stores, exclusive of restaurants, amounted to $24,855,000.

Purchases of cars, boats and other automotive equipment came to $17,347,000.

Gas service stations took another $9,978,000.

Other types of stores also did well, most of them showing improvement over the prior year.

Those selling general merchandise, such as department and variety stores, accounted for $5,570,000.

Apparel shops grossed $4,830,000, home furnishings stores, $3,828,000, and drug store, $3,910,000.

The grand total, for all local retail establishments, was $94,727,000.

This spending volume was at the rate of $4,242 per household, which compares favorably with the United States rate of $4,088 per household.

According to forecasts by the National Industrial Conference Board and others, an even better year is in prospect for 1962.

3,000 PHONE CALLS—These youngsters and about 55 other. Students for Better Education made more than 3,000 calls Monday night, urging folks to support the four-mill issue. From left, Roberta Vaillencourt, Debbie Holden, Niels Hansen, Pam Dabe and Diane Duffin. Their efforts paid off as the levy carried by a scant four votes in an all-time record turnout. A total of 2,804 voted out of 5,000 registered.

The tests will be given next Thursday night at 7:30 and also Saturday morning at 9:30, in the high school study hall.

Jack and Bill Hanna state that the tests could be a step towards lower insurance rates for drivers under age 25. A large portion of youthful drivers are good insurance risks, but a minority are not and are responsible for higher rates.

JERRY LEWIS as "The ERRAND BOY" (A JERRY LEWIS PRODUCTION)

A PARAMOUNT RELEASE

Why have so many of my neighbors switched to Hy-Line Layers?

Answer:

Because so many poultrymen have decided that in good times or bad, they can't afford any other brand! They've analyzed results of official Random Sample Tests. They have talked with other poultrymen. They have tried Hy-Line layers in their own laying houses. They have seen firsthand that trim, thrifty, high-producing Hy-Line birds are today's most profitable layers. That is why Hy-Line birds are the world's most popular layers . . . by far.

Church Notes

Must Have Some Place for Starting

"In order to understand the significance of world events requires some starting place, some foundation upon which all the rest stands or falls," says the Rev. Allen Wittrup.

God has given us that foundation, that starting point, in the revelation of Himself in Jesus Christ.

"We can understand so much more when once we understand Him and His way. Without Him our lives and world are only noise and confusion," he concludes.

The Rev. Mr. Wittrup has taken as his sermon topic "What Does It Mean?" for Sunday at 10 a.m. at First Methodist Church.

The Commissions and Official Board will meet on Tuesday evening, March 27, at 7:45 p.m.

Senior Hi Fellowship Meets Sunday

Senior Hi Fellowship will meet Sunday at 6 p.m. at the home of Diane Ries, 9426 Tonneberger Dr.

Janice Hall will present a program from the Youth Fellowship Kit.

It is imperative that all young people desiring to go on the work camp to Saugatuck sign their names and pay the 50 cents insurance fee by this weekend, according to advisors.

Junior Hi Fellowship will meet in the Fellowship Center Tuesday, March 20, and will continue their discussion of racial discrimination in our schools and community.

Devotions will be given by Janice Reed and Jeff Long.

Take Account of Lives During Lent

"Lent is a time for all of us to take account of our lives and doings. As we do this we are aware of many things in our society and in our own lives that should be amended."

"A business man of Chicago recently said 'I can count on the fingers of one hand the men with whom I do business that I can really trust,'" remarked the Rev. B. O. Bashore Tuesday as he spoke of his Sunday sermon.

"Paul once wrote of his time, 'there are many . . . . empty talkers and deceivers,' Will Rogers said at the time of a disarmament conference after the First World War: 'There's only one problem at the disarmament conference — human nature.'

"It is the job of the Church to make an effort to point to a better way of life than that of liars, evil beasts and lazy gluttons," continued the pastor.

"Putting things to rights is 'life's ultimate objective.' In the light of the Cross you and I see what is wrong — and in the strength of the Christ we can do something about it, NOW.

"The Christian belongs where wrongs need to be made right; where the burdens of life need to be lightened. Attend church somewhere this Sunday and find strength for tomorrow, in WORSHIP," invited the Rev. Bashore.

The Union Lenten Service will be held Wednesday, March 28, at 8 p.m. in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Paul Brantingham as the preacher.

176 Projects Entered

A total of 176 projects were entered in the first annual Tecumseh Science Fair. Students from all local schools took part and the affair was viewed by approximately 350 persons over the weekend.

It was staged in the high school gymnasium.

The Fair was sponsored by the High School Science Club and the main purpose was to allow the parents and other interested parties to examine some of the types of work being done in science by the local students.

Grand prize awards of five silver dollars each were given to top exhibitors in each of three grade levels:

SENIOR DIVISION — Gene Manwaring, a dissection of the skeleton of a cat.

JUNIOR DIVISION — Jim Greene and Mike Wykes, use of solar energy.

ELEMENTARY DIVISION — Terry Mackey, a clay model of the solar system.

First place ribbons were awarded to the following participants and their projects:

It is anticipated that after a thorough and critical evaluation of the numerous suggestions received from the viewing public, the Science clubs of both the Junior and Senior High Schools will formulate plans for the 1963 Science air, with the aid of their sponsors.

"The High School Science Club appreciates the interest and help it received in establishing this year's event and sincerely hostess that next year's Fair will be received with even greater enthusiasm," said Gerald Nelson, club advisor.

FIRST FOR HIGH SCHOOL — Gene Manwaring's anatomy of a cat captured the high school division grand prize in the Science Fair.

'Blithe Spirit' Being Presented by Jackson Group

With the deluge of horror programs now being witnessed on the TV screen, The Jackson Civic Players bring you a refreshing relief — a ghost story guaranteed to keep you glued to your seat, with laughter.

The name of the show is "Blithe Spirit", written by Noel Coward and stars in the role of Charles, a rather impatient but proper type, Dr. Robert Kobs of "Loud Red Patrick" and "Visit To A Small Planet" fame.

The apparently long-suffering Ruth is portrayed by Maryjane Carr. Mrs. Carr has a long list of shows to her credit including "Tunnel of Love" and "Girls In 509".

The show will be presented March 23, 24, 30 and 31, at the Jackson City Hall, on the corner of Jackson and Washington St. Phone St. 4-3472 for reservations, curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Science Careers Often Times Start in THS Classroom

(Editor's note: This is another in the series on courses offered at Tecumseh High School.)

SCIENCE EDUCATION

Modern high school curricula require that every graduating senior have successfully completed a science course at some time during his high school career.

The theory behind such a requirement is that, in the rapidly changing world, an understanding of scientific principles and their applications to everyday living is needed to aid a person in functioning as an efficient and responsible member of our society.

As well as having applications to everyday living, the study of basic science courses often leads a student to choose a career in a scientific field.

The science department at THS offers four courses in the sciences which are designed to fulfill the interests and needs of basically two types of students:

► Those who require a basic understanding of the various sciences, but who are primarily interested in another academic area and lack sufficient time to enroll in the more specialized science courses due to scheduling restrictions.

► Those who are planning to pursue their education at higher levels and feel that enrollment in the survey type of science course will not provide them with an adequate background in science, which will be needed in the more advanced courses after high school.

☆

THEREFORE, most pupils having interests in areas other than those directly connected to or concerned with science, will elect the basic science course, entitled General Science during their freshman or sophomore year.

Since most of the pupils, who elect this course will not enroll in another science course during their high school days, an important objective here is to provide the students with an overall understanding of scientific principles and their applications to everyday living.

The course makes a study of the areas of science such as physics, chemistry, biology, geology and astronomy, treating each of these areas somewhat lightly, but emphasizing the principles that will be of most direct use to the student after he leaves high school.

☆

A SECOND course offered by the department is Biology.

This is most often selected by students in their sophomore year and is sometimes elected by students who wish to take a more specialized course than General Science.

Primarily it is intended for those who wish to develop a basic understanding of the life sciences and who plan to continue their education after high school.

The major aspects of the course are:

► Study of various forms of living things.

► Study of life processes which all living things perform.

► Development of the various methods and techniques used by scientists in observing and recording observations made in nature.

☆

THE THIRD course in science offered at THS is Chemistry.

Elected primarily by students in their junior year, it is taken by those who intend to go to college.

The course concerns itself with the basic structure of matter and the properties and functions of these particles as they undergo chemical reactions and changes.

The student is taught the proper procedures in the handling of chemicals and is instructed in the development of experimental techniques.

The practical applications of chemistry to everyday life are emphasized to the students whenever possible.

Tory Five Wins Regional Championship and No. 20

BRITTON — With a regional championship safely salted away, Britton-Macon High School basketball players breathed easy for three days, then the went right back to the firing line.

The Tory five, which was to tip off with Lawrence at Marshall in the state tournament quarter finals Wednesday evening, is rated as one of the hoop crews in school history.

By stopping Memphis at Livonia Bentley Saturday, 60-51, the [illegible] established an all-time victory string of 20. Two days earlier Britton stepped past Detroit St. Bernard, 56-47, in the opening round of the regional.

Both victories were sweet for the Tories and their coach, Sam Hamilton, and local cage fans. But like eating salted peanuts, the wins seemed to create a desire for more and more.

One of the brightest stars in the regional play was [illegible] Bailey. Against St. Bernard he pitched in 20 points to lead his team and came through with 16 for scoring honors in the Memphis fray.

Big Phil Benedict was closely watched, but still came through with key buckets and rebounds.

Coach Hamilton says his "first five" actually includes seven. Larry Hummel, Tom Komon, Pepper Griewahn, Fred McCrate and Ken Southwell join Bailey and Benedict on the first team. This has been the key to Britton's fine record, the interchange of players no matter how tough the situation gets.

This is National Poison Prevention Week. Area pharmacists have come up with a question and answer article about poisons.

Q. Is accidental poisoning a program of major significance?

A. Yes. During 1959 a total of 1,661 individuals died due to accidental poisoning; 458 of these were children under five years of age. National Health Survey estimated that 822,000 accidental poisonings occurred during the year ending June 1959. 202,000 of these were in children under five years.

Q. What are the major factors and products involved?

A. The three factors attributable to a major percentage of the accidental poisonings are:

- ► Products not properly stored
- ► Products stored in something other than their original container
- ► Improper discarding of the toxic products.

Q. What classes of products are most often involved?

A. The four classes of products most often involved in the reported accidental poisonings are:

- ► Internal medicines
- ► Cleaning and polishing agents
- ► Pesticides
- ► Petroleum distillate products.

Q. What percentage of the accidental poisonings reported were due to negligent storage of internal medicines?

A. A review of case reports filed at the National Clearinghouse for Poison Control Centers shows that one of the causes of accidental poisioning is negligence in handling and storing of potentially toxic products.

Whe 2,133 cases involving ingestions of internal medicines among children under five were followed-up by a home visit to determine the surrounding circumstances it was found that in 1,352 (63.4%) of these cases the substance had not been returned to its customary place.

Q. What are a couple of the actual cases reported?

A. Case 1 concerns a three-year-old female who found and swallowed an unknown amount of aspirin that had been prescribed for an older sister. After the medicine had been administered to the older sibling it had been left on top of furniture in the bedroom where the three-year-old could easily see and reach it. When the child arrived at the hospital she was having convulsions, cyanotic, and in a coma that ended in her death.

Case 2 involves a 14-month-old child who could reach the bottle containing an analgesic that his mother had been taking. She had taken some of the capsules the night before and had left the bottle on the desk in the bedroom.

The child was later found sitting on the floor playing with the remaining capsules after swallowing an undetermined quantity of them. He was in a coma and having convulsions when taken to the hospital where he died.

Detroit Lady Expresses Opinion On St. Peter's

Mrs. Bonnie Brown Bielenberg of Detroit expressed her feeling concerning the late developments at the St. Peter's Church in a letter to friends here recently.

Mrs. Bielenberg was baptized and confirmed in St. Peter's Church. Members of her family were life-long members.

She writes:

"I had heard the news of the church through Vita VanWinkle who takes The Herald. It came as a shock since I have always had faith that as a landmark it would remain for the future generations as a history making structure.

"I suppose I have no right to complain since I am no longer a contributor, but I feel it is everyone's duty as well as privilege to complain.

"I can see that the rectory might come down as it has no historic value and that would give parking area. If the church is not large enough the parish building could be used as a chapel.

"Oh, I wish they would reconsider on razing the old church. I know it's costly to rehabilitate the building, but as Mrs. DeTwiller suggests there are foundations in the USA for help with just such contingencies in order to preserve a tradition."

Clubs Fined for Serving Non-Members

Two Tecumseh clubs were fined a total of $250 by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission at a hearing last week.

The penalties came for serving to non-members at the club's bars.

The Amercian Legion drew a $150 fine and the Fraternal Order of Eagles $100.

Each must be paid by April 9.

Phone Co. Injunction Dismissed

Circuit Judge Rex Martin dismissed a temporary injunction against the Macon Telephone Co. from selling its assets to General Telephone Co. last week.

Judge Martin ruled that directors of the firm could sell its assets, but could not dissolve the corporate franchise.

A committee of stockholders of the rural telephone company asked for the injunction.

At the annual meeting stockholders voted to adopt a resolution to sell the assets.

Directors and stockholders were in disagreement as to a second resolution to dissolve the company.

Directors claim that the show of hands ruled out the dissolution of the company and the stockholders claim the vote was in the affirmative, ruled by the chairman.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

HO, HO, IT'S SPRING

Regardless of the weather, officially it's spring! Tulips aren't ready to be picked and actually putting the snow shovel away would probably be foolish, but by the calendar spring is here.

I think Old Man Winter had far too good a time this year to give up easily and without a fight but, on the other hand, maybe he wore himself all out.

Let's hope the latter is true and let's hope that we are soon looking at pussy willows and early crocus, not more snow and ice.

If, by chance, we have seen the last of winter, it can truthfully be said that he went out in a blaze of glory.

The second weekend of March the creek went on a rampage the likes of which has seldom been seen.

We had the warm spell and rain talked about in last week's article and Wow! It was every bit as exciting as we hoped—even more so, in fact.

Triggered by several days of thawing, the creek started seriously rising on Friday. By Sunday all of the low-land was flooded, a fascinating thing to watch.

☆

WE SPENT the whole day running in the wheel-chair, from window to window—it was impossible to do anything but look.

The high water level had been reached sometime during the night and it was interesting to note that instead of a steady lowering, the water receded by "fits and starts."

Sometimes the drop was fast and again it would almost stop, it was easy to follow by watching the dark, water soaked bands on the tree trunks.

The ice was moving too and, of course, this always makes for great excitement.

By Sunday evening a big ice-jam had built up at the curve in back of Gertrude's and, just past our bend, another was beginning.

When the rain started we wondered what would happen—the big jam upstream had already caused the creek to detour and the strong current was flowing across the lowlands into Laidlaw's yard.

☆

MONDAY MORNING we found out exactly what the rain had done. The creek was almost as high as we have ever seen it —part of Laidlaw's shrubs, which line the path from their screened-porch, were under water.

Cameron's back yard was completely flooded. Doctor's poor bridge was but part of one cement block out of water.

Gertie's ice-jam had broken up, come downstream and had joined ours. Breakfast was gulped down and other morning chores hurried through so that we could get on with the day's big business—watching.

After such a hard winter there was so much ice everywhere and it all seemed to be on the move. Huge cakes came twisting and bobbing by. Some, in the faster current, would sail downstream, but others banged into the ice-jam, caught fast and thus clogged the creek even more.

New channels were cut through. Water was rushing everywhere. The current was amazingly strong and fast, truly angry water.

By noon the normal course the creek takes through the lower part of our window picture was completely choked with ice and it was not until three that the battering-ram current could make any impression on the jam.

Then, with a great roar and swish, the ice started to move—slowly at first but with increasing speed the blocks and cakes started twisting and turning. Marvelous to watch.

☆

SHORTLY after this another jam started to build near Gertie's, but it was short lived.

As the huge sheets of ice moved, they reached Doctor's bridge and suddenly encountered ice frozen to the bottom of the creek. With a mighty upward motion they reared and actually raised, in a shaking, bouncing action, the bridge.

It was an awesome display of the power water and ice have. Almost unbelieveable and quite frightening.

Until dark we watched and even though the water was still high and the ice-cakes, some room-size, kept sailing by, it was all anti-climax. The break-up of the big jam and the bridge shaking were high points.

So it is that if he did call it quits, the second week of March, Old Man Winter certainly went out with a roar. Warm-weather type things can start happening now we hope, because, "Ho, Ho, it's Spring."

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By DAVE KLAVON

The new dining hall is ready for occupancy and Monday morning marked the first meal in it.

The painting of walls and the laying of colorful floor tile completed the building, in addition to the installation of kitchen equipment.

Only the dish washer and an oven were moved over from the old building. All other equipment is new.

It has been a long wait, but well worth it.

√

On March 6 the Knights of Boysville met Ann Arbor University High School in the district tournament at Saline and lost 55-38.

Coach Mike Gendzwill unloaded his bench all during the game, not just to search for a scoring combination, but to give everyone a chance to play in a tournament game.

Four Seniors played their last game for Boysville. They were Tony McFarr, Mike Carter, Dave Klavon and Joe Jaworski.

Now that the basketball season is over, the boys are waiting for spring sports to begin.

Actually, last Monday the preliminary arrangements for baseball and track were begun.

Pitchers and catchers reported to the gym, and the track hopefuls signed up for the season. Both sports will see many lettermen returning.

√

Last Sunday, the Boysville Drum and Bugle Corps traveled to Bay City to inaugurate its marching season in the St. Patrick's Day Parade there.

The weather was beautiful, the crowd was large, and nothing was lacking to make it a perfect marching day.

The boys have been practicing daily under the direction of Brother Philip Armstrong, CSC.

This Sunday, the Drum and Bugle Corps will march in Detroit for the Father Cotter Council K. of C. Corporate Communion Sunday.

√

Boys who remained behind on campus, March 18, as well as several neighbors and friends of Boysville, enjoyed the University of Detroit Chorus, which put on a performance in the Boysville gymnasium.

If one judges from audience re-action, then the show was a tremendous success.

√

The Boysville Chapel has been in the process of being re-painted and varnished for the past week or so.

The work is being done by the maintenance staff of Boysville.

Just recently the staff completed the repainting of St. Joseph Dormitory, a job which took several weeks. Now the dorm is bright and cheery once again.

√

Intramurals are coming to a close with Tom McCullen's team on top with a 4-0 record. Games are now being played after school in order to finish off the season quickly.

SOCIAL SECURITY
Questions and Answers

QUESTION: When I signed up for social security benefits last year, I remember that something was said about filing a report at the end of the year. Could you explain to me again what kind of report is required?

ANSWER: If you earned over $1200 last year, you are required to file a report of your earning with the Social Security Administration on or before April 15 of this year. Failure to do so may result in an additional loss of benefits. But remember, if your earnings did not exceed $1200, or if you were over age 72 during the entire year, no report is necessary.

QUESTION: Although I filed a social security claim in 1961, I continued working the entire year and earned $6050. Since I retired the first of this year, I now want to begin receiving my benefits. Will it be possible for me to have my benefits increased because of my high earnings last year?

ANSWER: You should see your social security office. If you worked as an employee, bring your W-2 form for 1961; if you were self-employed, bring in a copy of your income tax return as well as proof that you paid your self-employment tax.

Wool Sale By April 1 Nets More

Michigan sheep producers who shear before April 1 can choose between selling in the current marketing year which ends on March 31 or the new sale year beginning April 1.

Sheep pen will likely profit more by selling before April 1, according to predictions of John Ferris, Michigan State University agricultural economist and Graydon Blank, animal husbandry specialist.

They give several reasons for making this chocie.

First, market price on wool has increased in recent months and is now above the average for marketing year.

Second, the incentive payment guaranteed by USDA will likely be greater in the current marketing year than in 1962-63. The support price on wool is now about 62 cents per pound, while the national average price has been about 42 cents.

Youngsters Are Invited to Dance

A dance for Junior High students Saturday, March 24 from 7:30 until 11:30 p.m. wil lbe sponsored by members of the Baptist Youth Fellowship.

Research Man Talks To Rotary

Dr. Ray Kehoe, assistant director of the Bureau of School Research, University of Michigan, was the speaker March 13 at the Rotary Club.

Dr. Kehoe is not a stranger in this area, since he supervised a school survey here two years ago.

His bureau assisted in the questionaire of the Citizens Advisory Committee presently being conducted in Tecumseh School District. They will also do the tabulation.

Five hundred of these questionaires were sent out to local residents to get a consensus of opinion on the related subjects therein.

He was introduced by Orville Bishop of the Advisory Committee.

Objective Outlined

"The Planning objectives of a proposed Lenawee County Health, Welfare and Recreational Planning Council have been adopted by a steering committee," announces Parker Tagsold of Blissfield.

He serves as temporary chairman of the proposed County Planning Council.

The steering committee has adopted six objectives:

- ► Coordination of social agency efforts
- ► Research and factfinding
- ► Developing adequate social services
- ► Raising standards by agency work
- ► Common services to member agencies
- ► Developing public understanding of the Council's program.

These objectives were developed by a committee which includes:

Virgil Tucker and the Rev. Allen Wittrup of Tecumseh

Dr. Archie O'Connor and Larry Van Deusen of Clinton.

Walter E. Teeter of Morenci.

Dr. William Howes, Howard White and James Fennelly of Adrian.

Stacy Zilke of Deerfield.

Mrs. Harold Reynolds of Onsted.

Mrs. Frank Ames of Hudson.

Lowell Dunbar of Britton

William Murbach of Manitou Beach, Judge Maurice Spear, Lenawee County Probate Court.

In addition to adopting these objectives, the group is discussing this County Planning Council proposal to individuals and organizations in their respective community areas.

If sufficient local interest exists, the group will continue its efforts toward creating a Council.

The next meeting of the Steering Committee will be held on April 12 at the County Court House.

Week after week carefully tabulated figures published in "Automotive Market Reports" show that Chevrolet trucks are worth more in resale value.*

why?

If you were a professional used truck buyer, why would you pay more for one make than another?

There may be several reasons, but among them would be:

1. A greater demand for the product
2. A more desirable product for resale

So if used Chevrolet trucks consistently bring higher prices at auctions all over the country, it means that their quality features pay off for you not only as long as you own them but also when you are ready to trade them—double-wall cabs, doors and side panels, roof insulation, select wood floors, reliable and economical engines, real rugged tailgates, a suspension system that helps prolong truck life.

See your Chevrolet dealer for a quality '62 Chevrolet Jobmaster truck.

*"Automotive Market Reports" is a weekly authoritative wholesale publication which reports the average prices paid for used trucks and cars by professional buyers at auctions all over the U.S.

See your Chevrolet dealer for trucks that keep working and working and working and working!

Old Glasses Are Sought By New Eyes

Spring cleaning for charity? What an idea! But it's true!

There's a volunteer, non-profit organiation called New Eyes for the Needy, Inc., located in Short Hills, New Jersey, that you can assist just by cleaning out your bureau drawers and cupboards.

New Eyes has been working for 30 years to improve the vision of the needy, the world over. They have helped a quarter of a million people, and have never solicited a penny. That's where your spring cleaning comes into the picture.

New Eyes for the Needy wants your discarded eyeglasses, broken jewelry, false teeth with bits of gold, or other precious metal scrap.

New Eyes is presently receiving donated glasses at the rate of more than 7,000 pairs a week, but this is not enough to keep up with the many requests received for assistance.

Your old glasses and broken bits of silver, gold, platinum, or even costume jewelry would be welcomed by New Eyes for the Needy, Short Hills 3, New Jersey.

They Labored

When teen agers make up their minds they want to work on a project, they really go to town. So it was with the Students for Better Education effort, in which several hundred Tecumseh High School scholars labored for passage of the four mills. One phase of the project was poster making and 40 king-sized ones were fashioned by about 50 volunteers under the co-chairmanship of Don Baird and Peggy Johnson (at right). Using 22x28" poster board, the artists used several colors of marking wicks. They chose as their theme the comic strip charter "Peanuts," using some unique caption twists. AT LEFT are some of the poster makers displaying their work.

Safety Being Stressed

Automobile mishaps lead all other causes of accidental deaths among Michigan Youth.

One of every four fatal farm machinery accidents involve young people under 15 years of age.

These are among the tragic statistics which help explain why farm machinery and rural highway safety are being emphasized by the State's 4,000 4-H clubs in 1962.

Over 1,700 youngsters in 55 counties are enrolled in safety projects. That includes home and farm safety, fire prevention and bicycle safety. In addition, automotive, tractor and other projects deal with careful use and accident awareness.

Members consider the accident problem and discuss "whys" in meetings. Then they carry out such projects as vehicle checks, field trips and programs to cut the accident rate.

Many awards are available for outstanding 4-H safety efforts. Eight $400 scholarships throughout the country plus trips to the National 4-H Club Congress and other educational meetings are made to club youngsters who campaign for safety.

The Lenawee Extension Service reports that adult 4-H leaders throughout the State have recently received a new publication entitled "1962 Michigan 4-H Safety Guide."

This publication outlines machinery and auto safety ideas and is a useful guide for leaders in training safety ways to 4-H members.

For his Adrian appearance, he will follow a lecture-recital type of program similar to his morning radio program, "Adventures in Good Music."

Haas also produces the "Spectrum" and "Evening Concert" broadcasts.

Haas came to the U.S. in 1936 studying under Bendetaon Netsorg and the famed Arthur Schnabel. His close friendships with the late Bruno Walter and Leonard Bernstein have been important influences in his musical life.

Long AND Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Elders of the Dutch Reform Church really must have been happy and proud last weekend.

In the Michigan Class C basketball finals at East Lansing, Muskegon Christian faced Kalamazoo Christian.

Both are Dutch Reform Church high schools.

As it turned out, Muskegon won the game, but it could have gone the other way and there would have been just as much joy.

On both teams' warmup jackets was the word "Christian." It took fans a while to remember that Kalamazoo Christian wore purple pants and Muskegon Christian green.

One of the spectators, Carl Hale of Tecumseh, mused after the fray, "As I saw it, the winner was Christian all the way."

Seeing the state finals is a genuine thrill, even if none of your area schools are performing. Wow, what would it be if one was?

The Class B event started at 11:30 before almost 12,000 howling spectators, then C and D was run off at 3 p.m. with another full house.

The A affair began at 8:30, capacity crowd again.

Saginaw's Class A champs oozed talent, especially All-Stater Ernie Thompson, who set an all-time tourney mark with 42 points.

Ernie couldn't miss. He has a turn-around jump shot from outside the foul line that amazes.

With tremendous spring, Ernie would blast off the floor about three feet, spin and seem to be suspended in mid-air several seconds before he flicked the ball towards the basket. His whole body was limp in relaxation as he fired.

At time-outs, Ernie walked with a shuffle that made me think of the great Goose Tatum, oh-so-slow and unlaxed. He was the last one to the side-line huddle with his coach when play stopped, easing across the hardwood as if he had the miseries.

How the fans loved Ernie.

He'll go great guns for some college one day.

Another highpoint of the day for about 500 was the annual chicken and biscuit dinner at the East Lansing People's Church.

Ladies of the church prepared a sumptuous meal, which was served between the afternoon and opening games. It sure hit the spot.

Let me go on record to say there is nothing like a church dinner. Whether big or small, they're always excellent.

One seems to serve as advertising for another. A fellow likes one, he comes across another a few months later in some distant place and he remembers the first and tries the second.

The fond memories just pyramid. The proceeds always go to worthy causes. In the case of the Peoples Church meal, sponsored by the young members (who served and washed dishes), receipts are going to foreign missions.

Gas Truck Rolls Over

Douglas Aylesworth, 28, of 1102 W. Pottawatamie St., received a summons by the Clinton State police for violation of the basic speed law when his gasoline truck overturned Monday.

The mishap took place on Hendershot Hwy., south of M-50.

Mr. Aylesworth told state police he lost control of the truck when it struck a soft spot in the road, causing him to run off the road and roll over.

Tecumseh fire men were called to stand by until the danger of a fire from the spilling gasoline was over.

Diver's Dream

★ ★ ★

She Wants To Win Olympic Medal

★ ★ ★

June Mori is a 21-year-old Japanese girl with a dream.

She wants to win the high-tower diving gold medal for Japan at the next Olympic Games.

That won't be until 1964.

But June has already been deep in training for the international sports competition and will continue through the next two years.

There is more to June's dream —some twists and turns that even a fiction writer might pass up because they would appear too far fetched.

And interwoven in June's story is a Tecumseh tie.

☆

LET'S START at the beginning.

June, a native of Tokyo, is the youngest in a family of five children. Her father teaches in a university there.

TECUMSEH HERALD PHOTO

June always has a ready smile, one of her gretest assets.

High tower diving has always fascinated June and she began competition in her teens. Last summer she finished sixth in the Japan nationals.

Two years ago, University of Michigan varsity diving coach, Dick Kimball, was taking a swim crew through a series of exhibition meets in Japan.

Coach Kimball saw the tiny Japanese girl, who stands but 5'1" and weighs about 100 pounds, put on a striking display.

He chatted with her and learned of her dream. June also told Coach Kimball she wanted to study at an American University —and learn more about diving.

Dick thought it would be wonderful if she could come to the University of Michigan, but how?

☆

A YEAR slipped by.

In the summer of 1961, Mrs. Duke Dawson of Ann Arbor took a band of feminine swimmers from the United States to Japan for a swimming tour.

Mrs. Dawson is the former Rosemary Mann, daughter of Matt Mann, one-time University of Michigan swim and Olympic coach and now at the University of Oklahoma.

Mrs. Dawson coaches the U. of M. girls team and also the Ann Arbor Swim Club.

While in Japan, Mrs. Dawson met June and they talked about the possibility of the Japanese girl coming to Michigan.

Once again, but how?

☆

THEN THE miracle started to happen.

June took her problem to Dr. Saburo Kitamura, a Tokyo physician, educated at the University of Pennsylvania where he was a varsity swim star.

The first hurdle was imigration, where officials explained that Miss Mori must have a sponsor in the United States who would assume responsibility for the visitor.

Dr. Kitamura immediately thought of an old friend from America, a dentist who had been stationed in Japan during the Korean war and now lived near Ann Arbor.

This was where Dr. Bob Laidlaw of Tecumseh came into the picture. When asked, Dr. Laidlaw responded he would be pleased to sign as June's sponsor.

Financial arrangements were made by the University and June found herself in Ann Arbor last fall.

☆

SHE FIRST entered the English Language Institute to perfect knowledge of her new tongue, then this term started a modified program in quest of physical education degree.

June got into Zoology, English and some phys ed classes.

Right from the start, she began a concentrated training program, which calls for about two hours of diving each day.

She is working under the tutorage of Coach Kimball, who is regarded as one of the top professional tower divers in the world.

Coach Kimball coached one Olympic champion, Bob Webster, who turned the trick at Rome two years ago.

Can he repeat—and send a gold medal to Japan?

☆

JUNE LIVES with the Dawsons, where both mother and father are wrapped up in the sport, even to running a training table for five members of the Ann Arbor club.

The Dawsons are taking a squad of 12 top-flight AASC gals including lower diver June, to Sacramento, Calif. for the AAU National, April 19, 20 and 21.

Expense money is comhg from an unusual venture — trading stamps.

So far, in a campaign that started several months ago, they have collected 337 books of stamps—but they still need about that many more.

The Dawsons would welcome any and all trading stamps which you might care to donate.

For Tecumseh area residents, the stamps may be left at Eggleston's Jewelry.

Dick Eggleston, whose daughter Pam is a member of the Club, but won't be going to the AAU, is vitally interested in helping on the project.

Stamps left at his store will be immediately relayed to the Dawsons in Ann Arbor.

GIRL WITH DREAM—June Mori of Tokyo toes the high board in the women's pool at the University of Michigan. June trains two hours daily, hopes to win a gold medal for Japan in the next Olympics. Her specialty is the 10-meter high tower, which stands 32 feet above the surface of the water.

Car Wash Project Nets $67

Forty-five cars were vacuumed, shampooed and groomed at the car-wash conducted by the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club Saturday at the Meadowridge Dairy.

Total receipts were 067.55, of which $23 was donated to local Boy Scout troops assisting in the project.

Fred Nash, president of the club, states that the $44.50 remaining along with funds already on hand will be used to purchase two picnic tables and a grill for the park area east of the Maumee Street bridge.

Kiwanians spent many man-hours last year leveling, raking and seeding this area.

A citizen in the community, interested in the projects of both Kiwanis and the Scouts, added a donation of $100 to the car-wash gross.

Policemen's Ball Tickets on Sale

Tickets for the annual Policemen's Ball can now be purchased from Tecumseh policemen or at the police department.

The dance will be held at the American Legion, April 28.

Proceds from the ball will be used for needy families, and support of little league baseball, social and service organizations.

Grave Wreaths Must Be Removed Before April 1

After that time they will be removed from the graves.

Paul Maves Shows Pictures to Spanish Club

About 25 members of the Spanish Club of the Tecumseh High School enjoyed one of their best programs of the year Tuesday evening, according to one student.

Paul Maves of Paul's Trailer Sales presented color slides taken in Mexico in 1954 when the Maves participated in a National Trailer Caravan.

Punch and cookies were served following the program.

TEAMWORK BREAKING GROUND—Faraday, Inc. President Fred Warden (left) and Karl Schneider of the Tecumseh Area Industrial Development Corp., team to break ground for the firm's new plant here. The ceremony took place Tuesday afternoon and was witnessed by city, TAIDC, Faraday and construction company officials. Teamwork the pair of sod-turners display is emblematic of the cooperation which was needed to bring Faraday to Tecumseh, where the plant will employ nearly 300.

Ground Broken for Faraday

Ground was broken Tuesday afternoon for the new $465,000 Faraday, Inc. plant in Tecumseh.

Working on a silver-plated spade were Fred Warden, president of Faraday, Inc., and Karl Schneider, treasurer of the local industrial development group.

On hand for the ceremony were 20 members of the Tecumseh Area Industrial Development Corp. and Faraday executives.

Dorm Goodrich and Jim Hazen of the construction firm bearing their names, general contractors, were also present.

Mr. Goodrich said that excavating for the footers of the factory will be started this week.

Engineers have been busy surveying the site and staked out exterior dimensions of the plant, which will contain 83,200 square feet on one floor.

The general building construction will be of concrete block, with the office portion finished in porcelain panels. It will front along S. Maumee St., southeast of Tecumseh Products Co.

Faraday's property, totaling 12 acres, runs to Russell Rd.

Goodrich & Hazen hope to have the job completed by late summer, with Faraday moving in sometime around Sept. 1.

The Faraday plant, which will move here from Adrian, was landed for Tecumseh by the hard-working TAIDA last fall.

Eight Lambs Mutilated by Dogs

Vagrant dogs mutilated three ewes and five lambs on the Tom Murphy farm, 5800 Allen Rd., Sunday night.

Apparently, the dogs that killed more than 40 sheep last fall on the Murphy farm and about 30 on the Charles Allen farm, 5390 Allen Rd., are back.

In Sunday's attack, one dog, which remained at the Murphy farm, was shot by Earry Carson, 5467 Allen Rd.

The dog bore no tag.

Residents in the neighborhood spied five strays Sunday trotting down the road Sunday afternoon and called the Lenawee County dog warden. By the time he arrived, the pack was gone.

It should be pointed out that owners of dogs are liable for any damage their animals do.

Sheep owners, who value their ewes at $40, will receive only about half that amount as compensation from the county when their animals are killed by stray dogs.

Almost all the trouble with dogs killing sheep in the past year has been in the Allen Rd. area.

Gets 'M' Degree

William Lewis Lopshire of rural Clinton was among 648 students at the University of Michigan who recived degrees at winter quarter commencement exercises March 13.

Mr. Lopshire received a BA in economics.

Write-In Hopeful Running for Seat on Council Monday

A late write-in entry will make Monday's vote for councilman a contest.

James Fielder, 112 W. Shawnee St., is going to run as a write-in candidate.

A group of 20 friends formed a Citizens for Fielder committee to start the ball rolling.

Until this announcement, only four persons had filed for the four open Council posts.

In the race are incumbents Harold Easton, Carl Lamb and Terry Mackin, along with Gene Tuckey.

Casting a write-in ballot on a voting machine is not difficult. Special slots at the top of the machine have rolls of paper behind them.

Slot No. 24 will be set up for any write-in votes.

If a voter wishes to cast a write-in, he should push up No. 24, write the name of his choice. He also will be able to click levers above three of the four candidates, whose names are printed on cards inserted in Row 2.

Mr. Fielder agreed to run as a write-in when only four persons filed.

He stated Tuesday, "Every one in Tecumseh is obligated to serve the public at some time. As a director of the Jaycees, I know of many things that need and can be done for Tecumseh."

Mr. Fielder is married and the father of three youngsters. He is employed by Kuhlman Concrete and also does carpentry and masonary work. He has been active as an officer of the Jaycees.

Junior College District Question Will Be Decided

Voters in Lenawee, Jackson and Hillsdale counties will ballot Monday, April 2 on the formation of the Tri-County College.

The proposal is to establish a three-county community college district. Three trustees will be chosen from each county to operate the school, if the district is formed.

Those from Lenawee County who have filed as candidates are:

Robert Cherry, Woodstock County farmer and chairman of the action-information committee for Lenawee County.

Stanley Woods of Deerfield, also a farmer.

Doyle Bell of Morenci, an employee of American Chain & Cable in Adrian and president of the Lenawee Labor Council.

Automobile Kills Doe

A young doe was hit and killed about a half-mile east of Tecumseh last Thursday morning when it crossed M-50 in front of a car driven by Sharron L. DeJonghe, 15436 Church St., Azalia.

Police Chief Murell Clark, after confering with the county conservation office, belives the spotted deer was a cross breed of deer which escaped a few years ago from a park west of Tecumseh.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

The same dear eyes . . . The tender light they shed,
Once fraught with tend'rer love, unfading there:
A comfort still, though mute the years have fled,
This image that remains unchanged and fair
For me, the rose still radiant in her hair
The pictured memory of its perfume rare
Crowns like an aureole the lovely head.

Her simple beauty wakens wondering eyes —
Eyes blind to a beauty love alone may see.
What though the tears deep in my being rise?
Each one a consecrated prayer shall be
To thank God for the Self, which dust denies,
Now that she walks in immortality.

This poem, entitled, "Her Miniature," is the title verse in a book published for Dr. John George Ingold, a former army medico who now resides in Deerfield.

Dr. Ingold has been mixing poetry with his work as a physician for many years.

Now his pennings may be read in this book entitled, "Her Miniature and Other Poems," released April 6 by the Exposition Press.

The poet's offerings have such a pleasant quality and rare sentiment that this reader was soon transported to a happy dreamy place far from the realities of the work-a-day world.

We would not only like to recommend Dr. Ingold's book to Herald readers, but we would like to suggest that our own Clara Waldron do the same thing with her poetry.

Wouldn't it be nice to have her wonderful bits of verse about those we know all between the covers of a book?

FOLLOW THE INSTRUCTIONS—When you vote Tuesday on the Tri-County Community College question and the selection of four councilmen, follow the instructions on how to use the machine. Shown leaving one of the machines after the recent record four-mill ballot is Mrs. Dan Reed. At that vote, 46 people invalidated their choice by not working the levers correctly. They would pull one down, then push it back, thus their vote was never recorded. The large lever which opens the curtains counts the vote and clicks the levers back. In the council race, those wishing to write-in a candidate may do so on Slot No. 24.

'Ten Little Indians' Tryouts This Weekend

Tryouts will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday and 2 p.m. Saturday, for "Ten Little Indians", the spring production of The Tecumseh Players.

Anyone in the Tecumseh area who is interested in any phase of theatre—acting, being on a work crew or assisting in the business end—is urged to attend these sessions being held in the Sage Building.

The cast for the Agatha Christie mystery comedy includes eight men and three women. There are a number of small parts.

Members of the cast need to be present only when they are in an act or scenes scheduled for a specific night.

Rehearsals will begin April 2, five nights a week from 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. in the Sage Building. The play is slated to open at the Strand Theatre, May 2-3.

Gloria Jadwin, a member of The Tecumseh Players, is directing the show. Mrs. Jadwin, an elementary teacher here, holds a bachelor of arts in Theatre.

Flower Arrangement Is Part of Life, Culture of All Japanese People

"Japanese Arrangements" by Mrs. Robert Laidlaw was the program for the March meeting of the Little Garden Club.

Mrs. Bill Clausen was hostess for the evening and was assisted by Mrs. Vern Manwaring.

Mrs. Laidlaw studied for 18 months at the Ohara School of Flower Arrangement in Tokyo, Japan and has a diploma to teach through high school arrangement classes.

Mrs. Laidlaw said, Japanese flower arrangement came into being with the start of Buddhism. It is part of the life and culture of all Japanese people. Flowers, weeds, twigs, grasses and even branches are used and arranged with thought, care and love.

"All arrangements stress the natural state of growing things. The three parts to an arrangement are the subject, secondary, and object.

"Rhythm is necessary in all arrangements," continued the speaker.

Mrs. Laidlaw illustrated her talk with arrangements made with spring flowers in vases she brought from Japan.

☆

DURING THE business meeting conducted by Mrs. Robert Murray, Mrs. Howard Furry was voted in as a new member.

Announcement of the 12th Annual Northwestern Ohio Garden and Flower Show to be staged April 3 to 8 in Toledo Civic Auditorium was also made.

This year a giant sun dial made of thousands of flowers will be featured.

The Program Committe explained about the November meeting, "My Specialty", when each member will be participating.

An Anniversary Party for the Tecumseh Garden Club's 25th year will be the meeting for April 24 at Mrs. Carlton Cook's home.

A musical recorders group from Ann Arbor will provide the entertainment for the joint meeting.

TO THE EDITORS:

Thank you very much for your cooperation in sending me the two paper write-ups of St. Peter's Church, Tecumseh and appreciate very much your taking the time to do this. These gave me just the information I required.

Of course I know we must not stand in the way of progress but at the same time as a historian I do regret the loss of little St. Peter's Church as it is such a historic link with the past; not only of the town but with the missionary work done by the Reverend William Narcissus Lyster in the Irish Hills region of Michigan. Am glad at any rate that I got to see the church about twelve years ago.

Have always found its mixture of two styles of architecture quite pleasing.

Thank you again,

Very sincerely,

TO THE EDITORS:

Since once each week I get to enjoy a line from you, I've decided to let you enjoy a line from me just once this year.

Things are going well for our family here at our new location. Counseling has turned out to be all I had hoped for—and even more.

June and the kids seem really content, and they are all working, both in and out of school.

What I really wanted to share with you was this: I have been selected as one of 25 enrollees to participate in a government sponsored "Counseling and Guidance Institute"—for eight weeks June 18 through August 10, at Oregon Sate in Portland.

Of course, I'm thrilled. We spent a year in Oregon, so it will be getting back to some of the finest country in the USA.

We've enjoyed The Herald each week. You've given the bond issue good coverage — I hope it passed.

TO THE EDITORS:

The election for an increase in millage is over but was it a fair election? I am inclined to believe this was the largest infringement on the taxpayers pocketbooks of this school system that will ever come about—here's why:

To my way of thinking the only fair and equitable way to determine whether there should be an increase in tax monies ought to have been decided only by those who pay this tax directly.

Does it make sense to let folks vote for an increase in taxes even though they do not pay the money? Anyone who rents or lives in a mobile home is not subject to this burden which now must rest very heavily upon all property owners in this school system.

I know there are businessmen in Tecumseh who can barely meet expenses now, what will it be for the next two years?

It also seems to me that if the proper forethought had been made and efficient management carried out a deficit of this amount would never have occured.

When a decrease in state aid was made and designated as such, why wasn't there a curtailment made in bus service made in this district?

In a recent conversation with Milton Porter, I learned that the state formerly paid some 70% of the cost of operations whereas now it is only about 49-50%. Most of the decrease in state aid was for the purpose of transportation.

Does it seem fair to continue and, indeed, increase bus service even though there are not funds with which to cover the cost? It really seems in bad taste to me and I am aware of the state law permitting any pupil living at least a mile from school to have bus transportation.

When many who live within the city limits own two cars plus the fact that the exercise would be good for the children, where is our common sense?

We have begun to expect too much from the state and sometimes from the federal government, something I feel is not good for America.

I am not in favor of the employment of a business manager or the automatic machines and secretaries at this time. When the present debt is paid then it should be considered.

I would put the reopening of the two school buildings, reinstating full days to first grades, and no cut in the physical education classes for the lower grades, and the hiring of the needed teachers, on the agenda first.

These are my thoughts at this time and my sincere hope is that these suggestions may be of some value.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Lois Righter
5998 Rogers Hwy.

TO THE EDITORS:

The proposed Tri-County Community College will be a college for YOU and YOUR FAMILY. It will be accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and secondary schools.

It will give two full years of college credit toward a bachelor's degree or admission to a learned profession.

It will offer one, two and three-year programs of post-high school training in business and technical fields, and technical, journeyman and apprenticeship training in a skilled trade.

You will be able to afford to send your children because the tuition will be low (approximately $100 per semester or $200 per year or even less).

A student will be able to live at home and go back and forth from any part of the county. Car pools, busses, etc., are all possibilities for making transportation costs lower.

This will be your school, and you, through the board of trustees, will have a say in how it is run and what it will offer.

Labor and industry will be able to train and retrain people here since many two-year terminal courses will be offered which will meet the needs of our area.

No one will be turned away because he is not in the upper 10% or upper ⅓ of his class. If he is a person with a sincere desire for training, he will be accepted even without a high school diploma.

In five years the population explosion will hit the college level with full impact.

Let us, as forward thinking people of Lenawee County vote YES for the Tri-County College on APRIL 2!

Remember — this is your opportunity to give yourselves and your children a quality education at a low cost.

Sincerely yours,
Doyle Bell
Morenci Michigan

(Editor's Note: — Mr. Bell has filed as a candidate for trustee of the college in Lenawee County. He is employed by American Chain and Cable in Adrian and president of the Lenawee Labor Council.

Communists Are Deeply Dedicated,

Ninety-six men representing 14 area churches were present at the third annual Inter-Church Laymen's Banquet held Thursday evning in the Youth House of the First Baptist Church.

They were served a roast beef dinner by the Ladies Missionary Society of the church.

The invocation was given by Gibbs Barber. Donald Murphy acted as master of ceremonies.

Group singing was led by Fred Dickinson, Sr., followed by several selections by the Friends' Church Men's Quartet — Merle Hendricks, Clark Pearson, Ben Ross and Ray Sommers.

Sam Bender, the guest speaker, was introduced by Ray Sommers.

Mr. Bender, a graduate-engineer of Toledo University, is a vice-president of the Crescent Engineering Company of Toledo.

Mr. Bender recently attended the Tenth Annual Presidential Prayer Breakfast in Washington, D.C.

President Kennedy, Vice-president Lyndon Johnson, members of the House and Senate and other high-government officials and representative laymen were present.

Mr. Bender recently returned from a 10-week world tour covering 20 countries as a director of International Youth for Christ.

He stated that he found evidence of the "invisible war" existing between Communism and Christianity in many of the countries that he visited.

He found wherever he went that Communists are deeply dedicated, giving everything they have to their cause.

He stressed the urgent need for commitment and dedication on the part of Christian laymen to combat this growing menace.

The benediction was given by Fred Weseloh.

Extension Club Hears About Care of Teeth

They explained tooth diseases and their prevention. Roll call was answered with many household cleaning hints.

The regular lesson on "Rapid and Smart Food Buying" was given by Mrs. Ronald Purple and Mrs. Arthur Baaske.

They opened cans of food to show the color and explained the differences in can sizes and best buys.

A green salad, nut bread and coffee were served by the hostess to the 11 members present.

Council OKs Church St. Closing

By JIM LINCOLN

City Council at a special meeting Monday night closed Church St. for St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

Although a complete agreement was not reached between the church and the railroad, representatives of both parties verbally agreed that they would reach a settlement.

The special meeting was held after the two parties were unable to get together on closing the street at the March 19 meeting.

At that time, James P. McKenna, attorney representing the church, told Council that the church wanted to start construction on its new $210,000 church and that it was necessary before hand to close the street, since the building would extend into it.

Councilmen voted 4-3 to close with Mayor Harold Easton, Councilmen Carl Lamb, Royal Welch and Terrence Mackin in favor, and John Hamilton, Robert Bonner and Arthur Schwartz voting no, waiting until the church and railroad reached an agreeemnt.

Why have so many of my neighbors switched to Hy-Line Layers?

Answer:

Because so many poultrymen have decided that in good times or bad, they can't afford any other brand! They've analyzed results of official Random Sample Tests. They have talked with other poultrymen. They have tried Hy-Line layers in their own laying houses. They have seen firsthand that trim, thrifty, high-producing Hy-Line birds are today's most profitable layers. That is why Hy-Line birds are the world's most popular layers . . . by far.

The 4 that goes around acting like a V-8...Tempest!

Used to be that people swore by V-8's and V-8's alone. And then along came Tempest's spunky 4 to steal their thunder. The hottest version of this 4 (166 hp) puts out more horsepower than any other production 4 in the world. More torque, too. And every version, standard 110 hp on up, is smooth and silent and effortless. About the only thing Tempest doesn't share with the big boys is its appetite for gasoline and spare parts. Try a drive in a Tempest 4 soon, hear? You might as well save while you're swinging!* Pontiac Tempest

Gold Awards to Two

Five members of the Tecumseh FFA Chapter attended the 34th Annual Convention of the Michigan Association of Future Farmers of America.

They met with some 1,000 other Michigan FFA members for the two day session at East Lansing.

Larrie Eaton and Larry Shea were chapter delegates, who helped conduct the business of the 11,125-member association on the Michigan State University campus.

EDSEL BROOKS

GALE KIMERER

A highlight of the convention was the conferring of State Farmer degrees on 223 boys, which represent two percent of the total FFA membership in Michigan.

Edsel Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Brooks, and Gale Kimerer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kimerer, both received "Gold Award" State Farmer Degrees.

Dean Van Neste, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Van Neste received the "Silver Award" State Farmer Degree.

Edsel's farm program for 1961 included a crop share 80 acre and 40 swine.

Gale's farm program for 1961 was partnership 50-50 with 170 swine, 20 beef, 40 acres corn, 12 acres oats and 10 acres alfalfa.

Dean's farm program for 1961 included 42 sheep, 16 swine and 35 acres crops.

Victor Lutz was named Star State Farmer and received a $200 award.

From this group of 223 State Farmers, delegates elected state officers for the coming year.

Some 1,000 persons gathered at the Annual Banquet in Shaw Hall to hear remarks by Dr. Jack R. Rombouts, Deputy State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Frank Merriman of Deckerville, member of the MSU Board of Trustees, was the main speaker.

Other convention speakers were Stephen Nisbet, president of the Constitutional Convention; Thomas Cowden and Vern Freeh, MSU College of Agriculture, and E. A. Wenner, general manager of Michigan Artificial Breeders Cooperative.

INCREASE HOG PROFITS by feeding pigs for maximum gain from birth to 50 pounds. It is during this period that pigs make their largest gains per pound of feed consumed. Also, a fast rate of growth and thriftiness at a young age will influence gains during finishing. Place pigs on a starter ration as soon as they are a week to ten days old. The increase in gains and livability will more than pay for the cost of the feed.

WHAT IS YOUR BREAK-EVEN POINT? This should be figured for each farm enterprise to determine if it is returning a profit or if it is actually a loss hidden by other, more profitable activities. The average 220-acre farm in Ohio could not pay all crop costs unless it produced higher yields or received higher prices than these: Corn, 59 bushels at $1; soybeans, 22 bushels at $2; oats, 70 bushels at 65c; wheat, 27 bushels at $1.75; and hay, 1.9 tons at $20 a ton.

PREPARE CORN PLANTERS NOW and you will save considerable time next month when you go to the field. Main check points are the valves in each planter unit. Valves on older planters, used at higher speeds than for which they were designed, often break. By replacing them now you can save a poorly planted field. It's difficult to detect failure when planting.

STUCK IN THE MUD? Then make plans to pave your feedlot this summer. You'll be able to get feed to the bunks and hay to the manger, in addition to increasing livestock gains during wet weather. You needn't do it all at once. Spread the job out over 3 or 4 years.

What's Going on at Boysville

By DAVE KLAVON

Track season is once more with us. Brother James Kinsella, CSC, Boysville's new track coach, is trying to work the recruits back into shape with calesthenics and much running.

Last year's coach, Richard Heynen, is presently teaching overseas.

Coach Mike Gendzwill and assistant Coach Joe Fortunato have been putting together the makings of a baseball team for the past couple of weeks.

Pitchers and catchers have been warming up in the gym.

With the coming of good weather, the infielders and outfielders have been practicing outside.

A week ago, the students got their first look at the new dining hall on Boysville's campus and they were most impressed with what they saw.

Everyone is happy to be in the new building (except those those who have to keep it clean!)

The Senior Class of 1962 traveld to Detroit on March 22 to pay their respects to Brother Roman Healy's father, who passed away on March 21.

Many of the boys knew Mr. Healy personally. The student body extends to Brother Remain its sympathy and its promise of prayers for his father.

On April 8, the Boysville Drum and Bugle Corps will travel to Detroit to march for the Cardinal Mercier Council of the Knights of Columbus as members parade to church for their annual Corporate Communion service.

The corps made its first appearance at the St. Patrick's Day Parade in Bay City. A week later they marched in Detroit for the Father Cotter Council of the Knights of Columbus.

Brother Philip Armstrong, CSC, should be congratulated on the fine job he has done in putting the Drum and Bugle Corps together.

Boysville's Thirteenth Annual Athletic Banquet was held in the new dining hall Sunday evening.

Guests from around the state were present to honor the athletes of the school.

Toastmaster for the occasion was Supreme Court Judge Thomas Kavanaugh, formerly State Deputy of the Knights of Columbus.

Principal speaker of the evening was Duncan Lectka, formerly of Tecumseh High School, and presently at Michigan State University.

Volunteers Answer Four Minor Calls

The Tecumseh Fire Department answered four minor alarms Monday.

At 11:55 a.m., they were called to the Lee Phibbs residence, 9480 Tecumseh-Clinton Rd., for a grass fire. There was no damage.

At 12:15 p.m., they responded to a call made when a gasoline tank truck, driven by Doug Aylesworth overturned, on Hendershot Hwy., south of M-50.

There was no fire and only damage was to the truck and the loss of spilled gasoline.

Again on Monday, at 2:10 p.m. there was another grass fire at 5651 Pocklington Rd. with no damage.

At 5:30 p.m., one more grass fire at the residence of Ralph Randolph, 1451 Munger Rd. was extinguished.

Do you enjoy window shopping?

Most folks do — which has given the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce an idea.

The group is going to stage a Window Night Thursday, March 29.

Twenty-five Tecumseh stores are going to give their show windows special dressings for spring.

They'll be brightly lighted from 7 to 11 that evening.

Shoppers are invited to take a look — and maybe win a $25 gift certificate by helping pick the most outstanding window.

Ballots on which downtown visitors may select the nicest window will be available at a booth in front of the Strand Theatre.

All stores participating in the contest are listed on the ballots. After looking them over, residents may select the store window they like best, plus second and third placers.

Ballots are to be signed and deposited at the Strand.

The following day, the votes will be tabulated and the winners announced.

All ballots will then be returned to the container and three pulled out as raffle chances.

Gift certificates worth $25, $10 and $5 will be awarded the trio. Winners will be notified by Dike Helms, chairman of the event.

As for the stores, the one with the most votes will be given $85 in advertising, the runner-up $15.

Five THS Bandsmen Are Chosen

Dr. James Spencer, head of the Music Department of Adrian College, gloried in the resounding bursts of drum and cymbal as the massed bands of Lenawee County played "On The Mall" to conclude the 12th annual all-county band concert Monday evening.

With long thrusts and an occasional fist, the well-known conductor made every attempt to keep the young musicians together as they enthusiastically played, the finale to a fine evening of band music.

Five from Tecumseh High School's band were among those of all-county band which played two numbers conducted by the Director of Bands from Bowling Green State University, Roy J. Weger.

They were Tom Dickinson, clarinet; Joel Bailey, tenor saxophone; Larry Harper, coronet; Louise Stutesman and Mike Wilson, French horns.

Frank Forgacs, trombone and Judy McClue, from Britton-Macon School, also made the all-county group.

Tecumseh's band directed by Don Johnson played "Malaguena" and the Britton-Macon band played "Show Business March."

Proceeds from the event sponsored by the Lenawee County Band Directors' Association are used for Interlochen Scholarship Funds.

Ninth, tenth and eleventh grade members of the All-County Band are eligible to tryouts with a limit on winners at one per participating band.

Hold Fun Night

Tipton PTA held a fun night dance Saturday evening.

Preceding the dance there was a PTA meeting at 8 p.m.

The gym classes gave a square dance demonstration for the program.

McMichaels orchestra played for the dance.

Questions Arise Following Voting on 4-Mills Issue

Questions and answers about the four-mill school levy, raised following the affirmative vote.

Now that we have voted four mills, can the county take four mills, too?

This four mills voted locally goes directly to the Tecumseh School District. The rest of school operating funds, about nine mills, comes from the 15 mills split between county, townships and schools.

On April 15, the Tax Allocation Board meets to decide the split for coming year. It takes about a month for the job, with members working from budgets submitted by all agencies concerned.

The board includes the county treasurer, county clerk, two supervisors, two county citizens at large and the county superintendent of schools.

First from the 15 mills comes county needs, which have been five mills in the past few years.

Then, townships, up to one mill. Some townships take only one-half a mill.

The schools have the remainder, which varies between eight and nine mills, depending on whether townships in the district ask for their mill.

Technically, the county could dig in for several more of the total 15 mills, but from a practical standpoint there would be too much public pressure against this from citizens who realize the critical school financial situation.

Besides, if the county took more from Tecumseh School District, for example, it would have to take from every district in the county.

For any more details, contact Lenawee School Supt. Milton Porter.

How come anyone can vote, not just property owners? I can remember when only property owners could vote. Has that law been changed?

No, but this four-mill issue was for operational money. Any eligible voter in the district can help decide this question.

However, in a bond issue for buildings, which would mean people agreeing to mortgage their property, only property owners may vote.

How was it that several employees of the school worked on the election board?

This was done to save money, states Supt. James McDowell. To hire others would have meant additional expense. The election was in charge of Charles Manley, who runs city votes.

How can someone invalidate his own vote?

Simple. Instead of leaving the vote lever down, the voter snapped it back into its original place before leaving the booth. When the big lever which opens the curtain, is swung across, this action registers the "yes" or "no", then snaps the lever back for the next voter.

Exchange Celebrates Birthday

The Exchange Club of Tecumseh will note the 51st anniversary of the founding of the national organization April 2, in the Eagles' Hall at 6:30 p.m.

Russell Garno has been named chairman of the event.

Mr. Garno said the first Exchange Club was founded March 27, 1911 by a group of Detroit, business and professional men for the purpose of exchanging ideas and planning projects for community betterment.

The Tecumseh club was chartered in 1946.

"Today," he said, "hundreds of Exchange Clubs are to be found throughout the United States and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

"Thousands of members are taking part in various Exchange projects as: Crime Prevention Week, Golden Deeds Awards, Freedom Shrine presentations, youth and aviation projects and citizenship," he adds.

Highlights of the anniversary program, according to Chairman Garno will include Speaker LaVern Seanlin, National Committee member.

Other special guests will be Marvin Buck, of Marquette, State President of Exchange Clubs; Toby Mason, Battle Creek; Harry Askin, Marshall and Rudy Hasselback, Temperance, all members of the State Board of Control; Avery Downard, Ann Arbor, District Governor; members of Exchange Clubs of Adrian, Bedford and Dundee.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Taylor were their attendants.

Mr. Spreeman was a farmer for 25 years and they lived on the Richard Cadmus farm north of Ridgeway.

They have lived for 25 years at their present home on N. Pearl St.

He is 77 years of age and Mrs. Spreeman is 70.

Former Resident Would Like Cards

Mrs. Robert L. Moull, 1205½ W. Genesee Ave., Saginaw, Michigan entered Saginaw St. Mary's Hospital Thursday March 22 and underwent major surgery Friday, March 23. Mrs. Moull is the former Ruth Jane Hunt of the Tipton-Tecumseh area. She will be happy to receive cards and letters from old friends.

Tecumseh Council Opposes 3-County College Plan

(The following Resolution, adopted unanimously by Council, opposes the establishment of a college district of Lenawee, Hillsdale and Jackson counties)

Whereas it has come to our attention that an "Action-Information Committee" meeting in Jackson, Michigan has recommended the establishment of a three County College for Jackson, Hillsdale and Lenawee Counties; and

Whereas the financing of such an educational institution would require one and a half mill increase in all taxation throughout the counties; and would continue as a perpetual burden to the taxpayer; and

Whereas this area is already adequately served by institutions of higher learning within quick and easy accessibility, vizi Adrian College, Jackson Junior College, Eastern Michigan University, Siena Heights, Hillsdale College and the University of Michigan and

Whereas the establishment of such a proposed institution would be more distant than some of said alternative institutions; and

Whereas the successful promotion of this program would mean that this immediate area could not expect to obtain any institution of higher learning, which would be immediately accessible and owned by the local citizens, for decades to come, and

Whereas a doubt exists as to the present need for further institutions of this sort as opposed to those which teach trades and occupational pursuits; and

Whereas this Municipality is firmly opposed to any increase in taxation for any cause whatsoever and is, in fact, pledged to reduction in taxes by all means possible.

Now therefore the City of Tecumseh resolves that:

This Municipality be on record as firmly and unalterably opposed to the programming of any such three-county college in general, and equally opposed to any increase in taxation for any cause whatsoever.

Rifle and Pistol Club Builds Range at Center

The Tecumseh Rifle and Pistol Club, with a membership of 27, has been constructing a range in the Community Center basement with Carl Fosbender as process engineer.

Fred Bell is in charge of construction.

Mr. Fosbender designed a backstop to National Rifle Association specifications. 30 feet wide, 10 feet deep and seven feet, six inches high.

Members have been working each Monday and Thursday evenings and Saturday afternoons since the middle of January.

When construction is complete the club members will shoot Monday evenings and Saturday mornings.

Much interest has been shown in the club since organized early in the year. Meetings are held each second Monday of the month at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Center.

The group, soon to be incorporated, will be happy to welcome other interested persons.

Liability insurance in the amount of $200,000 has already been secured.

Club officers are:

President — Walter Hochrein

Vice-president — Carl Fosbender

Secretary-Treasurer — Fred F. Dickinson

Executive Officer — Preston Caswell

Certified NRA Instructor — Jack Curtiss

Officers assure that all precautions are being taken to insure absolute safety to both shooters and spectators.

The back stop constructed of 6,900 pounds of used steel, is raised by 4,500 pounds of lead counterweights and is lighted by floodlights from above.

Steel curtains shield the windows.

The backstop will be used for all caliber handguns and smallbore rifles.

Facilities include two scoring tables and seven shooting stands.

A junior division is planned in the near future for the young people of Tecumseh.

Instruction will be offered and all shooting supervised by a qualified member or members of the Senior Club.

Eagles To Hold Auction

"Wha' am I bid? Wha' am I bid? Let's get it started. Wha' am I bid?"

The voice of the auctioneer will ring out at the Eagles Hall soon when members sponsor a sale of used household items.

Proceeds are to be used for the annual Easter egg hunt, conducted again this year by the Eagles Lodge members, assisted by other civic organizations.

Services of the auctioneer will be donated for the sale to be held on a Saturday in the near future. The date will be announced in next week's issue of The Herald.

Anything may be donated and items will be picked up by members of the lodge if the donors will call the hall, HA 3-8920.

Members expect to continue the auctions on Saturday evenings. They hope also to make a contribution to the Max Baer Heart Fund.

Archers Hold Triangular Shoot Here

The season for indoor archery is fast coming to an end. There will be three more shoots in the Tecumseh League, after which a trophy will be given to each member of the winning team.

Roberta's Yarn Shop is out ahead by only one point with Hite's Hardware right behind.

Sunday, Adrian and Ypsilanti will come to Tecumseh to shoot in competition with Tecumseh.

This will be the last of three triangular shoots, one in Adrian, one in Ypsilanti and one in Tecumseh.

It's All Over Now For Tories

BRITTON — All good things must come to an end.

So it was with the phenomenal basketball record of this winter's Britton-Macon Tories.

The world came crashing down for Coach Sam Hamilton and his charges, along with a lot of loyal followers at Marshall High School's gymnasium last Wednesday night.

Lawrence High — which itself was eliminated two days later in the state tournament — stopped the Tories, 59-57, with 30 seconds to play.

Thus, a winning streak was halted at 20 games for Britton and the dream of making it to East Lansing shattered.

Britton was in contention until the bitter end.

With 36 seconds to play, Britton's Ken Southwell calmly dropped in two free throws, giving Britton a 57-56 lead. It seemed like enough for a Tory victory.

But then a nightmare began, one that Coach Hamilton will dream over and over again.

In a melee under the Lawrence basket, a foul was called giving Dick Marconi two shots. He converted both to return Lawrence to the van. Another foul, seconds later, brought the icer.

The Tories were unable to get off a shot during the final 24 seconds.

Dave Bailey played an outstanding game for the Tories.

Superintendent Russ Spalding Resigns Post

BRITTON — Russ Spalding, superintendent of Britton-Macon Schools the past four and one-half years, submitted his resignation to the board of education last week.

The resignation becomes effective June 30.

Mr. Spalding has been in the local system since 1952 when he came here as vocational agriculture instructor.

He was named superintendent following the death of Rudy Koczman.

A 1949 graduate of Michigan State University, Mr. Spalding majored in agriculture education. He obtained a master's degree in 1958 in vocational education and administration.

Mr. Spalding told The Herald Monday afternoon that he had no specific plans.

In other board business, contracts were issued to 21 teachers. Two teachers asked that their contracts not be renewed for personal reasons. Their names are being withheld until all contracts have been returned.

A budget of $219,320 was presented. After thorough discussion it was moved to accept this budget and present it to the County Allocation Board. This budget is about $9,000 above last year's.

Wayne Forney of Mobile Classrooms met with the board and discussed the need of two additional classrooms for next year.

Would You Volunteer?

BRITTON—Nine members of the Britton Women's Club and six guests enjoyed an extensive tour of the Ypsilanti State Hospital last Tuesday afternoon.

The ladies met for luncheon at a restaurant in Dundee before making the tour.

They were greatly impressed with what they saw and the informative lecture by Milton Brown, who is the head of the family care and adjustment placement program at the institution.

He told the group that at the present there are 4,100 patients being cared for from Wayne, Washtenaw, Monroe, Jackson, Hillsdale and Lenawee counties

Students range from seven years of age to 102.

Mr. Brown also told how urgently volunteer workers are needed, even if only for a few hours a day once a month.

He said not to worry about being a good speaker, just a good listener and be able to smile.

More volunteer help from all groups are needed, such as churches, clubs, associations, parent-teacher groups, professional men, business groups, as well as individual citizens, to come into direct contact with the patients.

Square Dance Night Is Blast for Swingin' 8s

"Honor your partner, corners all Swinging Eights go 'round the hall."

Step into the Tecumseh Community Center any Thursday evening and this might be what you'll hear over the public address system along with some wild western music.

About 40 grinning guys and gals will be circling and bowing and spinning about, having the times of their lives.

This would be the weekly meeting of the Swinging Eights Square Dance Club.

The group's caller and teacher, Mrs. Ray Mattis, twangs off the patter, sending her charges through a variety of maneuvers that would bewilder the non-square dancer.

Sometimes, it even bewilders the veterans, who end up howling happily at their own missteps.

It's a real blast.

☆

SQUARE, or country-style, dancing has been a great favorite with rural America since the beginning of this country.

Until a few years back, almost strictly for farm folks, square dancing is becoming more and more popular in urban areas.

Key to the fun is an expert caller and Bonnie Mattis is one of the state's best. She has dozens of routines, each with its own catchy phrases of direction.

Calling for the Swinging Eights Club is just one of her many weekly assignments.

The Eights gather each Thursday from 7:30 until 10 p.m. and the two and one-half hour sessions seem to flash by for the dancers.

In addition to the club meetings, there is a class for beginners each Wednesday night at 7:30 conducted by Mrs. Mattis. So far 26 couples are taking part and others are invited to join.

There is a $1.75 per couple charge for each session.

Drainage Tile Chore Requires Seven Steps

Now is the time to plan, if you are going to install a tile drainage system in 1962.

Seven planning steps are vital:

► Check with a drainage contractor or engineer for a survey of the area.

► Get an estimate of materials required and an idea of the area's general layout. The contractor or engineer can provide this based on the survey.

► Contact material suppliers for tile and materials needed for tile outlets.

► If tile is to go under sandy or other unstable soil, see a supplier or contractor about installation of filter and stabilizing materials that could lengthen the drain's life.

► Check into the possibility of payment assistance through the Agricultural Conservation Program. It's wise to contact the county ASCS office early to start applying for aid.

► If you can get government assistance, contact the county Soil Conservation Service technician for help in determining adequate outlets. He will also point out drainage needs in the proposed construction area.

► If an engineering survey shows you do not have an adequate gravity outlet, make arrangements for cleaning out existing outlets. The cleanout may be done on a county drain or a privately constructed ditch that empties into a county drain.

JIM BEACH

Jim Beach To Study in Germany

James Beach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Beach, 210 Pine St., is among 89 students at Kalamazoo College who have the opportunity to spend six months at a university center overseas.

They will embark September 5.

These students will initiate the foreign study phase of the college's four-quarter plan for year-around education.

Under the summer study abroad plan begun in 1958, a total of 179 students, including 22 this summer, will have received scholarships to attend universities in Caen, France; Bonn, Germany; and Madrid, Spain.

Next fall, K-College students will study in England; Quito, Equador; Aix, France; Muenster, Germany; Bierut, Lebanon; and Sierre Leone, West Africa in addition to the Bonn and Caen locations.

Mr. Beach, a sophomore, was named to study in Muenster.

He may earn as many as four credits abroad as compared to six on the Kalamazoo campus.

Although this necessitates taking extra summer courses, there will be no increase in fees, over and above the normal rate, for the cost of transportation, tuition, and board overseas during the fall and winter quarters.

Mrs. Robert L. Moull, 1205½ W. Genesee Ave., Saginaw, entered Saginaw St. Mary's Hospital March 22 to undergo major surgery. Mrs. Moull is the former Ruth Jane Hunt of the Tipton area. She would like to receive cards and letters from friends and relatives according to her husband.

Residents Invited To Inspect Science Classroom at THS

(Editor's note: This is the second portion of the story about science courses offered at Tecumseh High School.)

The fourth course in science offered at THS is physics. Elected by students entering their senior year, it is taken mostly by those who are completing their third year of specialized science courses in high school to qualify them for a major in the field of science.

Physics is a study of the difference forms of matter and energy, and the solving of problems concerning these two phenomena.

The student receives instruction in the use of apparatus in performing experiments in the laboratory which demonstrate the laws of energy acting upon matter.

Topics which are studied in detail in the course include mechanics, heat, sound, light, electronics and an introduction to atomic physics.

DUE TO changes and new developmens in science during recent years, there has been a modification of the various courses of study in science education.

Many things which were once thought to be indispensible to the teaching of science, are now being replaced by ideas which are more directly applicable to a sound understanding of scientific thought.

Although the science department has supplemented its stock of laboratory apparatus and demonstration materials during the past two years, with the aid of funds from the National Defense Education Act, there still exists a lack of basic equipment in certain areas.

It is a well recognized fact that the amount of individual participation of the students in performing experiments in science courses has a direct influence on their success in understanding the underlying principles of the course.

Yet, due to the shortage of a basic supply of glassware for the General Science course, along with other demonstration materials, the possibility of having the students in the course participate in experimentation is practically non-existent.

DEFICIENCIES in available materials and equipment along with lack of space, where classroom demonstrations could be set up before class, are two of the major problems confronting the science teaching personnel.

Until the solutions to these problems are found, the efficiency, in the use of regular class period time by the teacher for student instruction, will be seriously impaired.

This is due to the amount of time consumed in setting up demonstration materials.

The members of the science department at the high school realize that this article has omitted mention of many other aspects of science education at Tecumseh High School that you may have wanted further knowledge of.

Therefore, they extend to you personally, an invitation to visit the science department at your convenience, and they will be happy to supply any information available, at your request.

Along with the trees,
While little brown rabbits go chasing the bees.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

MR. BRIGHT HAS A GIRL FRIEND

This time of year talking about the appearance of our window pictures is a 'losing game . . . ' Everything changes so fast—today is different from yesterday and tomorrow will be different again. It's impossible to keep up. Probably a good thing, too because there are a few things which can't change fast enough.

For instance—the creek is almost back to normal today; all the flooding in the lowland has drained away, but oh, what a mess is left. Dirty, ugly mud is everywhere.

Slabs of ice are piled along the creek bank much like a sandstone ledge and as the high water receded, huge pieces of ice were stranded in the fields, doomed to an inglorious slow melting away. Truly not a pretty picture.

Each day, however, does bring nice things which speak of even nicer things to come. Grass is beginning to turn green, some early robins and grackles have arrived, in sheltered spots tulips are pushing up, and the buds on the maple trees are beginning to swell and look red.

The birds are beginning to sound and act like spring, too, especially our cardinals. For a long time we had eight of the red birds, but a few weeks ago another pair joined the group so all told, our winter flock of cardinals numbered ten.

Unfortunately they can't stay together all year; come nesting time each family must have its own territory. Apparently the male selects his spot, invites his lady love to share it and defends 'his property' against trespassing by any other male cardinal.

I am not sure exactly how much elbow room each papa and mama cardinal require but obviously our window pictures aren't large enough for them all. The flock will have to split up.

Already this is beginning to happen; we seldom see ten of the birds together now.

The lovely ladies are still quite friendly but their gentlemen friends are most inclined to fight among themselves. Two are especially belligerent; Mr. Bright and we haven't named the other but he seems to be the biggest male in the group. These two are at it constantly, they chase each other all day long but I must admit that we enjoy watching the streaks and flashes of red.

☆

ANOTHER interested observer of this rivalry is a certain mama cardinal. For some time now we have noticed that she occasionally leaves the girls at their sun flower seed luncheon and goes off by herself to watch the boys and their antics.

Is it only imagination or do they really put on a little extra show when she is around — aren't the chases a little faster and the whistles a bit louder?

Today she might have made her choice—actually, of course, it could have been made before, but today she announced her engagement and let us know who the successful suitor is.

Beauty won over size. Even though this particular female is quite large, she by-passed the biggest male in favor of Mr. Bright, who is really rather small. I don't blame her; he is a handsome fellow!

The engagement party was held right outside our west window. The bride to-be sat in the wren tree and, with all the dignity and charm in the world, graciously allowed Mr. Bright to serve her.

Like a dutiful suitor he fed her the choicest kernels of corn and tastiest sun flower seeds.

So it is that springtime things are happening fast lately and perhaps the springiest of them all is that Mr. Bright has a girl friend.

Who Was Drummer Boy?

ANN ARBOR—Anybody know the name of Yankee Doodle's drummer boy?

If so, some valuable information as to names of characters portrayed in the famous painting, "Spirit of '76," could be filled in, says Michael Church, University of Michigan lecturer in art and supervisor of special projects.

"Chances are you first saw a reproduction of the painting in your elementary school history book," says Church in his art news letter, published by the U-M Extension Service.

"The central figure, beats a drum, flanked on one side by a drummer boy and on the other by a blue-coated patriot with a bandage around his forehead playing a fife.

The 13-star American flag waves in the background. In the foreground a wounded soldier. Charlie Spicer, takes off his hat as the trio marches by.

"How do I know it is Charlie Spicer?" asks Church. "Well, one day Grant Hughes of the Port Huron Blue Water Art Club drove with me to Harbor Beach. On this trip we talked about many things, including, 'The Spirit of '76.'

"Grant told me about his uncle, Charlie Spicer, being immortalized in that famous painting. Originally called 'Yankee Doodle,' it was painted by Archibald M. Willard for the Philadelphia Centennial of 1876.

"Willard was a blacksmith who ran a carriage shop in Wellington, O. where the picture was painted. Charlie Spicer was the apprentice in the carriage shop and later became an art dealer in Pittsburgh, Pa. "The man playing the fife is Hugh Mosher, who resided in nearby Pittsfield. The central figure is the artist's father whose first name is unknown."

If you know his first name as well as that of the drummer boy, send this information to [illegible] Hall at Marblehead, Mass. where the painting hangs in memory of those brave men of Marblehead who died in battle for their country."

It happened 100 YEARS ago

The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862 . . . the same year that

IN MICHIGAN, hearing of the gallant fighting of the 1st, 4th, 5th and 7th Michigan regiments against the Confederacy, folks all over the state toasted their troops' bravery with foaming steins of beer.

For then as now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation. But beer means more than enjoyment to our state. The Brewing Industry pays more than 16 million dollars in taxes to Michigan each year, money that helps support our parks, hospitals and schools.

TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.

VOICE OF THE HERALD

Two Significant Factors

There were two significant factors resulting from the last week's four-mill school election:

► Every vote counts.

► Problems besetting the Tecumseh School District are far from solved.

As to the first item, who would have guessed that a scant four votes would tell the tale?

Altogether, 2,804 people went to the polls. Of these, 46 voted improperly. Either they didn't decide at all once inside the curtain, or they clicked down the "Yes" or "No" lever and then clicked it up again before leaving the booth, thus erasing their own vote.

How was it established that 2,804 went into the booths? On each machine there is a public counter, which registers every time the large handle swings over to close the curtains.

There was a flurry of comment when it was first mistakenly announced that 3,205 had voted. This would have meant that 527 had invalidated their votes—which would seem quite impossible.

But that was straightened out the day after the voting with a check of the public counters on the machines and the poll books, which also added up to 2,804.

Let it never be said that "one vote doesn't count."

Now, to point two.

With so many district residents still opposing the issue, there is reason for a careful scrutiny of the entire school system by members of the school board.

The board has a moral obligation to the 1,377 who opposed the issue. It would seem not everyone who clicked the "no" lever was against the issue simply because of the increased taxes.

The board must find out if there were other factors.

We must remember that the $280,000 which will come in over the next two years is just going to pull us even. The $150,000 debt will be erased and certain services restored, such as going back into Macon and West Branch Schools, returning first grade to full days.

But what of the future?

The board must begin planning now for the mid-Sixties and the greater enrollments, which are coming just like the flowers of May.

In these ideas for the future, the board is going to need the support of many among the 1,377, as well as the 1,381 who voted "yes".

The survey by the Citizens Committee, which is now being tabulated by the University of Michigan, can be the beginning.

We think the board has made a wise decision to hire a business manager. With the right person in the job, there should be savings turned up which can more than pay his salary plus realize ideas for greater efficiency within the district.

We Oppose Tri-County

Next Tuesday, voters in Tecumseh and area, along with the electorate throughout the rest of Lenawee County, Hillsdale and Jackson counties, will be asked to approve a Tri-County Community College District.

This is the initial step by the college planners.

The next step will be to ask the three counties to approve millage for operation and construction of facilities.

We do not question the need for additional, higher education systems. However, we do not feel that the plan proposed is attractive for Tecumseh and Lenawee County to accept it.

If there's to be a community or junior college for our graduates, let's encourage local or county-wide planning, and include, in a great part, a vocational-type program.

If any of the three counties turn the proposal down, it will be defeated.

Next Tuesday, we urge you to vote no.

It Was a Great Year

It certainly would have been nice had Britton-Macon been able to get into the state basketball finals.

But the topsy-turvy world of sport being what it is, the Tories were denied — and only by a matter of seconds.

There they were, leading in the final minute, then having a fickle Dame Fortune snatch the victory from their very finger tips.

It took several days for Britton folks to realize their team had really been beaten — and we can't blame them. After 20 straight wins, without a defeat, it seemed strange to lose.

This helps prove the philosophy that the life of a sports team includes both wins and defeats. They have to be taken in stride.

We offer Britton's coach and players our sincere congratulations for their great year.

FIVE MINUTES BEFORE POLLS CLOSED LAST WEEK, THERE WAS A LONG LINEUP WAITING TO VOTE — DID THEY PRODUCE 'BIG 4'?

Social Security Payments Must Be Made Regularly

R. I. Nixon, Director of Internal Revenue for Detroit, today had a word of tax advice for housewives and other employers of domestic workers — don't overlook possible liability for Social Security taxes.

If you pay a household worker $50 or more in any calendar quarter, you must report the wages and pay both the employer and employee portion of the social security tax to the Internal Revenue Service.

Director Nixon reminded household employers that these taxes must be reported on Form 942 which is required to be filled by the end of the month following the calendar quarter. That is, by April 30, July 31, October 31, and January 31, as required.

AN OPEN LETTER from Carl Lamb

May I offer some advice? You should choose your pharmacist and drug store as you choose your doctor. Your pharmacist should be competent, reliable and, most of all, concerned with your good health.

What does a drug store owe the community which it serves? Basically, a drug store, like any business, should willingly and readily support all civic activities. Its owner and employees should be sincere boosters of the community. But most of all, a drug store should keep as paramount the well being of its customers at all times.

If you are the least concerned with any prescription prices, please feel free to discuss them with me at any time.

Remember, Rexall has always been fair with prescription prices — and always will be.

VOL. 111 — ONE HUNDRED TWELFTH YEAR — NUMBER 26 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, APRIL 5, 1962 | 20 PAGES — TEN CENTS A COPY

Long AND Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Well, Ricky Duffin has scored it big.

Although only 14, he topped the field of weekly lensmen in the annual state newspaper photographers contest with one of his Herald pictures.

It couldn't happen to a nicer kid.

Rick mingled with the cream of photo society Saturday, while collecting his reward at Michigan State University.

Tony Spina, head man of the Free Press, offered his personal congratulations, then told Rick he should ask for a raise.

Ricky is learning press photography after school and on Saturdays — and before his first year is up, he has outstriped the teacher—me.

In this year's contest I was in there with a batch of entries.

But the only winner The Herald had was Rick's shot — taken while I was sunning myself at Douglas Lake, 300 miles from Tecumseh.

It was Rick's picture all the way. He composed and shot it, developed and printed the winner.

And frankly, I couldn't be prouder if it was my own.

For his first few months, Rick saw little daylight, spending all his time in the darkroom, learning the skills of chemical mixing and scrubbing developing trays.

Next came film developing.

He loaded cut film into holders.

Whatever the chore, he almost always did the job as directed.

The next big step was learning to make prints.

Most any professional photographer will tell you that it takes several thousand tries before one can feel the least bit confident about his printing.

For a person doing it only one or two afternoons a week, polishing this skill takes several years.

Ricky is still struggling in this area and will be for quite a spell, but most of his stuff comes out OK.

I never forget the experience of Neal Westveer, chief photographer at Detroit Edison Co. and one of the nation's top lensmen, recounting his apprenticeship.

Neal learned under a tough taskmaster, who wasn't one to bother with much banter.

After pouring over a negative, making half a dozen prints until he had one that seemed just fine, Neal would bring it, dripping hypo fresh from the acid fix bath and proudly show his master.

One look and the teacher would shout, "More guts, more guts!"

This sent Neal hustling back into the darkroom, realizing that he had to pull more contrast, better blacks and whites, from his printing papers and chemicals.

A harsh way to learn? Well maybe. But it certainly helped Neal master a difficult art.

Sometimes, Rick gets similar treatment and it hasn't appeared to bother him too much. He always comes up with a grin.

When he started, I said he would be still learning tricks of the trade most of the time he was in high school. Even with this prize, Ricky realizes he has a long way to go and will keep plugging.

It's comforting to know, now that I'm over the hill, that The Herald has a first-rate photog to carry on.

QUIP

Men who give in if wrong, are wise; men who give in if right — are married.

Lamb Paces Council Vote

There were few surprises in Monday's election here when voters rejected the community college plan by a lopsided margin and elected four councilmen.

Local vote tallied 1,276 — 27 against establishing a college district. The Tecumseh ratio was even greater than the Lenawee County result of 11,255—644.

Council results were:

Carl Lamb—1,098

Harold Easton—1,058

Gene Tuckey—947

Terrence Mackin—863

James Fielder—11

Messers Lamb, Easton and Mackin were re-elected while Tuckey will be serving his first term. Several votes for Fielder, a write-in candidate, were lost when voters failed to write in his name properly.

Pickard Wins First

Pickard's Floral won first place in the Tecumseh Window Night contest last Thursday, when 186 people judged windows of 25 participating merchants.

Helm's Furniture won second place and Green's Clothing captured third.

Gift certificate winners were: Harlan Boyes, $25; Floyd Paruch, $10; and Ward Perso, $5.

The event was sponsored by the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce. Winning windows won $35 in free advertising and the runner-up $15.

IT'S HIS TROPHY—Richard Duffin holds trophy he won in the Michigan Press Photographers annual Contest. His winning picture, appears on the last page of the second section

Ricky Duffin Wins Press Photo Award

A picture taken for The Herald by Dick Duffin scored a first in the annual Michigan Press Photographers annual competition.

An accident scene, snapped last summer by the 14-year-old Tecumseh High School freshman, was judged No. 1 in the weekly division's "Spot News" classification.

It also grabbed an honorable mention in the portfolio class, which included "best in competition" of all entrants — work by daily, weekly, company magazines and armed forces publication photographers.

Ricky accepted a trophy at the Press Photographers convention Saturday noon at Kellogg Center on Michigan State University campus.

His father accompanied him.

Ricky started last spring as an apprentice in The Herald's darkroom, learning to mix developing chemicals and then process film.

By the summer school vacation break, he had started to use the paper's press camera.

This was the second major award won by The Herald since Jan. 1, The other cited this weekly as the best in its circulation class in the state.

Bea Ring Gift Shop Is Sold

Downtown Tecumseh lost a merchant but gained a newcomer Monday when Jean Colgrove purchased the Bea Ring Gift Shop from Mrs. Ring.

Mrs. Colgrove, new in Tecumseh business, is no newcomer in another sense as she's well known throughout the community.

She plans to add to the present stock of cards and gifts and continue the store's name for a few months. Assisting her is Helen Hendershot, clerk for Mrs. Ring.

The former owner purchased the shop just five years ago from Arlene Ousterhout and was considered to operate one of the finest stores in Tecumseh.

This Thief Operates in Daylight

Walt Rowley, manager of the Kroger Store, reported the theft of a new lawn mower from the front of the store.

The mower was taken Saturday morning between 10 and 11 a.m.

Mr. Rowley said that information concerning the item would be appreciated.

He thinks it possible that someone may have seen the mower being loaded into a car.

5 Teachers Resign Posts in Schools

Five teachers have resigned from the Tecumseh schools, according to Supt. James McDowell.

Mrs. Carl Barnes, sixth grade teacher at Tecumseh Acres school, has resigned to teach in Adrian.

Wayne Reganall, high school social studies teacher, will be employed by the Ford Motor Company and James Howard, math instructor, will sell insurance.

Sandra Bristole is planning to move to California. Mrs. Michelina Hardcastle, phys ed instructor, also has resigned.

Besides vacancies in the high school, there are three vacancies in the first grade and one in the third.

Voters Will Select Two for Board

Nominating petitions for the Tecumseh school board are now available at the superintendent's office.

Two seats on the board will be up at the June 11 election with the terms of Virgil Tucker and Jens Touborg expiring. Candidates will be seeking four-year terms.

The petitions, which require signatures of 50 registered electors, must be filed at the superintendent's office no later than 4 p.m. on May 12.

James Records, local insurance agent, is the first to take out a petition.

Douglas Dunn Named Chairman of Blind Sale

Douglas Dunn is chairman of the Blind Sale to be sponsored by the Jaycees beginning Monday, April 16.

Products, such as ironing board covers, brooms and hot pads have been made, that JCs will sell are packaged or assembled by blind people.

Firemen Living in Their Boots

Members of the Tecumseh Fire Department were extremely busy last week.

Tuesday at 5:03 p.m., they were called to the home of Ralph Blake, 738 S. Union St., where a grass fire was burning. No damage was reported.

Wednesday, there were three fires:

► 12:30 p.m., grass fire at the rear of 710 Occidental Hwy. There was no damage.

► 5:50 p.m., another grass fire, with no damage, on the Paul Kollar property on the Macon Hwy.

► 7:10 p.m., extensive damage to a hog house on the Fred Long farm, 8794 Billmyer Rd. The interior was completely gutted. Cause of the fire was not known.

Thursday the siren rang four times.

► 10 a.m., the department went to 805 Murray Dr. when a burning mattress in the back yard, spread to the grass. There was no damage reported.

► 4:35, across from Tecumseh Acres School, a grass fire was extinguished. No damage.

► 5:10 p.m., 1698 Shepherd Rd. when a wheat stubble field was burning on the property of John Gebarowski. No damage

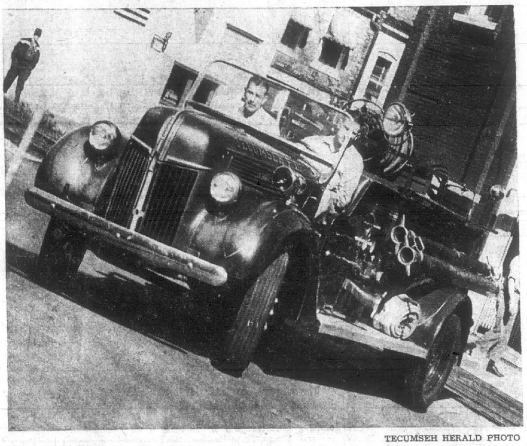
► 7:10 p.m., behind the residence of A. J. Marshall, Mathews Hwy., a house trailer was burning. This was a complete loss.

☆

THIS WEEK, two grass fires were extinguished, both on Tuesday:

► 1:55 p.m. in the rear of 505 N. Union St.

► 5:40 p.m. on Raisin Center Hwy. and Sutton Rd. There was no damage.



TECUMSEH HERALD PHOTO

FIRES CAN BE EXPENSIVE—Whenever the Tecumseh fire department answers a call, it starts costing the city money. The average blaze runs $30 just for firemen's salaries. In Macon, Franklin and Raisin townships, there is an additional flat rate charge of $100 per fire to the local governments there. Tecumseh Township pays a flat yearly rate for protection. Cost can also hit the property owner, if it's a grass fire he started without a burning permit. Failure to abide by this law can result in up to a $100 fine and not more than 90 days in jail. Burning permits can be obtained at the Tecumseh fire hall.

This Man Knows His Business

Harrell Brown of 7994 Billmeyer Hwy. won "Chester" Saturday at the Gambles store.

Chester happened to be a dressed pig, weighing 87 pounds and seven ounces, and was displayed to the public through a glass top freezer.

Nearly 1,000 registered at Gambles to guess Chester's weight. Guesses ranged from 30 and 40 pounds to 250 pounds, and although several were in the 87-pound bracket, Mr. Brown's guess was right on the button.

Bank Staff Honors 'Mr. Van'

BY DOROTHY GRIGG

Glenn VanDenbergh was the guest of honor Wednesday evening at a dinner held by employees of the United Savings Bank at the Boston Lunch.

He was the recipient of a gift of a Hi Fi from the group.

Mr. VanDenbergh, vice-president of the bank, retired Monday after serving here for 29 years.

He remembers well the long hours of hard work that were necessary when the bank first opened in 1933 after having been closed for a year and one-half.

John Thompson, Mrs. Harry Duncan and Marjorie Barber, now Mrs. Burnell Moon, and Mr. Van were the only employees. Now there are 24.

Mr. Van said Monday that they worked "as hard as possible regardless of salary to help get the bank on its feet."

"Some people thought that it never would open and some weren't very friendly," continued Mr. Van.

Assets then were $587,000 as compared to close to $20 million now.

☆

MR. VANDENBERGH reminisced back to Sept. 1, 1902, when he started his banking career at Howard City for $8.75 a week.

He had attended the Detroit Business University for about three months and planned to return there when he was offered a position in the private bank of O'Donald and Scott.

From 1918 until 1931, Mr. Van was employed in Cadillac at the State Bank. He remembers that there he used an individual ledger called a Boston ledger, kept with pen and ink. He told of 17 pages with 55 accounts on each page.

Frequently they had to be transferred to a new book — all done by hand.

It was in 1906 that his marriage to Mae Louise Reed was solemnized. In Howard City, three of his four daughters, Katharine, Elizabeth and Helen were born.

Margaret arrived in 1913 in Cadillac. She is now Mrs. Larry Van Dyke of Grand Rapids.

Katherine, Mrs. Bill Hancock, also lives in Grand Rapids.

Elizabeth, Mrs. Robert Lowry, lives in Winchester, Mass., and Helen, Mrs. Walter Sauer, lives in Sturgis.

From 1918 until 1931, Mr .Van was employed by the City National Bank and Trust Co. in Battle Creek. This bank is now a part of the Guardian Detroit Union Group. He was cashier at the time he left.

☆

IN SPEAKING of the future, Mr. Van mentioned he plans some trips, including one to Florida.

He will visit his family; his four granddaughters and four grandsons and, yes, one great grandson.

He may take up playing the piano again, a hobby he hasn't done much with since his wife's death.

His mother played the organ when he was a child and he has always sung in church choirs. He also told about taking piano lessons from his teacher, who roomed in his home at Howard City.

Music always has been an important part of Mr. Van's life.

Congratulations and best wishes are in order for this senior citizen, who will be 80 years young July 7 of this year.

This week's Herald contains a 16-page tabloid "Spring Out" supplement, printed on green stock, which is devoted entirely to automotive material.

They'll Spend Easter Season in Jerusalem

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Maves are taking to the road again — or rather this time they are taking to the airways.

Since last spring the couple have been planning to take a Lutheran conducted tour of Europe, climaxed by three or four days in Jerusalem just at the Easter season.

Monday they left by TWA plane for New York and Friday they flew to Lisbon, Portgual.

Thrilled to be returning to Switzerland, Germany and other countries which they toured three years ago, the Maves were sure to include the camera for colored slides.

Many Tecumseh people have enjoyed the pictures and narration of the Maves trip to Mexico.

Mrs. Maves has consented to write to The Herald as they go by plane from country to country for a series of stories.

The Cuban government is reported to have put RX drugs under new controls, making them available only to specified pharmacies. Aim of the curbs, the government says, is to make sure people who "really need" the drugs get them.

●

Prescriptions cost less at Rexall, because with 10,000 stores in the nation, there is no larger drug buying group. The tremendous savings realized by this large purchase power are passed along to Rexall customers.

With less than five cases of paralytic polio per million population in 1961, the disease has ceased to be a significant public health problem, says National Foundation President Basil O'Connor.

Ohio Scouts Hike Freedom Trail, Are Guests in Tecumseh

Eleven cars containing 59 Boy Scouts and 16 adult leaders from the Akron Area Council, representing nine troops from in and around Akron, O. arrived at the campsite on the Tecumseh end of the Freedom Trail March 23.

Saturday and Sunday they hiked the 28 mile Scout Trail between Adrian and Tecumseh.

Saturday evening Tecumseh Troop 4, sponsored by St. Elizabeth Church and led by George Choske and Richard Brighton, were hosts for a social meeting at St. Elizabeth School.

Francis Packard, district advancement chairman and member of the Freedom Trail Committee, was in charge of the program.

Walter McCallum, district Scout executive, led group singing until all the Akron boys arrived. The colors were then presented by Fred Choske and Merton Boss and the Scout oath and laws were given.

A two-minute silent prayer was observed by the entire group after which Mr. McCallum welcomed the Akron group and Troop 73 Tecumseh, Fred Filber, leader, who were also guests for the evening.

Don Dennis of Addison, district vice-chairman and council member, and Howard Wilson, Jr., district leadership training chairman were also guests.

Mr. McCallum showed a movie on the Region 7 canoe base and in return, the Akron group showed slides of their camp in Ohio and some of the Philmont Scout Ranch.

Refreshments, prepared by the Troop 4 Mother's Club, were served and a swap-session followed with Scout patches, neckerchiefs and slides traded.

The Akron Boy Scouts presented each local Scout with a rubber tire key ring and a piece of rubberized fabric in the shape of an airship.

The closing cermony was conducted by Mr. Choske.

Sunday morning the Protestant boys attended a special service conducted for them by the Rev. Laszlo Gero at the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church, while those of the group who were Catholic, attended early Mass at St. Elizabeth's.

Sunday evening about six o'clock, a weary, but happy group of Akron Scouts left for home, proud of the medals they had earned for hiking the Freedom Trail.

ARE YOU...

paying extra for prescriptions

Chances are that you are paying too much for prescriptions if you are taking your prescriptions to another store. But, how can you be sure that you're not paying too much?

The answer is simple.

Just bring a copy of your prescription to Hodges and let us quote you our price. You will be pleasantly surprised at the money you will save.

Remember, you will never be sure that you are getting the best price until you come to Hodges! Then you'll know.

AT HODGES
We Don't Discuss Prices, We Lower them!

WE'RE NOT THE FIRST

. . . . except in this area

Last week, Americans leading weekly news magazine cited that more and more stores, including drug stores, have turned to lower prices. Some of these well known stores and companies changed their retail policies in keeping with national trends.

Hodges Drug Store, about one month ago, also changed their retail policies by lowering prices, passing on savings to our customers.

Of course, we will make a profit. We have to, but we've offset a larger profit for greater volume. An old business trick that saves customers money many times.

JC Aux Holds Baby Sitting Clinic

"An old timer is a fellow who remembers when folks rested on Sunday instead of Monday."

The Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary held a baby sitting clinic at the Junior high school during the past two weeks.

Purpose of this clinic was to help seventh and eighth grade students become competent baby sitters. Meetings were held on Wednesday and Thursday from 2 to 3 p.m.

Chairman Mrs. Richard Creswell reported that 115 students had signed up for the class, one-third of this number were boys.

March 21 the group was given instruction that in order to qualify for a Baby Sitting Certificate they would have to attend every meeting and pass the test that will be given April 11.

March 22, Mrs. Howard Morris, registered nurse from Herrick Memorial Hospital gave a talk on how to feed and care for children.

Her talk was followed by a question and answer period.

March 28, Dr. A. J. Phelan spoke on what to do in case a child cut himself, told what different household articles are poisonous, also what to do if a child swallowed something.

Dr. Phelan's talk was followed by a question and answer period.

March 29 Chief of Police Clark gave a talk on what to do in case someone tried to enter the home and what to do if they did enter the home. In the absence of Harold Easton, Chief Clark gave a short discussion on what to do in case a fire broke out.

The Tecumseh Herald will publish the names of the students receiving their certificates at a later date.

Members of the Auxiliary voiced their appreciation to David Dick, Dr. Phelan, Mrs. Morris and Chief Clark for their wholehearted cooperation.

Clarinet Quartet Performs

Twenty-one attended the Band Boosters meeting Thursday evening in the High School library when a clarinet quartet presented several selections.

The musicians were Peggy Johnson, David Dustin, Tom Dickinson and Barry Bradish.

It was announced that anyone who had not been contacted by April 10 about placing birthday dates or meeting dates on the calendar might do so by calling Mrs. Don Johnson or Mrs. James Barton.

Members voted to donate 25% of the Band Booster funds as well as 20% of the profit from all future money-making projects to the David Day Scholarship.

This fund will be used to send two senior high school instrumental students to a music camp.

President Don Nettleman will appoint a committee to set up standards that a student must meet to qualify for the scholarship. Don Johnson, instructor, will be a member of the committee.

The first student selected will have a choice of Interlochen or another camp.

If he should happen not to choose Interlochen, the second student selected would also have a choice.

Students must make an application to the committee and then each applicant will be tested by the committee to determine who would most benefit from the experience.

A chairman for the Junior High Band Banquet has not yet been appointed.

Mr. Nettleman asked that calendar chairmen have money and calendars turned in by April 10 instead of April 15 as previously scheduled.

Brother John Attends

Brother John Lavelle, Director of Boysville High School, was among 100 Midwest school administrators attending a meeting on airborne television instruction March 26 at Purdue University.

The meeting was one of a series in which school administrators have been discussing the future of the Midwest Program on Airborne Television Instruction.

Midwest schools now have the opportunity to take over the ownership and operation of MPATI and insure the continuation of airborne television lessons for $1 or less per student per year, Dr. Brychte D. Godbold, executive vice president of MPATI, told the group.

The airborne program telecasts video-taped lessons from a high flying aircraft to schools in parts of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin.

The project is aimed at upgrading the quality of education on a vast geographic scale at a cost within reach of school budgets.

MPATI currently is supported by grants from foundations and private industry. A group of prominent educators and laymen formed a non-profit educational organization in January to enable schools, as members, to take over the project's management, financing and further development.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Osburn visited her father, Lillard Brown, Jr. Alline Osburn said that travel was, at the least, exciting due to huge fires on both sides of the roads, especially in the Everglades.

A huge tidal wave provided plenty of interest too. Parking meters on the beaches were almost covered with sand.

Dr. and Mrs. Carlos Knisely entertained Sunday honoring their infant daughter, Paula Kay, who was baptized at St. Elizabeth Church. Saturday evening a family buffet dinner was served to Mr. and Mrs. Floris Balk and children, Kathryn and Arthur of Westchester, Ill.; Bill Vajdek of N. Riverside, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Art Fountain and family of S. Rockwood, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Beasanski and family and Kenneth Kurtz of Monroe. Gross Industrial Education teachers at Tecumseh Junior High School and Tecumseh High School were among 1,0000 members of the Michigan Industrial Education Society who attended the annual convention and workshops of that organization March 29, 30, and 31.

Highlighting Thursday's session is the Keynote Address by Dr. Carl L. Byerly, District Administrator, Detroit Public Schools, under whose chairmanship recent findings are being adopted by school boards across the nation.

In 1960, Dr. London headed a delegation to the Soviet Union to study vocational and technical education.

Dr. London's talk was about this Russian study.

Dr. Dewey F. Barich, President of the Detroit Institute of Technology, was the highlight speaker at the Saturday luncheon. He spoke on "Technical Trends Affecting Industrial Education."

$350,000 Bet Daily at DRC

Those $2 bets on horse races really add up.

Average daily total at the Detroit Race Course hits $350,000, explained Don Wattrick, Detroit sportscaster, at Tuesday's Rotary session.

Mr. Wattrick said that of this booty, 87% is paid back in winnings.

The 13% balance is split between the state and the track.

The state gives up to 20% of its share to the city in which the oval is located.

Owners of the track pay the purses and maintain the plant before getting down to their profit.

In its 12-year history, DRC has sent $25 million to the state in taxes, Mr. Wattrick told Rotarians.

He brought along a film on horse racing, including the famous 1936 two-horse scamper in which Sea Biscuit beat War Admiral.

Among guests at the gathering were two Sydney, Australia men, Jack Brisby and Graham McEvoy, who are spending several months at Tecumseh Products Co.

Rotary President Maynard Lucas announced that two Rotary bowling teams, captained by Hal Kelso and Andy Woodward, would roll Sunday at Detroit's Thunderbird Lanes.

Euchre Party Prizes Given

Four tables were arranged for the euchre party at the Odd Fellows Hall recently.

Prizes were awarded to Grant Dunsmore, Carl Schook, Earnest Topps, Mrs. Donald Escott and Mrs. Thomas Pence.

Doughnuts and coffee were served by Mrs. Roy Allshouse.

The regular meeting of the Rebekahs will be held Friday, April 6.

Celebrated 50th at Dinner Party in Blissfield

Other dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Evert Netcher of Onsted, Mrs. Albert Filter and Alice Filter, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Filter, David and Denise of Britton and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Williams Jodie and Mark of Clinton.

Later the group met at the home of Mrs. Albert Filter for a social evening. Ice cream and wedding cake were served.

Additional guests during the evening were Mrs. Arthur Bamm, Mrs. Ernest Stawff and Mrs. Stanley Fracker of Jackson.

Church Notes

Why Join A Church, Is Topic

"We are known by the friends we have and the groups with which we are associated, thus it is not surprising that one of the tests of the character of a person is whether he can be identified as a member of a church," said the Rev. Allen Wittrup.

Think of life, think of this community or any other community without the church. What a sad, drab, hopeless place it would be.

"But to make the church effective we must associate ourselves with its message and carry on its work," continued the pastor.

The Rev. Wittrup has chosen "Why Join the Church?" for his sermon topic for Sunday, at First Methodist Church. The service is at 10 a.m.

Dr. Merrill Lennox, executive secretary of the Detroit Council of Churches, will speak at a public meeting at First Presbyterian Church Wednesday, April 11, at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Lennox was a delegate to the World Council of Churches meeting in New Delhi, India.

He will share his impressions and interpret actions taken at that meeting. The public is invited, according to Rev. Wittrup.

Dispel Apathy

The Power of spiritual thoughts to dispel apathy and idleness will be brought out in Christian Science church services Sunday.

Jehovah's Witnesses Hold Lecture

The Tecumseh Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses announced this week that they will begin a series of special events covering the next three weeks.

Sunday, April at 3 p.m. there will be featured a public lecture entitled "Christendom Has Failed God! After Her End, What?" What?"

Simultaneously in more than 21,550 congregations earth wide, this same message will be delivered by qualified speakers.

DAVE HOUSEMAN

Over 200 Michigan FFA members were nominated to receive the State Farmer degree, which is conferred upon not more than 2% of the entire state membership in one year.

Many requirements must be fulfilled for a candidate to receive the honor.

For example, each candidate must have earned by his own efforts from farming or other agricultural work and have deposited in a bank, or otherwise productively invested, at least $500.

He must have also satisfactorily completed at least two years of instruction in vocational agriculture and hold the Chapter Farmer degree.

Ron Fritch, adviser, attended a special luncheon for chapter advisers which was provided by Michigan Electric Suppliers at noon, Wednesday, March 21.

The Britton delgates elected were Dave Bailey and Joe Prochaska, with Russ Cadmus and Dan Henning as alternates.

Also participating at the Convention were Frank Hamann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hamann, who provided entertainment during one of the 11 breaks Frank is well-known in this area for his accordian playing.

Dekalb Cites Four from Britton High

By DAVID HOUSEMAN

BRITTON — Attending a recent banquet at Albion were Britton-Macon students Russ Lutton, Bob Billau and Lee Wagner with their vocational agriculture instructor, Ron Fritch.

These students were honored for their outstanding work in the DeKalb Corn Achievement Program during the past year.

Special recognition went to Bob Billau and Russ Lutton, who tied for the top score in the school.

Besides the above, 10 other students from the Britton FFA participated in the program.

This Corn Achievement Program has been designed to place emphasis on the ability of students to learn about the business of producing corn.

The sponsor provides two free seed corn samples of different varieties and a comprehensive record form to each participating student.

Accurate completion of this form demands keen observation and a knowledge of such corn production factors as soil fertility, plant population, disease and insect damage and tolerance, yields and costs.

Yield is only considered as an incidental part of the completed record and the score allotted to yield is in no way based on final yield, but rather on the ability to make an accurate yield calculation.

The excellence of this completed record is the basis for making awards to those doing the best job.

☆

ACCORDING to Mr. Fritch, the Corn Achievement Program is educational in nature. A complete tabulation of production costs is required for all operations from plowing to harvest and storage or delivery to the elevator.

The gross income from the crop is determined by taking a yield check and using the local market price. The difference between all production costs and the gross income is the net profit or loss per acre.

This is one of the many ways farmers of tomorrow are learning about the economics and proper methods of farming today.

Through the Corn Achievement Program, these Future Farmers are practicing their motto, "Learning by doing." This marks the eighth year for the program, and over 10,000 students in 10 different states took part this year.

The banquet program was highlighted by a color slide presentation on corn culture, which included a discussion on proven practices as well as new practices presently in use.

Professional Groups Can Serve Community Better, Speaker Says

Professional groups could serve the public better if they would adopt a more enlightened attitude about advertising.

This was what Elmer E. White, secretary of the Michigan Press Association, told members of the Michigan State Chiropractic Society at a Lansing meeting.

Mr. White stated that lawyers could fulfill their responsibility to people who need advice much more effectively if they would use paid advertising to identify their legal needs and invite them to seek consultation.

Some professional groups establish ethical standards against paid advertising, Mr. White said, then try to develop more clients through other means, which often include free publicity in news stories.

Newspapers have a place in a community, he explained, and must depend upon advertising revenues to exist.

Professional groups, which operate within the same community, are missing a bet to keep in contact with the public by denying themselves the advantages of paid advertising.

They also reduce the opportunity for a newspaper or radio station to survive and provide its service to the public.

Mr. White appeared before the Chiropractic Society to discuss ways chiropractors could secure more attention in news media.

Future Teachers Week Will Open Tuesday, April 15

LANSING—The Michigan Future Teacher Association and its 6,000 individual student members will celebrate Future Teachers Week, April 15-21.

Centered around the crucial area of recruiting high school students to the teaching profession, this observance marks the third year for such a week to be held in Michigan.

As a result of the rapid growth in the number of high school students desiring to become teachers, some 225 Future Teachers Clubs have been organized throughout the state. There is one at Tecumseh High.

Right Degree, Wrong College

Well, he did get a bachelor's degree in economics, that is, William Lewis Lopshire of rural Clinton did.

In last week's issue of The Herald it was inadvertently written that he was a graduate of the University of Michigan when his degree actually was from Michigan State University.

ENJOYS FLORIDA SUNSHINE — Marie Wintersteen returned Sunday at midnight from a two week vacation in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where she enjoyed golfing and swimming. She is employed at the Aget Manufacturing Co. in Adrian and lives with her mother, Mrs. John Wintersteen, 205 W. Pottawatamie St. She said it was warm in Florida and quite a contrast to the cold and snow she found when she returned to the North.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

HELLO AND GOODBYE

Well, March has been torn from the calendar and April is here! Now the daily vigil starts and the question, always present, is "What new bird will maybe appear today?" This month and next will find the airways crowded but all movement is in one direction—north.

I shall not even attempt a discussion about the whys of this seasonal marvel, how the extra day-light hours stimulate glands which in turn activate the urge to return home; it might be fun, however, to look at a few birds who may soon be paying us a brief visit.

March has already brought a fair complement of early returnees. Big, fat robins hop about the yards or sing their happy springtime song and how their sleek appearance testifies to the 'good living down south'; the grackles are back, too, looking as evil as ever with their villainous black coats and cruel yellow eyes.

A short drive through the country shows an abundance of redwing blackbirds, every fifth post seemingly holds one of the black ones and how proud they are of those brilliant red and white shoulder epaulets.

A flash of blue and a loud raucous rattle on the 26th of March announced the kingfisher's return.

We haven't seen them, but according to a Cranbrook migration check list, the beautiful blue birds, the funny killdeer and the obnoxious cow birds probably are around too.

☆

BUT ON to April and according to last year's bird calendar we should be due for much excitement. If he makes a return appearance, we will soon be seeing some mad scratching through the dead leaves as handsome white fronted, black backed and reddish-brown sided Mr. Towhee searches for lunch.

Every little chipping sparrow and his cousins the white crowned and white throated sparrows are expected any day now.

I wonder if these last two will be as confusing as always — we can never tell for sure which is which and usually wind up enjoying the birds but not naming them.

April also brings the brown thrasher. A lovely rich brown bird, quite large, who some people think is so named for his habit of vigorously flicking or thrashing his long slender tail up and down.

The sleek slender catbirds should soon arrive and people with martin houses will be getting new tenants.

The warblers start their massive invasion—bright little yellow warblers are regulars in our window pictures and last year a short visit was made by a black and white warbler, "a warbler in form and general makeup, a creeper by profession and practice."

☆

ALSO EXPECTED — the tiny jewel-like kinglet and his almost insatiable appetite for insects; the wrens and their puzzlement, will they or won't they set up housekeeping in our wren house; and if the weather is mild, perhaps the end of the month will find Lord Baltimore Oriole, resplendent in black and orange, arriving.

Quite a month, and, of course, we have mentioned but a few of the birds who may be seen.

But if this is the time of year to welcome back some happy wanderers, many of whom will spend the entire summer while others are just passing through, it is also a time of farewell.

The stout hearted souls who think our windblown, snow and ice covered area a perfect spot for a southern winter vacation are beginning to leave.

The interesting snow-buntings, plentiful again this winter, are undoubtedly well on their way—theirs is a long trip, too; they are birds of the far north.

☆

THE EVENING grosbeaks have probably departed, although since they never did come to see us often, I can't say for sure that they have gone.

One was reported hanging around a feeder the last part of March but he must have been a straggler. Some of the juncos took off several weeks ago; a big conclave, fifteen or twenty of them, assembled in our yard—they were fun to see. A few are still here, we hope they are in no hurry to leave.

So it is that this may be the time of year we add to our bird population but we lose a few too —it is truly a season of hello and goodbye.

Jaycees Still Want Those Toys

"Hey, don't throw those toys away!"

The Jaycees are eagerly awaiting discarded toys at the Tecumseh Fire Hall.

They want to repair, paint and prepare them for the holiday season next year, when needy children will be made happier because of the foresight of these young men.

Ken Zarnow, chairman of the project, urgently requests residents in the area who are cleaning attics and garages to send any broken or outgrown toys to the Jaycees.

They may be taken to the fire hall or members of the group will pick them up if contacted.

The committee recently acquired five sleds and a scooter, which have been put in working condition.

One sled was nearly new, only needed a bolt, Ken reports.

4 Preps Coming

Tecumseh Jaycees have been busily planning a treat for area residents to take place Wednesday, April 25.

They are sponsoring an evening of music by The Four Preps, youngest vocal group with a major recording label.

Tickets are on sale now at Lamb's Pharmacy and Eggleston's Jewelry for the performance by the Preps who have appeared on several top TV shows including "Ozzie and Harriet", the Lawrence Welk, Dick Clark, Ed Sullivan and Tennessee Ernie Ford shows.

Reserve seat and box sections will be sold as well as general admission tickets.

The Preps met and originated as a quartet at Hollywood High School in Los Angeles and there sang together in the school choir.

Members of the group are:
Marvin Inabnett—high tenor
Bruce Belland—lead tenor
Glen Larson—baritone
Ed Cobb—bass

The Preps' first important record was "Dreamy Eyes", under the Capitol banner, but their initial blockbuster, which sold in the neighborhood of one million records, was "26 Miles" (Santa Catalina) which was written by Glen Larson and Bruce Belland.

Following this hit, Bruce and Glen wrote "BIG MAN", which outsold "26 MILES", and also became the number one record in the British Isles.

The hits have been frequent since then and their most recent smash, "Down by the Station", also co-authored by Glen and Bruce, is nearing the million mark and once again is on the "Hit" charts abroad as well as in this country.

POPULAR RECORDING ARTISTS, THE FOUR PREPS, WILL PERFORM IN TECUMSEH APRIL 25

4-County MS Branch Is Formed

A four-county branch of the Michigan Chapter, National Multiple Sclerosis Society was organized on the 28th Wednesday.

There are six Branches of the Michigan Chapter presently in existence and considerable interest has developed, indicating the need of a branch to serve Jackson, Lenawee, Monroe and Washtenaw Counties.

Multiple Sclerosis is a chronic, crippling disease of the central nervous system that generally affect young adults between the ages of 20 and 40 years.

There are an estimated 11,000 MS patients in Michigan and approximately 675 in the proposed Branch area.

The functions of the Michigan Chapter are threefold:

- ► Research
- ► Patient service
- ► Health education.

For more details, write to the Michigan Chapter Office, 10711 W. McNichols, Detroit 21.

The Michigan Chapter is a Michigan United Fund—Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation agency.

Artist Draws Two Pictures

Mrs. Clark Pearson, local chalk artist, drew two pictures for members of the Power Class of the Tecumseh Friends Church at their March party Saturday evening.

As she drew a picture of the hands of Christ, her husband sang "His Hands", accompanied by Carol McClure.

The other picture was a part of the devotional period of the evening, in charge of Arnold Wilson.

Sixteen members of the class met for a potluck supper in the basement of the church, and spent the remainder of the evening playing games, under the direction of Norman Feller.

Mr. Pearson led the group in an old-fashioned song fest.

General chairmen for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huber.

Exchange See Movies of Island

Members of the Exchange Club were entertained Monday evening by Barney Barnard of Jackson, who presented moving pictures of Galapagos Island.

The pictures showed birds, native wild life and many fish in a beautiful setting on the islands.

VOICE OF THE HERALD

Pictures Tell The News

Having a Herald picture win a top state contest award was a genuine thrill for the entire staff.

Making mention of the citation is a logical time to re-state our policy regarding pictures.

Your publishers have always highly valued the use of local photographs and it's our aim to have one local picture per page in each edition.

We don't always hit the mark, but over the long haul, it averages out pretty well.

We think that good pictures should be played big—and after all, the art on a page is the first thing folks see and usually view carefully.

Captions should be short and interesting, telling the basic facts. Most often, Herald pix are accompanied by stories with more detailed information.

We always welcome suggestions for pictures from subscribers and some of our best shots have been those which we heard about via a phone call from some interested reader.

For this job of providing pictures in your weekly, The Herald has two first-rate cameras on hand, a complete darkroom and its own plastic engraving machine.

These tools are vital to fullfill the philosophy that newspaper readers want to see as much of the news as possible.

FIRST IN THE STATE — This shot won Richard Duffin, Herald photographer, his state award last weekend. He snapped the picture July 28 following an accident on M-50 two miles east of Tecumseh. Driver of the car was Deputy Sheriff Thomas C. Rook of Monroe.

Six Join Auxiliary of Jaycees

The Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. James Fielder Wednesday evening with 16 members and six new members present.

New members welcomed include Mrs. John Day, Mrs. Richard Jacobs, Mrs. James Hite, Mrs. Fred Johnson, Mrs. Ray Moll and Mrs. Charles Kapnick.

The group decided to have a refreshment stand at the "Four Preps" concert to be held in the High School April 25.

All Auxiliary members are invited to the regular Jaycee meeting April 5.

Mary Lou Barrett gave a report on the District 5 meeting held recently in Ann Arbor when Mrs. Marvin Nelson of the Tecumseh Auxiliary was elected District vice-president to succeed Mrs. Ray Shelton also of Tecumseh.

The nominating committee was appointed for election of officers to be held at the next meeting, April 18, at the home of Mrs. Allan Barrett with Mrs. Charles O'Neill and Mrs. Dyke Helms, co-hostesses.

Refreshments were served by the co-hostesses, Mrs. Richard Creswell and Mrs. Bruce Corley

The date has been set for the Mother and Daughter Banquet to be held at the Ridgeway Methodist Church Saturday, May 12. The full details will be given at a later date.

Now That April's Here

It's spring — finally.

When the temperature goes up and the sun comes down, that's a combination that can't be beaten. Especially after the rough winter Tecumseh enjoyed (?).

There's nothing better for chasing away the blues than a fresh, spring day. May there be many more in the coming weeks.

One group of fellows who always come bouncing out of their shells wth warm weather are the automobile dealers.

We were happy to work with area car folks this week in getting up a tabloid supplement that accompanies this issue and advises folks to "Spring Out in a New '62."

Another big item in spring, is voting, with one election this week behind us.

Three councilmen were re-seated and a newcomer, Gene Tuckey, brought into the fold. The write-in effort for James Fielder didn't work out—as in the case with more such last-minute campaigns.

We mention this because in May, two persons will be elected to the board of education.

We'd like to see a good spread of candidates running for these posts, all printed on the ballot—especially people who are genuinely concerned with the schools.

Petitions for the election are now in Supt. James McDowell's office and can be picked up by candidates.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By DAVE KLAVON

Next Friday, April 13, the boys will begin their annual Easter vacation with check out at 3:00 p.m. They have been waiting for four weeks for this vacation which will end April 23.

√

Last Thursday and Friday closed another quarter of school at Boysville. Many boys are counting the days till summer vacation — June 10.

√

Track practice is a lively thing each day at Boysville. Brother James Kinsella, C.S.C., track coach has been having his boys run around the county roads to get in shape. Several boys have shown great promise in various events, but the loss of some of last year's speedsters will hurt.

√

Last Saturday night, March 31, the Junior Class of Boysville presented the Third Annual Talent Show in the gym. Eight acts comprised the program. The judges, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ruhl and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Travis of Macon, had a different time choosing the winners.

The winners were: first prize: The Marks IV, a singing group with guitar accompaniment, composed of Joe Laus, Bill Bonnell, Tom Wrobleski, and Bob Stuart; second prize: Ron Medel, who sang two songs and accompanied himself on the guitar; third prize: King Cupid and the Cupid-Tones, an instrumental group composed of Ed Budzynski, Ron Wells, Dave Klavon, Jim Palko, Frank Turner, and Charlie Kramer; and fourth prize: Pat Miron, who pantomimed two records. The balloting was extremely close, and only three points separated the second, third, and fourth place winners.

First prize was an extra weekend home; second was a movie and refreshments, third prize was a carton of cigarettes and fourth prize was a box of candy.

Other participants were Ed Lemanski playing the trumpet, Al Padilla pantomiming some Mexican records, Rich Cowan and Roger Learn singing a couple of southern songs and Al Padilla, Ken Bennett, and John Saxon pantoming a couple of Kingston Trio numbers.

Junior Class President Charlie Stone was master of ceremonies for the show. Brother Philip Armstrong, C.S.C., is Junior Class moderator.

This coming Sunday the Boysville Drum and Bugle Corps will travel to Detroit to play for the Cardinal Mercier Council K. of C. Corporate Communion Sunday Parade. The boys have been practicing hard for the coming events.

After the April 8 parade the Corps will have a rest before they travel to Benton Harbor May 12 to march in the Annual Blossom Festival Parade there.

√

Baseball practice started for everyone March 27. Joe Fortunato is infield coach, and Mike Gendzwill, the head coach, is handling the outfield and the squad practices.

From the looks of things after just a few days outside, Boysville may have a fairly decent team if the boys continue to work hard.

√

The new dining hall has now been in use almost two weeks and everyone is becoming accustomed to being in comfortable quarters for a change.

Painters are finishing their work on the beams outside the building.

√

The intramural basketball season has been completed on campus. It was a short season because many of the boys who were playing wanted to try out for baseball or track. Tom McCullen's "Know Nothings" were on top with a 5-0 record.

Archers Lose to Adrian

The last triangular shoot for Tecumseh Archers was held April 1 at the Community Center. Adrian defeated Tecumseh by approximately 350 points for which they were awarded the trophy.

Ypsilanti was again unable to compete with Adrian and Tecumseh Sunday, April 1st.

There will be no more shooting on Wednesday nights for beginners because of the lack of attendance.

In April most of the outdoor ranges in the Southern Michigan area start their summer shooting. There is a much larger variety of distances in outdoor shooting than indoor shooting, the shortest distance being eight yards and the longest 80 yards.

The standings as of March 27 are as follows:

STARTED WITH USED CAR LOT

Underwood Has Full Ford Line

GEORGE UNDERWOOD, JR.

Ten years ago, George Underwood went into the automobile business for himself.

He opened a used car lot on M-52, just south of Clinton.

Today, on the same location is one of Lenawee County's most extensive franchised dealerships.

George's first franchise was the Packard, running through 1953 and '54.

With Packard going out of production, George became an agent for Lincoln and Mercury.

That was 1955.

Last summer, he added Ford and the balance of this line — Falcon, Thunderbird and Comet.

This makes Underwood's one of the few dealerships in the United States which has every product of Ford.

Working with George is his brother, Louis, who joined the firm seven years ago.

Rounding out the sales force is George Lancaster, whose brother Jack is parts manager.

Lonnie Stalls, a veteran Ford specialist, was recently hired as service manager.

Others on the "back shop" team at Underwood's are Eddie Cammet, Jim Fitzgerald, Charley Cox, Carl Crankshaw, Bob Fox and Roger Allen.

☆

THIS service crew has a total of more than 106 years of experience maintaining all makes of automobiles.

George is proud of his maintenance setup and the agency's slogan is "After we sell—we service."

"We keep only the best used cars for re-sale, selling poorer trade-in to wholesale dealers," George states.

"There are warranties on all used cars we sell," he adds.

Underwood's are holding Open House Friday and Saturday along with all other dealers in the area. The showroom will be open each evening until 9.

Tools, Parts Inventory Tops $45,000

How much does a fellow have to invest in parts and tools to keep a modern automobile agency ticking?

Well, in the case of Harvey Wilson, who sells Plymouths, Valiants, Chryslers and Ramblers, the figure tops $45,000.

"We have all the latest in equipment and tools," Harvey explains, "With nine productive stalls in our service department."

Wilson Motor Sales has one of the newest and biggest physical layouts in Lenawee County. The recently-enlarged service section incorporates 7,800 square feet.

Harvey's salesroom, which has just been remodeled, incorporates 2,600 square feet.

☆

MAKING UP the Wilson sales force, in addition to owner Harvey, are Lamar Cheever, Harry Morris and Don Murphy.

Chuck Goodacre has been Wilson's service manager for eight years and has been a regular student at both Chrysler Motor and Rambler Motor training schools in Detroit.

All of the service personnel attend training classes, devoting up to 30 evenings over a one-year period.

Working with Chuck are:

Ed Pistole, parts manager,

Don Wheeler, a mechanic with 12 years experience on General Motors cars.

Bob Clingler, who has been working on Chrysler-made autos for 21 years.

Jim Hennigan, lubrication specialist.

James Hennigan, new and used car clean-up man.

☆

MR. WILSON states that his used cars are sold on the GW Plan—guaranteed warranty.

This means that for one year, all cars can be repaired with a 15% discount on parts and a 15% discount on labor.

Mr. Wilson has been in the auto sales business since 1953, starting with Plymouth.

In 1958, he added Rambler.

"We're having Open House Friday and Saturday," reminds Harvey. "Be sure to stop at our place and Spring Out in a New

Harvey Wilson has been selling Plymouths in Tecumseh since 1953, Ramblers since 1958.

Car of Today Is Much More Reliable, Tough

Are today's cars really more durable and reliable than those of only a few years ago

Listen to Horace Wetherbee, member of New Hampshire's Armed Blue Light Patrol:

"Winter used to knock cars out like tenpins. We'd find them broken down and helpless with all sorts of troubles.

"But these new babies? Why they go right on rolling in every thing the weatherman can dish out!"

CONSUMER PROGRESS SHARING REPORT FROM RAMBLER

DIFFERENT?

What's different about Rambler's rustproofing?

It goes all the way up to the roof. For the body alone, Rambler uses a 9-step process, including exclusive Deep-Dip—where the entire body is immersed right up to the roof in a 40-foot-long tank of rustproofing primer paint. Rambler actually spills more rustproofing than other cars use.

What's different about Rambler's brakes?

They stop when other brakes can't. Rambler's Double-Safety Brake System has tandem master cylinders with separate hydraulic systems for front and rear brakes. If one fails, other still works. Self-adjusting, too—and standard equipment, all models. (Cadillac is only other U.S. car with similar brakes.)

What's different about Rambler's headroom?

It's greater than any other American car's. All Ramblers are roomy, but Classic 6 and Ambassador V-8 beat all other makes in front-seat headroom (even Cadillac!)—can seat six 6-footers easily. Rambler is the only one with the best of both: big-car room, comfort and performance, with compact-car price, economy and handling ease.

What's different about Rambler's muffler and tailpipe?

They won't rust out—we'll pay the cost if they do. Exclusive Ceramic-Armored muffler and tailpipe are so resistant to rust-out and corrosion, they are guaranteed against defect for as many years as you own your new Rambler. If either rusts out, collision damage excepted, go to a Rambler dealer for free replacement.

What's different about Rambler's prices?

They're America's lowest. Only Rambler has America's lowest suggested retail prices for 2-door and 4-door sedans and wagons—and America's lowest-priced convertible (has power top, standard). Every Rambler is quality-built with traditional Rambler excellence—is more trouble-free—enjoyshigh resale value.

Dealers Play Vital Roles in Community

One of the busiest and probably best know retailers in any community is the franchised automobile dealer.

Even those townspeople who don't own cars probably know him or at least have heard of him.

For the average dealer spends almost as much time in community affairs as he does behind the desk at his office.

A recent survey shows that 57% of the nation's 34,600 auto dealers are members of the boards of directors of various schools, churches and charitable organizations in their towns.

And, when a local charity drive is being organized for the Community Chest, the Red Cross, March of Dimes or other activity, one of the first places the organizers go for help is the auto dealer — unless he is already there as one of the organizers, which is frequently the case.

More than eight out of 10 auto dealers participate regularly in such programs.

☆

PERHAPS THE best-known and one of the most significent contributions is the donation of new cars for use in high school driver training programs in their communities.

Throughout the country, 6,711 cars were provided on a free loan basis to high schools last year.

These permitted teachers to give lessons in modern, safe vehicles.

Another 5,535 cars were sold to the high schools that preferred to purchase the vehicles outright.

Not surprisingly, men with such a strong trait of civic consciousness frequently are called upon to serve in public office.

The list of posts which they have filled runs a wide gamut—from councilman and city commissioner to mayor on the local level; school trustee to president of the school board; at least one has been a member of the President's Cabinet; some have been or are members of Congress or their state's legislature; and a number of auto dealers are judges and sheriffs, too!

☆

EVEN ON a strictly business level, the auto dealer is an important factor in his community's economic level.

The average car dealer has 18 employees on his payroll — which is close to $90,000 a year.

In addition, he spends on the average $7,300 a year in advertising in the local newspapers, radio and television stations.

Add to that the amount of local real estate taxes he pays, and the local purchases of heating fuel, cleaning service and other expenditures, and the auto dealer turns out to be not only one of the busiest and well known but also one of the most essential business men in any community.

The franchised new car dealer spends more of his money to protect his customer's investment than any other merchant with whom the public does business. This includes employees factory-trained at dealer expense, the latest in tools and equipment, service and sales facilities.

☆

THE DEALER also has a big investment in plant and inventory, more so today than at any time in automotive history.

Customers' tastes are more sophisticated, and a strong stockpile is essential to satisfy the varying needs.

In addition, the auto business is highly competitive. To survive, good value and good service have to be his watchwords.

Considering his investment the percentage of profit is small; the National Automobile Dealers Association says that the average dealer profit is about 1.1% of sales.

Louis Underwood has been an important member of his brother, George, Jr.'s, Lincoln-Mercury-Ford dealership in Elmhurst.

JIM FINCH IS HARD-WORKING FORD DEALER IN TECUMSEH

Auto Agencies Do Much More Than Sell Cars

All auto agencies contribute greatly to a community—and in a variety of ways.

Last fall, for instance, Tecumseh Motors, Inc. promoted one of the best public relations stunts by any dealer with its Punt, Pass and Kick contest for the youngsters.

The local Ford agency received many compliments from the promotion and all evidence indicates that the same contest will be held again this coming fall.

Sparkplug of the promotion and other Ford accomplishments here is Jim Finch, dealer, who succeeded E. L. (Specs) Simmons here about two years ago.

The Tecumseh Ford agency has been known for its progressiveness and much of this credit can be laid to the old hands—Bob Karle and Jim Spooner, salesmen, and bookkeeper Dick Boyd.

Norm Westgate is the firm's newest salesman.

Tecumseh Motor has an excellent services section, including a complete body and paint shop.

Al Barrett is service manager, while Dick Perry runs the body shop.

Dick is assisted by Larry Dusseau.

Mechanics include Lee Opal and Jim Keehl. Two assistants are Jess Ashenfelter and Lanny Withrow.

Mr. Finch not only boasts of having a fine selection of new and used cars on hand for prospective buyers, but guarantees his used cars, undoubtedly relying on an outstanding service department.

Tecumseh Motors will have a large number of cars—Fords, Falcons, used cars—on display at its open house, Friday and Saturday.

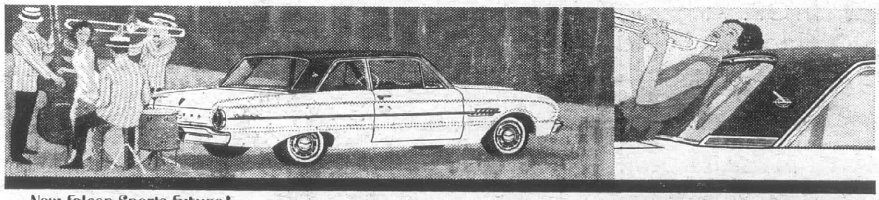
New Galaxie 500/XL!

Start this one and you really start something. Available with Thunderbird V-8 power up to 405 hp (coupled to a 4-speed stick shift), the XL outperforms America's most expensive cars. Standard features include all-new bucket seats with a Thunderbird-style console in between. The XL needs service only twice a year, or every 6,000 miles. Hardtop or convertible. Definitely not for pedestrian tastes!



New Falcon Sports Futura!

Here's a hot new number from the compact leader. The tempo starts fast with foam-padded bucket seats and a handy console in between . . . hits a new high note with a stylish new Thunderbird roof (vinyl-covered if you want it) . . . then goes into the [illegible] melody of an optional 170 Special Six engine. Economy with a flair is the Sports Futura idea . . . it's priced below many standard compacts.

Ford

New Fairlane 500 Sports Coupe!

Don't flirt with this one unless you mean it. It has foam-padded bucket seats with a console in between . . . and an all-new optional "260" Challenger V-8 that packs 164 hp. Fairlane's room, ride and performance are big-car in every way, but this new fine car costs less than many compacts.

George Sr. Is One of Real Veterans

One of the best known names in northern Lenawee County automobile circles is Underwood.

Head of the clan, George, Sr., has been in the game for almost a quarter of a century.

He has been a Chevrolet dealer for 23½ years in Clinton.

His son, John, joined his father in the agency seven years ago.

On June 13, 1961, they made a big step forward, becoming the franchised Pontiac dealer for the area.

They have sold a wide variety of the popular middle-priced GM car in both Clinton and throughout the Tecumseh area.

John is particularly impressed with the '62 Pontiacs, terming them the "Hottest product in Michigan."

The Underwood agency has a veteran office manager in Mrs. Mary Ann Dailey, who has been with the firm 13 years.

The Grady family — Doug, Sr. and Doug, Jr.—have 25 years between them in the Underwood service department.

Doug, Jr. is service manager and has been at the post for 11 years.

Remainder of the lineup for George, Sr. and John:

Raymond Campbell, technician.

Nelson Helm, transmission specialist.

Ray Aylsworth, Corvair specialist.

David Rafferty, new car reconditioning.

"All men in our service department," explains John, "were schooled on General Motors products at the GM Training Center in Detroit and through a night class once each month.

"We have a slogan, 'Pride of Work'," John concludes.

Pontiac Tempest

Friday and Saturday, both George, Sr. and John will be on deck for open house at their salesroom.

"Come on over for some coffee and donuts," John invites, "and drive a '62 Pontiac."

Every Two Years

If the auto industry had its way, most Americans would buy a new car every two years.

But if motorists listened to the conservative "little old lady," they would buy a new car only once in every 10 years.

Strangely enough, both points of view are right—depending on the owner.

This makes for lively debate every time the subject of "When should you trade in your car?" comes up.

There is a small proportion of the car-buying public that could or should buy a new car every year.

This includes those who want to have the newest and can afford it and those who put on very heavy mileage—in the 25,000-30,000 mile range.

THE ECONOMICS of car buying and operation are such, however that a new-car-every-year program is the most expensive way of doing things.

Modern cars are sturdy and built to last and, barring disaster, should run reasonably well for 100,000 miles, about 10 years at the rate most Americans use them.

During the first year there are no repair costs to speak of, just routine maintenance.

But in the second year, according to several studies, repair costs begin a steady climb that can reach as much as one-third the original cost of the car in six years.

Meanwhile, depreciation has set in. The resale value of a car begins dropping the minute you drive it out of a showroom, which has led one observer to comment that "everybody drives a used car."

By the end of the first year depreciation has cut 25% from the value of a car, and at the end of the second year it is worth 40% less than you paid for it.

☆

AFTER THAT depreciation takes a smaller and smaller bite, under 10%.

Usually, then, it is between the second and third years that depreciation has begun to level off and repair costs have started to climb.

Here is the point at which you should trade in your car, the experts say, to get the best possible break financially.

What is happening more and more these days is that the older car is used to put the family in the two-car class.

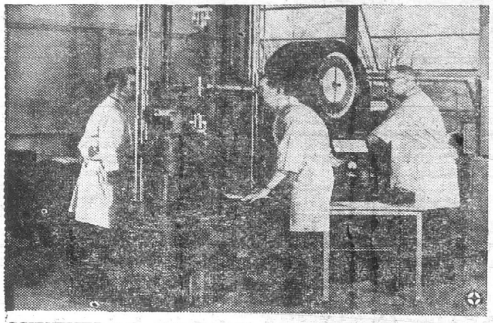
More and More Families Are Adding Second Car

PRECISION ENGINEERING and case hardened steel at wear points make this Atwood Vacuum Machine Company door lock reliable and durable. Overlap of bolt (left) and striker (right) prevent rattles permanently and guard against door being jolted open.



SCIENTISTS at the U. S. Steel Research Center, Monroeville, Pa., test steel on a "muscle" machine. With steel making up two-thirds of a typical car, such research helps assure more value to the motorist by increasing the reliability and durability of the car.

In millions of American homes, when dad is asked for the car keys, he is very likely to ask, "Which car?"

For a nation devoted to and dependent on the automobile, it is not surprising that two-car families exist.

What is surprising is that there are so many of them and that their number is increasing rapidly.

At last count, one car-owning family in six had two autos, and an additional 750,000 had three cars at their command.

The number of two-car families has almost doubled in the past decade, and the trend shows every sign of continuing.

☆

PROBABLY THE biggest factor in increasing the number of two-car families to more than 6,650,000 is the post-war trend to suburban living.

With favorite stores, family friends and community activities widely scattered, an automobile is essential.

But if dad takes the car to work, or to the railroad station, everyone else is housebound or footbound until he returns.

The answer for many families is a second car.

Once it was standard practice to keep the old car for mother to use when dad bought a new car.

But with the array of sizes and types of automobiles available now, it is increasingly likely that a car meeting the specific purpose will be bought new.

BUYING THE NEW CAR is a family affair. After its home, the car is the family's biggest investment. The franchised dealer, who forms the vital link between manufacturer and consumer, spends more to protect his customer's investment than any other merchant.

Two developments have contributed greatly in increasing the number of two-car families; the station wagon and the compact car.

For if dad just drives a short distance to the station or to work, he probably will be looking kindly on the easy-to-park and economical-to-operate compact field for his work-car.

And the same car will be handy when he and mother go out for an evening.

The station wagon with its sleek all-steel body is as handsome and glamorous as a hardtop.

Mother is likely to keep it at home, since it provides plenty of room to store purchases from the weekly shopping trip or to take the children and their friends to meetings and outings.

☆

DAD FINDS the wagon handy, too, when he wants to bring home lumber for a do-it-yourself project or buys gardening supplies and tools that would not fit conveniently in a sedan.

Another factor that has made it easier for many families to buy and maintain a second car is insurance premium reductions available on the second and subsequent cars, and also on compact models.

Most companies give a 25% discount on the insurance for a second car, and the general industry practice is to charge compact car owners 10% less than the premium on larger models.

WOMEN ONLY . . .

Now Push This Thing and The Spark Plugs Will Start Sparking

By FRAN TROESCH

There was a time when the Lord and Master of the household was the most likely occupant of the driver's seat when the Family Car left the garage.

That was back in the days before World War II and the two-car family.

Nowadays the chauffeur-chef-choregirl - club member-mother puts on more mileage than any dad except a traveling salesman.

That being the case, it might be helpful to know what makes the car function as it does.

The engine operates on power produced when the proper proportion of air and gasoline — mixed in the carburetor—enters the cylinders and is set to burning by electricity from the spark plugs.

The carburetor gets the gasoline from the fuel tank via the fuel pump, and air enters from the air cleaner.

☆

THE SPARK plugs get their electricity from the battery.

Within the cylinder the piston pushes down, compressing the air-gas mixture.

Add a spark of electricity and whammo, the engine begins to purr like a kitten.

Now, if you want to back the car out of the drive, you have to disengage the clutch, either manually or automatically.

With the clutch disengaged, the gearshift tells the system of gears called the transmission whether you want to stand still, go forward, or reverse.

The transmission is connected to the drive shaft which goes back to the rear axle, except in America's one' rear-engine car, of course.

In the rear axle a system of gears allows the rear wheels to engage.

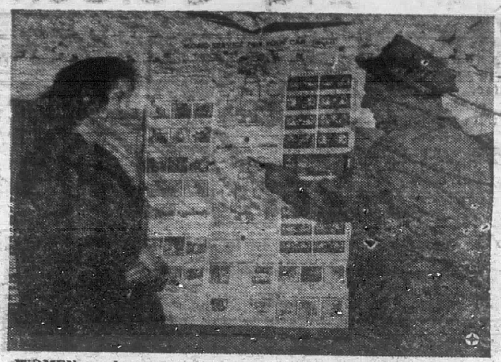
☆

YOU COULD still turn the wheel and engage the gears, but go nowhere if you had no generator (or something new called an alternator) and no battery.

The generator is driven by the engine and feeds back power to the battery to keep it charged so the car will start.

The generator also supplies power to the ignition system, lights, radio, and other electrical units.

Even if the generator and battery are in top-notch condition, there are two other important requirements for smooth operation of your car — cooling and lubrication.



WOMEN — who more and more take the car in for service — find service people eager to explain the fine points of the simplified, but important, maintenance of today's cars. Many car service facilities are designed with her comfort and convenience in mind.

Water is circulated past the cylinders to cool them, and the heated water goes to the radiator where it is cooled by the outside air passing through.

A broken fan belt becomes a crisis because the fan helps the radiator cool the water that keeps the engine from overheating.

☆

YOUR CAR has a reservoir of oil in the crankcase.

A pump forces the oil to bearings and other rotating parts of the engine so that a thin film of oil is deposited between each part, limiting the effect of friction and heat as the parts mesh or pass one another.

It's easy to see why it is important to check the dashboard gauges.

The engine temperature gauge indicates whether radiator, fan or oil systems are functioning properly.

Separate gauges indicate the functioning of generator and oil pressure.

Everybody understands the gasoline gauge, but sometimes we forget to check! That's one place where "F" is a good mark.

☆

LAST BUT not least — the brakes. There are four — one in each wheel.

A special friction material lines each brake compartment.

These "shoes" rest against the inside of a metal drug which rotates with the wheel.

A system of tubes filled with liquid runs from the brake pedal to each brake. The liquid transmits pressure from the driver's foot to the brake shoes.

When the shoes may have gotten wet, it is a good idea to check your brakes to see if thy function properly. Like your own shoes, they may tighten or stretch.

The manufacturer provided an operating manual for your car. If you have read this far, you won't find the next manual quite so terrifying. Don't hesitate to ask questions of your dealer.

He and everyone in the automobile industry want you to be a more knowledgeable, safer driver.

8,000 Feet Bailey Lot Hardtopped

A major improvement at the Tecumseh Oldsmobile outlet in the past year is its hard-topped outside lot.

Keith Bailey, local OIds dealer, had 8,000-square-feet of his lot front and on the side of his showroom paved.

The area proves invaluable during muddy weather, Keith asserts.

But the big prize when you visit his place, Keith will smile, is the striking new models of Oldsmobile.

He then ticks off the Cutlass sports convertible, Starfire hardtop and the F-85, all popular leaders in the Olds line.

Keith has been operating his agency for eight years.

He is particularly proud of the fact that among his customers are 15 Tecumseh merchants.

Larry DuShane is Keith's service manager.

In honor of the area "Spring Out In a New '62" promotion, Bailey's will stage Open House Friday and Saturday, from 9 to 9.

You'll Love Olds . . .

If you are going to be among the folks who'll "Spring Out In a New '62" this weekend, how about joining the band of happy Oldsmobile owners? Do it in '62 and I'll bet you'll say "How come I waited so long?"

Dealers Offer Big Selection of Models

The 1962 automobile season now is in full bloom and this year the American automobile manufacturers are offering the prospective buyer the widest choice he has had since the free-wheeling days of the early 1900's.

This was when an idea, a workshop and a modest financial stake were all that was needed to compete in the car market.

From small cars to big cars there is a dazzling array of sedans, hardtops, sports-type cars, personal cars, station wagons and utility vehicles.

Whether your choice is to let yourself go or you are economy minded, there is a car to suit your taste, your specialized needs or to match your pocketbook.

The car buyer, rightly enough, is in the driver's seat. The manufacturers have gone to extreme lengths to suit even the most finicky potential customer.

Styling is simpler this year; dead weight has been cut from cars.

The key words are functionalism, technical and mechanical advances, and value, with a capital "V".

Withal there are some swank touches, too, for the bucket seat brigade shows no sign of disappearing, and there is solid evidence that the car-buying public wants its economy car trimmed with mink.

There is good news on the price front, too. For the third year in a row the industry is holding prices.

☆

DON'T BE misled if the sticker (or list) price is higher than last year, for in 1962 the heater, which is essential to 99% of buyers, is for the most part no longer an optional extra but an integral part of the factory-installed equipment.

The 1962 lines comprise more than 300 different sizes, kinds and shapes under no less than 30 nameplates.

New for 1962 is a new dimension, the so-called medium-sized car. The silhouettes are smoother and crisper, the color tones are muted.

Today's concept is for mass-produced cars but tailor-made models.

The buyer can add variety by fitting regular production options to the basic vehicle.

In a sense the buyer can, within reasonable limits, design his own car.

And with the touch of spring in the air, several glamour models that were held back to take advantage of the lure of the open road sans snowdrifts and ice are just coming off the assembly lines.

Hand-in-hand with the almost complete spectrum of cars is the stronger than ever emphasis on quality control.

This is one reason why it is taking a little longer to get delivery, for cars are getting more tender, loving care these days and it is showing up in the finished product.

This is also the reason that the manufacturers are guaranteeing their cars for one year or 12,000 miles.

Formerly the new car warranty was 90 days or 4,000 miles.

Value is obviously the keynote as auto makers strive to make cars more competitive than ever with the other items and services that seek the consumer's dollars.

Long AND Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Next time you're around Globe Pond, look for the five lovely white ducks who have taken over the place.

These part domestic and part wild water fowl were introduced to the natural duck habitat by C. Ray Puffer, Jr., 513 E. Logan St.

Ray got them early last summer as little yellow ducklings.

He kept the brood in a backyard pen until they got big enough to waddle around the yard on their own.

Ray's property dips down to the point where Evans Creek opens into Globe Pond.

His idea was to get the ducklings mature so that they wouldn't be snatched off by turtles and then place them into the pond on their own.

The plan has worked beautifully, with some odd twists.

To start with, the day Ray took his brood to the water and pushed them in, they came right out—perhaps a trifle indignant at such rude treatment—and as he walked back up the creek-bank to his yard, they followed.

Eventually, the ducks found that life afloat was pretty keen after all.

Considerate Ray wasn't about to turn them out into the cold entirely and so fashioned a duck-house, which he placed along the bank.

However, the fivesome, now grown large and pure white, commented on the house, "Nuts, if you want us to be wild ducks, we're not about to sleep inside."

The ducks never used it and Ray recently sold the structure for a doghouse.

The ducks love the kernels of corn that Ray provides regularly. When he appears at the creek bank, they come apaddling.

If the brood happens to be out of sight down the creek, Ray takes a chunk of tree limb and pounds it against the trunk.

In short order, the ducks are in view gliding happily to Ray for their treat.

Once in a while, a wild duck will drop into Globe Pond for a rest. He isn't there for long.

The line of white will swim toward the invader, then one of Ray's brood, like an Air Force fighter plane peeling out of formation, will start after the newcomer.

"We've seen them swim half way across the pond chasing a wild duck," comments Mrs. Joe Rohweder, who lives next door to Puffers and loves to watch the brood.

The result is always the same. The guest will get confused by the attack and eventually decide he'd be happier elsewhere—anywhere.

One can imagine the local lad growling at the visitor, "All right, buddie, you're out of there. Scram."

In the evenings, the bunch likes to bask behind the Community Center where the outside lights illuminate the water.

There is no indication as yet if the flock is going to become greater this summer, but one never knows.

Maybe, some day the Globe will become famous for a whole pondful of white ducks.

Jaycees Push Tickets For April 25 Concert Of Popular Four Preps

The Jaycees are moving into the final stages of preparations preparing for the forthcoming Four Prep concert.

The popular and versatile recording group will be coming to Tecumseh on Wednesday, April 25.

Profits will be used by the Jaycees to continue the many community activities which they are pursuing.

Tickets are now on sale at Lamb's Pharmacy, Eggleston's Jewelry, Tecumseh High School and Britton-Macon High School.

Other selections from their four top albums will also be part of their concert performance.

One hilarious piece of satire song-styling is their rendition of the various other top vocal groups around the country.

The Four Preps have appeared on such top TV shows as "Ozzie and Harriet", Dick Clark, Bob Newhart, Ed Sullivan and Steve Allen.

This marks the first time, in recent years, that a group of nationally-prominent entertainers has visited the Tecumseh area.

The Four Preps will be bringing it's own jazz combo, which will accompany them.

Wayne Reganall is general chairman of this event. Other chairmen are:

Tickets — Rick Creswell
Publicity — John Day
Staging — Jerry Barton.

Fagan Is Named Football Coach

By JIM LINCOLN

Popular and successful Tom Fagan of Clinton has been picked by the Tecumseh school board to succeed Dunc Lectka as the Indians' head football coach.

The 30-year-old mentor was screened out of over 30 applicants for the local football post, vacant since January when Lectka joined the Michigan State University athletic department.

Fagan's record, especially the last three years at the Clinton school, is highly commendable. During the past three seasons, the Redskins recorded a 20-6 mark.

The new coach's record for his five full terms is 26-18.

A high school graduate of St. Joseph's in Detroit, Fagan made conference first-team honors in his junior and senior years as a halfback at Eastern Michigan University.

He holds a master's degree from the University of Michigan and is considered by his coaching colleagues as a real student of the game.

Some local fans are familiar with recent Clinton teams and variations of the winged-T offense, employed by Tecumseh's new coach.

The offense, to a great extent, is similar to the one installed here by Lectka.

Although the Indians lost just four regulars from the 1961 squad, Coach Fagan will have his work cut out for him to improve Tecumseh's 4-5 record.

His wife, Jean, is a nurse at Herrick Hospital. They have two daughters, Colleen 4, Maureen 2, and Tim, 11 months. They are members of St. Dominic's Catholic Church in Clinton.

The Fagans have three youngsters, ranging in age from 11 months to four years.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

"For me, the rose still radiant in her hair
Blooms sweeter than when placed there, living red,
The pictured memory of its perfume rare
Crowns like an aureole the lovely head."

How did it happen? Those gremlins have been at work again. In a recent issue of The Herald we printed a sonnet entitled "Her Miniature" from a book of poetry written by Dr. John George Ingold of Deerfield.

Those gremlins "took off" with the sixth line of type in the sonnet and so it just didn't appear on the page.

We did enjoy a phone call from Dr. Ingold and hope to use more of his poetry in future columns.

Family Routed by Fire

Fire extensively damaged four rooms at the back of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Davenport, 111 North Pearl St., last Thursday.

Firemen answered the alarm at 9:55 p.m. Mrs. Davenport told them that she did not know how it might have started.

In the Davenports' upstairs apartment was the Willard Birdwell family.

Both Mr. Birdwell, who works for Stubnitz and Greene, and his wife are deaf mutes.

Mr. Birdwell and one of his sons, Richard, a 15-year-old Tecumseh High sophomore, had retired for the evening.

Mrs. Birdwell and the other son, Albert, 12 and a seventh grader at Tecumseh Junior High, were watching TV.

They were called by Mrs. Davenport about 9:55 p.m., warning them of the fire.

The family dashed out the front way.

There was no fire upstairs, but considerable smoke damage.

The entire family was invited to move into the home of Dr. Richard Coak until they could find another apartment.

Mrs. Davenport and son, Gary are staying with her mother, Mrs. Ben Hammack, Sr.

☆

THIS WAS not the first of troubles for the Birdwell family.

Mr. Birdwell suffered the loss of the index finger on his left hand in a press, April 2, the first day back to work at the plant in Adrian, after five months layoff.

He was taken to Bixby Hospital for treatment and had just returned to his work again the day of the fire.

Richard is still walking on crutches after suffering a dislocated hip in a bad fall in February. He spent three weeks in an Ann Arbor Hospital.

Mrs. Davenport, owner and operator of the Brown Wig Beauty Shop, in the front of the residence which was extensively damaged by smoke from the fire, said Monday that she hoped to have a new location within the next week.

MRS. JOE ROHWEDER AND MRS. VICTOR LAWSON CUT PINKY PATTERNS EACH MONTH

Auxiliary Members Fashioned 1,700

About 1,700 cherry pink puppets have been made by volunteer members of the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary in the past 14 months.

A dozen members of the Auxiliary have worked diligently on the project, under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Rohweder, to make the little toys which gladden the worried little hearts of small patients entering the hospital.

Children between the ages of two and 10 are each given a puppet.

Mrs. James Nixon, a former member, brought the idea home after attending a regional workshop.

Since that time, approximately, 50 puppets have been cut out each month at the home of Mrs. Rohweder and distributed to the sewers.

Some ladies sew as many as 20 per month. Recently Mrs. Victor Lawson, Jr. accepted the position as co-chairman of the project.

Puppets are made of the same cotton material as that of the smocks worn by Auxiliary workers when they are at the hospital.

He Was Confused about Prescription Prices . . . and No Wonder

This is what he has seen in the papers in the last few years. First, Senator Estes Kefauver, conducting the Senate hearings on drug prices, attacked the drug manufacturers in claiming excess profits. The Supreme Court found the Northern California Pharmacy Association guilty of price fixing, a violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law. Then he read about Spiegels offering to sell prescriptions at cost. Next, he read about mail-order prescription departments that offered discounts on drugs. Then he read about druggists offering to "discuss" prescription prices with him (what is there to "discuss"?). But, fortunately, for this gentleman, he brought his prescriptions to Hodges. Now, no longer is he confused. He knows he is getting his . . .

Clown Does Magic Tricks For Guests At Kay's Party

Seven small guests thrilled to the excitement of the circus big top Saturday at a fifth birthday party for Kay Kitson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kitson.

The recreation room in the Kitson home, 605 Herrick Park Dr., was decorated as a big top with caged animals.

Invitations were in the shape of clowns and Kay was given a clown doll by a neighbor, Mrs. Stevedus Maples.

The doll was placed in the center of the imaginative circus ring and the little guests told to shut their eyes and wish real hard.

Sure enough a live clown, Steve Maples, appeared before their amazed little eyes and presented magic tricks for their entertainment.

Catherine Maples directed the games.

The guests were Nancy Kitson, Billy Rohrer, Scott Lask, Deborah Fowler, Deborah Burkhard, Linda Williams and Kelli Lord.

TO THE EDITORS:

Are we afraid to stand up and be counted for the things we believe in?

Are we afraid to get to the bottom of the real problems with our school system?

We all know there are problems, but I don't believe more money alone is the answer.

There has been so much said about having an accredited school. Sure, we all want that. But don't we also want one that is a character building one as well?

I am sure there are lots of people who feel the same as I. So let's get our heads out of the sand and get busy and do what is to be done to solve the real problem. The sands of time are running out.

I might add that the escapades of college students at Ft. Lauderdale during spring vacation is an example of what happens when there isn't enough emphasis placed on character building.

Come on folks, let's have an accredited school; but one we can take pride in as a character building one as well.

Half the job has been done — let's finish the other half. Don't just talk and complain. Let's join forces and get a much needed job done.

TO THE EDITORS:

I would like to clear up a statement of error in the letter by Mrs. Lois Righter, written to the editors in a March 29 Herald.

In this letter, she stated that persons living in mobile homes are not subject to any burden of school taxes. To set the record clear on this subject I present to you the following facts:

Every occupied mobile home in the state of Michigan is subject to a $3 per month school tax, payable to the city or township in which the mobile home is located.

In most mobile home parks, this tax is collected with the rent and the park operator is required to pay this to the city or township.

This tax must be paid whether the person lives in this state for one week or one year.

The tax is the same to all whether his mobil home is valued at $1,500 or $5,000.

Besides this tax, a mobil home owner pays a 4% sales tax when he purchases the home and, as I understand it, a certain percent of the sales tax comes back to the school district.

On top of this, the mobil home park owner is also paying tax on his rental property, which is in one way or another paid by the tenants of his park.

I don't make any claims as to who should or should not be able to vote in school elections, but I do want to inform those who may not know the facts.

Mobil home residents do pay taxes for our schools.

TO THE EDITORS:

I hear by the grapevine that the city has its eye on the old library for offices. That seems like a good idea, but it is also an ideal location for something else.

I know that people would say we already have the community center, but it is not really an ideal location for those over 65. In bad weather, it would be impossible for most oldsters to reach by foot.

The old library would be an ideal clubhouse for the Golden Agers, with hostesses on duty from 1 until 4 p.m. with lots of magazines, and a small room set aside with good books from the new library.

The basement would be ideal for a soda bar, and as a game room and craft room. You get the old library, and I'll provide a year's supply of hostesses from my little black book!

TO THE EDITORS:

We plan to start toward home in a few days, so please let the April 13 issue of The Tecumseh Herald be the last one sent here for the season.

We do thank you for your trouble for us.

The other day an aged friend told me he had been wintering here since 1936 and he thought that this weather this winter was the finest of all.

We had a few days of cold weather at Christmas time and a few days in February, but only a few days.

My "longies" have been idle just about all winter, I felt I should have sent them north, but they were neither red or of heavyweight.

Our northern friends are leaving here fast now, but remembering that last year we were home in time for two snow storms, we tarry.

Also a magnolia tre in our front yard is about ready to burst in beauty and fragrance. We must wait.

Plan to be home by Easter.

Yours sincerely,
Alvin Brazee.

For All We Hold Sacred . . . Attend Church

There were hundreds of trees along the Bethany Road. But no one noticed them. People were hastening over those last few miles, bound for Jerusalem to celebrate the feast.

Then the King passed by. A gentle Galilean with kind, sorrowful eyes — riding to His Coronation.

People cheered and shouted Hosanna. Some laid cloaks on the dusty roadway. And then, someone discovered the trees . . . beautiful palms that had stood unnoticed. Their graceful branches became the carpet of the King!

And when men sought a name for that triumphal Sunday, they named it for the palms. It is a day for discovering the spiritual beauty God has planted along the road of life — a day to worship Our King.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL — ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a living Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

MEDITERRANEAN — Harold L. Underwood, navy fireman, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. Jennings of 901 E. Pottawatamie St., is serving aboard the guided missile heavy cruiser USS Canberra, operating as a unit of the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

From Feb. 24 to March 5, the Canberra visited the Port at Cannes, France, where crewmen had the opportunity to visit Monte Carlo, tour areas in the French Alps and along French Riviera.

The cruiser, flagship for Commander Cruiser Division Four, is presently on an extended cruise in the Mediterranean area.

Math Touches All Four Years

(Editor's note: Here is another in the series of articles regarding subjects offered by Tecumseh High School.)

MATHMETICS

The Tecumseh High School mathematics department has a spread of courses for all years:

NINTH GRADE
Elementary Algebra
General Mathematics

10th GRADE
Plane Geometry

11th GRADE
Intermediate Algebra or Solid Geometry and Trigonometry

12th GRADE
Solid Geometry and Trigonometry or Intermediate Algebra

Each student at Tecumseh High School must take at least one unit of mathematics. Students failing to qualify for Algebra must enroll in general mathematics.

A prognostic test is given twice a year to select students for elementary algebra.

Students beginning in the first year algebra course have had a background in mathematics which is primarily method-memorization and practice.

One of the primary objectives of this course is to encourage the student to develop his own methods and to understand why he is using the selected methods.

This type of approach is designed to give the student a desire to learn and some experience in a systematic approach to logical reasoning.

☆

OTHER objectives:

1. To provide a background for a further pursuit of mathematics.
2. To increase skill in fundamental operations
3. To develop good study habits.
4. To interest the student in mathematics and its areas of application.
5. To give the student practical experience in applying mathematics to the world around him.

☆

PLANE geometry, a prerequisite for entrance to many colleges, has the following objectives:

1. To develop certain basic geometric concepts.
2. To establish certain elementary geometric facts.
3. To develop the ability to draw correct conclusions from given geometric data.
4. To develop the ability to recognize geometric relationships.
5. To give elementary training in deductive reasoning.
6. To encourage original thinking.
7. To develop space perception.
8. To develop the ability to measure directly and indirectly.
9. To acquaint the student with the use of the straightedge, compasses, and protractor.
10. To develop an appreciation of the contributions of geometry to our culture and civilization.

☆

INTERMEDIATE algebra is designed primarily for those students who think they want to go on to study more advanced topics in the field of mahematics.

Its objectives are:

1. To review and extend principles and skills obtained in elementary algebra.
2. To acquire a working knowledge of logarithms.
3. To become familiar with the principal trigonometric ratios.
4. To fully understand quadratic functions and equations, both graphically and algebraically.
5. To be introduced to advanced topics in mathematics including progressions, the binomial theorem, and the solution of equations by determinants.
6. To acquire the necessary skills to go on to analytic geometry on the college level.

☆

SOLID geometry is a one-semester course coupled with Trigonometry within a given school year.

Solid geometry objectives:

1. To introduce the third dimension.
2. To apply principles of plane geometry to three dimensional geometric figures.
3. To further ability in recognizing special relationships.
4. To acquire a practical working knowledge of solids composed of points, lines, and planes.

☆

TRIGONOMETRY, the study of triangle measure, has the following as its objectives:

1. To provide a stepping stone to higher mathematics (college level).
2. To master triangle-measure by the indirect method.
3. To become familiar with the trigonometric functions and their relationships.
4. To introduce spherical trigonometry.

☆

THE MATHEMATICS department is aware of the alleged revolution in school mathematics, and is currently studying the possibilities of making changes in the curriculum and/or course content to include some of the new trends and topics of mathematics.

The facts of mathematics are not changing, but new approaches to the realization of these facts are being unveiled.

It is also quite evident, that with the advent of space exploration, new innovations create entirely "new mathematics".

These "new mathematics" must be introduced into our curriculum eventually. This will require new texts (which are currently being written) and trained personnel to present these new concepts.

The tolerance of smaller mathematics classes, especially in the areas of advanced high school mathematics, is mandatory. To provide an instructor for 10 or 12 students seems contrary to present budget standards, but such must become a realization or else we will lose much potential from the Tecumseh area alone.

"The encouragement of mathematics and science study is in keeping with our current national policy," states Jim Howard of the Math department.

"We of the Tecumseh High School mathematics department solicit your aid in encouraging your children to take a sincere interest in the study of mathematics and science," he adds.

News From Boysville

Last Sunday, the Drum and Bugle Corps of Boysville traveled again to Detroit to march in the Corporate Communion parade sponsored by the Cardinal Mercier Council Knights of Columbus.

To be in Detroit for the start of the early morning parade required the musicians to rise early, but it was worth it as the boys who live in the Detroit area had a chance to go home for a few hours after the parade.

The next parade for the Corps will be the Blossom Festival in St. Joseph and Benton Harbor on May 12.

✓ ✓

Tomorrow is the big day for all the boys. At 3 p.m. the annual Easter vacation will begin, and about 3:05 the campus will be clear of all students.

The boys will report back to school on April 23 by 8.

Needless to say, the students have been waiting anxiously for the 13th to arrive.

✓

Boysville's baseball team opens its league season against Catholic Central High School of Adrian on the CC diamond this week.

The team has been working hard for the last few weeks to get in shape for the coming season.

Many new faces will appear on the field to replace those who graduated last June. The lineup will probably be as follows:

Catcher—Bill Bonnell, junior
First base—Dave Klavon, senior
Second base—Stan Klos, junior
Shortstop—Joe Brown, sophomore
Third base—Gary Koscielski, senior
Left field—Bill Moran, sophomore
Center field—Dave McKnight, senior Right field—Ed Breidenbach, senior
Pitchers—Stan Klos, Mike Cousineau and Bill Moran

✓

The third quarter honor roll has been announced by Brother Paulus McGory, CSC, principal of Boysville High School.

Attaining nigh honors were: Seniors Dave Mason and Louis Westfall; Junior Mike Deubel; Sophomores John Casey, Bill Moran, Tom Morden, and Tom Stone; Freshman Frank Richter, and eighth Graders Mike Frei, Dan Maline and Jim Schwanki.

Achieving honorable mention were: Seniors Tony Farr, Charlie Kramer, Joe Lucio and Jim Palko; Sophomore Rich McMillan; Freshman Dick Mason, Art Misiak, and John Stone; and eighth Grader Dave Owens.

✓

The Boysville Concert Band and Glee Club will present their annual Spring Concert on Sunday, April 29, at 2 in the Boysville gymnasium.

The concert is open to the public, and no admission fee is charged.

LIEUT. EUGENE A. THORNTON

Tecumseh Officer Is Assigned

PORT CLINTON, O.—Second Lieut. Eugene A. Thornton, formerly of 501 Blanchard St., Tecumseh, reported this week to his new assignment at Erie Ordnance Depot, here.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray F. Thornton of Dexter.

Lieut. Thornton recently completed the Ordnance Officers Basic Training Course at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

He was commissioned in June 1961 through the ROTC program and entered on active duty in November 1961.

A native of Dexter, Lieut. Thornton graduated from Dexter High School in 1954 and from Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti in June 1961, with a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration.

Prior to entering the Army he was an assistant manager of Thornton Industries in Manchester.

Mrs. Thornton, the former Jo-Ann Bauer of Dexter, accompanied him to his new assignment and they are occupying quarters on the post.

Two Soldiers from City Complete Field Exercise

GOPPINGEN, Germany — Two soldiers from Tecumseh, Specialist Four John T. Browne and Private Johnie D. McCarley, recently participated in a combined arms phase of the five-week 4th Armored Division field training exercises in the Grafenwohr-Hohenfels area of Germany.

The exercises stressed the ability of infantry, artillery, armor and logistical support units to work together under combat conditions.

Training of this nature is designed to maintain a constant state of combat readiness essential to a modern Army deployed to maintain the defense of the free world.

Specialist Browne, 21, whose mother, Mrs. Ruth D. Browne, lives at 332 N. Union St., is a liason specialist in Battery C of the division's 14th Artillery in Furth, Germany. He entered the Army in April 1960. Browne was graduated from Tecumseh High School in 1959.

McCarley, a rifleman in Company A of the division's 41st Infantry in New Ulm, Germany, entered the Army in March 1961. The 18-year-old soldier was employed by Adrian Steel Co., in Adrian, before entering the Army.

Teachers See Pictures of Ganges

Four from Tecumseh attended the RMTC meeting at the Britton Congregational Church recently when Mrs. E. T. Armstrong of Adrian was a guest.

The initials, RMTC represent Ridgeway, Macon, Tecumseh and Clinton.

This is one of the rural teachers organizations that was formed when Mr. Armstrong was Lenawee County School Commissioner.

It is the only one whose members still hold regular meetings.

Those attending from Tecumseh were Mrs. Richard Pennington, Purnell Osburn, Mrs. Edgar Buttolph and Mrs. Joseph LeFevre.

Mrs. Ethel Yoder, teacher in Milan, presented colored slides of a trip around the world.

Of special interest to the group were pictures of the sacred Ganges River and the sacred cattle of India.

Mrs. Charles Hendershot and son Michael spent last weekend with her mother, Mrs. Richard Witt, while her husband was in the thumb area of the state.

37th Annual Rebekah District Gathering Staged in Tecumseh

The Tecumseh Rebekah Lodge was host to the 37th annual session of the Rebekah District No. 10 at the IOOF Hall on Green Hwy.

Preceding the meeting, luncheon was served by the Tecumseh Past Noble Grand Club to the district and assembly officers, the past president and the past noble grands.

Mabel Duncan decorated the table with a souvenir doll at each place and a gift of a crocheted bag for each guest.

A beautiful candelabra surrounded with sweet peas centered the table.

District President Mary Nichols conducted the meeting.

☆

THE TECUMSEH Lodge opened the meeting with Noble Grand Mary Allshouse presiding.

Warden Mabel Duncan introduced the district and assembly officers.

The address of welcome was given by Noble Grand Mary Allshouse.

Parts of the ritual and by-laws were exemplified by the lodges from Monroe, Lambertville, Dundee and Milan.

A humorous spring hat show was given by members of the Ann Arbor lodge.

☆

FOLLOWING the afternoon meeting, a chicken dinner was served by the ladies of the Grange at tables decorated in the Easter theme by Helen Pawson, Helen Escott and Arlie Topps.

The Theta Rho Girls Club of Monroe presented a drill at the evening session.

An impressive memorial service for members deceased during the year was presented by the Dexter Lodge.

A white Bible for the lodge securing the most new members was presented to the Monroe Lodge by the Past President, Elsie McMahon of Blissfield.

☆

NEW OFFICERS for 1963 were elected:

President—Cora Ransom
Vice-president—Violet Curts
Secretary—Virginia Geer
Treasurer—Roma Roffe

Mrs. Nichols was welcomed to the Past Presidents Club by the president, Lillian Seegert, who presented her with a gift from the club.

Mrs. Nichols presented a check for $280 from District No. 10 to Lila Stoner, matron of the Odd Fellow Home in Jackson to be used toward remodeling the kitchen there.

This was Mrs. Nichol's project for the year.

District officers were presented gifts before the Tecumseh Lodge closed the meeting.

The 1963 meeting will be held in Ann Arbor with Lois Rebekah Lodge hosting.

Steel Isn't Only Thing To Be Used

Steel, says the definition, is composed of iron alloyed with carbon.

Yet they make "steel" in an automotive styling studio without using either iron or carbon.

At Ford Motor Company's Styling Center, for example, they use plaster, clay, lumber, foil, plastic tape and paint, and a few other materials.

Once the stylist transfers his idea of what a car should look like from his mind to paper, it is made into a three-dimensional model that has the appearance of an all-steel body and other steel components.

In this way, he visualizes how the design will appear in production without having to wait for prototypes to be built.

To simulate the appearance of sheetmetal, the Ford styling studios use in one year as much as 55,000 board feet of lumber, 900 pounds of foil, 1,500 gallons of paint, 14,000 yards of plastic tape, and more than 100,000 pounds of modeling clay (which is used over and over).

The lumber is used to build a skelton-like framework on which the full-size clay model is sculptured in clay.

Once the model is honed to a fine finish, it is painted or covered with a special colored plastic film to give the appearance of a finished metal car.

used to simulate the appearance of brightness in mouldings, ornaments and bumpers.

The finished product, even at close range, looks like an all-steel automobile. Yet it contains neither of steel's essential ingredients. t

Guest Speakers on Furniture

Cloughs Observe 54th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Clough observed their 54th wedding anniversary March 25 when Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sheldon of Dundee and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brooks and children, Pam and Sammy, entertained for dinner in Jackson.

Mrs. Sheldon and Mrs. Brooks are daughters of the Cloughs.

In the evening, 20 of the family including five grandchildren gathered at the Brooks home for cake and coffee.

THE SIZE AND SHAPE OF FIELDS have an ever increasing influence on efficiency as larger machinery and equipment are used. In most cases you should consider changing field layout before going to larger equipment. Efficiency can usually be increased by lengthening rows, or by changing field shape to save time in turning. If the field is fenced, less cropland is wasted with turn-row space by having the rows parallel with the long axis of the field.

PAYING FOR HIGH QUALITY LABOR is a good investment. Hiring a man who knows his job and can handle machinery well saves money even though his salary may be higher. The reduction in repair bills alone will usually more than offset the increased wages. The reduction in idle time and a better job done when equipment is operating can be considered as bonuses for hiring the qualified man.

INCREASE RETURNS through the use of optimum rates of fertilizer. For example, the first 50 pounds of fertilizer may yield an additional 30 bushels of corn, the next 50 pounds — 25 bushels, the third 50 pounds — 15 bushels, etc. As long as additional yields pay fertilizer cost and its application, it is profitable to increase rates. Use soil test results as a guide. As a check, set aside a couple of acres and apply different rates of fertilizer every four rows.

A HIGHLY PALATABLE FEED is sometimes necessary to get calves started on creep. Some operators let the cows eat from the creep for a few days until the calves have a chance to learn from their mother. By creep feeding calves at an early age, you have the advantage of milk bloom plus firmness added by grain.

4-H'ers Support IFYE Program

About 250 parents and friends of 4-H Club members attended the 4-H Round Up at the Presbyterian Church March 30.

Highlight of the evening was the dress revue, "Pretty as a Picture." Fifty-five girls and boys participated.

An honor group, based on workmanship and the ability to model the garments, was chosen.

Those selected were Karen Davenport, Delores Wegner, Annie Drouillard, Nancy Marks, Melissa Mattis, Cindi Feight, Carol Davenport and Richard Sweet.

The revue was narrated by Carol Bird, Judy Purkey, Ann Marks and Mary Williams.

☆

TRINA MATTIS of the Clinton 4-H Club acted as Mistress of Ceremonies. She announced the program, which in addition to the style revue, consisted of the following:

Flag pledges by Linda Lou Starkey and Don Roe

Vocal solos by Nancy Marks, Don Roe and Diane Ries.

Flute solo by Sherry Harper

Organ Solo by Susan Relyea

Piano solos by Cindy Caterina and Linda Oberlin

Vocal duet by Diane Mitzner and Sherrie Osburn

Dance routine by Melissa Mattis, DeDe Myers, Nancy Hogan and Susie Truesdale.

Dexter Bailey furnished background music for the style revue.

Several clubs put up displays showing some of the other phases of 4-H Club work. Judges were on hand to talk to the boys and girls to help them evaluate their progress in sewing, knitting, crafts and electrical projects.

Why have so many of my neighbors switched to Hy-Line Layers?

Answer:
Because so many poultrymen have decided that in good times or bad, they can't afford any other brand! They've analyzed results of official Random Sample Tests. They have talked with other poultrymen. They have tried Hy-Line layers in their own laying houses. They have seen firsthand that trim, thrifty, high-producing Hy-Line birds are today's most profitable layers. That is why Hy-Line birds are the world's most popular layers . . . by far.

Retail Business Goes Up 40% After Face-Lifting

(Editor's note: As many communities wonder what has happened to their business, the story of Davison, Mich. bursts through as a radiant sun on an overcast day.

(Davison, which is located near Flint, was on the downhill five years ago, losing out in every direction. Then merchants got together and worked out a plan which has brought prosperity to the city.

(A feature story in the Lapeer County Press, regarding the "Davison Plan" has so impressed your editors that they will reprint it in several installments.)

By FRANK COOPER
Lapeer County Press

Davison is becoming nationally known among America's small towns.

Businessmen are coming from as far away as the east coast to learn what makes the town tick. Trade magazines are printing feature stories on the "Davison Plan."

Its retail business has increased nearly 40% in five years.

It no longer fears the competition of shopping centers, chains, nearby cities or big new stores along rural highways. The town is gearing itself to compete with any business on any terms.

What IS the Davison Plan?

Davison is making its entire business district into a big modern shopping center two blocks wide.

They hope to make the main business street into a shopping Mall, with permanent canopy-covered sidewalks for undercover shopping from store to store.

Most of the 12-foot wide canopy has been built. There has been wholesale enlargement and modernization of stores — inside and outside.

More is in progress.

Stores [illegible] have two entrances, front and rear. The rear one may become the most inviting, with big display windows.

Rear entrances will face huge parking lots extending through to the streets paralleling the mall. "Park close and enter" is the aim.

Some stores already have rear display entrances, and the parking lots are already there, with added space to come as old buildings are razed.

Money for Davison's ambitious overhaul has been furnished by the merchants themselves.

It started long before Urban Renewal, Area Redevelopment and similar plans had taken form.

Federal Aid was not available then. If and when Davison gets federal funds the present progress should become an explosion.

To learn how and why the Davison Plan started one must go back several years.

☆

DAVISON retail business men were on the spot a bad spot.

A new shopping center was threatening on the southern outskirts of the village. The metropolitan stores of Flint were only 20 minutes away.

The long-established stores of Lapeer were to the east. The rapidly growing population adjoining Davison had metropolitan shopping habits.

Most of Davison's business section was old, tired and discouraged.

It would be difficult to paint a bleaker picture.

Then came a break. Oddly enough the idea came from an outsider.

Lou Myers was a salesman for the Toledo Show Case Co.

Supervising a Davison job he stood one day at the curb and looked over the sad old collection of stores. Davison appeared to be on the skids.

By trade and training Lou had merchandising imagination. He saw how Davison might be salvaged.

The picture was clear, but long range — the canopied sidewalks (they cost no more than awnings"), freshening up of business frontage, parking space in the rear, other things that would occur to a seasonal display man.

Lou "talked it up" a little while there.

☆

OREN MINTO was president of the Chamber of Commerce at that time.

Roger Adgate was then at the head of the Davison bank. The two remembered Lou's idea and talked with him.

Others became interested; among them Homer Hill, Nelson and Earl Marien, and gradually more.

The marquee was designed and built. It set off a chain reaction of improvements.

The man who started it all? Two years ago, Lou Myers gave up his job with the Toledo Show Case company and opened a fabric store in Davison — a fine and growing place. That's where we talked to him.

I was thunderstruck at the vigor with which Davison merchants are punching and at the vision and money going into the plan.

About 40 merchants are participating. They have formed the Downtown Davison Improvement Corporation.

the War Chest for development

Many of the members contribute as much as $500 per year in work. This is cash on the barrelhead and to be spent.

Not a fanciful bond deal supposed to snare a factory and bring the money back some day.

☆

THIS MONEY paid for the all-weather sidewalk canopy, for much of the parking space and for over-all benefits of all kinds.

It was contributed in addition to the large amounts that have been spent for store improvements, new fronts and rears, enlargements and new stocks to attract the best of buyers.

The Davison Corporation thinks daringly. One of the first things they did was to induce an A&P and a Ben Franklin (both big ones) to locate right in the village instead of on the outskirts.

Most small town merchants would consider this treason — or even suicide. Davison merchants rationalize it as follows:

We can't keep chain stores away. If they locate in a nearby shopping center or on the outskirts they will drag customers away from us.

Better to have them next door to us so they bring people to us as well as to themselves. Davison can't be a true shopping center without them.

So now we have the amazing picture of local business men providing parking space for their chain store competitors.

"But why not?" they ask. 'The chain stores are with us now and share our aims. We help each other."

VOICE OF THE HERALD

Kids and the Bicycle

Considerable attention is being focused on bicycling of Tecumseh youngsters, thanks to the police department and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Police Chief Murell Clark has been visiting area elementary schools, emphasizing to students the need for safe bike practices.

This Saturday and the following one, the Cs are combining with police to stage a Bike Safety Check, similar to the ones held for automobiles.

We urge parents to make sure their children take their bicycles to city hall between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. either April 14 or April 21, to go through the check lane.

In doing so, two excellent objectives are realized

► Your sons and daughters will realize that the bicycle isn't just a toy, especially if they ride the streets, where they enter traffic flows which includes automobiles.

► They will learn from police tips on proper biking.

Beware of the Depraved

We don't like to be alarmists about the possibility of perverts snatching youngsters.

However, it's well to mention the subject each spring, because it is usually this time of year that such depraved persons are on the prowl.

Living in a small community might seem to be guarantee against such depravity, but we're sorry to say it isn't.

So, parents of small children, please warn your boys and girls not to talk to strangers.

Know where your children are playing and keep them from deserted areas.

If someone does attempt to molest a child, report the incident to police immediately.

Long AND Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Fate sometimes deals out strange hands in this card game of life.

For an assistant professor of design at the University of Michigan's College of Architecture and Design, it looks like a straight flush.

Maybe even a royal one.

Dick Jennings has come onto something that may mean an unique industry for Michigan — maybe Tecumseh.

Dick is an expert in the design of fountains and pools, has done a wide variety of arrangements for such places as the Northland Shopping Center in Detroit, central staff office of Ford Motor in Dearborn and even a setup for the United Arab Republic in Cairo, Egypt.

He has filled 13 major commissions for fountains and murals in recent years, in addition to his regular teaching assignments at U of M.

Three years ago, Dick was given a grant to work on the design of a new type fountain.

He wanted to get away from the conventional fountains, which employ re-circulating centrifugal plumps. These call for expensive nozzles, are elaborate and difficult to design, adjust and maintain.

Dick's design turned out to be a reasonably simple unit, with impeller blades shooting water through a tube. A small motor beneath the throat spun the impeller blades.

Water was simply recirculated through Dick's device, which he has dubbed a Splunker.

A big feature is that the sheet of water thrown is always the same. The Splunker doesn't splash water precariously or toss off odd mists.

As a windup of his new development, Dick put on a demonstration of the Splunker at the Ann Arbor Art Museum in January and February.

He couldn't use regular shopping center-size models for this, so built some smaller ones.

This was where fate stepped in.

Little did the designer realize that this exhibition was going to create such a happy rumble.

Many who saw the small Splunkers doing their stuff said how nice it would be to have one. Architects said they'd like to include Splunkers in homes they were designing.

The upshot was that Dick Jennings found he had a real interesting item on his hands.

He looked around for a place to do some potential consumer testing and settled on Tecumseh. He set up two fountains at Tecumseh Country Club Saturday and is going to question folks who examine his Splunkers.

How do they like them? What do they think the unit would cost?

The answers he gets will help him and business associates map out future production plans — and this is where we hope Tecumseh will play a continued part in the life of the Splunker.

Applications for the Splunker are varied.

► Splunkers have been used in the decorative pool for related architectural effects at trade fair.

► Installed in a small garden pool for landscaping effects.

► Placed in swimming pools and lakes.

► Designed for use in shopping center mall for display effects.

They could easily go in home patios and gardens.

In any event, the next few months are going to be exciting times for the professor and his Splunker.

Easter Sunrise Service Set in Gardens

Sunday will bring the Easter Sunrise Service at Hidden Lake Gardens.

The committee for this service has been meeting for four weeks and everything is set for the rites at 6:30 Easter morning.

Two buses will be in front of the Presbyterian Church for those who cannot drive out. The buses will leave Tecumseh at 6:10 a.m.

Sixty-five letters have been sent to various churches in the area this year and from all indications the service promises to be the largest ever held here.

If for any reason the service cannot be held at Hidden Lake Gardens, the lights will be on in the Presbyterian Church, where the service will be held.

Easter services for all Tecumseh churches are listed on the first page of the second section of today's Herald.

SPLASH CONTROLLED—Richard Jennings shows Mrs. Jennings how his fountain eliminates splashing. The design could be the nucelus of a new industry here. The inventor will explain the device next week at the Tecumseh Rotary Club meeting. See Long & Short for more on this fountain.

Is Texas City Mayor

John H. Anderson, son of Mrs. R. K. Anderson of 317 N. Union St. and the late Raynor Anderson, has been elected mayor of Denison, Texas, where he has been a member of the City Council since July of 1960.

The former Tecumseh man is a retired U. S. Army Engineers colonel. He is a graduate of West Point and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He went to Denison as a member of the engineer staff of the Denison Dam construction.

Mr. Anderson is associated with his father-in-law in the Kohfeldt and Son Real Estate

His mother flew to Denison this past week to visit the new mayor and will also spend some time before returning home with his brother, General Webster Anderson, who is quartermaster general of the United States Army in Washington, D. C.

Largest City Tab In History Asked

The largest budget in the history of Tecumseh was approved, subject to a public hearing on May 7, by Council Monday night.

The 1962-63 budget, submitted by city manager Ed Nelson, reported anticipated expenditures of $487,094.31, approximately $18,000 higher than the present one.

Anticipated income July 1, 1962, to June 30, 1963, is $502,190.43, leaving the city a cushion of about $15,000.

Mr. Nelson reported the small increase in expenditures due to salaries, retirement plans and expansions in the recreation program and police department.

Breakdown of the expenditures by department is:

General — $73,557.22.
Police — $63,800.00.
Fire — $18,571.00.
Highway — $136,760.00.
Sewer — $17,000.00.
Cemetery — $15,577.00.
Sewage disposal plant — $20,693.40.
Auto parking — $11,560.00.
Parks, recreation — $17,540.00.
Sewage disposal sinking fund— $17,881.50.
Water Department — $70,851.44.
Sewer, water special assessment — $7,528.75.
Community center — $15,774.00.

In other action, Councilmen voted 4-3 to accept liability insurance from the King-Roberts Agency, its bid being $996.05 for one year with an audit at the end of the policy year.

Low bidder for the insurance was submitted by the F. C. Hanna Agency with a one year premium of $992, for three years and non-audited.

Routine matters acted on were:

An amendment of the city's electrical ordinance.

Scheduling for public hearing a request for curb and gutter on W. Pottawatamie St. between Democratic and Van Buren Sts. and Pearl St. and Maiden Lane.

Request to VFW to recommend a person for Marshal of the Day for Decoration Day.

TECUMSEH GETS AWARD—Tecumseh was one of 88 communities throughout the nation recognized for outstanding participation in the 1961 Vehicle Safety Check program. More than 3½ million cars and trucks in 3,448 communities were examined in the national program. One in six of the vehicles showed at least one unsafe condition. Among the communities recognized were four in Michigan. Lawton tied Tecumseh in their population division, under 10,000. Other state winners were Mt. Clemens, 10-25,000 division, and Flint, 100-300,000 population. Tecumseh's 1962 Safety Check will be May 22 to 24, starting with a giant parade.

Four Preps To Entertain

Tecumseh High School will be the scene Wednesday, April 25, of "those tantalizing troubadors of titanic, turbulent talent," better known as the Four Preps.

With such hits as "Big Man" and "26 Miles" to their credit, the Four Preps will present a two-hour concert of song and laughter.

An example of their humor is illustrated by the description of their latest movie releases.

"Soon they will appear in three motion pictures, THE INVISIBLE MAN AT THE YWCA (in which they sing "The Object of My Affection Has Been Sent to the House of Correction") and DESIRE UNDER THE TIN ROOF OF A HOT STREETCAR (featuring the sensational hit hit tune, "Can a Girl Who Has a Mole Be Happy with a Gopher?)"

The program, sponsored by the Tecumseh JayCees, begins at 7:45 p.m.

School Has Business Manager

Norval Bovee, 31-year-old high school principal at Ravenna, was employed Monday night by the Tecumseh school board as the first business manager in the school's history.

The position, created last winter by the board to handle the school finances, has become a necessary step for large high schools.

Mr. Bovee, although without practical experience in business affairs, is widely educated and was selected by the board from four applicants interviewed by the board. Over 20 educators, many school superintendents, applied for the position.

The new business manager is a graduate of Jackson Business College, studied for two years at Bowling Green College of Commerce, at Bowling Green, Ky., has a Bachelor of Science degree from Western Michigan, a master's degree from the University of Michigan, and is presently taking a six-year specialized education course from U of M.

Mr. Bovee will assume his duties here July 1.

He, his wife Jocelyn, sons Scott, 7, and Shawn 2, will move here early in the summer. They are members of the Methodist church.

NORVAL BOVEE

City Is Worth $18.6 Million

City engineer and assessor Cal Zorn reported to Council Monday night that the total city evaluation is $18,613,100.

The total is slightly less than the previous year.

Breakdown of his report shows:

Real estate—$13,584,800.
Personal—$5,028,300.

Fire Damages French Home

Extensive fire damages were inflicted on the Robert French home at 306 W. Cummins St., Tuesday afternoon at 1:40.

The fire started between the living room and bathroom walls and eventually reached a false ceiling in the kitchen.

Source of the fire has not yet been determined, but may have started from wiring between the walls.

Grange Meeting Is Postponed

TIPTON—The Grange meeting has been postponed until Friday, April 27, in reference to Good Friday. A card party will be held with proceeds for the kitchen fund.

School Budget Settled

A budget of $1,134,413 for the Tecumseh schools was approved by the school board Monday night and authorized to be sent to the county's Tax Allocation Board for final approval.

The budget, which is far from the biggest for the schools, schedules approximately $113,000 for debt retirement.

The new budget, presented by Supt. James McDowell, also includes changes in services and curriculum publicized by the board in recent months.

A change in operating cafeterias was approved to offset a $200-per-month loss.

Effective Monday when school convenes, pupils at the Ridgeway and Tipton schools will be bussed to the high school cafeteria for their lunches.

Sufficient savings will be realized through cutting the cafeteria staff that cost of lunches will be dropped five cents, back to its price before April 1.

The board also approved the employment of Mrs. Oleg Michajlenki, third grade teacher at Ridgeway, and Ray Sommers, high school math teacher. Mr. Sommers had been on a leave of absence to get his master's degree.

Top THS Class Cut to Sixteen Members

Instead of the usual 20 top students in the graduating class, this year there are only 16 who have the required B or better average.

Beginning with Michael Rohrer as valedictorian and Tom Hicks as salutatorian, they are: Robert French, Susan Frost, Mary Alice Stutesman, Jeannette Allen, John Whitney, Arthur Collingsworth, Allen Hizer, Joan Allshouse, Charles Osburn, Nancy Beland, Donna Cubberly, Gail Elliott, Linda Dicks and Tom Simonds.

These students earned a B or better average.

Drivers Given Tips on Passing

A trucking industry official spotlighted passing as one of the most hazardous maneuvers in traffic.

Speaking in connection with the trucking industry's April Courtesy and Safety Campaign, "Passing and Being Passed," Philip Lewis, chairman of the executive committee of the Michigan Trucking Association, labeled both aspects of the problem as of equal importance to traffic safety, and he offered these rules for the guidance of all drivers:

PASSING OTHERS

► If in doubt that you can pass safely—don't pass at all.

► Know the performance characteristics of your vehicle and take them into account, but rely on horse sense to keep out of tight spots—not on horse power to get out of them.

► Never attempt to pass where your view of the road ahead is obstructed, or you can't see hazards to the side. Hills, curves, railroad crossings, intersections are dangerous places to pass whether or not they are marked as no-passing zones.

► Check traffic in front and to the rear and signal your change of lanes when pulling out and returning to the right lane, gradually, and only when you can do it safely.

► Give warning of your intention to pass.

► Keep right except when passing.

BEING PASSED

► Keep right except when passing or getting in position for a left turn. It's safer for you and anyone who wants to pass you.

► Respect the desire of the driver who wants to pass you. Keep right. Hold your speed steady and be prepared to slow down if necessary to help the other fellow to pass quickly and safely.

► If you see that you are holding up a long line of traffic, pull over at a safe place and let them pass.

Seniors Enthused Over Trip

CONGRESSMAN GEORGE MEADER GREETS THS SENIORS ON THE STEPS OF THE CAPITOL BUILDING

By MIKE ROHRER

Eighty-one seniors are back in Tecumseh trying to catch up on their sleep. Wednesday, April 11, they returned from Washington, D.C., and the annual Senior Trip.

Some comments heard at the end of the excursion:

► "I had a wonderful time. I sure hated to leave."

► "It was really worth the money. Glad I went."

► "I never knew that anything could be so much fun and educational at the same time."

► "Will Mr. Howard give my squirtgun back?"

► "This has been nothing but cool!"

► "Where's my suitcase?!".

The trip began April 7, with a trip to Toledo on school buses, a wait of over an hour at the Union Station and then the famous 13-hour ride on the night coaches of the B & O Railroad. On the train ride there was little, and I mean very little, sleeping done by anyone. Many were too excited to sleep, a few wanted to sleep but were kept awake by other members of the class who thought they shouldn't miss anything.

One of the more humorous incidents of the trip occurred when Ron O'Neill came to his seat to sleep and found it occupied by one of his roommates. He decided that he must sleep somewhere, so we now have a picture, taken by Bill Truesdale, of Ron spending a peaceful night in the overhead luggage rack.

☆

THE ARRIVAL in the capital city proved to be dismal and rainy, but it did not dampen the spirits of the seniors one bit. We boarded two buses which were to be ours for the remainder of our stay and rode directly to our hotel, the beautiful Sheraton-Park, largest in the capital.

The driver of the bus on which I rode thoroughly entertained us. He was a man who really loved his work. One of the first things he said over the bus PA system was when he was wheeling that gigantic bus around a tight corner at a good speed. He announced, "You know, I've never made this yet!" However, we did make it, and every other tight squeeze, and enjoyed this man's wit as long as he was with us.

Sunday morning, anyone who wished could go to church. After this we immediately started on the tours which were to last three days. We saw many beautiful, interesting and impressive things. It would be impossible to tell in this article of each place we saw and our reactions to it.

One of the most impressive buildings to me personally was the National Archives. In this building are housed the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, and the Bill of Rights. In my mind these are the greatest symbols of our freedom, for these documents constitute the power of the United States; these documents were created in the minds of free men.

☆

EVERY SENIOR on the trip would probably tell you no other experience has aroused more patriotism in him than the solemn visits at the Lincoln Memorial and Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, the stirring view of the Washington Monument and each sight of our nation's Capitol Building.

Touring Washington combines a reverence for the past and a hope and belief in our great nation's future.

We would like to thank our chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. James Howard, Mr. and Mrs. James McDowell, and the owner of the tour company who accompanied us, Mr. James Kearney, for helping to make our Senior Trip so enjoyable.

Mary Merritt, David Taylor Wed

MRS. DAVID E. TAYLOR

A bank of palms and cathedral candelabra graced the chancel of First Baptist Church Saturday at the marriage of Mary A. Merritt and Airman 3/C David E. Taylor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Merritt of 10170 Tipton Hwy., Tipton, and the bridegroom is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Taylor of 365 Alexander Dr., Adrian.

The Rev. R. G. Taylor, pastor of the church and father of the bridegroom, performed the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Paul Frederick, pastor of Tipton Community Church. Mrs. Ron Hartung provided the vocal musical setting, and Mrs. Allen Graybiel was organist.

Mr. Merritt led his daughter to an altar backed by white gladiolus, white mums and palmetto foliage surrounding multiple candelabra. The bride was wearing a floor-length Chantilly lace gown with fitted bodice, scalloped neckline and long sleeves. Her bouffant skirt was layered in lace.

Her fingertip veil was caught by a pearl and crystal tiara, and she carried an arrangement of hyacinth florettes and white glamellias.

Judi Walter of Manchester, the maid of honor, wore a street-length frock of pastel blue taffeta with matching shoes and headpiece, and carried a white filigree basket decked with a cascade of daffodils, daisies, sweet peas and hyacinth.

The bridesmaids wore matching frocks, with Laurene Williams of Tecumseh in yellow and Cathy Merritt, sister of the bride, in pink. Their bouquets were like the honor maid's.

Richard Dornor of Adrian was best man. Ushers were David McKelvey and Gary Moore, both of Adrian.

Some 350 persons were invited to the wedding. After the ceremony, a dinner was held in the Country Kitchen at Adrian.

Assisting at the reception were Fay McClure, Mrs. Douglas Hoffman, Mrs. William Cooper and Marjorie Linden, all of Tecumseh, Ruth Krout and Mrs. Berdell Williams of Tipton, Mrs. Francis Wright of Flint, Mrs. Donald Weeks of Holly and Marilyn Meek of Clinton.

The new Mrs. Taylor is a graduate of Tecumseh High School and is employed at the United Savings Bank. Her husband, a graduate of Adrian High School, is in the Air Force and is being transferred May 1 from school at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., to McGuire Air Force Base, N.J.

Mrs. Taylor will live at home after the couple's wedding trip to northern Michigan, and join her husband in New Jersey in August.

Tecumseh Bus Drivers Honored

Mrs. Clifford Adams and Fay Kempf are among nine Lenawee County school bus drivers who will be honored April 19 when a luncheon at the Adrian Country Club honors drivers who have a record of 12 years or more without an accident.

W. E. Fowler, secretary of the Lenawee County Safety and Traffic committee, said in his letter of invitation to them, "You may not realize the important part which you play in a child's education. Some of the pupils have been your passengers for 12 years and you have surely set a good example of what a good driver should be."

Mrs. Adams has been driving for the Tecumseh system for 14 years. She travels about 100 miles each day taking kindergarten and sixth grade students to Ridgeway and picking up transfers for the Patterson school. She also carriees juniors and seniors to the respective schools in the city.

In all, Mrs. Adams, has more than 125 students riding her bus. She agreed with Mr. Kempf that the kindergarten and first grade children are more difficult to handle than the others since for them it is a new experience.

Mrs. Adams made the suggestion that it would be beneficial to both drivers and children if more parents would teach their tykes to ride properly in a car.

Fay Kempf has driven for the Tecumseh Schools for 16 years. His route is a little more than 100 miles each day and he has about 200 children riding his bus.

He drives to Ridgeway and on roads south of the city, also when a larger bus is needed.

Mr. Kempf said that no two drivers handle the children alike, which sometimes causes an adjustment period when a change in drivers is made.

It is apparent that the young riders enjoy their drivers. Mr. Kempf received a number of congratulatory letters from his young patrons when they heard of the party honoring the drivers.

Several of the youngsters were glad that there had been no "wrecks" and one young lady wrote that she was sure Mr. Kempf was probably a good driver because he is the brother of Harold Kempf, who happens to drive the bus that she rides.

Father and Son Bowling Meet Set by League

A Father and Son Tournament for all junior and senior high school students who bowled in the Tecumseh High School League this season is planned April 29 at 3 p.m. in the Airport Bowl.

If the league member's father does not bowl, he is allowed to invite a substitute who has an established bowling average.

First place will be decided on total score plus a three-game average.

Bowling will be at regular prices.

Achievement of the Year

There will be an Achievement-of-the-Year award in community and area improvement as part of the Michigan Week celebration this spring, along with the familiar Product-of-the-Year award in industry.

Any organization of a community nature, whether it serves a town, county or area is eligible.

Plans for the new competition have been developed by Milton Kendrick of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., Detroit, awards chairman of the Business and Products Promotion Board of the ninth annual Michigan Week May 20-26.

As in the Product Award, the state winner will be picked from 16 regional winners.

Mr. Kendrick hopes that county Achievement-of-the-Year awards will be made by most of the 73 county Michigan Week organizations but at any rate there will be competition in all of the Michigan Week regions.

"Many of our cities and villages, both large and small, have made outstanding achievements through their community organizations which have attracted new business and industry or have otherwise advanced or improved the community or area", Mr. Kendrick said.

"It is this kind of community accomplishment which we will recognize in the Achievement-of-the-Year award competition".

Mr. Kendrick pointed out that rules do not require that the achievement be entirely accomplished in a single year. It might be the result of long range planning or the successful culmination of a program that has been moving forward over a period of years.

The plan provides that entries for the regional competition are nominated by the county Michigan Week chairmen. Deadline for entry of the regional winners in the state competition is April 27, the same date as in the Product-of-the-Year competition.

There will be special exhibits of the 16 regional winners in the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Detroit during Michigan Week along with the 16 regional Product-of-the-Year winners. The state awards will be announced on May 17.

Wholesalers for Products Meet Here

Tecumseh Products Co. brought 55 wholesalers here Monday for the first such sales session in seven years.

A considerable number of changes in the company's product line instigated the meeting, timed to precede the busies selling season.

Included in the meeting were men from the company's eastern divising, covering the states north of Virginia and east of Ohio, plus men from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

Those from the eastern states arrived at Metropolitan Airport Sunday night, and were picked up by bus for the program here.

The day included a plant tour, followed by an intensive sales meeting at the Country Club.

Most of the wholesalers left Monday evening, but some remained until Tuesday for a tour of the company's production line at Blissfield.

This was the first time in seven years that the wholesalers have been brought here for such a gathering.

Arthur Collingsworth attended a reception for Joao Goulart, president of Brazil, at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City April 6. He spent the weekend with friends in Baltimore, Md. and joined the senior class in Washington Sunday afternoon.

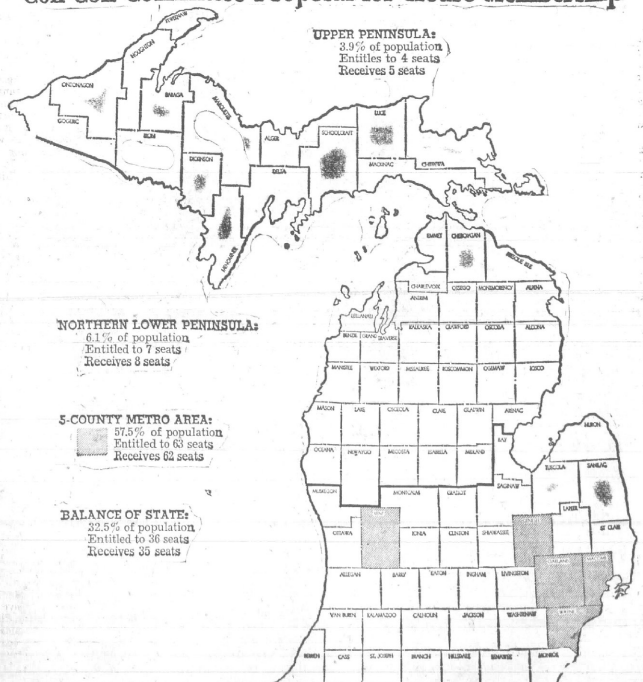
Con-Con Committee Proposal for House Membership



DISTRIBUTION OF 110 LEGISLATORS—The proposed House apportionment plan drawn up by Con-Con's committee on legislative organization is simply illustrated above. The proposal appears to have substantial support among delegates from the majority party at the convention. Based primarily on population, it gives 62 of the proposed 110 House seats to the five largest counties—Kent, Genesee, Oakland, Wayne and Macomb. The upper peninsula is awarded five, instead of the four seats to which it is entitled by population. The 32 counties in the northern lower peninsula are given eight, instead of the seven seats which their population dictates. The remainder of the outstate area in the southern lower peninsula would have 35 seats. The problem of setting up the 110 single representative districts would be left to a bi-partisan commission which would be named by the state's major political parties. Apportionment of the state senate, proposed by the committee, would immediately give four additional senators to the metropolitan area—one each to Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Genesee. Outstate senate districts would continue as presently constituted until 1970 when a re-apportionment would be authorized based on a formula which gives 40 per cent weight to population and 20 per cent weight to area

City Succeeds with 'Do-It-Yourself' Face-Lifting

(Editor's Note: Davison, Mich., has a "do it yourself" program to end all. Five years ago, it was in a business slump and losing out in all directions. Then, without help from state or national governments, it produced a program that upped retail business 40 per cent in five years.

(A feature story in the Lapeer County Press detailing the "Davison Plan" so impressed your editors that they decided to bring it to you. This is the second of the two-part series.)

By FRANK COOPER
Lapeer County Press

One thing seems unique in the development of Davison, a suburb near Flint.

Almost every small town in the country has a "Development Corporation." Most are dedicated to the job of getting new industry to provide new jobs. Members buy bonds, acquire industrial sites, build buildings and go to extreme lengths to acquire new factories. The aim is to build business by providing industrial jobs.

Davison has taken the attitude that the town itself IS an industry. That it could be Big Business. They are spending their money to develop themselves — and right now — and building more business directly rather than indirectly through some factory. Sure, they'd like a good factory or two but are not waiting.

In visiting around Davison many names occur in connection with the Development Plan, but several so frequently they should be mentioned here.

George Greenlee became head of the local bank four or five years ago. He brought with him a vigorous approach to small town banking. His attitude — as he expresses it—is that the main purpose of a small town bank should be service to local business and local people. Its investments should be local insofar as possible.

Acting on his theory he has applied himself to local problems. He backed a 5-year payment plan applicable to group improvements. He helped spark the building boom of higher grade homes near Davison by utilizing the FHA for the first time.

Result: improved purchasing power near Davison by higher income people who are building homes nearby. Requests for loans for business expansion, store remodeling, and other uses of public benefit fall on sympathetic ears.

Under Greenlee's "Davison Be Served" direction his bank has increased its assets from about $5 million when he took over to nearly $11 million now. Most of this money is at work locally.

Right now the bank is taking over additional frontage next door which, when remodeled, will provide nearly three times its present space.

Homer Hill runs an apparel store across the street from the bank. Homer is a bundle of full-steam-ahead energy that many small towns lack. His drive has done much to sparkplug the enthusiasm of the rest of the town.

His credo is that there will always be a market for the best of name-brand merchandise, fairly priced, if properly presented and energetically advertised. Labels on his stock read like the blue book of our best manufacturers.

He has enlarged his store and is adding the best of new lines to his stock. His philosophy of business—Davison business — is that the best people come to the places where the best merchandise is sold in wide selection; and that Davison should expand as a quality center as well as a convenience center.

An interesting thing about the Davison Plan is its far-reaching scope outside of the town itself. Larry Moore operates a huge furniture store on M-21 about a mile west of the center of town. He heartily supports the activity, even though he doesn't benefit from a location on the scene.

"Why not?" is his attitude. "A mile doesn't mean much any more. More business in Davison means more who will think of my place as a part of Davison."

Brief visits with several other businessmen outside of the village reveal a strong undercurrent of pride in the town itself.

Real estate dealers in particular—they love the Davison activity. "First class shopping facilities mean first class homes" is the tenor of their talk. Over a wide area they are grateful for a build-service and fine shopping facilities that have resulted in easier sales of upper class homes.

Talking with Davison businessmen is a refreshing experience. There is no damning of shopping centers and bigtown competition. Instead there is a spirit of glee about how Davison is licking such competition at its own game, and wholesome optimism about Davison as a city in its own right—fearing nobody.

HEAD RETAIL FOOD FIRM — Joseph B. Hall (right) president of the Kroger Co. since 1946, has been elected chairman of the board and chief executive officer and Jacob E. Davis, executive vice president, has been elected president of the retail food firm. Kroger, the nation's third largest food retailer, began with one small store opened in 1883 in Cincinnati where the company's general headquarters are still located. Sales in 1961 totaled $1,842,342,667.

140 Attend Retreat at Friends Church

About 140 persons attended the Friends Missionary Retreat, with 40 from Tecumseh present.

Mrs. Paul Brantingham was general chairman and also in charge of the special music. Mrs. Harold Righter and Mrs. Melvin Muhn were hostesses.

Mrs. Harry Creger was chairman of the kitchen committee, with Mrs. Raynor Van Valkenburg, Mrs. Charles Huber, Mrs. Roland Mohr, Mrs. Henry King and Mrs. Ben Ross assisting.

Those helping with the cleaning up were Mrs. Russell Comfort, Mrs. Emma Day, Mrs. Leroy Brugger, Mrs. Leland Fogelsong, Mrs. Sheldon Chase and Mrs. Ben Ross.

Mrs. Clark Pearson was in charge of the nursery assisted by Mrs. Arthur Gray, Mrs. Marvin Johnson and Mrs. Everett Fielder.

Floral arrangements were used in decorating the church basement. Mrs. Pearson had fashioned replicas of India and Formosa, both Friends Mission fields for each table.

A display of work done by the Missionary Auxiliaries was arranged in the Escolme parlors.

Mrs. Clifton Robinson and Mrs. Everett Cattell were speakers for the all-day meeting. Both have been missionaries to India. They presented colored slides of their work. A quiz was conducted and special music presented.

United Fund Budget Group Plans Session

Henry Geisler, Morenci; Richard C. Goodrich, Hudson; Robert T. Meyer, Deerfield, and Howard Foust, Adrian, will represent the Lenawee County United Fund as members of the Admissions and Budget Committee of the Michigan United Fund.

The committee, comprised of more than 250 volunteers from throughout Michigan, will hold the Annual Budget Conference May 1 and 2 at Kellogg Center in East Lansing.

The volunteers hear the budget requests outlining the programs and financial needs of the 35 state and national health and welfare agencies included in the Michigan United Fund.

In 1961, the combined requests of the 35 agencies exceeded four million dollars, but were reduced by the budget committee to $3,457,729. After the financial needs of the 35 agencies are determined each community in Michigan is asked to accept their fair share of these needs and include this amount in their united fund campaign in the fall.

Conlin Plan for State Taxes Includes Income Levy

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Michigan appears to be heading for a new tax setup, an outgrowth of compromises among Gov. John Swainson, Rep. Rollo Conlin and coalitions of Republicans and Democrats in the Michigan Legislature. The basis tax plan, including a state income tax, was developed by Rep. Conlin, who describes the plan here.)

By REP. ROLLO G. CONLIN

If the people of Michigan are willing to accept one rough year of taxation they can put the State of Michigan, as well as Detroit and Wayne County which have special fiscal problems, on a basic of fiscal solvency.

In the discussions of the "Conlin Plan," the "Swainson Plan," the "nuisance tax plan" and all others, there has been a serious omission—that is the necessity for helping local units of government solve their own fiscal problems— especially Detroit and Wayne County—while we also solve the state's admitted deficit problem.

As everyone knows, I have proposed a solution for the state's fiscal problems. Governor Swainson has, and so have others. In all these proposals, the factor of an income tax has so dominated the discussions that the average person has not been made aware of other factors in the various programs. That is the matter of helping the local property tax payer. For that reason, I want to elaborate on my position, especially as it concerns Detroit and Wayne County, which have serious deficit problems of concern to us in the Legislature.

☆

I HAVE proposed that the state repeal the unfair Business Activities Tax which is levied on a business whether it makes any money or not. I have proposed the repeal of the intangibles tax because, if we adopt an income tax, we should not be taxing both the source of income and the income itself.

I have proposed to halve the corporate franchise tax on the grounds that successful business should not pay a substantial tax for the privilege of doing business in the state and then pay a tax on its profits — but also that business which fails to make a taxable profit should contribute something to the operation of government.

I have proposed an income tax of three per cent on individuals and five per-cent on corporations.

All of these would provide the state of Michigan with sufficient revenue to meet the needs of the future and to gradually retire our frightening deficit.

But I have gone beyond this: I have proposed that the state give up one per cent of the four per cent state sales tax and allow the counties to decide whether they want to pick up this one per cent. It would be collected by the state and returned to the county of origin in order to reduce collection costs.

This is really the crux of the whole solution—and one which I believe the public has failed to understand.

I have proposed that the one per cent county sales tax be divided half to the county general fund and half to the county school districts. The school share would be distributed on a formula similar to the state school aid formula but using a larger deductible millage feature.

The effect of these two would be to permit the counties to reduce their property taxes which are paid equally by city and rural taxpayers alike, and to permit the school districts to reduce—or at least hold level—their local school taxes.

☆

GOVERNOR Swainson, differing from my plan, has suggested that we impose an income tax of 3½ per cent—with half of one per cent returned to the local units of government. He has suggested that the sales tax be removed from food and drugs. These are really the only major differences between our two programs.

The flaws in Governor Swainson's plan are these: the major problem in distributing revenues from an income tax is how to allocate it to each unit of government fairly. If the people of Detroit or Wayne County pay "X" number of dollars in income tax and are promised it will be returned to their local units, any tax expert will tell you that the problem of distributing this fairly becomes a practical impossibility.

It would be more expensive than the tax itself to attempt to determine where each dollar came from and send it back there. If we attempt to return it on a per capita basis, obviously areas which have not paid very much income tax will receive more than they have paid.

The Governor's proposal to remove the sales tax from food and drugs is believed by most tax attorneys to be unconstitutional because the sales tax amendment to the Constitution—adopted by the people—fixes the present tax base. Thus if we change the commodities on which the tax is based, we change the base itself. But even if the proposal were legal, it would take away $45 million a year from school districts and require the state general fund to make up the difference.

Everyone knows that we cannot reduce public school revenues by this much and therefore the Governor's proposal merely puts the state further in the red.

On the contrary, my proposal would provide more money for counties and school districts without upsetting the state treasury.

☆

ANY MEMBER of the Legislature who is concerned with the problem of the whole state cannot help but be aware of the fiscal problems of Detroit and Wayne County. We cannot shut our eyes to the problem of the metropolitan area and simply solve the state problem—especially when the metropolitan area problem is repeated in a smaller degree in many of the outstate areas.

If Michigan is to solve its fiscal problem and stop shaming itself before the whole nation, it is going to have to face up to a year of "paying the piper." I am referring to the fact that none of the proposals I have made—and none of the proposals offered by others—can possibly take effect for at least a year. That is why I have reluctantly endorsed the idea of some special nuisance taxes to keep the state afloat for one year while these other tax reforms take effect. But I am sure that if the people realize what they can achieve, they will accept this long-range solution.

The same thing is true of Detroit and Wayne County. There is no way we in the Legislature, nor any other agency, can save the metropolitan area immediately. Detroit and Wayne County need money July 1 to stay solvent. But I firmly believe that if this area will accept my suggestions, it, too, can pull itself out of its fiscal morass and proceed with the rest of the state on a path of financial stability.

If we can adopt my proposal, Wayne County can retain the one per cent sales tax—which will not cost its people any more than they now pay and gain $40 million dollars. This will permit the county to pay Detroit $20 million now owed.

Mayor Cavanagh is reported now to be considering a proposal to merge the city and county health and welfare departments. If Wayne County has the additional sales tax revenue, this is practical and the city will be saved between $8 and $9 million a year.

☆

I CERTAINLY would not be so impertinent as to tell Detroit what to do. But if Detroit wants a suggestion, mine would be to adopt a one-year occupations tax of one-half of one per cent. Toledo and other Ohio cities have such a tax and have found it very simple to administer and what is more important—it is simple to eliminate after a year's emergency use.

The proposal for a city income tax, in the light of good tax administration, presents terrific problems of allocation between units of government from whence it came.

An occupation tax is not an income tax, but a privilege tax, and has none of the problems of deductions, exemptions, allocations and so forth. In addition, it could be so small it would not bear heavily on suburban people who work in Detroit.

I know that Governor Swainson has offered to work on a bipartisan basis with legislative Republicans to put Michigan back on a sound financial footing. Thus these comments are not intended to quarrel with the governor's position, but merely to point out my concept of how the legislature must deal adequately with the state's fiscal problem—as well as that of the metropolitan area.

The governor has proposed only one relief for property taxpayers—that is a removal of the personal property tax on industrial machinery and equipment. While I know his motive is good, I believe there is no way to compute how much individual local governments would lose by such a step and absolutely no way to reimburse each unit fairly from the state treasury for what it has lost.

I urge the governor to consider the proposal to allow the counties and the school districts to share in the sales tax, making it possible for them to reduce the property tax for all property owners, and to encourage the metropolitan area to take the steps I have suggested to pull themselves out of the fiscal morass.

Briefly, again, the people of Michigan can put this fine state back on its feet financially and face the rest of the nation proudly if we will undergo about one year of tough taxes. If we do not, we have no one to blame but ourselves when the nation points to us as a people who refuse to face the facts of life.

Legion Post Excells in Boys State Plan

Wolverine Boys State is a program for the young men of America under the direction of the American Legion Department of Michigan.

The purposes are:

► To develop the responsibilities of leadership

► To prove the advantages of citizenship

► To promote the art of clean sportsmanship

The American Legion Post No. 34 members have agreed that they are proud to be a part of the program, to train not only in theory but in actual practice and administration, helping young men develop into outstanding citizens.

Under the program, Boys State representatives attend summer sessions at Michigan State University. They set up organizations on the various governmental levels, and campaign to elect their members to the government posts.

The program is not a school room activity, but is designed as a practical experience in problems of government as in operation in Michigan.

Members of Post 34 are proud of their record in the Boys State program. They have won for four years the Louis Schneider trophy for outstanding contributions to the program.

John Colson, chairman of the Boys State program, expressed his thanks to the many sponsors for assisting the post to send some 20 Tecumseh boys to Lansing, again this year, thereby probably assuring the post of the trophy for another year.

Any individual or group who would care to sponsor one of the many elegible young men from Tecumseh may contact Mr. Colson.

Mexican Slides Shown

Leslie Calhoun presented a film on Mexico at the regular meeting of the Exchange Club. Most of the film was taken in and around Mexico City, the capital and chief city of Mexico.

Some of the highlights of the film showed a bull fight, some monuments and pyramids built by an early civilization, and a large dairy farm.

Mr. Calhoun's comments during the film helped the group to better understand the people of Mexico, the way they live and the architecture of their homes and buildings.

Doug Hall was program chairman.

An announcement of a theatre party Monday, May 7, was made. After dinner at 6:30 at the Eagles Hall the group will go to Adrian to view the film, "The Horizontal Lieutenant," through the courtesy of Hub Daley, manager of the Croswell Theatre.

India Mission Experience Is Related

BRITTON—The Bethel Baptist Church will feature a Missionary Conference April 18 until April 22, with services nightly at 7:30 p.m. and Easter from 10 until 11 a.m.

The Rev. Fred W. Waldock, veteran missionary to Assam India, will be the speaker for the five-day meeting.

Slides and films of the field will be shown with experiences in missionary work told in connection with the pictures.

There are few missionaries in India, the country is a difficult field and few are able to get into it.

Coach Sam Hamilton Thanks Tory Fans

(Editor's Note: Coach Sam Hamilton is still brimming with enthusiasm after the happy, hectic basketball season. Here is his letter to the entire community.)

I would like to extend my thanks to the team and coaches for a fine season and sports dinner, also for the fine 1961-62 All-Star League Team Assembly.

Extended to the administration

All others that helped
Hot lunch girls
Cheerleaders
All loyal Britton fans for our 21 games and our tournament
Also the many letters and wires sent to the team during the March Madness.

This note is a little late but it took a while to climb down from "cloud 9," and, of course, bragging about a future "cheerleader."

A special thanks to the team, a fine group of young men for an "A-OK" job. (By the term you can see I'm still a little off the ground.)

Airborne Television Is Studied

BRITTON—Mrs. Richard Alexander, Spanish teacher at Britton-Macon School, was among 211 Midwest school administrators attending a meeting on airborne television instruction April 11 at Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

The meeting is one of a series in which school administrators have been discussing the future of the Midwest Program on Airborne Television Instruction.

Dr. Bryghte D. Godbold, executive vice president of MPATI, told the group a new, 4-year grant of $7.5 million from the Ford Foundation will be used to supplement funds from member schools and colleges. The grant will be received in annual installments of decreasing size. Complete financial support by the member institutions should be achieved by 1965-66, Dr. Godbold added.

To date MPATI has been supported entirely by donations from foundations and private industry.

Schools in the region served by MPATI spend an average of $414 per pupil on education each year, according to statistics compiled by the U. S. Office of Education. Membership in MPATI will raise this cost by one dollar to $415.

The airborne program telecasts video-tapped lessons from a high-flying aircraft to schools in parts of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin. The project is aimed at upgrading the quality of education on a vast geographic scale at a cost within reach of school budgets.

Maconettes Given Tips on Buying

BRITTON — The Maconette Extension Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Ronald Maschino with six members present.

The next meeting will be held May 1 at the home of Mrs. Gerald Schultz.

Election of officers will be held and two lessons will be presented, "Dental Health" and "Game Time is Fun Time."

Community Foundation Group Meets

BRITTON—Seven members of the Britton Community Fund Foundation attended the April meeting Tuesday evening.

President Fred Miller reported that Wilma Godzina, Betty Hamilton and George Hawkins will help with the summer recreation program.

Letters will be sent to the boys and their fathers at a later date.

Members decided to purchase two picnic tables and stoves for the park.

They also voted to give $50 to the Lutton family. The next meeting will be held July 10.

Youngster Registration

BRITTON — Britton-Macon Area School makes plans for the 1962-63 kindergarten pre-registration in the kindergarten room at Britton Thursday, May 3, 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The children who are ready for kindergarten must have reached the age of 5 years by Dec. 1, 1962. Parents should consider seriously withholding of children whose 1962. Many younger children are slow to adjust to school.

It is also important to have the child's birth certificate with you at the registration.

The school extends an invitation to the parents to bring the child in to pre-registration.

The registration is considered important because of scheduling, transporation and organizing the kindergarten program for the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patterson attended the junior play, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," Friday evening at Sturgis.

The play was under the direction of Larry Patterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Patterson of Adrian accompanied them.

Easter Date Changes With Paschal Moon

ANN ARBOR—Here's why Easter changes its date every year, according to a University of Michigan astronomer.

Essentially the date of Easter depends on the moon's phases, explains Associate Professor Hazel M. Losh of the U-M Astronomy Department. This year Easter falls on Sunday, April 22.

It all began in 325, when the church fathers gathered in the Council of Nicaea and decreed that Easter was to be "kept on the first Sunday following the paschal full moon which happens upon or next after the twenty-first of March."

Explains Professor Losh, "The paschal full moon is the fourteenth day of a lunar month reckoned according to an ancient ecclesiastical computation, and may vary from that of the actual, or astronomical, full moon by a day or so." The paschal full moon this year is Wednesday, April 18, and the astronomical full moon occurs the next day.

Since the Council of Nicaea, Easter date has fluctuated between March 22 and April 25. For example, the 1943 Easter came on the latest possible date, April 25, which will happen again in 2038 A.D. In 1951, Easter came as early as March 25, and the earliest date of March 22 will not occur until 2285.

One principal reason for choosing the full moon for reckoning Easter was to give the pilgrims to the Easter festivities the advantage of full moonlight for comparatively safe travel by night as well as by day.

Doctor Cites Tetanus Danger

In order to help your family doctor protect you from serious diseases such as tetanus and polio you must cooperate by visiting your doctor and receiving the series of three injections of vaccine.

Doctor Eleanor Skufis, Lenawee County health director, stated that tetanus, or "lock jaw", is not a contagious disease, but has been and is a health hazzard. The tetanus (or lock jaw) germ is found in and about stables and farm yards, and in garden soil treated with animal manure, because the intestines of grass-eating animals harbor the bacilus (germ).

The germ is introduced into human tissue by puncture wounds as occur from a gunshot or from stepping on a nail, or from foreign objects imbedded in tissue accidentally, especially car accidents. The germ deep in the tissue produces a nerve toxin. The most common symptom of the disease is a painful spasm of the jaw muscles. This accounts for the common name "lock jaw."

In spite of the introduction of new drugs only half of the tetanus patients survive. Everyone should be actively immunized against tetanus, she adds. It is particularly important for children and for all persons engaged in physical labor, whether farmer, military or industrial. Children are immunized against tetanus, whooping cough, diphtheria and polio together in their "baby shots" and booster shots.

For persons (over 15), immunization for tetanus requires two injections four to six months apart and maintained by giving a stimulating booster dose every five years.

Persons having had their previous active immunization in the armed forces or elsewhere may be individually evaluated by their physicians. Good follow-up studies on tetanus boosters given seven to 18 years after the initial series have shown that one booster even after that long period produce a sufficient antibody titer. At the time of injury, however, a stimulating booster also is given.

Paralytic polio is a well-known disease. There were three cases in 1961 in Lenawee County. Not one patient had received any polio vaccine and all three are permenantly crippled.

Polio strikes all age groups—tiny babies up to persons in their 60's. Since the initial immunization series for adults can be given at the same time that the tetanus vaccine is given, Dr. Skufis wishes to urge adults, especially young fathers, to see their family doctor for their initial series if they have never been immunized or for booster injections.

Don't wait be ready for summer—visit your doctor, she says. Tetanus and Polio Prevention week is April 16-21. —

Who Have Moved to Tecumseh

Tecumseh's scouting received a big boost recently when the Clarence Jennings family moved to 505 Russell Rd.

When the youngest is old enough to become a Brownie, all five family members will be in scouting.

Mr. Jennings, a long-time Tecumseh Products Co. employee, moved the family here from Onsted, cutting the commuting time. He also is closer now to Deerfield, where he is assistant scoutmaster of the troop headed by his brother-in-law, Guy Goff.

Alma Jennings was a den mother in Onsted, and will be willing to resume those duties here when a den mother is needed. Their son is in Pack 4 at Tecumseh Acres, and their older daughter is in Troop 173 at that school. She will be eligible for her five-year pin next fall.

Mrs. Jennings also is active in work with St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

Heads Seal Campaign

Mrs. William Davenport is again Tecumseh chairman of the campaign for funds for the Lenawee Easter Seal Society.

The drive opened March 15 and will continue through Easter Sunday, April 22.

The little paper Easter lilies will be sold Saturday, April 21.

Mrs. Charles Howe and Charles O. Butler are members of the Board of Directors of the Society.

Providing shoes and orthopedic equipment for handicapped children and adults, sending 12 children to summer camp and providing careful evaluation at the University Medical Center previous to rehabilitation and treatment have been the major expenditures of the Society in 1961 according to the president, Zenith Hancock of Adrian.

Mrs. Hazelle H. Ewing of Adrian, campaign chairman, is assisted by many volunteer sororities, civic and extension clubs.

Highly-specialized services for the handicapped are directed at 1,000 rehabilitation centers throughout the United States.

Over 100 projects in research are currently in progress in universities, medical schools and hospitals seeking causes, means of alleviation and ways of prevention of crippling.

About 243,000 crippled children and adults receive care.

Abigal VanBuren, known to millions of newspaper readers as "Dear Abbey", is the 1962 national Easter Seal Campaign Chairman.

Tommy Doyle of California, 10-year-old boy, crippled by polio since he was 13 months old is the 1962 national Easter Seal Child.

The optimism brought to crippled children during the Easter season is conveyed in the Easter Seal Design for 1962.

Sketches, which dominate the two designs, show a girl and boy symbolic of the crippled children served by the Easter Seal Societies nationwide.

Robert C. Amft, Chicago artist, who won the nationwide competition is owner and art director of Amft and Associates. His entry was judged best among more than 250 others.

Communications Are Studied

Mrs. L. E. Titley entertained members of Child Study Club No. 1 April 9 when Mrs. Franklin Schroeder was welcomed as a new member.

Officers elected were:

President—Mrs. Carson House

Vice-president — Mrs. Arthur Schwartz

Secretary—Mrs. Stanley Kruse

Corresponding secretary—Mrs. James Quigley

Treasurer—Mrs. Charles Clark

Mrs. Hugh DesErmia led a discussion on "Communication Within the Family." It was determined that parents must control the types of movies their children attend, and govern the time children are allowed to watch television.

It was agreed that the communciation of parents and their children is most valuable and that children should have a definite understanding of what is expected of them and vice versa.

Cookies decorated as Easter bonnets were made by Mrs. Douglas Murdoch.

Dessert was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Neal Brazee and Mrs. Keith Barron.

The club's annual dinner will be held at Don's Beef Buffet at 6:30 p.m. May 14.

Ventilation Vital in Barn

A good ventilation system changes the air in a barn every 6 to 10 minutes on the average, according to Robert L. Maddex, Michigan State University agricultural extension engineer.

The change of air may occur faster than this in warmer weather and somewhat slower in extremely cold periods, Mr. Maddex said.

Outside fresh air coming into the barn through air inlets is warmed in the barn. As it warms up, its capacity to carry moisture out of the building through the ventilation exhaust system is increased.

Mr. Maddex gives a few general rules for use of fans. First, air intake fans should be placed about midway in the long side of the barn away from prevailing winds, if possible.

In barns more than 80 feet long, it is better to use two fans, each about a third of the distance from an end, Mr. Maddex says.

Spacing is important to get good air movement without drafts and without dead spots where moisture collects. Moist air being taken from the barn should not be allowed to hit cold surfaces, since this will cause wet spots, Maddex says. Insulation will help prevent such cold surfaces.

Wet walls are apt to occur around calf pens, feed openings and box stalls. Providing fresh air inlets near these can help correct the problem, he says.

BRITTON — An Easter Party was held Friday evening by the 8th grade Camp Fire Girls at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ivan Jr.

Eight members and six guests enjoyed games and dancing.

The girls made the refreshments and decorations as part of their [illegible] on their Torch Bearers rank.

Auto Club Asks Con-Con To Keep Road Tax Words

Automobile Club of Michigan has urged Michigan Constitutional Convention delegates to retain the language of the "anti-diversion" amendment in the present Constitution.

The amendment specifices that gasoline and weight taxes must be used solely for the construction and maintenance of highways.

The Auto Club was a principal supporter of this amendment, which was passed in 1938.

In a letter sent to all con-con delegates, Frederick N. Rehm, Auto Club general manager, said the anti-diversion amendment "should be retained and not confused or grouped with diversion amendments."

He said that elimination or weakening of the provision could seriously affect motorists and automobile manufacturers, result in interest rate increases in highway bond issues, threaten federal aid to Michigan's road building program and increase present [illegible].

Rehm cautioned delegates that insertion of the phrase, "as defined by law," into the section of the new Constitution that earmarks motorists taxes would open the way for diversion of highway funds for "any number of so-called 'safety' purposes.

"This could include state police appropriations, driver training, financing present highway safety sections at the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and other universities, the State Safety Commission and many other things," said Rehm. "It is even possible that pressure might be exerted to subsidize mass transportation, such as the D.S.R., (Detroit's transit system)."

The Auto Club spokesman noted that failure to retain the present anti-diversion language in a new Constitution or approval of the "as defined by law" phrase would be a "tragic mistake."

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

In recent issues of The Herald I have read several letters from your readers, in which they have expressed great affection for our old St. Peter's Episcopal Church, which is now well into its second century.

As one of the 116 members who voted in favor of the new building, I feel something should be said about its advantages. I like many others who made this decision, found it was not an easy thing to do.

The decision was not made hastily; we had well over a month to think about the idea, and to weigh the merits in both directions before casting our votes.

In that length of time, I thought a great deal about the historical value of our present church. I thought about Mr. Lyster, and the other great men who had a part in providing our community with a building which has stood against time for so many years.

On the other hand, in the past 10 years I have watched our Sunday School almost triple in size, so that there is now insufficient space for classrooms.

These children who are filling the Sunday School classes now, will be our parish of tomorrow. It is our hope that it will grow even more, as one decade passes into another.

The courageous and generous men who built our church for us must have been looking ahead to the day when other generations would worship there.

They could not have been disappointed, because it has been in constant use for over 150 years.

Now, we have been given an opportunity to build for future generations. I can think of no better way to repay these men than to do for others to follow us what they so unselfishly did.

The generous offer we have been given is not likely to come along very often, and I feel that we, as a parish, would have been extremely selfish and short-sighted if we had not done everything possible to provide our children and theirs, with a church that will stand for years after we are gone

I am very proud to be a part of a parish with the courage and vision of ours.

Cordially,
Carolyn H. Russell
Mrs. Allen S. Russell

TO THE EDITORS:

I have been deeply shocked to learn that famous, historic St. Peter's Church of Tecumseh is to be torn down for a parking lot.

I realize that this is under the control of the Episcopal Church to destroy or to save this beautiful, remarkable old building but I think that the Episcopal Church is also beholden to the community and to the State of Michigan to PRESERVE this historical landmark.

I do not think anyone has the moral RIGHT to tear down this living monument to our early pioneers.

I was born in Tecumseh and this is a town that I love. It retains the quiet, stately dignity of many of it's fine old homes along Chicago Blvd. and glories in the pride of many wonderful new homes reflecting the high standards of living in a town blessed with good industries and excellent stores.

But let us have a cherished respect for the early history of this interesting town where the new and the old merge so gracefully.

Remember how the Indians converged here and held their pow-wows long before the white man came and struggled to establish his different way of life in Tecumseh, but having the graciousness to name the town after the famous Indian Chief.

Here also came a man of deep religious feeling, Rev. Lyster, to build St. Peter's Church partly from funds he begged from famous people back East.

Look up at the lighted steeple of this church some evening when the spring air is sweet and soft on your face and ask how man can destroy this hallowed place. PLEASE don't LET it be destroyed!

Save this place for a historical Shrine, a chapel for special uses, a museum for early Tecumseh relics and all things to do with its past . . . OR SOMETHING.

Be proud to save this valuable historical remainder of the past.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Jeanne Keith,
Historic Walker Tavern,
US-112 at M-50.

TO THE EDITORS:

We are farmers much concerned with the favoritism, corruption, lack of principle and added burden to the taxpayer that has always been prevalent in the Farm Programs. Billions wasted each year!

I believe the first controlled production was in 1933 when the government bought feeder pigs for slaughter. Some were bootlegged back to the farms. This is when the corruption started.

We can cite many cases in all branches of the program, for the whole thirty years, where corruption has been prevalent. Favoritism has been shown among the local committeemen and local and state offices. It demonstrates the truth that "Power tends to corrupt and absolute power corrupts absolutely."

We have traveled extensively during the past five years, studying the farm program. I suggest transferring local and state ASC managers every year.

Farmers do not want to be heavily policed. Nor do the taxpayers want to pay for the policing.

Congress should thoroughly investigate and economize the whole program.

The Soil Bank and storage of enormous amounts of grain was very unfair to the taxpayer. The grain should have been fed long ago. It could have produced real meat whereas millions of tons of imitation meat is being sold.

We have farmed for forty years, but this waste is a disgrace to everyone concerned.

Let us save our Constitution!

Resectfully yours,
Lloyd H. Elliott,
Lake Providence, La.

SOUTH VIETNAM'S TROUBLES

The darking shadows of Communism is theatening South Vietnam's freedom. The known terror of the Viet Cong and Red Chinese are its troubles to its independence.

Crushing power of the Viet Cong is growing stronger every day. Free Vietnamese people everywhere are fighting this struggle for a free democracy. Greater still are its ideals not to become a Communist satellite country.

With American aid, its hopes shine brightly against the dark blanket of Communism.

Children Are Warned

Since child molestation complaints increase at this time of the year, parents should strongly warn their children against accepting lures of strangers to go for walks or rides, says Sgt. Carl Anderson, commanding officer of the Clinton post of the Michigan State Police.

This cautionary advice, given now and occasionally repeated, might prevent some child from suffering an experience which could blight his or her life and even result in injury or death, he emphasizes.

Records of previous years show that child molesting complaints begin to increase in the spring, reach a peak during the summer months, and taper off when schools resume.

(Tecumseh's police department has been distributing several types of warning literature to the area's school children. One which is particularly well-liked, according to Chief Murel Clark, is a sheet which the younger children can color. Some 280 have been distributed, and more are being printed, he added.)

"Warn your children to have nothing to do with strangers. That's the safest rule for them to follow," Sgt. Anderson advises. "Urge them to tell you right away if any stranger approaches and tries to lure them with candy or other things to go for walks or rides."

In 1961 there were 593 sex offense complaints, which include child molesting, that were investigated by the State Police. This was 12, or two per cent, more than in the previous year.

Highest incidence of these complaints was in August with 84. July was next highest with 66. May third with 57, September fourth with 54 and June fifth with 53. No month had less than 32.

Fear of embarrassing publicity makes some parents reluctant to report molestation incidents to the police. This is unfortunate because it increases the difficulty in coping with these situations.

Names of children molested and their parents, however, are not used by the press, radio and television except when necessary in cases of severe emergency, such as abduction or murder. If all incidents were reported, police would have a better chance of apprehending the offenders and curtailing such offenses, Sgt. Anderson says. Lack of such reporting may encourage the molester to strike again.

Children should be assured that policemen are friends who want to help and protect them. They should be encouraged to notify police of any strangers loitering around playgrounds, schools, public rest rooms or in the neighborhood.

Following are suggested rules for children:

1—Don't talk to strangers or accept any offer of money, candy or gifts to go for a walk or ride with them.

2—Report to your parents, police or teacher any suspicious stranger who tries to join you or your group.

3—Stay with playmates when outdoors. Don't play or walk alone in alleys, deserted buildings or other secluded areas.

4—Don't go alone to the movies, fairs or carnivals. Try to have at least one companion wherever you go.

5—Keep a safe distance from the road so that a stranger in a passing car cannot easily reach out and seize you.

6—Don't loiter in public rest rooms. These are danger spots.

7—These rules are for your protection. Don't let anyone persuade you to disobey them. If you have any question or problem, tell your parents.

The following are ways that children can help in checking child molestation practices:

1—Write down or memorize descriptive details of any stranger who tries to bother you. Note such things as height, weight, age, color of skin, eyes and hair, and unusual features such as a mustache, eyeglasses, tattoos, jewelry or physical defects.

2—If the stranger has a car, remember its color and try to get the license number and letters. Write this down or if necessary use a stick or stone to mark it on the sidewalk or dirt.

3—Your suspicions can help protect you and your friends from harm. Any stranger investigated by police should not be offended if he has a proper explanation for his actions.

VOICE OF THE HERALD

Where Is Post Office?

Tecumseh is going to get a new post office—eventually.

Currently, the Postal Department is bogged down in indecision: Should the government sell its first site, on S. Pearl St., to the city, and buy the city's Adam Park, across from the City Hall? Or should the Postal Department simply trade its S. Pearl St. site for the park?

The city has said, in repeated letters to Washington, that it doesn't care whether the land is traded or bought-and-sold. But the Post Office Department just says "This is an internal matter."

The decision was promised "in a few months." This started more than a year ago.

Meanwhile, the city continues to own and maintain the park, where Tecumseh's citizens, young and old, can enjoy summertime picnics.

The city also continues to lease the post office property for a parking lot. If the trade — or — sale could be concluded, maybe the city would be able to finish improving S. Pearl St. lot, to the great pleasure of those who park there.

With its next letter to Washington, perhaps the City Council could include a pair of scissors, to cut the red tape.

THS, Clinton Seniors Win UM Grants

Seniors in 397 Michigan high schools, including Tecumseh and Clinton, will receive 649 Regents-Alumni Scholarships this year to the University of Michigan.

Two THS scholars, Arthur J. Collongsworth of 402 W. Brown St., and Michael D. Rohrer of 604 Center Dr., received scholarships and plan to ente the College of Literature, Science and Arts at UM.

Clinton's winner is Richard W. Ehnis of 214 W. Franklin St., who also will enter the LSA college.

The stipends vary according to financial need of winners, ranging from an honorary $50 entrance award to a $560-per-year grant. Awards continue for the normal length of each student's degree program, if his academic record justifies renewal.

In evaluating applicants, emphasis is on character, citizenship, academic record, financial need and scores on a competitive test.

Although he was born in the Netherlands he spent most of his early life in the "land down under," first as a cowboy and then in the engineering field.

Mr. Souwer's experiences hunting turkey, wild pigs and emus were especially interesting

President Maynard Lucas reported that the club's "Million Dollar Meal" made it possible to contribute $108 to the Rotary Foundation fund.

The program announced for this week was on safety and brought Larry Burkhardt of the Michigan State Safety Commission to Tecumseh.

Mr. Burkhardt is on leave of absence from the Buick Motor Car Company to serve on the commission.

Long & Short

By TOM RIORDAN

George Romney is going to be a real fighter in his campaign to win the governorship of Michigan.

The ruggedly-handsome Mr. Romney opened his drive for the state's No. 1 job Tuesday evening at a dinner meeting in Jackson.

It was primarily an organizational session for Republican Party leaders in a six-county area, including Lenawee.

But this phase got second billing.

Mr. Romney's firey talk had the GOP brass mentally congratulating the party on having such an exceptional candidate.

It is now apparent which way Mr. Romney will head in the tough campaign months ahead.

He will attack—with both fists—the "Gus Scholle Democratic Party conspiracy."

The industrialist told his audience of 150 key leaders that the present Dem setup is:

- Morally wrong
- Socially wrong
- Economically unsound
- Socially indefensible

This Democratic arrangement is financed by the rank-and-file union membership, which kicks in regularly for a UAW-CIO "political education" program.

How easily two innocent words cloak the bare-face project of labor bosses to ram Democrats into office!

The "political education" effort has one objective: black-list everything Republican and make each Democrat a knight in shining armor.

Mr. Romney said that this government by a few labor barons is "destroying Michigan's reputation and confronting it with grave economic and social problems."

One of the GOP State Central fellows told me this was the hardest-hitting talk Mr. Romney has given so far. It was the first time he publicly blasted Auggie Scholle.

It was Mr. Romney's opinion that many Democrats, who are not among the "chosen few" controlling the party, will be glad to vote an end to labor's strangle hold on Michigan's government.

Another key point in the Romney drive will be to boost the importance of state and local government as opposed to more and more power going to Washington.

He contends that the United States Constitution is being eroded by the current trend of Washingtonitis.

I'll predict here and now that Michigan will put George Romney into the governor's chair next November.

A man of his caliber has been needed in this state for many years.

He is a dynamic person, tremendously sincere in his desire to pull Michigan out of the economic doldrums into which it has slipped over the past decade.

Mr. Romney has the ability to do the job.

No matter what your political faith may be, I'll wager you'll be impressed when you meet Mr. Romney in person and hear him speak.

The fellow is a dynamo.

If he continues his efforts as he started them in Jackson this week, Auggie Scholle and his fellow labor barons will head for the hills before the first frost

Dick Eggleston wants to say thanks to all the folks who gave trading stamps to him for the Ann Arbor Swim Club.

The stamps were used to send members of the organization to last week's women's national AAU competition in Sacramento, Calif.

Dick is vitally interested in the group because his daughter, Pam, is a member and is working hard to develop into a top-flight tanker.

Wednesday evening is Fun Night for publishers of a weekly paper.

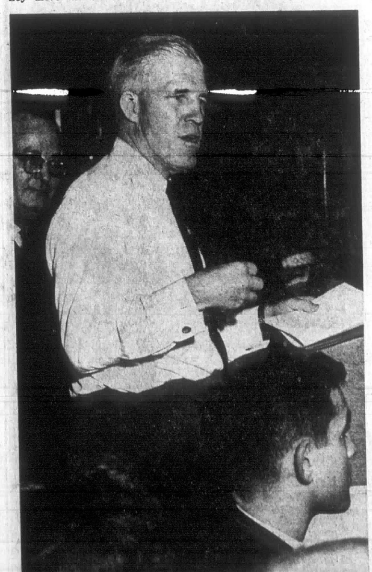
Hardly is the week's edition off the press and we settle back for a little rest and recuperation than the telephone starts ringing.

"How come you said this? (or didn't say that?") the callers will ask.

They're happy to tell exactly how the stories should have been played.

One thing though, we never have to worry about falling dead asleep much before midnight on Wednesdays.

Ah, the charm of it.



STRIKES HARD—George Romney, candidate for the GOP nomination in the Michigan gubernatorial race, struck hard at the "Gus Scholle Democratic Party conspiracy" when he spoke Tuesday night at a Republican organizational meeting in Jackson. This photo was taken for The Tecumseh Herald by Garrett Cope of the Jackson Citizen-Patriot.

LIVING IS EASY—Several days of bright sun and warm weather have brought Tecumseh's young fishermen out to the ponds, river and creeks. Here below the Evans St. dam Tom Drake, 13-year-old son of Austin Drake and Mrs. Mary Reed, waits for his line to be tugged. His early efforts produced one bullhead.

Recreation Director Named for City

Stuart May, 26-year-old football line coach at Muskegon, was approved Monday night by the Parks and Recreation Board as Director of Recreation and Parks for Tecumseh.

The new director, interviewed by the board, was selected from three other applicants. He will start the third week in June.

Mr. May will have his office in the Community Center, which he will supervise.

He is a graduate of Wooster College, Wooster, O., and has a master's degree in physical education from the University of Michigan.

Besides serving Muskegon High School's football team, he also taught physical education in the junior high.

Mr. May and his wife, Jacqueline, have a five-month-old son. They are members of the Presbyterian Church.

Council is expected to give official approval to the board's decision at the May 7 meeting.

Jamboree Set for Center

Area residents will gather at Tecumseh' Community Center at 8:30 p.m. Saturday for an old-fashioned jamboree.

There will be round and square dancing in the main ball room, rock n' roll and the twist in the Teen Center and cards in the "Rusty Bone Room."

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Murray will serve as host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Boss will be in charge of refreshments, Mrs. Bonnie Mattis will call and instruct the square dancers, and Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Eisner will lead community singing during the box social.

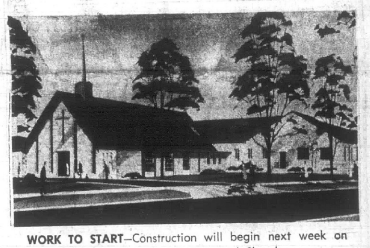
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howe will be on hand to welcome card players, and chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton and Mr. and Mrs. James Howard.

General chairmen of the event, sponsored by the Young Republicans, are Virginia Hodges, Arthur Collingsworth, Mrs. Royal Welch and Del King.

Card players are requested to bring their own cards and a white elephant to exchange. Ladies will be admitted free with a box lunch for two.

Adult admission is $1.50, students and card players 75 cents.

The public is invited.



WORK TO START—Construction will begin next week on the new Tecumseh St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

Bright Spots Are Seen in Tecumseh Budget

Tecumseh's city budget has some bright spots this year.

The budget proposed by City Manager E. J. Nelson is the highest in the city's history, but that doesn't mean taxes are going up.

As a matter of fact, tax revenue will be down slightly, because the millage was kept the same and the city's evaluation dropped $17,000. The loss of some $200 will be more than counteracted by expected increases in other non-tax areas.

The proposed budget, which is subject to a public hearing May 7 and action of the City Council, includes a healthy surplus to take care of expenses not now foreseen.

☆

GENERAL FUND surpluses in past years were transferred to the sewer and water department and used to pay bills for new lines as they came due.

This way, the city saved the legal costs of selling bonds to finance such projects. And instead of paying interest on the money it borrowed, the city earns interest on the revolving fund.

Best of all, the city's residents are saved the added interest costs and Tecumseh installs its sewer and water lines for less than would otherwise be necessary.

☆

ANOTHER bonus comes from the parking lots.

The lots would take in about $9,000 a year, according to the surveyors who advised the city. Instead, Mr. Nelson is figuring on $13,000 coming in this year.

Thus, the parking lot bonds will be paid off earlier, interest money will be saved, and in future years some of the meters will not be needed to maintain the lot costs.

☆

THE NEW budget also allows $5 a week raises for the city's policemen and the fire department drivers. It includes a $10 weekly raise for the chief of police, and mileage allowances for the chief and others who use their own cars on department business.

Three persons to help with school traffic are included in the budget, at a total cost of $1,800.

Mr. Nelson notes that the $63,000 allowed in the police department budget seems large, but he can't find any excess to cut. He also comments that increased money is being taken in from fines, which helps defray police costs.

☆

ROAD PROJECTS listed in the budget include repairs to parts of Maumee, Adrian and Logan St., Occidental Rd., Herrick Park Dr. and Russell Rd.

Major project is to check the base on Maumee St., regrade and apply a new surface from Logan St. to Herrick Park Dr., at an estimated cost of $10,600.

Area residents will be helped by proposed installation of an 18-inch storm sewer from Shady Lane north, to eliminate pipes under driveways which freeze closed each winter.

The manager sets aside $5,080 for installation of a 27-inch storm sewer on Russell Rd. from Union St. to Evans St.

Although he realizes that $4,000 won't repair all the city sidewalks which need work, Mr. Nelson set aside that amount to make a start on the worst places.

☆

ALTHOUGH the U. S. Post Office Department still hasn't decided how to switch land with the city, trading a Pearl St. site for the proposed post office site on W. Chicago Blvd., Mr. Nelson has included an item of $2,600 to blacktop the Pearl St. site for a parking lot.

If the trade doesn't materialize, the money will be held over for the next year's budget.

Policemen Plan Ball Saturday

The second annual Tecumseh Policemen's Ball will be held from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. Saturday.

Dancing to the music of an out-of-town band will be in the American Legion Club at W. Pottawatamie and S. Evans St.

Tickets are available from any city policeman, and also at the door. Refreshments are available, and only adults will be admitted.

Judging from last year's success, some 350 to 400 persons are expected this year.

Greenwald Is Named Manager

Jack Greenwald, son of the Clayton Greenwalds, is the new sales manager for Tecumseh's Greenwald Cleaners and Laundry.

Jack, a 1953 graduate of THS, formerly was a sales representative for the John Sexton Co of Indianapolis.

In this ceremony, 50 Brownies will become full-fledged Girl Scouts.

A special invitation to the ceremony is sent to parents and third-grade Brownies.

St. Peter's Plans Ground Breaking

Ground breaking ceremonies for a new $210,000 St. Peter's Episcopal Church will be held next Tuesday morning at 10:30.

In church tradition, the ground will be broken at the site of the altar.

The service, which will be held behind the Parish Hall, will consecrate the grounds for the new building and will include participation by a representative of the Bishop, clergy of the Southwest Convocation, wardens and vestrymen, Rector the Rev. Frank Hawthorne, high school youth and others.

After this Sunday's 11 a.m. service, parishioners will procede to the new building site for its dedication.

Formal work on the building will start after the ground breaking. Construction is expected to take at least 10 months, with completion scheduled for early in 1963.

A committee of the church's vestry met Tuesday evening and completed plans for services relative to next week's ground breaking ceremony.

Seat Belts Save Pair

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rice of 310 W. Logan St. may owe their lives to well-fastened automobile seat belts.

Their station wagon, forced off the road, landed upside-down in a 15-foot-deep ravine. They hung by the seat belts, astoundingly free of injury.

Mrs. Rice suffered a wrenched back which is taking a while to ease, but Mr. Rice had only a slight knee injury.

Mrs. Rice commented, "My head didn't touch a thing. I hung there, head and feet pointed to the car's ceiling, held by the belt.

"The doors were jammed. I let myself down to the roof and slid out the back window, which had sprung open. My husband had a harder time getting out the window, but made it on the third try."

The accident happened Friday morning on US-12 three miles east of Clinton. Mr. Rice was forced off the road by a passing car which cut into his lane. Unfortunately, the soft shoulder collapsed under the car wheels, and the car fell 15 feet.

State troopers at the scene commended Mr. Rice for his action. The passing car, a light model, could well have gone into a spin if he had remained on the road and hit it, and a multiple collision with oncoming cars could have resulted.

The driver of the other car stopped at the scene. She loaned her car to Mr. Rice, so he could continue his trip to Willow Run, where Mrs. Rice was to catch a plane.

Mrs. Rice thought she was unscathed by the accident. It was only later on the plane that the shock and numbness wore off and she discovered the wrenched back.

She continued the two-day trip, but spent several days recuperating at home this week.

Mrs. Rice is a walking testimonial to the usefullness of auto seat belts, not only because one could have saved her life, but because in the six years or so that the Rices have used them, they have saved her several bumps during quick stops.

"They are especially good for the passenger. Unlike the driver, the passenger has nothing to hold onto to prevent his hitting the windshield.

"I also can highly recommend seat belts for their comfort," she added. "If you fasten them securely, sitting clear back in the seat the way the cars were designed for you to sit, you'll find a cross-country trip less tiring."

The Rices do a lot of traveling, by plane and by car.

In the air or on the ground, they have their seat belts fastened.

Trucker Receives Rumpf Trophy

Rupert Arnold worked overtime until 5 p.m. Friday, the day he retired from Rumpf Truck Line, Inc.

It seemed he hardly had time for the presentation of the large trophy and gift given to him by the company.

The inscription on the trophy read, 'Rupert Arnold, for 17 years of faithful and loyal service, 1945-1962."

Mr. Arnold, according to his associates, does anything that has to do with trucking.

He first came to Tecumseh from Adrian, where he was employed by the Andrews Truck Line. He was employed by the Tecumseh Products Co. in 1936 and then by the Village, both on the Police Force and for the Fire Department, until 1945 when he went to work for the Ford Motor Co.

Mr. Arnold and his wife, Shirley, have their home on the east shore of Iron Lake.

They have two daughters, Mrs. Jack Smith, Jr., of 824 N. Evans St. and Mrs. Steve Jardno of South Carolina, and six grandchildren.

"There goes Gampa" is the oft-repeated phrase by little Lynn Lee Smith when she hears the familiar honk of her grandfather's Volkswagen as he passes the Smith home on his way to and from work.

Now there will be more time for the little people, for a few fishing excursions and some house projects that the busy trucker has been planning with his wife.

He also has some part-time work lined up so retirement or not, Mr. Arnold will be as busy as usual.

Jaycees Seek Trout Reports

Members of the Jayeees believe that the planting of trout in Evans Creek has been successful, since some trout already have been caught.

They would like to know of others that may be hooked this spring and would like to have anglers call Roger Butler, HA 3-4201, to report their catch.

MRS. JOSEPH PERRY HAYDEN

Michaele Psolla Weds Joseph Perry Hayden

Michaele Psolla became the bride of Joseph Perry Hayden April 21 in the Bethany Evangelical United Brethren Church at Canton, O.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Psolla of Canton, and Mrs. Perry Hayden of W. Logan St. and the late Mr. Hayden.

The Rev. Paul Brantingham of Tecumseh Friends Church assisted the Rev. Howard S. Lauby, pastor of the Canton church, in the ceremony before a background of Woodwardia fern with white gladioli, snapdragons and carnations.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father wearing a full-length gown of white silk bombazine styled with elongated bodice of Chantilly lace, long sleeves tapered to points and a Sabrina neckline edged with sequins and seed pearls.

Her headpiece was an imported Danish lily-of-the-valley cascade which held a fingertip veil of imported silk illusion.

She carried a cascade bouquet of frenched white carnations with loops of iridescent rubing.

The bridegroom sang "Because," accompanied by Mrs. Elden Arner, cousin of the bride, as the bride and her father reached the altar.

Mrs. Kenneth Woodward, sister of the groom, sang several nuptial selections, also accompanied by Mrs. Arner.

Joy Miller was maid of honor in a daytime frock of pink silk organza fashioned with lace bodice featuring a scalloped neckline and bouffant skirt.

She wore a pink silk organza bow headclip which held a short matching veil and carried a nosegay of pink sweetheart roses.

Mrs. James Hoagland and Jill Psolla, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. Their ensembles were like that of the maid of honor.

Pamela Thoman, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Suanne Sprunger, niece of the groom, was the flower girl, carrying a basket of pink rose petals.

Both were gowned in replicas of the bridesmaids' frocks.

The Rev. James Brantingham served as best man and the guests were seated by William C. Hayden and John Hayden, brothers of the groom, Ben Brantingham and Elden Arner.

A reception was held at the Canton Garden Center, with Mrs. Clarence Lucas and De Loris Waltner as hostesses.

Mrs. Charles Thoman, sister of the bride, registered guests from New York, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio.

The bride is graduate of Glenwood High School in Canton and is employed as a secretary at the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. in Akron.

The groom is a graduate of Hampden DeBose Academy in Zellwood, Fla., and is a senior at Malone College in Canton. He is employed at the Canton Hardware Co.

After a brief wedding trip to Pennsylvania the couple is at home at 7041 Market Ave. in Canton.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's mother at the Pines Restaurant in Canton.

Birds Make Pesticides for Garden

"Birds are the best pesticides," said Anne Carson Friday afternoon as she spoke to members of the Tecumseh Garden Club.

Elaborating on the topic, "Bugs—Friends and Foes," Miss Carson said even starlings are helpful.

She continued, "only" bugs and the praying mantis should be welcomed to the garden to help in the control of aphids. However, the best control over bug foes is healthy plants."

Miss Carson concluded her talk with advice on sprays and sprayers which will assist in better gardening this summer.

Mrs. Clarence Beach was the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Waldo Mohr and Mrs. Arch Wray presiding at a tea table.

Extra Corn Is The Profit Corn

More bushels per acre is the aim of most corn producers. Growers find that those extra bushels are the profit bushels. When yields are just average, corn returns are used up paying for seed, fertilizer, labor, equipment and other corn production costs. One of the most effective ways of boosting yields is weed control with today's modern herbicides.

Since weeds and corn compete for nutrients and water, getting rid of the weeds assures that all plant food and moisture go into corn. Some of the herbicides most widely used are Atrazine and Simazine which control both the broadleaf weeds and grasses for the full growing season. On acre after acre where these weed killers have been used, corn yield and profits have increased.

Today's herbicides appear to be one of agriculture's biggest bargains, since effective chemical weed control costs only the equivalent of a few bushels of corn per acre, and is paid for many times over by extra yields. These chemicals pave the way to extra corn from each acre, and those extra profit bushels which bring the greatest net return. A free booklet on weed control in corn may be obtained by writing to Geigy Agricultural Chemicals, Department WN, Saw Mill River Road, Ardsley, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Slusher Honeymoon

Enjoying a two-week honeymoon at Pompano Beach, Fla., are Mr. and Mrs. Webb Slusher Jr., who were married April 14 in Tecumseh.

The bride, the former [illegible] L. Buehrer, is the daughter of Mrs. Lee V. Phibbs of Tecumseh-Clinton Rd. and Elmer E. Buehrer of W. Chicago Blvd. The groom is the son of the senior Slushers of Tipton.

The Rev. B. O. Bashore performed the ceremony in First Baptist Church, which was decorated with white floral arrangements, candelabra and greens.

The bride was gowned in mist taffeta fashioned with a scoop neckline outlined with Alencon lace and embroidered with seed pearls. The full skirt featured a chapel train.

Gowns of the bride and the flower girls, Jana and Jera Robinson, were made by the bride's mother.

The bride carried a crescent arrangement of white camellias outlined with circles of threaded hyacinth florets.

Her attendents included Judy Slusher, sister of the groom, and Diane Murphy and Carolyn Denz. The honor maid, Miss Slusher, was in a pale blue gown, echoed by the bridesmaids in a deeper shade of blue.

The gowns were designed with scoop necklines and full skirts.

The attendents carried white lace umbrellas decked with flowers and heather.

Jerry Carbone of Lincoln Park attended the groom. Ushers were Gary Buehrer, brother of the bride; James Symons, cousin of the groom; Tony Caruso of Clinton and Dean Eddy of Tecumseh.

A reception in the church house was attended by 300 guests. Dorothy Boyce and Nancy Sells cut the cakes, Karen Rumler served salad, Joan Kish poured coffee and Jean Wagner served punch.

The couple will return from Florida to a home at 331 W. Morrell St., Jackson, Mich.

The new Mrs. Slusher is a graduate of Tecumseh High School and Cleary Business College. Mr. Slusher is a graduate of Clinton High School.

MRS. WEBB SLUSHER JR.

Steppers Have Projects

The Country High Steppers 4-H Club met at the Community Center for the first summer meeting April 17.

New officers elected were:
President—Gary Stretch
Vice President—Garna Gove
Treasurer—Nelson Sweet
Secretary—Betty Lou Sterling

Projects to be offered during the summer will be cooking, basic conservation, vegetables, flower gardening, crops, entomology, livestock, horses and rabbits, with the possibility of a fishing project being added.

A new project of careers has been offered to older members, with the hope that it may open new ideas or eliminate old ones in regard to members' futures.

The meeting closed with members finding different ways to decorate Easter eggs.

Relay Timer Loaned

A watch company states that "America runs" on time, provided by its watches. Tecumseh Jaycee Relays will be "run" on this company's time, too.

This was assured with announcement that Eggleston's Jewelry will furnish the precision timers to be used at the revent. Each timer will be carefully checked for accuracy just before the meet starts.

It is claimed that the 21-jewel sports timers are the most precise ever built. They record time to 1/10 of a second. Some of their parts are made to tolerances of four one-millionths of an inch. They are used at more than 450 sports events a year all over the country.

Although each timer is valued at $350 they're not sold, but are loaned to meet officials by jewelers and the watch company. After each use they are sent back to the manufacturer, where one watchmaker has a full-time assignment of checking, cleaning, and, if necessary, regulating each one.

This is the only way the complete accuracy of every watch can be guaranteed for every meet, the manufacturer, Bulova Watch Co., explains.

Girl Scouts Sell $2,664 in Cookies

A gross of $2,664 was received from the Girl Scout Cookie Sale held March 12-24.

Of this amount a nickel per box was kept in the troop treasuries, the cookie bill was paid and the remaining money is to be used at the Camp o' the Hills.

Mrs. Jim Murphy, chairman, expressed gratitude to the many who made the sale successful, those who purchased as well as those who sold.

There were 34 troops with their leaders and committeewomen participating in the two-week sale.

BABY SITTERS — Dick Bilby and Gloria Randolph, two of the 92 area young people who successfully passed a baby sitting course, demonstrate their new talents with Mike and Mark Creswell, whose mother, Mrs. Richard Creswell, was chairman of the Jaycee Auxiliary-sponsored baby sitting clinic.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bortel and Roger were Mr. and Mrs. Pat McGuire and sons of Whitemore Lake. Mathew Scott McGuire was baptized during the morning worship service at the Britton Methodist Church.

Diagnosticians Reassigned

Lenawee County's school diagnosticians have been re-assigned to fill the gap left by the resignation of one of their number.

Robert W. Johnson now serves Tecumseh, Clinton, Britton-Macon and Blissfield schools, and all rural schools except Prairie These schools have an enrollment of about 7,100.

Mrs. Lee Henry will take care of children in the Adrian, Madison, Deerfield and Prairie schools, with an enrollment of 6,700.

Caring for the Onsted, Hudson, Morenci, Addison and Sand Creek schools will be Merle E. Smith, who also works a half-day in Hillsdale County. His Lenawee County schools enroll 5,900.

With the resignation of a diagnostician in the 1960-61 school year, Blissfield, Britton, Deerfield, Clinton and Tecumseh had regular diagnostic services for only the first semester last year.

The latest resignation was in December. In March the remaining persons were asked to rearrange their schedules, and the various school administrations approved the changes in April.

Under a program established by the county-wide special education fund, the diagnosticians test children to find whether their lack of progress is from mental or emotional problems.

Those with mental retardation are helped in various types of special education classes.

Where the problem is emotional, school administrators, teachers and the special education personnel meet with the child's parents.

Sometimes the problem can be lessened by a change in attitude in the family, perhaps by a father spending more time with his son.

The diagnostician also sometimes suggests to the child's teacher how the child can be reached in the classroom and helped to adjust to school life. The Visiting Teacher program works in conjunction with the classroom teaching.

The most severe problems result in a suggestion that the parents take the child to the Huron Valley Child Guidance Clinic for professional treatment.

Two Tecumseh parents refused to do this several months ago, according to a school official. Today the child is in the case of Probate Court because his emotional troubles led to troubles with the community's laws.

Mr. Johnson this school year has tested some 45 children in Tecumseh schools, and is following through on the cases.

Many of the children tested prove to be of average or better-than-average ability. Often, they are behavior problems in classes or fail in their studies because of emotional conflicts.

Octopus In Your Cornfield?

Have you noticed an octopus in your cornfield? Not a real one of course, but an octopus-like weed called quackgrass which forms underground tentacles to choke off corn and lower yields. Quackgrass is becoming serious in many parts of the county, but now there is a new way to fight this persistent perennial.

Experiment stations and agricultural authorities advise that farmers who face the quackgrass problem may find the answer with Atrazine herbicide. For quackgrass control, farmers should make one broadcast application of Atrazine on growing quackgrass at least three weeks before plowing. Then, a second Atrazine application should be made at planting time to control annual broadleaf weeds and grasses, and to finish off any persistent quack.

If control measures are not taken, quackgrass spreads so rapidly that it can soon drain acreage of vital soil moisture and plant food nutrients needed by corn for highest yields and greatest profit. Farmers in this area who face the threat of quackgrass in their cornfields would do well to acquaint themselves with the facts on this new method of control. A pamphlet on quackgrass control may be obtained free of charge by writing to Geigy Agricultural Chemicals, Department WN, Saw Mill River Road, Ardsley, N. Y.

Master's Teaching Described

"From time to time Jesus apparently said some things to his disciples to deliberately shock them, with the ultimate purpose, of course, to teach them," according to the Rev. Allen Wittrup.

"Jesus was a master teacher, and he knew how to awaken the minds and hearts of those who had been lulled to inactivity. To be aroused to activity demands a strong incentive," said the pastor.

The Rev. Mr. Wittrup will speak on the subject "Dishonest For a Reason" at 10 a.m. Sunday, in First Methodist Church.

Church school is at 11:45 a.m.

Prison Work Told at Meeting

B. O. Wilder will tell of his experience and work in the federal penitentiary system in a talk Monday sponsored by the men's group of Presbyterian Church.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the church's Fellowship Center. All men of the church are invited to attend and encouraged to take guests.

New members will be received into the fellowship of the church during the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday. These persons who have been attending the communicant classes during the past weeks appeared before the session at its April meeting, at which time their requests for membership were approved.

Children's Mite Boxes Returned

Children of St. Peter's Episcopal Church will bring Lenten mite boxes and daily dime folders to the 11 a.m. service Sunday, according to the Rev. Frank Hawthorne.

The dedication of the site of the new church will be held at the end of the service.

Children who bring their mite boxes to the service will bring a flower to place on the mite box cross.

The annual Southwest Convocation mite box ingathering service will be held at 4 p.m. April 29 at the St. Peter's Church in Hillsdale.

The theme of the service will be, "The Church in Alaska." Refreshments will be served.

Parsonage Ground Broken Wednesday

BRITTON — Work was begun last week on the new Congregational Christian Church Parsonage at Britton.

Ground was broken Wednesday to begin the project.

A three-bedroom home with attached garage is planned and will be situated directly east of the church on M-50.

Russell Cheever of Tecumseh and Charles Benedict of Britton are in charge of the construction, with volunteer help from members of the congregation.

The former parsonage has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spence of Britton.

Duet Class Schedules Work Bee

BRITTON—Fourteen members of the Duets Class met last Wednesday evening in the Fellowship Center of the Congregational Christian Church for a potluck supper and business meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. William Saxton were hosts and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks presented two film strips "The Meaning of Lent and "The Resurrection."

The class decided to despense with the regular May meeting for a "Work Bee", cleaning the church, church grounds and helping with the new parsonage for which the ground was broken Wednesday evening.

A group of church members dug the footing Wednesday evening and Thursday morning and the foundation was poured Thursday afternoon.

SWANS APPEAR — Glistening white swans swam sedately in Hidden Lake Gardens, undisturbed by the hundreds who passed by on their way to the annual Easter Sunrise Service. Despite the weather bureau's damp predictions, the day dawned with brilliance appropriate to the day and occasion. The Easter sunshine and temperatures began to bring out the spring garb of the Hidden Lake plantings, forming a suitable background to these birds on their private lake.

Concord Re-Enacts First 1775 Battle

CONCORD, Mass.—Not to be outdone by, or detract from, the recent publicity for New Concord, Ohio, birthplace of astronaut Col. John Glenn, the citizens of historic Concord, Mass., reminded fellow Americans that the torch of liberty is still kept blazing there after 187 years of independence.

It was on April 19, 1775, that the first battle of the American Revolution was fought in this small Bay State town.

The townspeople make an annual observance of that event. In fact, many descendants of the original patriots, great-great-grandchildren of the Minutemen, take prominent parts in the annual exercises of rededication.

At 1:30 a.m. on April 19th, all lights in the town were lit, and the church bells rung, to herald the arrival on horseback of Dr. Samuel Prescott, who made it to Concord after Paul Revere's capture. The re-enactment this year was by Gertrude Prescott, Dr. Prescott's great-great-grandniece.

A parade terminated at the Old North Bridge, preserved through the years as the scene of the historic battle. This is also the site of the famed Minuteman Monument, and since last year, part of the Minuteman National Park.

At the base of the monument is reprinted the immortal Concord Hymn by a native, Ralph Waldo Emerson, which says in part: "Here the embattled farmer stood and fired the shot heard round the world."

Shots Ring in Center

Tecumseh Community Center is ringing Monday nights and Saturday afternoons with the echoes of rifle and pistol shots.

Tecumseh's newest club open to boys and girls, men and women, is a group of shooting enthusiasts.

The club welcomes anyone interested. A small fee is charged for targets and use of the facilities but the only other cost is for ammunition.

Most of the 30 present members have their own weapons, but several members allow others to use their rifles and pistols.

The club now has the services of Jack L. Curtiss, as instructor.

Th National Rifle Assn. of America recently announced Mr. Curtiss has passed the specified series of tests and served a prescribed period of time in training activities and is now qualified to conduct classes in gun operation, safe gun-handling and techniques of shooting on the target range and in the field.

He joins the ranks of selected personnel which the NRA maintains throughout the country in a nation-wide small arms education program.

Mr. Curtiss also has received advanced training in NRA instructing techniques.

Contacted about the NRA announcement, Mr. Curtiss told The Herald that rifle and pistol instruction classes will begin as soon as the club acquires the necessary weapons and other equipment, such as floor mats.

He welcomes youngsters to the classes. "I would like to start teaching children safe gun handling practices when they are about eight years old," he said. "At that age they are old enough to be interested in handling the weapons, but don't realize their potential danger. They must be made to realize that guns are not playthings."

Mr. Curtiss will start, however, with those of the hunting age now, in order to make sure they know safety techniques and shooting practices before they are using guns for game.

Younger children will be accepted in the classes if space permits.

Next on the club agenda will be formation of teams for competition.

Guests are welcome at all club meetings. Monday sessions start at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday sessions are held as the club has enough persons to warrant holding a shoot.

Jane Hodges Put on Deans' List

Miss Hodges, a graduate of Tecumseh High School, is enrolled in the spring quarter of her freshman year.

Auxiliary Delegates Are Named

Mrs. Richard Eisenminger, new president of the Auxiliary of the Hall-Slater Post, VFW, conducted the meeting April 18.

Three delegates were elected for the Department Convention. They are Mrs. Joseph Laslo, Mrs. Gaza Kish and Mrs. Lloyd Stites.

The convention will be held in Sault Ste. Marie in June.

Mrs. Robert Reeves was accepted to the membership.

Members voted to purchase flags for two Brownie troops.

Mrs. Harold Warren and Mrs. Richard Butler served refreshments.

INK WHITE (R-St. Johns), Constitutional Convention delegate and chairman of the Public Information Committee, looks through a stack of more than 700 letters signifying interest in the Michigan Week editorial contest. Assisting Mr. White is sad-faced Elizabeth "Perky" Daverman, 1165 Santa Barbara Dr. SE, Grand Rapids, who, as an eighth grader, is one year away from being eligible to submit an entry. The contest is open to all Michigan high school students. Topic of the editorial will be, "Youth Looks at the Constitutional Convention."

Traveling Maves Land in Lisbon

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Maves consented to let The Herald know of their progress on a current tour of Europe and the Holy Land.)

Nice, France
April 12.

TO THE EDITORS:

We have been on the go ever since we left Tecumseh. Spent four days in New York, left New York by jet at 8 p.m. April 6. Arrived in Lisbon, Portgual 6 hours later.

Was quite a sensation to see the sun rise 12:30 our time.

The time in Lisbon was six hours advanced. Lisbon is a large city, very clean, mostly apartments.

Flew on to Madrid and spent couple days there. While in Madrid we took an all-day bus tour to Toledo, Portugal. This is an ancient city which dates back to 600 B.C. It is built on a mountain 2,000 feet above sea level.

The main manufacturing in Toledo is steel products such as jewelry, knives, etc., inlaid with gold thread.

Left Madrid and flew to Barcelona for a day. Yesterday we flew here to Nice. We have a hotel on the Riviera. We arrived late in the afternoon, and so far we haven't toured the city.

This afternoon we take a bus tour to Monaco.

Although this area has palms and flowers blooming, it is chilly. Some of the trees are just getting their spring leaves.

We are traveling with a group of 12 people, including one lady from California who is 75 years young. She is the life of the group. So far we have had a wonderful time and have seen so much in a short time.

Best regards,
Paul and Arnetta Maves

New Record Is Set

One hundred forty-five persons attended Sunday school at the Assembly of God Church Palm Sunday, breaking the former record of 128.

Mrs. Gladys Burger Hull, sister of the pastor's wife, Mrs. Harold Speer, and also pastor of the church some years ago, was the speaker during the morning service.

A family day program was carried out with 115 seated for the potluck dinner, which was followed by a "Singspiration" service.

The Rev. Joseph Akin of Farmington was the evening speaker. The families of Mrs. Hull and the Rev. Mr. Akin were also guests.

Others from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Burger, Mrs. Speer's parents, and the families of Carlie Hall, Elroy Burger and Dale South.

3-Day Garden Forum

A three-day garden forum featuring nationally-known speakers, workshops, panel discussions and garden tours will be held at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village May 23 to 25.

It will be known as the Clara B. Ford Garden Forum in memory of Mrs. Henry Ford's interest in gardens and flowers.

The early American gardens in Greenfield Village will give a colorful background to the forum, held for the first time this year.

Subject areas to be covered during the sessions include historic gardens, roses, lawns and lawn care, annuals, plant diseases, perennials, vegetable gardening, herbs and herb gardening and flower arrangements.

A unique feature of the forum will be a conducted walk through historic Greenfield Village to observe plants and animals in their natural settings.

Mrs. Ford was a co-founder of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association and was for many years its president.

The garden forum will conclude with the final Henry Ford Museum Antiques Lecture for the 1961-62 season. Charles C. Wall, resident director of Mount Vernon, will speak on "Mount Vernon — Its History, Antiques and Gardens."

A $19.50 weekly registration fee covers the complete program for the three days and the forum banquet. Daily registration is $6 and evenings $1.50 each.

Students Asked To Try Contest

Interest in the Michigan Week editorial contest among high school students of the state is extremely high according to Stephen S. Nisbet, president of the Constitutional Convention and chairman of Government Day in this year's observance.

All high school students in Michigan are eligible to enter the contest and write an editorial on the topic, "Youth Looks at the Constitutional Convention."

"Our public information office has received more than 700 inquiries for information on the Convention from youngsters who are planning on entering the contest," Nisbet said.

Herbert G. Daverman, Grand Rapids architect and chairman of the Michigan Week Program Board, said that entry blanks and fact sheets have been distributed to all county Michigan Week chairmen.

Daverman said the two top prizes in the state-wide event will be scholarship grants of $300 and $150 to the Michigan college or university of the winners choice. Three runners-up prizes will be suitably engraved Constitutional Convention gavels.

All entries must be submitted to the respective county chairmen no later than Friday, May 4. Each county Michigan Week chairman will serve as chairman of a panel of judges to pick local winners.

The winning entry from each county will be judged in state-wide competition to determine the grand prize winners.

Deadline for judging of county entries is Friday, May 11. It is expected that newspapers will cooperate by printing the editorials of county winners some day during Michigan Week, May 20-26.

Library Plans Described to Kiwanians

Mrs. Julie Fosbender, librarian of Tecumseh Public Library, was guest speaker at the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club last Thursday evening.

She described the Library of the Future that has been constructed at the 1962 World's Fair at Seattle.

She also enthusiastically verbally and graphically portrayed the features of the Tecumseh Public Library now in the final construction stages.

Hendershots Entertain Club

MACON—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hendershot entertained members of the Macon Community Club April 17 for a co-operative supper.

Mrs. Joseph O'Pravil spoke on Czechoslovakia, her native land.

Mrs. R. A. Halladay presented two piano selections and Ray Gilmore read two poems.

Melvin Travis read "A Journey Through Galilee" and Elmer Pocklington recited three of his own poems.

KNOW THE WEIGHT AND QUALITY of feeder pigs. This is sometimes difficult to estimate, but is important when buying or selling by the head. For example, a 45-pound pig at $10 has a value of 22c per pound, while a 30-pound pig at $10 is selling for 33c per pound. A good quality meat-type pig is worth from $1.25 to $1.75 more. If you have a livestock scale handy, practice up on your "weight guessing" before going to a sale. Pigs in a small pen will look larger than if they were in an open lot.

FERTILIZER MANAGEMENT is often more important than actual amount used on row crops. Nutrients should be placed close to the seed for early stimulation, especially in soil of low fertility. But it's not wise to place too much fertilizer directly in the row. Not more than 10 to 30 pounds of N and K20 should be used per acre if it is in contact with the seed. Best way is to place fertilizer 1 to 1½ inches to the side and below the seed — amount can then be increased to 80 pounds of N and K20 on corn.

IF YOU'VE HAD FLOOD DAMAGE this spring, have it appraised now while the damage is clearly evident. Photographs will be helpful. If your loss isn't covered by insurance, it is deductible from your 1962 income tax. In the event damage has exceeded your eventual 1962 income, the excess may be carried back as far as 1959 as a net operating loss.

DELAY SOY BEAN PLANTING until soil is warm enough to assure fast germination. Beans should test better than 80% germination, but some will test less. Seed treatment with materials such as Arasan or Spargon will improve emergence and stands of low germination seed.

Farm Automation Is Moving Forward in Lenawee County

(Special to the Herald)

NEW YORK, — Automation, on farms in Lenawee County, is moving forward quietly but swiftly.

With much less fanfare than accompanies the progress toward automation in industry, local farmers have been steadily adding to their mechanical equipment.

They have realized for a long time that machinery, rather than horses and hand labor, is the key to better profits. The big obstacle has been the financing of the expensive apparatus.

How well they have been succeeding is brought out in the latest Census of Agriculture, just released.

It shows that there are now some 6,169 tractors in use on Lenawee County farms, including wheel, garden and crawler tractors. There were 5,536 in 1954.

☆

ALTHOUGH such mechanization is taking place in most sections of the country, to a greater degree in some areas than in others, the advance has been more evident locally.

On the basis of the number of farms in the county, there are now 200 tractors owned per 100 farms, well above the 163 per 100 in 1954, when the previous census was taken.

It tops the average in the United States, 138 per 100 farms, and the 186 in the East North Central States.

Similar advances are noted locally in the number of motor trucks, balers, harvesters and other power equipment in use.

☆

DESPITE THIS mechanical revolution, there still appears to be a place for the horse on farms in Lenawee County.

The census reports a total of 999 horses and mules locally, as against 801 tabulated five years earlier.

This, however, is quite different from the situation in most parts of the country. Throughout the United States, the number of these work animals on farms has dropped from a peak of 25 million to a mere 3 million in a period of 30 years.

In the last five years alone, there was a 28% reduction.

The greater productivity on the average farm in the United States, due in great measure to automation, has failed thus far to give the farmer a sufficient return for his labors and his investment.

The problem is one that still defies an adequate solution.

SOCIAL SECURITY Questions and Answers

QUESTION: I am over 65 and am still working steadily, earning $6,000 a year. Why can't I start drawing my social security benefits?

ANSWER: Social security was designed to be a replacement of lost earnings due to old-age, death, or disability. Since you are still working, you have not suffered a loss of earnings even though you are past retirement age.

√

QUESTION: I am receiving benefits for three of my children under age 18. Last year the oldest one worked full time during the summer and part-time during the rest of the year. I believe he earned about $1275. Is it necessary for me to file a formal report of these earnings?

ANSWER: Yes it is. The law requires you to file an annual report of his earnings before April 16 of this year.

√

QUESTION: Why can't they change the law to allow a man to draw his benefits even though he is working?

ANSWER: Congress could change the law in this manner. However, to do this, they would also have to raise the social security tax to pay for the increased benefits. Since a fairly small percentage of beneficiaries work, Congress felt it would not be fair to tax all the people an extra amount to help the few people who would benefit by it.

√

QUESTION: Why is it that one man has an income of $300 per month and collects social security and another man has the same income and can't collect social security benefits? Both are over 65.

ANSWER: The man who draws social security probably gets his $300 from something other than salary or self-employment income. The present social security law allows him to receive his benefits in addition to outside income. Since the social security benefit was designed to be a basic floor of protection against loss of earnings, some social security benefits will be withheld if a person earns more than $1200 a year.

LIBRARY PROGRESS — Stone dust rises in clouds as the Indiana limestone blocks are cut for Tecumseh's new library. After being sawn to the proper dimension, the block is chipped with hammer and chisel to produce the rough distinctive face. The library, financed by public donations to the Tecumseh Community Fund, is to be completed this summer, with the books being moved from the old library before school reopens in the fall.

Advisors Counting Surveys

More than 400 opinionnaires have been returned to the Citizens Advisory Committee of Tecumseh Public Schools.

The opionnaires, designed to tell the committee what district residents think of their schools, will take at least two more weeks of work in local tabulating.

University of Michigan workers who designed the questions tabulated some of the answers, those which were answered by a yes or no, or by a check in one of several blanks.

Members of the advisory group sub-committee which is in charge of the project now are checking the written comments on the questionnaires, tabulating similar opinions.

The work is expected to take several weeks.

Winter Crop Loss Figured

The Tecumseh area's rolling terrain has been both a blessing and a curse to farmers this year.

Where the sloping land allowed snow and ice to drain, the crops sown last fall came through the winter with little trouble.

Where the low spots were not drained off, and where the lush flat lands had ice standing through the severe winter, much of the crop was lost.

Russell McDonald, district marketing agent in the Lenawee County area, reported 15 to 20 per cent of the winter wheat lost in the county. The flat lands east and southeast of Tecumseh had greater losses than elsewhere in the county, he added.

Comparable losses were recorded in the barley plantings.

Mr. McDonald cautioned farmers not to plant spring wheat in the spots killed by severe weather, because this practice would lower the quality of Michigan's white wheat crop. Combined with the normally low yield of spring wheat, this also would put farmers at a price disadvantage.

Also, he said that where the loss was less than 50 per cent, the wheat crop should be harvested. This will result in less loss than would be realized if a second planting were made in the same ground.

The loss would not affect the farm's wheat acreage history, unless the farmer had planted excess wheat acreage last fall and wants a new acreage measurement this spring.

The marketing agent also had comments about last fall's corn crop.

Surprised by the early end of the harvest season, and unable to get into their fields, many farmers waited until this spring to complete their corn harvest.

This wait results in losses of at least a quarter of the crop, Mr. McDonald said.

He noted this as another reason why the agriculture specialists are recommending the planting of early corn varieties, and the practice of picking the corn while it has a high moisture content, and drying it mechanically.

He noted that the bushels per acre may be less with the early-maturing varieties, but the cut in weather losses more than makes up for the differences.

Also, the mechanical drying of ear corn picked at 30 per cent moisture and shell corn at 25 per cent, is paid for by the cut in field losses. About four per cent of the crop is lost through the picking process, he added, when the corn is picked in October. Waiting until December will bring an estimated total loss of 18 per cent, he said.

The early picking also helps maintain quality of the corn, he added.

Favorable weather in recent weeks has left the county's farm work on schedule, Mr. McDonald said.

High Winds Tumble Fifty Trees Monday

Winds of tornadic force lashed the area late Monday afternoon, inflicting thousands of dollars in damages.

About 50 large trees were blown down in the city, mainly along a two-block-wide strip, bordered on the south and north by Chicago Blvd. and Shawnee St.

Insurancemen were busy taking claim calls Monday evening and most of Tuesday. The Hanna agency received a record of nearly 200, mostly regarding twisted television antenna and battered roofs.

Two airplanes based at Meyers Airport were flipped over and badly damaged. One belongs to Dick Jacobs, 115 W. Shawnee St., the other to Burton Stadler of Clinton.

WE WERE SCARED — Sherrie Hart, 8, and her brother, Joe, 6, were at the home with their grandmother, Mrs. Zola Rufner, when a giant maple crashed down onto the kitchen. The youngsters' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hart, had just returned from a shopping trip as the tree fell. One limb punched a large hole through the roof. Sherrie and Joe, both students at Patterson School, hold a slice of the tree, which was cut up Tuesday. It stood about 50 feet high and was a real old timer.

Luck was with the Robert Hart family, 506 E. Logan St., when a 50-foot maple crashed onto the roof of their one-story kitchen.

A huge limb punched through the ceiling, just above the table, leaving a hole about one by one and one-half feet.

No one was in the room at the time.

The maple smashed one edge of the roof when it hit, tore lose all utility lines.

Mrs. Hart said that her mother, Mrs. Zola Rufner, was caring for her small youngsters while she and her husband were shopping.

As the Harts drove into the garage and started for their home they heard the maple going.

"The tree fell in behind me," said Mrs. Hart, who explained she was petrified by the experience.

☆

WHEN FOUR 7,200-volt primary electrical lines were snapped at Tecumseh Products Co., all production was halted for nearly 10 hours while repairs were made.

The plant was back in operation on a limited basis Tuesday morning.

Roofs on both Y and P buildings were damaged in excess of $2,500.

The Products' Quaker Oats building was hard hit in the wind, suffering about $400 in broken windows and an unestimated damage to the roof.

☆

HOME OF Ed Ferris, 302 S. Maumee St., was badly damaged when a tree fell over it.

A large limb dropped onto Ed Mack's house, 5340 E. Monroe Rd., with only minor damage.

Roofing and shingles blew off the garage at the farm of Louis Caterina, 8800 N. Union St., and the wind tipped a large open-type corn crib.

Ground Breaking Held

In an impressive ceremony under overcast skies, ground was broken for the new St. Peter's Episcopal Church Tuesday morning.

More than 100 members of the parish and other guests braved the misty weather for the official beginning of the $210,000 house of worship.

The Very Rev. Frederick W. Brownell, dean of the Southwest Convocation of the Diocese of Michigan, acted in behalf of Bishop Richard Emrich and Bishop Archie Crowley who were unable to attend.

Outside dimensions of the new church were indicated on the ground by string attached to pegs driven into the ground at the four corners.

Site of the new church's altar was similarly marked and it was here that turf was turned by the many present with a bright, silver-plated shovel.

The Rev. Mr. Brownell broke ground first.

St. Peter's rector, the Rev. Frank Hawthorne, followed and the shovel was passed from hand to hand.

Among those who took part were Lawrence Blum, Charles Newell, Gibbs Barber, Lester Rogers, Guy Grieves, Mrs. William Damon, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Farver, Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Herrick, Dr. Richard Hammel, Mrs. Charles Mensing and Mrs. Philip Colgrove.

Visiting clergy who assisted in the ceremony were:

The Rev. Edwin Griswold, St. John's Church of Clinton.

The Rev. A. Peter Carroll, Christ Church of Adrian.

The Rev. Jack Warner, St. Michael and All Angels of Cambridge Junction.

The Rev. Robert Bickler, All Saints Church of Brooklyn.

Following the official ceremony, many others came forward and also cut into the soil.

Actual construction work gets underway this week and will take approximately 10 months.

Port Huron First Methodist Church was the scene of the Detroit Conference meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service Tuesday.

Long & Short

By TOM RIORDAN

If you enjoy viewing expert photography, drop into Don's Beef Buffet between now and Sunday evening.

By a rather unique twist of fate, Tecumseh will have a selection of 69 salon prints taken by Schima Kaufman of Philadelphia.

Mr. Kaufman, first violinist for the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra, is as adept with the lens as the bow and strings.

His photo exhibition is entitled, "Music Is My World", and recently was on display at the Plainfield, N. J. museum.

How the photos come here is an unusual story.

To start with, Mr. Kaufman is going to be in Ann Arbor with the Philadelphia Symphony this weekend.

An old friend of Mr. Kaufman's, Allan Seager, brought us a story some weeks ago, explaining that Mr. Kaufman and his Cremona String Quartet would be available to play in Tecumseh May 7.

Members of the Artist's Key Club, which is located over Don's Beef Buffet and instructed by Russell Steinke, read the story, decided they'd like to have the quartet play at their quarters.

Arrangements were made with Mr. Kaufman and the concert set up for Monday evening, with the audience limited to 75.

Quick on the heels of this came a letter from Mr. Kaufman, offering to send along his salon prints, if the club would like him to.

This idea was quickly accepted and the prints now can be viewed at Don's.

Mr. Kaufman describes himself as a "musical busybody."

As a writer, he is best known for his definitive biography of Felix Mendelssohn and many magazine articles.

With his camera, he has recorded on film pictures of the music world's greats.

Various segments of his photo collection have been published both here and abroad.

Master Plan Hearing Scheduled

Tecumseh's Master Plan will come up for public hearing at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 8, in the City Hall.

Final decision on the plan is not expected until a later meeting, after the Planning Commission members have had opportunity to sift through the material presented at Tuesday's hearing.

Most controversial part of the plan is a proposal to make a mall of the downtown blocks of Chicago Blvd., rerouting traffic on Pottawatamie and Logan Sts.

☆

A GROUP of 65 people met Friday evening in the Presbyterian Church to examine an alternate downtown plan, which was drawn by Joe Rice, 310 W. Logan St.

The gathering was arranged by Harry Duncan, 607 W. Logan St.

The alternate arrangement would keep Chicago Blvd. as the main east-west artery in the city instead of making Chicago Blvd. a mall.

The plan recommends that the two blocks of Evans St., north and south from the main four corners, eventually be made into malls if the New York Central ever eliminates its spur through the city.

Since M-52 will shortly be running west of town, N. Evans St. will no longer be a major state artery, Mr. Rice points out.

Auxiliary Will See Pictures of Brazil

Arthur Collingsworth, Brazilian government correspondent to Michigan and Ohio, will be the guest speaker at the May meeting of the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

Arthur received this appointemnt by Brazilian President Kubitschek in September 1958.

He will speak of his experiences in this capacity and show colored slides of Brazil.

The program will start promptly at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 8, in Fellowship Center of the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Robert Murray, telephone chairman for the Auxiliary, wishes to remind her committee to phone their lists, inviting all members and guests to attend this unusual program.

Mrs. Donald Geringer and Mrs. Percy Bowen are the hostesses.

Merchants Selecting Fashions

Several Tecumseh merchants are busy selecting fashionable styles for children.

The garments will be modeled at the Herrick Park PTA Fashion Show and Card Party on May 10.

Summer styles for boys and girls will be shown by Green's, Rosacrans and the Watkins Shop.

Musical background for the show will be under the direction of Norman Bailey.

Special decorative effects will be furnished by the Tecumseh Greenhouse.

The fashion show and card party will begin at 8 p.m. in Herrick Park School.

Tickets for the event are priced at $1 and may be obtained in advance by calling Mrs. Russell Cheever or Mrs. Frederick Ward.

They also may be purchased at the door.

Refreshments will be served during the evening. Those attending and planning to play cards are asked to bring their own cards.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

"May Basket, May Basket, now is the time of the year when many residents will remember the familiar cry that rang out over the quiet countryside as a whole school gathered to hang a May basket.

A crepe paper covered box filled with goodies and topped with early spring flowers gleaned from the woods and creeks served a motive for the hide and seek game played by the children, large and small.

Enough of that, I'll certainly date myself.

Now is the time for hepaticas, trilliums an occasional Jack-in-the-Pulpit and tadpoles.

Tragedy occurred in our tadpole home when three jumped out on the floor and another landed in a heavy solution of alum where crystals are growing.

Too many projects, too close together when the soon-to-be-frogs become alum crystals. "But don't disturb anything, Mother."

Playhouse Director Set

Jay Kleindorf of New Orleans has accepted the post of director and set designer of the Irish Hills Playhouse at Onsted.

The producer, Larry Burns, who has been negotiating with Kleindorf since April, 1961, said that although others have been interviewed for the post, Mr. Kleindorf's work in New Orleans with the New Orleans Art Theatre, Gallery Circle and the New Orleans Music Theatre have made him the only serious contender for the position.

Mr. Kleindorf's impressive background in the theatrical arts as a dancer, choreographer, actor, director and theatre technician includes work with the New Orleans Opera House Assn., the New Orleans Symphony and the New Orleans Summer Pop Concerts.

He has appeared on Broadway and in the national company of such hits as "Kiss Me Kate" and "Annie Get Your Gun".

In New York he was a regualr at the Second Avenue Theatre for three years and played many night club dates.

He has appeared at the invitation of the Government of Bermuda in the Bermuda Arts Festival and spent two seasons with the StarLight Theatre in Kansas City, as well as doing a season of Stock in St. Petersburg and appearing with the Mobile Civic Ballet as guest soloist.

The Irish Hills Playhouse season of five plays opens June 15 and will afford Michigan audiences the opportunity of seeing Mr. Kleindorf re-create two of the roles which he did to critical acclaim in New Orleans with Gallery Circle.

In the season opener he will portray Almady in Forenc Molnar's comedy of errors "The Play's the Thing," and in the final play of the season he will essay the role of Kreton in Gore Vidal's "Visit to a Small Planet".

He will also direct "Reclining Figure," "Laura," and "The Importance of Being Barnest."

Long AND Short

director.

Well, we found this is really a fast-moving world.

The new director resigned before he started.

It just goes to prove that young folks these days are really on the move.

☆

My anti-Romney friends let me know in no uncertain terms that I am nuts.

In my previous column, I made the statement that George would be Michigan's next governor.

"He'll never make it," one told me.

There were other equally unkind comments.

But being sold on the idea, good friends not withstanding, Romney is still my man.

If you have some feeling on this subject—pro or con—please drop this corner a line.

Isn't it amazing what a few minutes of wind can do?

Monday's blow left a track of debris. It also brought back some terrible memories to at least one resident.

Mrs. Charles Goodacre, 721 Seneca St., relieved for a few terrifying moments her childhood in Munich during World War II when waves of bombers pulverized that city night after night.

Collins Resigns

Harold D. Collins, math and science teacher here for the past three years in the junior high, has resigned to accept a position with the Ann Arbor schools.

Donations To Be Sought for Church Restoration

Members of St. Peter's Episcopal Church interested in preserving the old building met last evening to incorporate.

Plans to incorporate, approved at a meeting last week, will insure all donors that donations given will be tax deductible.

The corporation, probably to be titled "Friends of Old St. Peter's," will begin seeking donations within the next week or so.

The group also decided to solicit on the basis of preserving the 129-year-old building on its present site.

The parish will make a decision as to the future of the present church at a meeting late this year or early in 1963.

Favorable reports on saving St. Peter's have been received from historical societies, Michigan's leading architects and building associations.

HIGH WINDS

the Chauncey Harrison home, 210 N. Pearl St., was uprooted and another Maple came down by the Herman Steuwe, Jr. home, 416 N. Evans St., just missing the house.

Two garage doors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Kasno, 1503 E. Monroe Rd., were blown off. They clipped the utility wire off in flight and flew over a corn crib, landing next to the barn.

☆

ROOF ON Elmer's Body Shop, 3355 Russell Rd., was torn loose, causing damages of between $2,000 and $3,000.

Back porch of the Al Russell home, 499 Seminole Rd., was badly damaged, as was the side of Jim Elliott's home at 504 Seminole Rd.

At Tecumseh Acres School, several windows were broken, including one in the sixth grade of Mrs. Carl Barnes where a sliver of glass was hurled across the room and driven into a bulletin board.

The door and window of the school's boiler room were blown in.

Dozens of other minor damages were reported.

Scattered instances of downed power lines were recorded and throughout the Lenawee County area 750 General Telephone Co. customers had phones knocked out.

☆

INSURANCEMAN Vern Manwaring made nearly 20 adjustment calls Tuesday.

Among the more serious was at the Douglas Wegner farm on Rogers Hwy. near Palmyra where two 30-foot wooden silos were blown down.

Three other nearby concrete silos withstood the tornadic winds.

Much of the front of the new Kapnick Orchard salesroom on Rogers Hwy. was blown away, reports Mr. Manwaring.

A tool shed on the John Young farm, Laberdee Rd., was torn apart and portions of it strewn along the creek bed for more than 200 yards.

Other rural claims came as the result of barn doors being blown off, shingles torn from barns, television antenna tipped.

☆

A HOUSE TRAILER on Shaw Hwy., north of Ridgeway, was extensively damaged.

It is owned by the Ford Brown family.

The fuel oil, bottle gas and water lines were all snapped off by the wind, spraying the trailer with oil and water. The trailer tipped at about a 45-degree angle.

Mr. Brown's wife, Frances, and his two children, Danny 3, and Denise 7, were inside at the time.

Fortunately, Mrs. Brown, heard over the radio that the storm center was in Adrian and brought her children to the part of the trailer away from the heavy appliances just as the wind tipped the mobil home.

Eggs from the refrigerator smashed against the walls and lamps were broken as well as other furnishings.

Frightened and shaking, Mrs. Brown and the children managed to get to neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fox, where they spent the night.

Mr. Brown, presently employed in Mt. Pleasant by the Michigan Ohio Pipe Line Corp., was notified and arrived home at 1 a.m.

Speaker Stresses Planning

Joe Rice, member of the City Planning Commission, was guest-speaker at the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club last Thursday evening.

He discussed the importance and need for long-range planning in regard to areas for business, industrial and residential development within the city.

In recognition of Law Day, May 3, the guest speaker for this week's meeting will be City Attorney James Beardsley.

Gene Tuckey, 1961 club president, will be honored by the presentation of a wood gavel and past-president's lapel button.

These awards recognize his service to the club and community over the past year.

Niels Hansen Tells Class About Germany

"In Germany, the high school isn't the central core around which the community revolves, as it is here in Tecumseh," so said Niels Hansen, exchange student from northern Germany, currently residing with the Robert Bonner family.

Niels spoke to 18 members of the Power Class of the Tecumseh Friends Church Saturday evening.

Now a senior at Tecumseh High School, majoring in language and mathematics, this youth told that in his native country schooling involves 13 years.

In his home high school, 12 to 14 subjects are studied, with perhaps four or five of them given every day, while the others are interspersed through the week.

The teachers do the moving from room to room, not the students.

Buses, a cafeteria, cars, study halls, big sports and co-education are some of the "frills" missing from the education of a German youth.

Niels mentioned that he likes the way the community takes an active interest in the school here.

☆

REQUIREMENTS for entering high school in Germany are high, and every student who gets in must pass an examination.

Only 25% of those who try get into high school, thus schools contain the "cream of the crop" of German young people.

If an applicant for high school is rejected, there are other schools open to him, such as trade schools, so he may complete his education in this way.

To graduate, German high schoolers must successfully pass another examination, and Niels stated that 40-50% of those students taking this test fail.

They must then repeat the last year and nearly 40% of the pupils need private tutoring to finish their high school, he said.

Niels voiced his amazement at the number of churches in Tecumseh, and at the social activity connected with them.

HERALD PHOTOS
NIELS HANSEN

In his home town church was attended mostly on Sundays, only. There is not a variety of denominations, with Catholicism being the predominent faith in south Germany and Protestant denominations more frequent in the north.

Because of this, religious training is given in the schools with little conflict.

A CHURCH tax of 3% goes to the church government, not to the individual churches.

Niels said that he feels this makes a less personal feeling between the individual and his church than here, where a person knows the money he gives his church is going into either the local church, or the church denomination.

Niels feels the behavior of teen-agers here in the United States is quite different from that of those in his homeland, due priamrily to the effects of co-education.

He stated that young people here have a better chance to develop their sense of responsibility and leadership.

In his closing remarks, Niels spoke about Hitler and how he gained his power. He gave his opinions on the effects of Hitler and his philosophy on German youth.

He reported that there is currently a widespread disinterest in politics among the young people and a fear of saying the wrong things.

He feels politics presents a dangerous career in his country.

In charge of the arrangements for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Righter, Marjorie and Carolyn Chase. Mrs. Leland Fogelsong assisted, by having charge of the devotions. Ashley Chase, class president, presided at the business meeting.

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

Much has been written on the pains and pleasures of being program chairman of an organization. There are many moments of misgiving when, having arranged for time, place and program, one wonders if the public will support and enjoy it.

A case in point was the recent square dance and card party at the Community Center, sponsored by the Young Republicans.

Limited attendance was a forgone conclusion due to two other fine dances in the city the same evening. (Where oh where is that wonderful community calendar which was so useful to us would-be-planners?)

The event was a most worthwhile one as it proved once and for all that people of all ages CAN have fun together, and it gave two of our European visitors in Tecumseh a wonderful view of small town America at play.

Niels Hansen and Adolph Petrus were delighted by the colorful costumes of the square dancers, and the opportunity to become acquainted with other members of the community when Adolph lead the group in the singing of a German song (there wasn't a dry eye in the circle) of Community singers.

One often hears criticism of teen-age behavior. Parents of the high school students who attended would have been proud of the exemplary behavior of their teen agers, and delighted adults were more than willing to give them a hand in perfecting their "aleman left."

As one popular teen-ager remarked, with an element of surprise in his voice, "It was a real blast!" It is hoped to repeat the event in the Fall. A donation was made from the proceeds to the David Day Memorial Fund.

JUST A MOM

—o—

TO THE EDITORS:

Not everyone is aware that Family Week, Temperance Sunday, Goodwill Industries week and Be Kind to Animal week all begin or take place Sunday, May 6.

How often we have heard the blessed statement, "The family that prays together, stays together."

Tolerance, temperance, charity and kindness are learned there in the presence of God. I have a strong feeling that these four special subjects are a wonderful combination for family thought, consideration and training of young minds, as well as adults, not only for the week of May 6 to 12, but for the rest of the weeks in the year.

Unless there is a serious concerted, sacrificial effort by the parents, todayy's attractive diversions prevent families being together for prayer.

When a catastrophe, sickness or death overtakes us we wonder where God is. However, He may have been wondering where we were while we didn't think we needed Him.

In these days of high speed, alertness and temperance are serious subjects. Health-giving foods replenish the needs of the body God gave us. An adequate amount of rest is also required.

The Bible tells us of God's love for us, but also tells us we must love one another. One good way to express our love is to make gifts of articles we no longer need to Goodwill Industries, and by their facilities show our love for those less fortunate than we are.

Roving dogs in the county, caused mainly by heartless owners who abandon their surplus or unwanted dogs, as well as cats, several miles away from their homes, and owners who do not feed their dogs (and cats) and allow them free range over other people's property are contributors to the damage or death of sheep, other animals, maiming or death of children or adults.

Your free-running dog may wish to frolic with the roving dogs and after destruction has taken place, and the ownership of the animal discovered the owner might be in trouble and his pet will be destroyed.

Another way to show our love to one another is to take unwanted animals to the Lenawee County Humane Society Shelter, 2½ miles east on Academy Rd. Adrian. In case of emergency, only, phone CO 3-1432 for a pick-up. Shelter hours 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, 1 to 4 p.m. Sundays, closed holidays. They are equipped to take care of these animals and welcome a visit, by you during the visiting hours.

The veterinarians in your area will help you to keep your pets and animals in good health if you will consult them at an early stage and ownership.

A state law protects animals that are dropped in your area. Be a good observant citizen — take the license number — report it to an officer — and follow it up.

Let us start now by being temperate in our habits, charitable with our gifts from God, share our love, and kindness with our fellow man and all God's creatures. Find at least a day's work for an unemployed person.

Keep America — Safe.

Former Minister Speaks at Session of Exchange Club

Wives of Exchange Club members were guests at the group's meeting April 30.

The ladies were each presented with a corsage of carnations.

Flower arrangements of chrysanthemums, carnations and sweet peas decorated the tables. After a swiss steak dinner, the 61 members and guests were led in singing by Wallace Whiting.

Giving special prominence to the program was an address by the Rev. James Nixon of Grosse Pointe and formerly of Tecumseh.

During his talk on marriage, he related some of his experiences in marriage counseling and presented his suppositions on a successful and fulfilling marriage.

The Rev. Mr. Nixon also brought greetings to the group from two former families of Tecumseh, the Les Bennetts and the Jerry Janouseks.

The Janouseks are lay missionaries in Liberia, Africa. Mr. Nixon told of talking with them via a combination of short-wave and long distance telephone some time ago.

A ham operator in Fort Wayne, Ind., picked up their signal and placed a call to the Nixons, that they might talk to the Janouseks.

The evening was concluded with a drawing for the ladies, with the centerpieces as prizes.

Winners were Mrs. Whiting, Mrs. Clarence Beach, Mrs. Dwight Hodges and Mrs. Edward Mengerink.

The arrangement from the speakers table was given to Mrs. Nixon.

Last Supper Wood Carving Has Arrived

The Lord's Supper carving has been delivered to the Presbyterian church, and is now in the minister's office, where it may be seen until it is installed in the chancel.

This piece of work took eight months to complete.

It is 5x7 feet in size, 13½ inches thick.

It was brought to the church by the sculptor, Leo Youngblut of Holland last Thursday afternoon.

Summer Projects Readied

Karen and Laurie Brown entertained members of the Ridgeway Sunny Rays 4-H Club recently.

Members answered the roll call by telling of the projects they expect to undertake for the summer.

Carol, Nancy and Sharleen Bird were on a committee to make an Easter basket for the group's adopted grandmother at the state hospital.

Carol Bird, Angela Lopez and Ruth Wilt gave reports on the junior leadership school they attended April 10.

Rules made to encourage better attendance includes one that says members must attend half the business meetings and two-thirds of the project meetings to exhibit at the Lenawee County Fair.

Sandra Gibbs and Joyce Kish were welcomed to the membership.

Anna Drouillard will be hostess for the next meeting, when each member will give a suggestion for group activity during the summer. Members will also bring something for a May basket Ruth Wilt is making.

Games and refreshmnets were enjoyed.

Girls Given Garden Tools Tied with Pink Ribbons

Members of the Tecumseh Garden Club were honored guests at the April meeting of the Little Garden Club, held at the home of Mrs. Carlton Cook.

Special tribute was paid to the Tecumseh Garden Club, which is celebrating its 25th Anniversary this year.

Highlighting the evening was a special musical program.

Mrs. Orrie Gilbert and John Peterson, Mrs. Gilbert's father, from Pentwater, played a violin duet, "Dreamy Moments."

They were accompanied on the piano by Linda Gilbert, Mrs. Gilbert's daughter.

This was followed by a recorder trio, playing selections from the 15th to 18th Centuries.

A brief history of the recorder, a wooden instrument that much resembles the sounds of birds and dates back to medieval times, was given by a member of the trio, Ruth Breed from Grass Lake.

The other members of the trio were Marion Wirick and Willa Loughry, both of Ann Arbor.

A flower arrangement of pink and silver carried out the color scheme on the tea table. The pink represented the pink peony, which is the club flower of the Tecumseh Garden Club.

Silver honored their 25 active years in gardening. The cake served was also appropriately decorated in pink.

Mrs. Neil Pearson, president of the Tecumseh Garden Club, and Mrs. Robert Murray, president of the Little Garden Club, poured.

The 34 members and guests each received a silvered indoor gardening tool, tied with a pink ribbon as a memento.

During the brief business session, members voted to sponsor Mrs. Clare Handy to the Higgins Lake Conservation School to be held this summer.

Mrs. Handy, who is known in the area for her work with rock and mineral clubs, will be sponsored jointly by the DAR, the Tecumseh Garden Club and the Little Garden Club.

Announcements were made regarding the annual meeting of the Michigan Federation of Garden Clubs to be held in Lansing in May.

Garden Club members are invited to attend the annual Tulip Tea given by the Adrian Garden Club on May 15 at the home of Mrs. A. R. Anderson.

Co-hostesses for the anniversary celebration were Mrs. Stanley Cook, Mrs. Earl Baldwin, Mrs. Donald Ketteman, and Mrs. William L. Schroer, all past presidents of the Little Garden Club

The next meeting will be held on May 15 at 7 in the home of Mrs. Earl Baldwin. She will be assisted by Mrs. Fred Randall.

Guest speaker will be Paul Burns, Tecumseh High School agricultural teacher, who will give a demonstration on preparation of the soil.

Tradition Continued at Service

When druggist Bill Wright turned sod at the site of the new St. Peter's Church Tuesday, he was continuing a family tradition.

Bill's great, great grandfather, Thomas Wright, was among those who broke ground for the original St. Peter's in 1832.

Bill is the fifth generation of Wrights in Tecumseh.

Thomas was a farmer. His son, Moses, operated a general store, handling drug items among other things.

August Wright, the son of Moses, singled out drugs as his primary business interest.

Don Wright followed his father August's theme, as has Don's son, the present drug store owner.

Thomas Wright came to Tecumseh in 1831, attended Episcopal services in the old courthouse, across from the present city hall.

Mr. Wright helped teach Bible classes and sometimes substituted for the minister.

He took part in the original ground-breaking and attended the first services at St. Peter's, officiated by the Rev. Messers O'Brien and Lyster.

According to Thomas Wright's diary, cold weather on Nov. 12, 1832 caused cancellation of services because the building was too frigid.

This promoted him to purchase a stove "at a cost of $102.69, thus I paid for my pew."

Two Strides

A couple of strides in the final events of two track meets decided both contests—Tecumseh winning from Blissfield 59-30 Wednesday of last week and then losing to Adrian here Friday, 58-51.

Against the Royals, the Indians picked up eight firsts but only four seconds and two thirds to make the dual meet a close one.

Tecumseh gained its second league win when Tom Simmons came from 10 yards behind with a 53-second quarter mile in the mile relay to nip his Blissfield opponent.

Depth told the story in the Adrian loss when the Maples took seven firsts to Tecumseh's six and eight seconds to the Indian's three.

Coach Don Brazee's tracksters are about what he predicted—young, mostly sophomores and juniors, who will improve during the season and a team which could be real tough in the coming seasons.

An unusually bright spot is freshman Bill Thomas tossing the shot put in excess of 45 feet. With additional experience and training, Thomas could crack the 50-foot mark before graduating four years hence.

Another sure point getter in track meets is Danny Greene, topping the 11-foot mark in the pole valut with regularity and going over 11-8 against Blissfield.

Scorers for Tecumseh against Blissfield were:

Shot put—Thomas, first 44'4".

Broad jump—Tom Smith, first 18'2½".

Pole Vault—Greene, first 11'. 8".

120-yard high hurdles—Green (first), Smith (third). 16.5.

880-yard relay—Jim Johnson, Dave Lemerand, Tom Simmons, Eric Robison. 1:38.1.

Mile — Mike Deaner, (second) 4:53.4.

100-yard dash—Jim Johnson (first), Robison (second), 10.8.

880-yard run — Jay Osburn (third), 2:08.

440—Lemerand (first), 56.2.

180-yard low hurdles—Greene (second), 22.7.

Mile relay—Tom Clark, Phil Radant, Osburn, Simmons, 3:47.8

Adrian Meet

Shot put — Thomas (first), Steve Fretwell (third). 45'9¼".

Broad jump—Smith (second). 18'10⅛".

High jump — Robison (first), Johnson and Smith (third, tie). 5'

Pole vault — Green (first). 11'6".

120-yard high hurdles—Greene (first), Smith (second), Jim Baker (third). 16.8.

880 relay — Johnson, Lemerand, Simmons, Robison. 1:36.4.

100-yard dash—Johnson (second). 10.8.

880 run — Osburn (third). 2:04.8.

440 run — Doug Goldsberry (third). 53.5.

180-yard high hurdles—Greene (first), Smith (third). 22.5.

220-yard dash—Johnson (first), Robison (third). 24.4.

Coach Carl Hale's Hitters Improving

Tecumseh High Baseball Coach Carl Hale has some problems to work out this spring.

Taking over the local diamond team from Duncan Lectka, the new mentor discovered his ranks thin of veterans.

Only two seniors, Catcher Kent Naugle and Center Fielder Wayne Davis, turned out.

But the looks of young prospects have cheered things greatly.

Coach Hale has four freshmen playing, all hustling for regular jobs.

☆

FROSH DON BAIRD is battling Naugle for the starting backstop post. Greg Allen is working as a pitcher and infielder, Jeff Osburn gets work at second base and Ron Anderson holds down third base.

THS batsmen have started to rattle out some base hits, although the crew is still searching for its first victory after three tries, all against top Huron League teams.

Flat Rock has twice taken the measure of the Indians, 4-2, in the year's opener and 13-9 last Saturday.

In between, the Indians ran into one of the area's finest pitchers, left-handed Bob Auten of Airport.

Auten struck out 18—a school record—as the Jets hung up an easy 13-0 victory.

☆

TO DATE, first baseman Jerry Hebb and right fielder Doug Luce lead the THS hit parade, each going three for 10, for even .300 averages.

Tim Sisson looked good with the willow in the second Ram game, crashing a homer into Evans Creek in deep left field. The veteran short stop also had a single.

Hebb picked up a double and single in this contest and Lucas added two one-base blows.

Pitching is one of Coach Hale's big question marks. He has moved infielder Norman Tucker to the mound as his No. 1 man, following with Martin Vaillencourt, who also plays second base, Allen and Davis.

In the first Flat Rock tilt, Tucker went the entire seven innings, gave up five hits and fanned one.

The starting lineup is rounded out by Ken Brion in left field.

☆

REMAINDER of the schedule:

May 4 — Dundee, here for double-header starting at 2 p.m.

May 11 — at Milan

May 15 — at Blissfield

May 22 — at Ypsilanti Lincoln for double header starting at 2 p.m.

May 2 — at Grosse Ile for double header, starting at 10 a.m.

Make 'Em Laugh

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

A professional clown could be in the making at the Sevedus Maples residence at 607 Herrick Park Dr.

Stephen, 11, assisted by his sister, Catherine, 13, has twice donned the garb and make-up of a clown to entertain small children at a birthday party.

Clowns — one clown in particular — have always interested Steve and his sister. Their great uncle, Austin Trull of Waupaca, Wisc., is a source of great pride to them.

He tells them tales of his life as the safety clown, "Ozzie", touring schools in Michigan and Wisconsin in a police uniform, for the past 25 years.

It happens that Steve is interested in magic tricks and has learned to palm balloons and do a disappearing handkerchief trick and several others.

Knowing this, Mrs. Kenneth Kitson asked him if he would dress up as a clown and entertain some little people at her daughter's birthday party.

Catherine had made a clown doll for five-year-old Kay and so Steve and his mother, Janet Maples, made a polka-dot suit to exactly duplicate that of the doll, even to the little hat with a daisy.

Then the children were ready for their "business of wishing" routine.

Catherine went to the party to have charge of the games, first seating the children in a circle with the doll in the center.

She asked the little folks to wish hard that the doll would come to life while they closed their eyes.

Then wisking the doll away, she helped Steve to "magically" appear in the ring.

The children gasped in wonderment when this happened and the Maples children thrilled to their audience as they continued to entertain with simple games.

Steve behaved as another child, an extraordinarily stupid one, which delighted the tiny tots. He does not talk but toots a small horn while Catherine interprets for him and acts the part of the hostess.

Steve, as "Tooter" is made up with zinc oxide, a blue eye-shadow nose and a powder rouge zinc oxide mouth with large X'es for eyes.

So far he hasn't had his make-up copyrighted as his great uncle has done, but the time may come.

The youngsters entertained again at the Kitson home for a three-year-olds party and are now thinking up ways that they can improve their routine.

One of the additions will be a large clown to which players may pin a nose.

"Tooter" and his sister enjoyed their entrance into the entertainment world and are looking forward to more bookings for more parties.

$3 Million Up In Smoke

During the past five years, Michigan farm buildings valued at more than three million dollars have gone up in smoke from being struck by lightning. Lightning is now the number one cause of fire loss on Michigan farms.

More than 400 persons are killed and over 1,000 injured by lightning each year in the United States. Nearly all of these fatalities and injuries occur in rural areas.

The period from May through September is the most dangerous lightning season, says Richard G. Pfister, agricultural safety specialist at Michigan State University.

During the past four years more than 36 fires in August alone resulted in losses totaling over one-half million dollars.

Proper protection against lightning can save the farmer money in various ways. Besides preventing the loss of life and property, it can also reduce the cost of fire insurance on buildings.

☆

PROTECTION systems should consist of three basic parts, according to Mr. Pfister. Air terminals—more commonly known as lightning rods—are installed at high points on buildings. Typical installations are on the roof ridge, chimneys, ventilators, gables or even at the top of lone trees in a pasture.

Copper or aluminum conductors connect these lightning rods with the ground. Woven cables are the most popular conductors, Mr. Pfister advises.

Conductor cable should be fastened securely to the air terminal points and ground rods with special hardware designed for that purpose. The cable should also be fastened down with strap fasteners about every three feet.

A good ground is vitally important. At least two grounds should be used on all buildings, Mr. Pfister advises. They should be spaced at opposite ends of the building.

The ground rod should extend at least 10 feet deep and extend at least one foot from building foundations. "This will prevent damage to walls when lightning discharges from the air terminal rods to the ground," says Mr. Pfister.

☆

FARMERS WHO plan to install "lightning rod" systems should consider the following points before purchasing:

1. Look for a well-known dealer who can install a "master label" job.
2. Demand a lightning protection system which includes air terminal points, conductor and ground.
3. Avoid the "special bargains" offered by the traveling installation crew.

Dad Grabs Foul Ball at Stadium

About 40 public school sixth grade patrol boys and service squad girls attended the ball game at Briggs Stadium last week.

They were accompanied by Earl Greene, Wayne Kaiser and R. T. Gillam.

April 17 a total of 54 St. Elizabeth's service squad and safety patrol members saw the Tigers beat the Washington Senators, 9-2.

Jack Osburn accompanying the group, caught one of the balls that was being used in warm-up before the game. He gave it to daughter, Sharie, a service squad helper.

The Osburns were seated along the third base line when the ball popped up to them.

Other fathers accompanying the group were Ford Mudgett, James McKenna, Ivan Weasel, Harry Wallace, William Miller and William Walker.

Comment heard from most, "The day was too short."

Choose The Fuel That Keeps The Future In Mind Today

The future never looked brighter for the familiar blue flame—the symbol of natural gas service. It will continue in 1962, as in the past, to be the mark of excellence for home heating, cooking, water heating and clothes drying. Dependable natural gas does these important household tasks fast, economically, and efficiently.

But what are some of the new applications of this quiet, versatile fuel for the years ahead?

Progressive blue flame service now offers a new burner which can broil steak on both sides simultaneously . . . gas heating and air conditioning combination wall panels for perfect year-around climate control . . . radiant gas burners that warm patios and play areas . . . portable gas appliances such as steak grills, coffee makers and toasters . . . ornamental gas lights for driveways, patios and recreational areas whose soft yellow light also repels insects . . . gas-heated driveways that eliminate snow shoveling and hazards of ice . . . These and many more applications, both in the home and in industry, prove natural gas is the blue flame of multiple service for today's modern living.

Faulty Eating Habits in Childhood Might Be Cause of Adult Trouble

Faulty eating habits started in early childhood often are the cause of overweight adults in later life.

All too many mothers, with the best of intentions, nag and wheedle their small fry into eating more than they want to eat.

The healthy, fat baby who remains chubby as he grows into pre-school and first grade years becomes less attractive as an individual.

And the habit of eating more calories than necessary are likely to remain the rest of his life.

The parent should not be the one to decide whether the child should lose weight, how he should lose it, or whether he should continue to remain "pleasingly plump," says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association.

The doctor should be consulted.

Plenty of physical activity is needed for the child to burn up the calories, and it often is found that the overweight youngster plays less and walks less than the lean one.

☆

IF IT FITS your doctor's counsel, here are some tips to help your youngster lose weight.

► Weigh once a week and keep track of the weight. Use the same scale and wear approximately the same clothing.

► It isn't necessary to cut out all desserts and snacks, as long as their calorie count is included in the daily total. Fresh fruits are good for snacks.

► Keep a supply of raw carrots, radishes, celery sticks and pickles for more snacking. Tomato juice or clear bouillon can serve for drinks.

► Use smaller plates in serving meals, so that the portions will look larger. Encourage the family to eat slowly and really taste the food.

► Cut out rich salad dressings; instead use vinegar and lemon juice.

► Trim fat from meat, take it easy on the butter and substitute skim milk for whole milk. But be sure to get sufficient Vitamin A from fruits and vegetables.

The most important factor in helping the obese child to reduce poundage is to handle it naturally. Don't make a point of telling the child he is on a reducing diet.

Just serve the meals naturally and as a matter of course. Avoid nagging the child about his diet. It will only make him rebellious and more inclined to snack on the sly.

Maximum Profits From Minimum Tillage

Large numbers of corn growers throughout the Midwest are switching to minimum tillage. Equipment and labor savings are great with this relatively new corn production method. This cultural practice is gaining in popularity largely because of the development of excellent new chemicals for weed control.

Modern herbicides are applied at planting time and control weeds and grasses all season. Atrazine, one of the most popular herbicides for weed control in corn, has been largely responsible for the advancement of minimum tillage. The benefits from minimum tillage and atrazine application include effective weed control coupled with the conservation of soil moisture and elimination of soil compaction.

Since cultivations can be drastically reduced or even eliminated, profits go up. Labor costs are lower, and with excellent chemical weed control yields are higher. Small wonder that more and more farmers are using minimum tillage to bring about maximum corn profits. Valuable information may be obtained by writing to Geigy Agricultural Chemicals, Department WN, Saw Mill River Road, Ardsley, New York, for their free manual on weed control in corn.

Retiring Organist Honored

Mrs. Vera Jean Smith of Adrian, retiring organist at the Baptist Church, was the guest of honor recently at a farewell party held at the church. The choir and the Rev. and Mrs. B. O. Bashore had planned the party in Mrs. Smith's honor.

The group enjoyed a social hour after choir practice. Refreshments of a decorated cake and ice cream were served.

Mrs. Smith was presented a gift in appreciation for her service to the church.

Presbytery Youths Eye Vocations

Seventeen members of the Tecumseh Presbyterian Senior High Fellowship attended the United Presbyterian Spring Youth Rally in Sturgis April 29.

The program and the discussion groups were devoted to the subject of vocations. The Rev. Charles House, chaplain at Alma College, delivered the opening address.

Three discussion periods led by outstanding lay people representing several vocations followed the address.

The business meeting was conducted during the dinner at the Sturgis-Young Community Center.

Tom Dickinson was elected a vice moderator, and Janice Hall is a new council member. Both will be representing the eastern district of the new Southern Michigan Presbytery.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hyatt and Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton accompanied the group.

May 4, 5, 6, the newly-elected officer will represent the Presbytery at the U.P.Y. Synod Spring Assembly at Jackson. Mike Carney and Bruce King will be local delegates to the assembly. Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton will serve as discussion leaders.

The theme of the assembly will be "Decent Delinquents." Those attending will report at the meeting of the Senior High Fellowship on Sunday evening at the home of Karl, Ruth and Bob Wilt.

CALLING ALL MARTINS
GRAND OPENING
Brand New Apartment House
6 Units — Ultra-Modern
Ideal Location
HURRY — HURRY — HURRY

We are really most excited — this is our first experience with a martin house and our fingers are crossed that there will be lots of business. People who have martins say that if they, the birds that is, do come we should have much good looking.

Appearance-wise martins are quite handsome. Largest of the swallows, purple martins are "dark-steel-blue and black in the case of the males, duller and more grayish if they are females."

They should be pretty additions to the back-yard bird population, don't you think?

If—no, I'll practice positive-thinking and say when the birds come—their actions promise to be most interesting.

They are a friendly, congenial bunch and like to live close together in apartment houses.

Apparently they have mastered the ability of getting along with each other far better than people have, because there is little 'feudin', fussin' and fightin' in a martin colony.

☆

THEY ARE almost unsurpassed as aerialists. With a diet consisting primarily, if not exclusively, of insects, most of which are caught on the wing, it naturally follows that their prowess in the air should be something to see.

This appetite for mosquitoes, dragonflies and the like is another plus — "instant pest-controllers" are always popular.

As for the birds' vocal accomplishments, opinions vary. Some like it, others don't, but all agree that they are extremely vocal.

"When a colony is in full activity around its apartment house, swooping, fluttering, constantly coming and going, the air is filled with an amazing mixture of chirrups, squeaks, whistles, and trills, all uttered with engaging heartiness."

The above quotes, by the way, are from Robert S. Lemmon's "Our Amazing Birds." The text is charming and informal, the black and white drawings remarkably life-like and humorous).

☆

WHETHER BY accident or design, I'm not going to say, but I can keep track of our martin house by watching the TV set.

The house is set in the back yard on our north line and my bed faces south; I look out south and west windows. Still I keep track of what goes on out in back. How?

Simple enough—the face of our TV is dark and by opening the drapery which covers the window in the back door, the newly erected apartment house is reflected perfectly.

Daytime TV has improved greatly since I watch for martins instead of the usual bill-of-face.

We put the house out in back because from all we have been able to learn, martins like to live in the 'wide open spaces.' They like to glide and swoop unhampered by trees.

Well, there are trees back there but we hope they are far enough away so as not to interfere with any flight pattern.

As I write this, several reports of scout martins have been phoned in and I think I even saw one today; by the time you read this I hope the al which starts the articles is out-dated and all the apartments have been leased.

School Census

The annual Tecumseh school census will be taken May 12 through 31.

Workers will be calling at homes in the school district to count the number of children from infancy to 19 years, whether or not the children attend school.

A portion of state aid is paid on the basis of this annual census, although most of the state funds are paid on the basis of children actually attending classes.

The census is required by the Michigan Department of Public Instruction.

VOICE OF THE HERALD

Thirteen Steps

(Editor's note: There are 13 ways that people can help ruin the community in which they live, The Lapeer County Press pointed out to its readers in an editorial last week. We would like to reprint these 13 infamous steps.)

1. Don't pay taxes. Let the other fellow pay his. Vote against taxes. Then fuss because the streets are not kept up.

2. Never attend any of the meetings called for the good of the town. If you do, don't have anything to say. Wait until you get outside and then cuss those who made the suggestions. Find fault with everything that was done.

3. Get all the city will give you and don't give anything in return. Write unsigned letters to the editor demanding more for your tax money.

4. Talk cooperation, but don't do any work for your city unless you get paid for it. And by all means refuse to serve unless they make you chairman.

5. Never accept an office. It's easier to criticize than to do things. Accuse anybody who serves in an elected office of being a publicity seeker. (Or a crook).

6. Don't do any more than you have to. When others willingly and unselfishly give their time to make a town better, howl because that town is run by a clique.

7. Don't back your fire department or your police department. If the firemen work to bring the insurance rates down, tell everybody that is what they are supposed to do. Don't thank them or the policemen for endangering their lives that you might have a safer town in which to live. Demand special treatment; raise cain if anybody expects you to obey traffic and parking laws.

8. Look at every proposition in a selfish way. If you are not the one who gets the most good out of it, vote against it. Never consider what it will do for the town as a whole.

9. Don't do anything for the youth of the town. Criticize them as potential delinquents. Keep your feet on them. Encourage them to move away when they grow up.

10. If you have good town leaders, don't follow them. Take a jealous attitude and talk down everything they do.

11. Don't work on any committee. Tell them: "I'm too busy."

12. Don't say anything good about your town. Be the first to point up its shortcomings. Pretend that if trouble comes your way it will be residents of some other town who will visit you while you are ill; bring in their department if your home is burning; comfort you if you lose a dear one; stand back of you in disaster.

13. And don't support your local retail stores and industries. Claim the prices and service in other towns are better. Claim industry and its payroll hurts the town. But if you need a donation, ask your local stores and industries for it. Expect them to back you, but don't back them.

If these 13 steps don't ruin your town, it isn't your fault.

Mrs. Rice Returns from Conference

Mrs. Joe Rice, president of the Michigan unit of the National Huguenot Society, recently attended the 26th annual conference of the group.

Twenty-six states now have units in the organization, Mrs. Rice said, noting a resurgence of interest among young people in their historical backgrounds.

The Huguenots were 16th and 17th century French Protestants who were driven from France and settled in colonial America.

Michigan unit members will gather May 20 for a Day of Remembrance at services in the First Congregational Church of Ypsilanti.

Howard Pennington Takes Part in Vet's Pet Clinic

The Women's Auxiliary of the Student Chapter of the Junior American Veterinary Medical Assn. at Michigan State University have been conducting a Saturday morning pet clinic during the month of April in Lansing.

Among the MSU veterinary medical students donating their time to the clinic is Howard C. Pennington, a junior and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl K. Pennington of Britton.

His talk covered a description of the average veterinary hospital and that the children could expect to see there.

Originally, the clinic was organized to help Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts to earn their merit badges in animal care. However, the sessions have been expanded to care of the pet, description of a veterinary hospital, infectious diseases, community pet laws, first aid and emergency treatment of injured pets, and will conclude with a pet show.

Veterinary medical students at Michigan State University are donating their time conducting these classes.

The program was featured in the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Assn. and has been awarded a recognition plaque from the National Pet Assn.

Sailors Aid Orphanage in Palermo

Harold L. Underwood, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Jennings of 303 East Pottawatamie St., is serving aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Canberra, operating with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Since joining the fleet in late February, the ship has visited Cannes, France, and Palermo, Sicily.

In Palermo, the Canberra's crew discovered an orphanage badly in need of repairs in the nearby town of Monreale. For six consecutive days, volunteers from the ship worked on the orphanage—installing new window panes, repairing faulty electrical fixtures and repainting the inside walls.

As a final gesture, the crew donated enough money to buy a large washing machine for the orphanage.

Fashions Through the Years

About 80 attended the style show presented by the Future Homemakers Club at the High School Cafeteria April 6.

"Through the Years" was the theme of the revue with 20 girls modeling old fashioned styles from the year 1890 to 1957.

Forty-two girls participated in modeling clothing they had made at school or as a home experience.

Garments modeled included sport clothes, suits, afternoon dresses, skirts, blouses and party dresses.

Hostesses were Vicky Kempf and Joan Forrester. Shirley Hunt and Sharon Korth were in charge of the program.

Donna Rudd and Barbara Klught decorated the cafeteria with potted palms, yellow forsythia and a dogwood tree.

He has given away all his drawings to date.

Long & Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Baseball is still America's national sport and you can take that from 273 bright-eyed boys, 37 managers and commissioners and about 500 moms and dads around Tecumseh.

These folks make up the cast for the annual "little league" summer production.

Around here it's called Cub League because to carry the other title there is need for a franchise and other frills.

But the main thing—the fun of playing baseball — is there in its entirety.

Although the opening games don't come until the third week of June, organizational work was started by the six commissioners way back in February.

There are all sorts of details to iron out — naming managers, setting a schedule and arranging financing.

Money comes from four sources:

► Each participant pays $2 for his insurance coverage and part of his uniform.

► Candy sale by players, which will net about $500.

► Contribution from city recreation fund, $600.

► Major League sponsors, $50 each.

Balls, bats, catchers' gear and hard hats for batters really chew up the budget.

Only persons who get paid are the umpires. Everyone else working on the program donates his time — and this is considerable.

Big dates before the season opens are the player tryouts.

Two such sessions were held, the first with older boys, 11 and 12, who seek positions on the major league squads.

Managers were on hand to watch the youngsters field, throw and bat.

A week later, another tryout was staged, this time for ages 9 through 11. A few of these lads were drafted for "majors," but most were starting in the program and were selected by minor league managers for their squads.

All told, the commissioners puts 273 youngsters through their paces.

Following the last session, managers gathered at the high school and made their final player selections.

Every boy who came out was placed on a team and during the year, each boy will play in each game for at least one inning.

Winning is important, but more so is the fact that all young men wanting to perform will have an opportunity.

Watching last week's tryouts was fun.

At first glance, Ed Nelson Field seemed like Saturday afternoon at the circus.

But there was careful order through it all — even with nearly 200 energy-packed boys running, leaping and yelling.

The boys were divided into age groups and one at a time were sent to the plate to hit three or four balls. Later they donned gloves and fielder a grounder and tossed to first and caught a fly ball.

Each candidate was introduced as his turn came by Jan Kachur, who acted as announcer and drill sergeant. Managers had lists of names and they noted their reaction to the boys' performances to help in picking in the draft.

The men running this program just can't be praised too highly.

Mustn't forget the moms, who'll soon be juggling dinner schedules to conform to Junior's practice and game requirements —then more importantly to cheer the kids on.

Buying a Sunday paper downtown has been almost impossible during the strike of the Detroit dailies.

Harold Sission, distributor for most dailies, has been doing everything possible to help work out a solution.

He pleaded with the Toledo Blade folks for more Sunday copies. He got 50, could probably have used three or four times that.

This past Sunday, Harold delivered his papers to Hodges Drug Store at his regular time, but the store was a trifle late opening.

As Harold waited, eager newspaper customers arrived and Harold found himself selling for Hodges. By the time the front door opened, all the papers were gone.

In our school board story, Dike Helms was listed as board secretary. We meant Dike Hodges.

Mr. Helms called to gently chide us about the error and say that he really didn't care for the job.

Globe Pond Filling Up With Silt

By JIM LINCOLN

Council was told Monday night that unless corrective action was taken that Globe Pond as known today may soon disappear.

A letter from Ray Puffer Jr., Mrs. Joseph Rohweder and P. C. Satterthwaite reported that the pond was rapidly filling up with silt and a noticeable change had been observed during the past two years.

Mr. Puffer, who attended the meeting, said a large willow tree, blocking the original channel, has diverted the natural flow of water and is the cause for a rapidly growing delta in the pond.

Councilmen requested city officials to check the situation.

☆

IN OTHER action, Council:

► Re-appointed Mayor Harold Easton to the hospital board.

► Appointed Royal Welch as marshal of the day for the Memorial Day parade.

► Approved the 1962-'63 budget and set the local millage at 11 mills, same as the present.

► Awarded police car bid for two years to Wilson Motor Sales. Wilson's bid was $145 per car per month for Plymouths, Tecumseh Motors bid was $225 per car per month for Fords.

Schneider Bros. Garage, present lessor of cars, did not bid.

► Approved sidewalk contracts for Krieghoff-Lenawee Co. and James B. Fielder.

► Appointed Steve Illeck, Dr. C. C. Cook and Robert Hamilton to the Planning Commission.

Mr. Hamilton replaces Harold Green.

Seventy-six young singers directed by Miles Cowndey will take their audience through the day of two fueding mountain families united by the glorious spring and the marriage of two of their members.

The story, told in song and narration, will include the chorus, Madrigal Singers, Girls' Ensemble and Men's Ensemble. All will be costumed to fit the mountain-country backdrop and songs.

Musical selections will range from the opening "O What a Beautiful Morning" from "Oklahoma!" to treasured folks tunes and humorous numbers.

PICKED OFF THIRD — Jerry Hebb, Tecumseh first baseman, was picked off third base in the second inning of Friday's opening contest with Dundee. The play was close and judging from the camera angle, the base runner has a shorter distance to reach for safety than the Viking third sacker has to make the tag. MY MOTHER

She was the hallowed image, counterpart
Of all my childhood saints, the good and fair
I worshipped in my secret childlike way.
Places were lovelier for her being there,
And every place where she was wont to be
Became a shrine of love and memory.

Her innate silence had no need of speech,
For silence best revealed her; even sorrow,
In love-lit stillness, aureoled her brow.
Serene her eyes looked to the unborn morrow,
And well I know that deep beneath their tears
Lay thoughts, like diamonds, crystallized of years.

St. Peter's Restorers Organizing

Plans for incoporating or to join an estabilished historical association were studied last Wednesday night by a group of parishioners of St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

The group, interested in restoring the old church building on its present site, discussed plans with attorney James Beardsley.

The church's rector, the Rev. Frank Hawthorne, and Gibbs Barber, vestryman, told the group that they could not plan to preserve the building on its present site.

Mr. Hawthorne said the vestry had voted unanimously the previous Monday that the historical building would have to be either moved or dismantled.

Whether the vestry's decision will stand is not known. According to church law, the parish will make the decision as to the disposition of the building, erected in 1833.

Strike Stalls Project

A strike by iron workers in Toledo stalled construction work on the new Faraday, Inc. plant in Tecumseh.

Work stopped completely Tuesday when one man picketed the local job.

However, when he didn't appear Wednesday, a partial crew of masons resumed their portion of the work.

The strike involves members of the International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers, Local 55, AFL.

Much of the steel work has already been completed on the 85,000-square-feet plant.

Missing Manager Found in Arizona

George Devenney, former manager of the Tecumseh studio for WABJ, was arrested last Thursday at Prescott, Arizona, on charges of removing mortgaged property from the state of Michigan.

Thursday's discovery ended a three-month search, which at one time reportedly was centered in California.

The mortgaged property is a new automobile purchased at Wilson Motor Sales. It was not paid for.

Devenney's sudden leaving last February caused considerable talk among local people, especially merchants with whom he had done business.

At the time, he had a leading role in the Tecumseh Players' production, "You Can't Take It With You."

Tecumseh Police Chief Murell Clark and Lenawee County Sheriff Robert Stites flew to Arizona Tuesday to return Devenney to the county jail.

County prosecutor Harvey Koscelka said he would be given a hearing on his arrival. Clark and Stites are bringing him back in the car Devenney obtained at Wilson's.

Schools Enter Tax Tug

The annual tug-of-war for taxes is on in Lenawee County.

Meeting once or twice a week, the county Allocation Board is trying to determine how to distribute tax funds to the county's school districts, township and the county fund itself.

Michigan's constitution allows these local governments to tax property up to 15 mills, or $15 for each $1,000 evaluation, without a vote of the people.

☆

THE TROUBLES grew out of school consolidations.

For example, Tecumseh School District contains not only the City of Tecumseh, but parts of seven townships.

Another state law says that schools may not tax one part of their district more than another part.

Last year the county took 5.5 mills, several townships took one-half mill each, and the school district took the remaining 9 mills.

This year, Adrian and Clinton Townships have asked for a full mill.

Tecumseh School District's total evaluation is about $35,000,000. Of this, land in Adrian Township totals $42,375 and Clinton property totals $372,182.

So although the two townships contain less than 2 per cent of the school district's wealth, they could cut a half-mill from school tax collections in the entire district.

☆

ADRIAN TOWNSHIP would gain only $21.18 from the half mill in the area Tecumseh School District covers, and Clinton Township would gain only $186.09.

Thus the school district stands to lose $17,465.55.

This would erase part of the advantage gained when district voters passed the millage increase last year.

School and county officials are trying to work around this problem, so the school district won't be out so much money. Milton Porter, Lenawee County superintendent of schools, commented that "It seems unfair for a small area in one or two townships to control the millage for a large area."

The Tax Allocation Board will be meeting once or twice a week to try to settle these difficulties.

Youths To Tour Europe

Robert Bonner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Bonner, of 800 Rogers Highway, is one of the 71 area youths recently selected to take part in the fifth annual Michigan Chorale tour.

Bob, a senior at Tecumseh High School, has been active in school music affairs as a member of both the high school chorus and Madrigal Singers. He also sings in the Methodist Church choir.

An active participant in the Methodist Youth Fellowship, Bob is now acting president of the group.

Next September, Bob plans to enter Florida Southern College at Lakeland, where he plans to study architecture. He intends to finish his studies at the University of Michigan.

Rehearsals for the concert tour are held each Saturday evening in Ann Arbor. Director Lester McCoy, who is also conductor of the University Musical Society and minister of music at Ann Arbor First Methodist Church, said the group will present a few performances in the area before departure June 20 for an eight-week European tour.

The tour, sponsored by the Youth for Understanding, Teen-Age Exchange Program of the Michigan Council of Churches, will include concerts in England, Ireland, Germany and Holland.

The students will also visit Berlin if conditions permit it at the time.

The Michigan Chorale is a mixed ensemble of high school seniors from southern Michigan. Its members have been chosen on the basis of vocal talent, scholarship and leadership ability.

The Chorale sings all types of music including great works of the classical, romantic and contemporarary periods. Many works by American composers and American folk material are included in the repertoire. The Chorale is preparing for both formal and informal programs.

The purpose of the Chorale is to interpret America to the peoples of other countries through American music. It gives talented young singers an opportunity to sing as a part of an excellent ensemble, thus gaining valuable training and experience.

In addition, the Youth for Understanding Program sponsors a direct exchange for students between Western Europe and Michigan. This program is in cooperation with the International Educational Exchange of the Department of State.

VFW Will Give Flag to Scouts

Members of the Hall-Slater Post of the VFW voted to present a new flag with pole and stand to Cub Scout Pack 4, which meets at St. Elizabeth School.

The VFW Sixth District Rally was held in Lansing Sunday with an election of new officers and a school of instruction.

Those from Tecumseh attending the school were Joe Laslo, quartermaster, Lee Coffey, quartermaster sergeant and Lloyd Stites, commander.

Mr. Coffey and Mr. Stites were appointed Deputy Inspectors.

Others attending the Rally were Ray Marsh, Dick Perry, Dick Eisenminger, Dick Butler, Harley Slick and George Downard.

Jens Touberg and Virgil Tucker have not indicated they will be candidates in June, when their four-year terms expire.

Candidates whose petitions had been filed early this week were Wilmer Kiser, William Frownfelder, Robert H. Moore, James Records and Wesley Whelan.

Petitions still were out for Walter Weimer, Allen Russell, Bernard Bishop and Gene Mackey.

Weed Conrol In Wet Cornfields

How to get weed control when fields are too wet for cultivation has long been a problem for every farmer who plants corn. However, today, thanks to science, there is a way. Throughout the Midwest new weed control chemicals are taking over the job of keeping weeds out of corn. These herbicides are applied once, at the time corn is planted, and provide weed control throughout the growing season, whether or not fields are too wet to cultivate.

As the result of modernized weed control practices, the farmer derives many other extra benefits as well. Authorities report that farmers using herbicides such as Atrazine or Simazine have more free time for making quality hay at the peak of nutritive value, planting soybeans, or doing other farm work that should be done on time, but in the past has been delayed when time for first cultivation arrived. Yields are higher with modern weed control methods, and the extra bushels more than pay for the cost of materials and application.

Based upon performance and use in midwest corn areas for several years, modern weed killers are here to stay. With weed control now being taken care of chemically, a rainy day is just like any other day when it comes to keeping weeds out of corn. In fact, modern herbicides are referred to by some experts as a kind of wet weather "insurance"—or at least as close to insurance as you can get. More information on chemical weed control in corn may be obtained by writing Geigy Agricultural Chemicals, Department WN, Saw Mill River Road, Ardsley, New York.

Memoriam

In cherished memory of Mary P. Jones who left us three years ago May 12, 1959.

So many things have happened,
Since you were called away
So many things to share with you,
Had you been left to stay.
We cannot bring the old days back
Your hand we cannot touch
But we have pleasant memories
Of the Mother we loved so much.

Sadly missed by her husband John, son John Paul and family, daughter Lee Horton and family.

Boys' Club Fancies Pigeons

The Flying Dare Devil Club is for the birds — including plain but hard-working homing pigeons and the easy-living "fancy breeds."

The club started with the hobby of William Beckey of 412 E. Logan St. He passed the hobby on to his son, Larry, when the boy was in the early elementary grades.

Now Larry is 12, and the hobby has spread to include some 20 boys ranging in age from 10 years to high school age.

The Beckeys started with homing pigeons. But they moved to a new home, and that ended the pigeons' racing days. Once trained to "home" on a certain nest, they cannot be retrained to a new site, Larry commented sadly.

"We sold them to a man to use for raising young pigeons, but they would never be able to be used for racing again."

☆

LARRY likes the excitement of racing pigeons, but the fancy pigeons can move with the owner.

Also, since racing pigeons is strictly a warm-weather activity, many of the club members switched to the show birds, which can give them pleasure the year around. The club is split about in half now between the show and racing pigeons.

"I found that some of the younger boys were afraid of losing their pigeons in a race," Mr. Beckey said. "There is some danger that the pigeon will be shot, get lost in a storm or become the victim of a hawk."

Homing pigeons are, however, safer at home. They tend to stay off the ground and do not stray from their lofts. The show birds are more susceptible to prowling cats, and often fly away, he added.

Training flights begin about two miles from the lofts. The distance is gradually increased.

The Dare Devils entered two races last year, traveling to Ft. Wayne, Ind., and to Louisville, Ky., to release the birds. Each pigeon wears a band with the number of the club, and the owner's number imprinted. When released in a race, the bird also gets a leg band with the time of release, so that elapsed time can be calculated when it returns home.

☆

THE PIGEON learns to respond to a signal from its owner, which may be a whistle, clap or the rattle of a stone in a tin can. The signal is designed to get the pigeon back to the loft as soon as possible after its arrival.

"Seconds can mean a lot in a race," Mr. Beckey said, "and a pigeon perched atop a loft out of reach, preening its feathers, is wasting precious moments."

The club has lost several members since it started, and is adding new ones regularly as the hobby spreads.

Mr. Beckey, whose hobby started when he met fellow workers at Tecumseh Products Co. who were pigeon enthusiasts, aids the boys in their studies of pigeon racing and care. He also is a member of an adult club in Adrian.

BRITTON — Britton High School Future Farmers of America placed second in the 10th annual Lenawee Land Judging Field Day.

The judging was done last week on the farm of Clinton Greenwald in Adrian Township.

Winner of the event was the Hudson High School FFA Chapter, with 503 points out of a possible 900.

Britton's team total was 481. Phil Benedict was individual high scorer with 191, followed by Russ Lutton, 146, and Richard White with 144 points.

Sand Creek High School had a total of 425 to place third.

Onsted High School followed closely with a total of 423.

Don Gust, Ottawa Lake, chairman of the Lenawee Soil Conservation District, sponsoring the event, announced that cash prizes of $10 and $5 would be awarded the first and second place winning FFA Chapters. "Seventy-five boys participated in the event," Mr. Gust said, "and by their preliminary work for the event received from their vocation agriculture instructor information and knowledge which will serve them well not only as farmers but as citizens of a community with its roots in the soil."

Technical services in preparing the judging sites were provided by Woodrow Barclay, USDA Soil Conservation Service, and Norman Bless, agricultural extension agent.

Secure in LOVE

Kathy is secure in her mother's love. Trust and peace gleam in her eyes. Happiness and hope shine in her face.

But Kathy has her heartaches. She falls and skins her knee. Or she loses her favorite dolly. And then her eyes are flooded with tears.

Mommy is always there to help. The knee is bandaged and kissed. The dolly is found. As Mommy's arm slips around Kathy, the tears are dried.

Kathy is secure in her mother's love.

When Kathy grows older her mother will not be able to love away the adult heartaches. But Kathy can turn to God. Her mother's love is but an echo of the Heavenly Father's love for His children.

In faith and prayer, Kathy can find His all-sufficient help and feel beneath her His Everlasting Arms.

The Church guides you to God. You can discover your destiny as His child. You can be secure in divine love.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Symbolic Bridge Marks Brownie "Fly-Up" Rite

A symbolic bridge decorated with yellow roses spanned the distance to intermediate Girl Scouting for 51 Brownies in investiture ceremonies last week.

Mrs. Robert D. Moore was chairman of the ceremony.

Those from the Tecumseh area can find the farm by driving two miles east of Britton on M-50, turning south on Rixom Highway two miles to the corner of Sutton Rd.

Planned by the Crops, Soils and Agricultural Engineering Departments of Michigan State University, the field day is to demonstrate the principles of minimum tillage, including methods of seed bed preparation, planting, fertilizer application and placement, and the application of chemical weed control materials. Forty acres of corn will be planted in the day's program.

Demonstrations of many types of machinery and field practices will be interspersed with short talks by outstanding agricultural speakers.

Farm machinery dealers and distributors, fertilizer companies, chemical suppliers, fuel and oil suppliers and many others will cooperate in conducting the field day.

Methodist Theme Is Mothers

"One of the most inspiring days of the church year is Mother's Day, an opportunity to express our love and appreciation to those who gave us life."

"Words can never truly express our deeper feelings, but we try in many different ways to let our mothers know we love them," said the Rev. Allen Wittrup.

At First Methodist Church in the 10 a.m. worship, May 13, the Rev. Mr. Wittrup will speak on "Mother of Mine."

The largest family present, the eldest, and youngest mother will be given potted plants. Also each mother present in the service will receive a flower from the church.

The church school meets at 11:15 a.m.

Saturday, May 12, will be the Mother-Son Banquet in the Church Social Hall at 6:30. Mrs. Erwin Buss is in charge of tickets.

Creation Is Theme

The perfect nature of spiritual creation will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Dundee Takes Two from Indians

Tecumseh High's baseball team is still looking for win No. 1.

The Indians face Milan Friday on the Big Reds' diamond.

Dundee swept past Coach Carl Hale's Indians twice on Friday in the first double-header of the season.

In the opener, the Vikings posted a 5-3 win and they took a 5-2 decision in the night cap.

Tecumseh managed to get runners on base, but couldn't seem to get them across the plate.

In the twin bill, the Indians left 18 stranded.

Dundee's Herman Kruse pitched the first game, allowing five hits — two by Jerry Hebb — and striking out eight Indians.

Wayne Davis went all the way for Tecumseh, allowed eight safe blows and fanned four.

The second game went five innings, with Viking Chuck Ellison getting the decision on a three-hitter.

Norm Tucker hurled for Tecumseh, suffering his fourth loss despite the fact that Dundee only had two hits.

HERALD PHOTOS

FIRES FIVE-HITTER—Herman Kruse, Dundee Hig h School pitcher, pours in a pitch to Mark Vaillencourt, Tecumseh third baseman in the open ing game of Friday's double header. Mother of 16 Encouraged Special Day

Mothers' Day wasn't yet a holiday when Mrs. Walter Keller was caring for her 16 children. But it was women like her who encouraged this special day to honor the nation's mothers.

Mrs. Keller was the grandmother of Mrs. Robert Hunt of Tecumseh. Her memory was honored by a poem written by Mrs. Theodore Kagels of Newfane, N.Y., Mrs. Hunt's aunt. It was published first in a church book, then in a Buffalo, N. Y., paper.

MOM MINDED

Many are the happy memories
Of my mother kind and true,
Who has gone to be with Jesus
Whom she loved sincerely, too.

How I praise Him for His guidance
Of my mother, day by day—
Strengthening and sustaining her
As she trusted in His way.

So that she could guide her children,
In that straight and upward way.
And I'm sure she'll be rewarded
On that great future day.

Mother loved to read her Bible
When family cares were rife.
She would lay aside her duties
Just to read the Word of life.

God gave her 16 children
And he blessed us every one.
We were taught to love each other
When our lives had just begun.

I remember how we gathered
'Round the organ every night
And sang praises to our Savior,
With an oil lamp for a light.

All we children sang together
With our mother and our dad;
Taking all those gifts for granted,
Makes me now a little sad.

Precious mother up in Heaven;
Beautiful memories of days gone by,
Always will be remembered
Until we meet with her on high.

So I praise the Lord every morning
For the mother that I had—
And a Christian home to live in,
With her and a wonderful dad.

Day Scholarships Given

Larry Harper and Tom Dickinson, both first chair juniors in the senior high school band, were selected April 23 to be recipients of the David Day Scholarship.

Larry will go to Interlochen Music Camp with the scholarship paying two thirds of the total cost. Tom will attend Michigan State University summer music school with the scholarship handling two thirds of the living and private lesson expense, not to exceed $65.

Sherry Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Harper, has been chosen an alternate if for any reason Tom is unable to attend.

Sherry plays first chair flute in the Junior Band.

Larry plays cornet and Tom, clarinet.

David Day, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Day, was a student at Tecumseh High School and a band member. He died last November after an accidental fall from the top of a grain elevator.

The scholarship fund is a memorial to him.

Jim Elliott, chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Wing, Mrs. Charles Sinkey, Miles Cowdrey and Don Johnson were the committee making the selection from the try-outs.

Tom and Larry are both in their seventh year of band, both play in the German Band and the Dance Band.

Both have been asked to participate in the Adrian College sponsored "Honors Band". This will necessitate an all day rehearsal May 12 for the concert in the afternoon of May 13.

Members of the Neville Hart Chapter of the Honors Society, the boys both placed in the all-county band this year; Larry, fifth chair cornet and Tom, third among 44 clarinets to fill 20 chairs.

Larry was a member of the all-county band in 1961 and the honors band in 1960. He received second and third division ratings in solo and ensemble in the district the past two years.

He is especially interested in the compositions of Herbert L. Clark and used two of his numbers for his solo and ensemble work. He is presently working on Clark's "Carnival of Venice."

He said, "Each new sheet of music presents a challenge to master it and get the feeling of the whole piece. To comprehend what the composer was trying to bring forth is quite a challenge."

The young musician is president of the band, a member of the 1963 annual staff, and the Methodist Church Choir.

Tom Dickinson is acting president of the Junior Class and moderator of the Senior High Fellowship of the Presbyterian Church.

Tom said, "Music is a challenge, pleasure and source of relaxation, it means a great deal to me."

DAVID DAY SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS — Larr y Harper, cornet, and Tom Dickinson, clarinet, will attend music camps this summer on the scholarship plan which is a memorial to David Day. Sherry Harper, flute, has been selected as an alternate. Larry plans to attend Interlochen, Tom, Michigan State University.

Den 2 as a space band, complete with costume, sang an appropriate song accompanied by Michael House at the piano.

Square Dancers Swing

Saturday, May 12, the local square dance club, The Swinging 8's, will dance to the calls of the regular caller, Bonnie Mattis of Adrian and a guest caller, Glen LeFevre of Toledo.

Dancing will begin at 8 p.m. and continue until 11:30 with a break for refreshments at the Tecumseh Community Center.

Members invite all western style square dancers to join the fun.

Mrs. James Barton, one of the members, expressed her appreciation for the club Monday. She said,

"This is one place that we can go where there is absolutely no drinking except coffee. Western dancers need to have their wits about them. It seems to be an unwritten rule for wherever we go to dance with other groups we find it the same. Just good fun."

The group recently elected officers:

President — Bill Brown

Vice President — Ollie Musch

Secretary and Treasurer — Marge and Les Fogelsong

May 2 a class of beginners were graduated and received diplomas.

They invited the Swinging 8's to dance with them that evening and many new acquaintances were made.

The State Police will again observe Michigan Week by holding open house on "Hospitality Day" Tuesday, May 22, at all posts, according to Sgt. Carl Anderson, commanding officer of the Clinton post.

Visiting hours at the Clinton post will be from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. A special welcome is extended to the public to examine the equipment and facilities and find out how the department operates. Visitors will be escorted by officers.

"Visitors are always welcome at the post, but open house provides a special opportunity to find out what we have and how we operate," said Sgt. Anderson. "They will learn how a post functions and about the services we perform. Questions are invited and there will be an exhibit.

"To those who may not know the location, the Clinton post is situated at east city limits of Clinton on US-12 and is easily identified. We'll be waiting to see you."

Dedication Is Friday

Boysville's new dining hall will be dedicated Friday, May 11.

Archbishop John Francis Dearden, of the Archdiocese of Detroit, will officiate at the 2 p.m. ceremony, to which the public is invited.

The $165,000 structure also will be a bright spot in Boysville's annual open house, planned May 20 this year.

Built to accomodate 240 boys and 24 faculty members, the dining hall was financed by a group of men known as "Cardinal Mooney's Committee of 100."

Each year Boysville sends a special invitation to its neighbors in the Macon vicinity and elsewhere in the county to attend an open house.

In its 14-year life span, Boysville has grown to a fully accredited high school. It accepts only baptized Catholic boys born in Michigan, and is operated by the Brothers of Holy Cross from Notre Dame, Ind. Enrollment has grown from 15 in 1948 to the present 172.

When opened, the 130-acre campus had only four old frame buildings, including an abandoned sawmill. Today there are three dormitories, classroom building, chapel, shop building, garage, dining hall, infirmary, gymnasium, recreation hall, power plant and water tower.

The Knights of Columbus of Michigan contribute most of Boysville's operating funds, last year giving $150,000. Funds also come from tuition and other donations.

Boysville is on Clinton-Macon Rd. east of Macon.

Tecumseh's honor students include Joan M. Kempf and Ronald G. Johnson, seniors; Nancy A. Day, junior, and Jean A. Hoag, freshman.

Britton's honor winner is Connie J. Kahle, a senior. Honored from Clinton are Joyce M. Nortley, senior; Evelyn J. Heimerdinger, junior, and Lassie M. Slusher, sophomore.

Marston Bates, professor of zoology at the University of Michigan, delivered the John M. Munson address at the ceremonies. His subject was "Man in Nature."

Prof. Bates has achieved wide recognition as an author. His many books include the popular "Forest and the Sea" which won the 1960 Writing Award of Phi Beta Kappa.

Prof. Bates' appearance marks the 14th year that the annual Honors Convocation address has been given under the auspices of the John M. Munson Lecture Fund. Dr. Munson was president of Eastern Michigan University from 1938 to 1948.

The Reverend Robert P. Ward of the First Methodist Church, Ypsilanti, presented the invocation and benediction at the ceremonies presided over by Pres. Eugene B. Elliott.

FOOD SEEMS TO IMPROVE JUST BECAU SE OF THE NEW, BRIGHT SURROUNDINGS

Park Tags Coming Unglued

If you bought a 1962 parks entrance permit that won't stick to your windshield, the Conservation Department has good news for you.

Later this month, possibly by the third week, you will be able to replace your permit at no cost by presenting it at any state park or recreation area where permits are sold.

Some 2,000 of Michigan's hunting and fishing license dealers will have new permits to sell, but they will not be set up to make replacements.

☆

Approximately 20,000 permits have already been sold and most, if not all of them, may need to be replaced because of a glue defect discovered recently.

A new order of permits is now being run off by the vendor at no charge to the Department. Their color is changed from green to orange.

Green permits will be honored at all state parks and recreation areas during the 1962 season, provided they are sticking to windshields with their own adhesive.

NOTICE

The City of Tecumseh is declaring the week beginning May 14th and continuing through May 19th as clean up week. All material to be picked up must be placed between the curb and sidewalk. Do not place things in the gutter. We notice that people have been raking their leaves into the gutter. We have an ordinance that prevents this practice. Leaves should be placed in boxes or barrels and placed between the curb and the sidewalk.

We will appreciate your cooperation in this matter.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

NOT A BAD DAY

When the weather starts turning warm and everything begins to grow, each day is exciting. Occasionally, however, a day comes along which is better than most, a real red-letter day from dawn 'til dark. Such a day was Friday, April 27. It was a wonderful day and, in the true sense of the word, full of wonder.

It was unusual right from the start — any day which finds me awake at the crack of dawn is unusual. What a beautiful chorus was performing, every bird around was in fine, and loud, voice. Papa and Mama Cardinal had lead parts of course, and their clear whistles filled the air. Tiny wrens contributed all sorts of vocal gymnastics and the other singers blended together perfectly. If one must awaken so early, it is pleasant to be greeted with such a day-welcoming serenade.

About 7 a.m., when the drapes were whisked open, my eyes received the treat — what a beautiful day! The sun was shining brightly in a clear blue sky and overnight the leaves had simply popped. All the trees in our window-pictures were wrapped in wispy veils of tiny green leaves.

☆

MOM HAD the fun of seeing the first new bird of the day — in fact, there were three of them hopping about the side yard. Three weeks overdue, the pretty white-throated sparrows were finally here. As if to apologize for their lateness, the two males repeatedly came close and stood still long enough for us to see their bright yellow facial markings. At long last we had white-throats and there was no question about whether they were white throats or white-crowns.

Just after sitting up I spotted a minute gleam of yellow and, sure enough, a yellow warbler. Before we finished marveling at his color and how fast he flitted from leaf cluster to leaf-cluster, something else caught our eye. There, furiously banging away at the "wren tree," was our old friend, the yellow-bellied sapsucker. His red hat glistened in the sunlight but even on such a beautiful day he looked cross and cantankerous.

☆

THE MORNING passed quickly even though it was long because of the 5 a.m. start. Four blue jays kept things lively; eight juncos, for some reason reluctant to give up their winter residence, shared with the white-throats scratch-feed thrown on the ground, and Mrs. Cardinal, hungry from so much early vocalizing, nibbled sunflower seeds.

After a short noon-time rest I was sitting up again by 1 p.m. and what a surprise! All morning the flowers had been beautiful —tulips, daffodils, hyacinths and prettiest of all, the forsythia. These bushes had seemingly exploded into big mounds of bright gold. In just the few minutes I was resting, however, Gertrudes magnolia tree played the trick of the day. It burst into full bloom —a gorgeous sight.

The newly green lawns were full of robins, of course. They are so very, very busy these days. The golden shafted flickers were busy too. One pair seemed very interested in a tree on the creek-bank. Wouldn't it be nice if they were househunting? Ida spotted the bird which proved a fitting climax for a wonder-filled day. Handsome, elegant Lord Baltimore Oriole!

So it is that, making perhaps the understatement of the year, I say "Friday, April 27, was not a bad day."

Cattle Profits Shown

Lenawee County's cattlemen recently learned several ways to make their operation more profitable.

As part of the annual county spring cattle tour, the Michigan Livestock Improvement Association showed for the first time a refrigerated trailer display of meat carcasses.

The display coincides with a new system of beef grading which goes into effect July 1 on an optional basis. In addition to the usual US Department of Agriculture grades of prime, choice, good, standard commercial, utility and cutter and canner, beeves now can be judged on a six-part scale according to the yield in percentage of trimmed retail cuts.

The USDA claims the new system will offer higher pay for quality beef.

The tour covered the farms of Jack Raymond, Max and Rex Ulrich, Harold and Roger Wolf, Curtis Spear and Eugene Day.

Some 350 cattle raisers, meat handlers, extension leaders and businessmen took part in the tour, and the annual dinner in Blissfield High School attracted 425.

VOICE OF THE HERALD

Ill Wind Blows Here

The proverbial "ill wind which blows no good" blew into Tecumseh last week. Traces of its ravages still are visible in uprooted trees, shattered billboards and ravaged buildings.

It was the most damaging blow in recent history.

Some of the damage was, however, not visible.

It was the effect on the city's children.

Any teacher can tell you that children are affected by the unstable weather. Mothers have the same problem, but on a smaller scale a classroom with 35 children will pass the nervousness from child to child.

Last Monday's trouble was increased because children who listened to the tornado warnings on lunchtime weather broadcasts were more upset than usual.

The same effect could be noticed wherever groups of adults gathered, whether in office or factory.

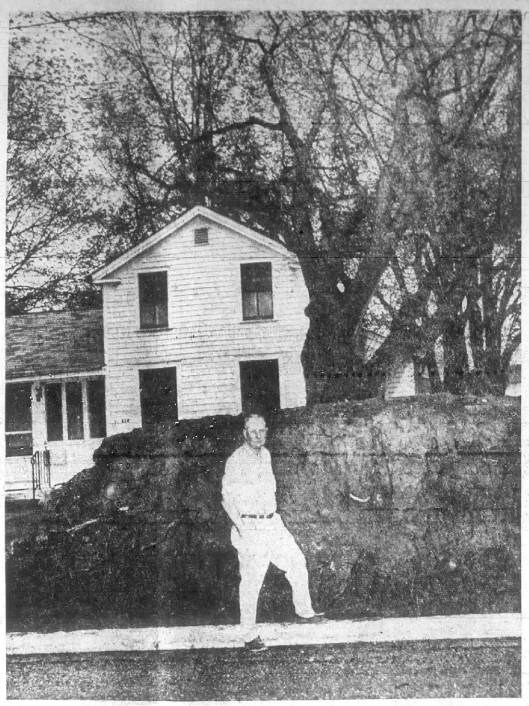
How many working hours were lost while workers kept a nervous eye on the sky, and how much did efficiency drop because of the forecast?

The US Weather Bureau has done wonders to cut the toll of injuries to people and property through its storm forecasts in coastal and tornado-prone areas.

Since the tornadoes of the mid-1950s southern Michigan has been more touchy than previously about bad weather. The Weather Bureau has made several changes in its forecasting reports, to be more specific about whether tornadoes actually are being forecast, whether the tornado is just a possibility, or whether the forecast is only "severe weather."

Usually, the forecast produces nothing more than a strong breeze, a few clouds and some very nervous sky-watchers.

But once in a while like last Monday, the forecaster predicts a truly ill wind.



CHAUNCEY HARRISON'S TOPPLED TREE NOW IS A DISPOSAL PROBLEM

Science Teacher Receives Aid

Peter Kalom of the Tecumseh High School was to attend a lecture-demonstration program of two new science education teaching devices at Eastern Michigan University Thursday, May 10 with high school physics teachers from three other counties.

Hosted by Eastern Michigan University and sponsored by General Telephone Co. of Michigan and Michigan Bell Telephone Co., the meeting illustrated the classroom uses of a mechanical wave machine and a science experiment kit that can convert light energy into sound.

Jackson, Lenawee, Monroe and Washtenaw counties were represented.

The wave machine, invented by Dr. John N. Shive, director of training for Bell Telephone Laboratories, is the first ever to demonstrate visually many aspects of wave behavior. This teaching aid package included the wave machine, a lecture to use in demonstrating the machine, a film in which Dr. Shive demonstrates the machine, and teacher's and student's guides.

The second package, titled "Sun to Sound," contained materials and information necessary for the student to learn about, design, and construct a solar-powered, transistor audio-oscillator similar to those used in space probes. The kit was given a professional evaluation by Dr. Walter Gessert of the Eastern Michigan University science department.

Each teacher attending was given a kit for classroom use.

Auxiliary Honors Graduates

New officers had charge of the meeting of the VFW Auxiliary May 2 when members voted to give $5 to the local Cancer Drive.

American flags were presented to the Tipton Girl Scout and Brownie troops.

A report of sending graduation gifts to 11 VFW National Home boys and girls was read. This is the most graduates the home has ever had.

The VFW Auxiliary poppy sale will be held May 18 and 19.

Three delegates to the Department Convention at Sault Ste. Marie June 20-24 will be Mrs. Joseph Laslo, Mrs. Gaza Kish and Mrs. Lloyd Stites.

Languages Made Easier

(Editor's Note: This is another in the series of articles outlining the courses offered and the methods of study used in the Tecumseh Public School District.)

During the last three years, the teaching of languages has undergone a revolution as great as that of science or mathematics.

Traditionally, the objectives have been reading, writing, understanding and speaking, together with as much cultural background as time permits.

It is not the objectives themselves that have changed, but their order and emphasis.

Results have been too successful to ignore this new approach.

☆

SINCE World War II, when highly successful programs were instituted for military personnel, the government has sponsored research which has gradually developed new techniques and materials, based on the latest knowledge of linguistic science.

The order of learning a language advocated is: understanding, speaking, reading, writing.

Language is, first of all, communication, and composed of a series of patterns which may be separated, joined, inserted, etc. Language is the result of conditioned response and learning it, therefore, means endless and varied repetition.

It was found for example that a word had to be repeated some 30 times before it became fixed in the learner's mind.

☆

OBVIOUSLY, repetition of this type on an individual basis in a class has not been possible in the past. The language laboratory makes the dream come true.

Through the generosity of a farsighted donor, Tecumseh will have a language laboratory installed this spring. Its advantages are many.

For example, it provides active simultaneous participation of all students and it gives them a reassuring sense of privacy and an encouragement to greater concentration, through use of individual sound booths and special recordings.

Through it, models of a variety of authentic native voices can be heard. Guidance is available in individual study situations and students with long absences can proceed where they left off.

Twenty minutes daily are spent by each class in the laboratory, and for the rest of the hour, the class goes to another room to use creatively the patterns practiced.

☆

DURING the entire hour, the teacher is in charge, and has the responsibility of coordinating and integrating laboratory practice with classroom activities.

By itself the laboratory performs no miracles. It only helps the teacher to develop the skill of communication by offering material for listening and repetition on an individual basis.

Although some minor problems remain to be solved, the acceptance of this new concept of language teaching has been general and enthusiastic. Many tests have proved its success.

The new emphasis — listening, speaking, reading, writing — has produced students who use the new language more effectively.

☆

TECUMSEH High School expects to use this new approach in the near future for the teaching of French and Spanish.

Two years of each are given now and three years are planned for the future.

At present one year of Latin is being taught, with two years as a future goal. The teaching of Latin continues with its traditional aims of translation, background of Roman life, grammar relationships and word study.

The language laboratory will be used occasionally by this group for drills and cultural background.

Esther Circle

BRITTON—The Esther circle met at the home of Mrs. Eldeen Rhoades of Clinton. The members answered roll call with a verse. Mrs. Melvin Schroeder was in charge of the meeting.

Refreshments for the Guild meeting were decided and the rest of the evening was spent sewing on projects.

The chairman handed out new yearbooks to the group.

Cubs Make Music

The sound of music was heard in every corner of St. Elizabeth School auditorium as the Cub Scouts of Pack 4 met for their last meeting.

After the opening ceremony by Den 3, the theme of the month, Cub Scout Troubadours, was carried out.

Seated around a glowing campfire, the Cubs of Den 9 sang and played cowboy songs, some of the cowboys playing regular band instruments and others using ones they had made at den meetings.

Dens 6 and 7 presented a minstrel show and Den 1 sang and enacted "Barnacle Bill the Sailor."

A hillbilly band, complete with homemade instruments which included a bass viol made from a wash tub, was presented by Dens 3 and 10. A barber shop quartet from Den 4 sang a song.

Den 5, dressed as flappers and dapper gentlemen, depicted the age of the Roaring 20's by doing the Charleston.

Den 2's Space Rhythm Band played a selection followed by the medieval troubadours of Den 14, who, dressed as knights, pursued the favor of a lovely lady.

Several of the cub scouts gave piano and instrumental solos and received the enthusiastic applause of the pack.

Mike Tilton received his Bobcat Badge and was welcomed into the Pack by Cubmaster Robert Laidlaw, who also introduced the newly-formed Webelos of Pack 4 and their leader, Charles Allen.

Dean Keeler, pack awards chairman, was accorded a round of applause for obtaining the awards for the cub scouts.

Long & Short

By TOM RIORDAN

If the Husbands Union, Tecumseh Local No. 41, is going to give a 1962 award, I have a candidate.

He's Neville Hart.

His achievement? A front lawn that is the dream of any hubby who treasures his spare time — by loafing not puttering.

Neville tore out his turf and in its place has the most beautiful crushed stone "lawn" you can imagine.

Take a look, you jealous fellows, at the Hart break-through of tradition, 115 W. Brown St.

☆

If JFK seems to be screaming oh-so-loudly about the need for his terrific medical aid for the aged legislation, there's a reason.

He doesn't want to give a soul the chance to mention, within his hearing, the three magic words — Billie Sol Estes.

☆

We got the word Tuesday.

The Herald building is going to be painted and new front doors installed.

Ray Weatherman, our landlord and former auto dealer here who now sells cars in Toledo, told us the bewitching date is June 9.

After the remodel job, customers will probably battle to get in our front door with classified ads, to buy scratch pads and order printing.

Say, have you tried one of those 15-word giants — a classified — for just 60c. Our want ad page is growing. You should join the fun.

☆

When the curtains opened on the first act of "Ten Little Indians" last week, the audience applauded.

Their enthusiasm was a sincere tribute to the show's setting, done so capably by Russ Steinke.

A lot more hand claps came before the evening was over in one of the Tecumseh Players' finest productions.

At one point, Bill Sanford, as elderly General MacKenzie, gave a superb performance as he confessed sending his wife's young lover to his death in the war.

This drew a tremendous burst of applause.

☆

They call a baseball team from Los Angeles the Angels.

Apparently, one sports writer from that city who follows the club, has some characteristics of an opposite breed.

This fellow, Jim Murray by name, was a recent weekend guest in Tecumseh. He writes for the Los Angeles Mirror and one of his assignments is to cover Angel baseball.

With the Los Angeles club engaging the Tigers at Briggs Stadium in a series, Mr. Murray took the opportunity to visit in-laws here. He's married to the former Gerry Brown, a Tecumseh girl.

Out of his brief stay comes a column in the Mirror, mainly about Jim Smith, local architect who is national sail plane champion.

But writer Murray, who twists a phrase beautifully, gets in a couple of tangy paragraphs about the town.

Let me quote:

"Here in this little town in a backwater of rural Michigan which makes so many refrigerator compressors that if it shut down tomorrow we'd be out of ice cubes by Labor Day, lives of all things, the champion sailplane pilot of the U.S.

"The presence of Andrew James 'Jim' Smith in this community where the opportunities in his field, architecture, would seem to be limited to refrigeration coil castings is puzzling and he admits it.

"He is considered eccentric by people he grew up with even though the evidence is he may merely be brilliant.

"He has fought with town fathers to bring about architectural improvements which seem to them to be radical — although looking around, you would have to say even that would be preferable.

"It is a town which moves through alleys and backdoors and only strangers come in the street entrance.

"The one bank Smith designed in midtown with white circular lattice-work would look as normal as sunlight on Wilshire Blvd., but here it looks like a white lace mantilla in a pile of dirty overalls.

"The architecture otherwise is Ugly American and Jim Smith is afraid it will stay that way.

"Either Tecumseh has to change or Jim Smith and neither is very likely," chides the west coast scribe.

Mr. Murray then goes on to tell, almost poetically, about the sport of sailplaning.

But these are the real choice tidbits of the piece. What do you think of it?

Post Office Project

Re-Opens with 'Bang'

After nearly three years of inactivity, the new Tecumseh post office project is getting underway.

City Council, in a special session Monday evening, agreed to sell outright the proposed post office site across from city hall in Adams Park.

Council's action came following a rash of telephone calls Monday afternoon from a Detroit post office official.

Until now, Council understood that the post office department was willing to make a trade in property—the new site for government-owned land behind Adrian Federal Savings.

The S. Pearl St. property, which is now a city off-street parking lot, was at one time to be used for a new Tecumseh post office.

Three years ago, this thinking was changed and Adams Park, owned by the city, was designated for the building.

The areas are similar in size and city fathers proposed an even-up swap.

This seemed fine with the government.

However, the project stalled dead center.

☆

MONDAY'S three phone calls from J. Jehowski, who is in the post office's real estate section located in Detroit, got things going again in a hurry.

Mr. Jehowski wanted to know if the city would forget the trade and sell its property. He explained that the S. Pearl St. lot would later be put up at public auction by General Services Administration.

Councilmen agreed that this would get the new post office the quickest. Since the parking lot is set up for this use in the Master Plan, they could gamble on eventually gaining title to it.

City Attorney James Beardsley was instructed to convey this thinking to Mr. Jehowski Tuesday morning and he did.

The postal official said that in order to save six or eight months in time, the post office would like an option which it in turn would assign to the contractor who eventually is low bidder on the project.

☆

POST OFFICES are built by private contractors, who lease back the facility. In the case of the present Tecumseh post office, Howard Truesdale built and owns it.

Adams Park contains 27,300 square feet. The L-shaped off-street parking area has 23,400 sq. ft., will park 63 cars.

The city has seal-coated the parking area, metered and lighted it. When title comes to the city, the lot will be hard-topped like the ones behind the three other downtown blocks.

Jerry's Market and Party Shop Now Sell Liquor

Jerry's Market and the Party Shop were licensed last week by the State Liquor Commission to sell packaged liquor.

The Party Shop, on S. Maumee just off Chicago Blvd., opened last summer and is operated by James Spooner and Delbert King.

Jerry Coffey has operated his grocery on M-52, just north of the airport, for the past nine years.

Hodges Drug Store, other Tecumseh outlet to sell liquor, has held a license for a number of years.

Rec Board Comes Up with Man

Try, try, again.

So agree members of the Tecumseh Parks & Recreation Board in the matter of selecting a full-time director.

Three weeks ago, the committee interviewed two well-qualified candidates and agreed on 26-year-old Stuart May, a football coach from Muskegon.

Mr. May readily accepted the post and the news was hustled into print.

There was one snag. About 24 hours after he said "yes," Mr. May decided he didn't want the job after all.

Board members went to work again on the problem this week and apparently have got their man—not Mr. May, incidentally.

At sessions Monday evening and Tuesday morning, they considered three applicants for the $6,000-a-year post and agreed on one.

Their choice will be submitted to Council Monday evening for final approval.

The board is also recommending that the new recreation director will start work June 1.

☆

HIS PRIME responsibilites will be:

► Set up and oversee a year-around recreation program for all residents.

► Put the Community Center into as much full-time use as possible.

He will be completely responsible for public relations and informing the general public about the program.

Son Buys Store

Earl Baldwin is now owner of Baldwin Hardware Store, one of Tecumseh's oldest places of business.

Earl bought out his father, Ned, who had operated the store since the early Twenties.

Prior to that, it was owned by Newton Satterthwaite.

Ned Baldwin, who is now vacationing in Canada, saw the store through many a crisis, including a depression and a disastrous fire.

In the winter of 1951, the then two-story frame building housing Baldwin Hardware, burned to the ground in one of Tecumseh's most devastating downtown fires.

Ned rebuilt the store in modern brick and cement block.

It contains over 18,000 square feet of sales and storage space, has one of the most complete hardware inventories of any store in this part of the state.

Earl says that he plans no changes in operation of the business. He will maintain the same staff of Leo Seidel, Bill Smith, Reid Bailey, Dorman Vescelius, Mrs. Jack Morehouse and Mrs. William Sisson.

Earl has been associated with the family business from the time he was a youth, minus his service with the Navy during World War II.

The Earl Baldwins reside on Murphy Hwy. and have two children.

Giant Parade To Open Safety Check

Goal: 1,200 cars and trucks.

That's how many vehicles officials of the growing Tecumseh Safety Check would like to see examined next week in their seventh annual effort.

Last year, the total was 622.

Opening with a gigantic parade the evening of May 23, the check will continue through May 25.

Sponsored by the Rotary Club, the check is free and open to every motor vehicle in the area. The check lane will be set up on S. Pearl St. between Pottawatamie and Chicago Blvd.

Expert mechanics on loan from area auto dealers and gas stations will carefully examine all parts of the cars and trucks, issuing a complete report to the owners.

"This check is for the benefit of drivers", a committee spokesman said. "No reprisals will be made for vehicles which do not pass all points on the check.

"Our only objective is to cut down the possibility of highway accidents because of faulty cars."

Safety checks are held all over America as a voluntary way of alerting car and truck owners to dangerous conditions in their vehicles. Several states have made such checks mandatory.

Last year's safety check won Tecumseh an award. This was one of four Michigan cities recognized for their excellent safety check programs.

This year's opening day parade will begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 23, with Charlie Butler as grand marshal, assisted by Clarence and Chet Beach.

It will form on E. Chicago Blvd. at Oneida St., go west to Democrat St. and then circle back to the downtown area.

Anyone wishing to enter the parade—using anything they can drive, ride, push or pull—should call a committee man at HA 3-3202 or HA 3-2624.

Major units already set for the march are bands from Tecumseh High School and Junior High, Clinton, Britton-Macon, Boysville, Madison and Onsted.

The Adrian College band also has been invited.

Frontier City will have two units in the garage. There will be an antique car section, riding horses and horse-drawn vehicles.

Candidates for Safety Check Queen will ride in convertibles. The queen will be named at the conclusion of the parade and crowned at the entrance to the check lane. She then will clip a ribbon opening the 1962 event.

Among the 30 divisions already scheduled for inclusion in the parade are:

► Girl and Boy Scout units.
► Driver training cars.
► Go-Karts.
► Miniature cars.
► Golf carts.
► Farm implements.
► Industrial manufacturing and business trucks.
► Children on decorated bicycles.
► Wreckers, gasoline station vehicles.
► All city vehicles, led by the mayor and police chief.

Committees for this year's Safety Check include Co-Chairman Mr. Butler and Tim Neill.

BILL DAVIS will have charge of the mechanics, and Bob French will have charge of the clerks.

In charge of solicitations will be Harold Easton, Yale Kerby, Harold Green and Tom Corkery. Bob Karle will oversee car and implement dealers and gas stations.

Chief Murell Clark will be security chairman.

Insurance men who will keep track of the safety check scores for the drivers will include Bill and Jack Hanna, Don Sunderland, Glenn Kohler, Elmer Eberhardt, Ernest Oliver, Glen Driscoll, Vern Manwaring, Jim Records Del King and Jerry Roberts.

Spring Music Festival

St. Peter's Episcopal Church Parish Hall will be filled with the sound of music Thursday evening, May 24, when the Episcopal Church Women will sponsor a Spring Music Festival.

Their accompanist will be Mrs. Fred Oberlin, assisted by Dexter Bailey.

One of the features of the evening will be duet from the operetta "Sweethearts", sung by Mr. and Mrs. Church, as well as "Musetta Waltz" from La Boheme by Mrs. Church.

Mrs. Church studied voice at the Detroit Conservatory of Music, as well as the University of Michigan, where she studied under Arthur Hackett.

She was winner of the Belle Isle auditions, in which more than 500 vocalists competed for top honors.

She has sung on radio, television, stage, in concert and has worked with the Michigan Opera Association.

Following the musical program, refreshments will be served. Tickets can be purchased at the door, or from any member of the Episcopal Church Women.

To Exhibit at EMU

Mrs. Richard L. Kureth, Tecumseh artist, is among those chosen to exhibit their work at the Clyde Ford Hall, formerly the Arts Building, of the Eastern Michigan University from May 15 - 28.

The outstanding student work will include oil and water color painting, sculpture, etchings, prints and ceramics.

Five of Mrs. Kureth's water colors have been chosen for the exhibit.

May 24 and 25 there will be a reception and an outdoor sales show on the grounds of Ford Hall to which everyone is invited, according to Mrs. Kureth.

Murals in the Pediatrics Section of Herrick Memorial Hospital are some of her most recent work.

She said, "I think I have found my medium in water colors. They are very versatile and I intend to do a lot with them."

She is contemplating having an exhibit here in the city, perhaps with some of the other local artists, and perhaps Sidewalk Day.

Mrs. Kureth studied at Eastern Michigan University with her main interest in art.

She also had some informal study in Germany in sculpture and painting.

The Kureths have three daughters and live at 209 Adrian St.

Hot Lunch Program Going

By JIM LINCOLN

Hot lunch program in the Tecumseh schools was cut Monday night when the board voted to abandon it at the Tipton and Ridgeway schools for the balance of the present school term and the 1962-63 school year.

The lunch program at Patterson School will be eliminated next year.

Not enough patronage was the reason offered to the board.

Cafeteria at the high school will be continued.

Supt. James McDowell reported that if the present hot lunch program was continued, it would be necessary for the board to subsidize the program by about $2,500.

Many students either carry their lunch or eat at downtown restaurants.

Supt. McDowell also told the board that last week's high winds tilted a pole at the football field and requested permission to have Consumers Power check its condition.

The poles at the field have been in the ground for over 20 years, and school officials have found it difficult to find repairmen to climb them in recent years.

☆

IN OTHER action, the board:

► Purchased a business machine from National Cash Register Co. for $6,300.

► Approved sale of Colvin School building, Ives Rd. and Green Hwy., to Joseph A. Reeves for $2,500.

► Approved book rental increase for next year: kindergarten, $3; first through sixth $6.50; seventh and eighth, $7; and ninth through twelfth, $8.

► Authorized purchase of junior high football equipment amounting to $300.

► Appointed board members Mrs. Robert Stone and Aden Meade to study proposals submitted by the Problems Committee of the Tecumseh Education Association.

► Appointed Vic Lawson, athletic director, to serve also as faculty manager and be in charge of admissions, purchase of athletic equipment, and other duties previously handled by principal Neville Hart.

► Discussed purchase of a maintenance truck to replace a 1956 truck.

► Heard reports from the superintendent relative to state aide and bus transportation costs.

The state is presently $76,000 in arrears to the local schools in payments. Transportation costs here are about $6 per pupil below the state average.

Don Johnson Is Kiwanis Guest at Adrian High

Don Johnson, director of band at Tecumseh High School, was guest speaker as Kiwanians observed Music Week last Thursday evening.

Mr. Johnson told about the music program through the grades, emphasizing the contribution of the training given in each grade to the organization of a successful band.

"Losers" Provide Theme

"No one is able to live out his entire life without some experiences of defeat as well as success. Yet many of the valuable lessons of life have been learned in the moments when we, or others, have considered ourselves to have been losers."

"This has also been the history of the Christian Church, but the Church has continued to give a consistent witness to the world."

The Rev. Allen Wittrup is using "The Losers" for his subject Sunday, May 20. The worship service is at 10 a.m. at First Methodist Church.

During the morning service the Women's Society of Christian Service officers for the new year will be installed.

The commissions and official board will meet Wednesday, May 23. Commissions will meet at 7:30 and the official board at 8:30 p.m.

'May Party' Used To Be Tops on Calendar at THS

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Many activities of the school children during the month of May bring to mind the festive occasions of a few years ago joyously called "The May Party".

The mere suggestion of the affair raised the pulse rate and brought sparkle to the eyes of those within range of the conversation.

Everyone was enthusiastic about this gala event and talked for weeks of what they would wear and who they would go with or who they would bring.

It was a hard and fast rule that if someone from another school or anyone at all that was not a student at Tecumseh attended, the office must be notified far in advance.

☆

THE FIRST May party held in the high school gym (now the junior high) was in 1919.

This was the first spring in the new building and parents thought it only right that the students have a party.

The superintendent, W. L. Reed, was opposed to it, especially if there was to be any dancing, but the parents went to the school board.

The board not only OKe'd the event, but decided to pay the orchestra and other expenses so that all of the children might be free to come.

☆

ACCORDING TO the annual of that year, "The THS gymnasium was resplendent with even the baskets used in basketball filled with enormous bouquets while wicker chairs and jardineers filled with blossoms made the corners and sides of the hall look homey.

"The orchestra was seated on a raised platform in the center of the room surrounded by a bower of greenery and blossoms.

"The great boughs met at the top and were tied with a huge bow of pink, making the whole look like a great May basket. The pink and green strands from May poles, wound gracefully about the gallery rail and balustrades.

"There were probably 300 dancing and almost as many spectators in the gallery."

☆

MRS. O. W. LAIDLAW was on the faculty at the time of the first May party and her aid was especially sought since she was the only married teacher.

Punch for the refreshments was made by the domestic science class, which Mrs. Laidlaw taught.

Polly Mattis, well known for her catering in Tecumseh, assisted with the goodies.

Since many of the teachers were not dancers and they were expected to act as chaperones, interested parents gave lessons a few evenings before the gala party was held.

Some in the class of 1919 at the time of the first party were Mrs. Percy Bowen, Mrs. Perry Hayden and her late husband, Robert H. Moore, Mable Lockwood, Mrs. A. H. Brown, Mrs. Vearl Osburn, Milburn Brooks and the Brooks twins, Mildred Brooks Gove and Marian Brooks Kilwasser.

According to the annual, "Coller's orchestra never played better."

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Coller were assisted by Clare Camburn of Macon, Mrs. Opal Williams and Mr. Hughes of Adrian.

Teacher Joins MEA Conference

Don Johnson, vice president of the Tecumseh Michigan Education Association District, will attend the annual district presidents conference at the MEA Camp, St. Mary's Lake near Battle Creek, May 17-19.

More than 200 teachers and administrators, including 179 presidents of MEA districts throughout the state and the MEA headquarters staff, are expected to attend the conference.

The three-day leadership conference will feature general sessions on such topics as the role of the district president, educators and politics, professionalizing the professional standards, the MEA insurance program, and the proposed Professional Practices Act.

The educators also will attend clinics in such areas as publications, MEA organizational structure, ethics, tenure, contracts, public relations, teacher liability, and professional negotiation.

Mrs. Ina Kehoe of Clinton spent the weekend here with her mother, Mrs. John Snow, who is recovering from a heart ailment. Mrs. Kehoe will be here the remainder of the week.

'Ten Little Indians' Is Top Show

(Editor's Note: Mrs. Macbeth, who began her association with the theater arts as a dramatics major at the University of Nebraska, is writing her first review for The Tecumseh Herald. She has lived in Tecumseh since 1950, and taught at Tecumseh High School for several years, her work including the directing of high school dramatic productions. More recently she has turned from the field of dramatics to the role of homemaker and mother of three.)

By MRS. WILLIAM MACBETH

Ten Little Indians was an apt selection as the Tecumseh Players third presentation of the season. It gave the Tecumseh audience a diversion from the medium of comedy. The mystery-drama offered the change of pace needed by a growing company of players.

As the curtain opened on the first act, the audience was attracted at once to the impressive set design. The muted background and lighting not only helped to establish the mood of the play, but also gave the stage a professional effect superior to any setting previously used by the Tecumseh Players. Mr. Steinke is most deserving of praise for his design, as are the set, properties and light crews for their assistance.

The first act of any play is difficult to project beyond the footlights. Each character must establish his identity while the dialogue must acquaint the audience with the background and theme. This dual responsibility can seem tedious if the tempo or pace is slow. Had the actors exerted the same concentration and animation in Act I as they did in the following scenes, the play would have been off to a fresher start. There was a lack of action and reaction among the players, making it difficult for the audience to believe that each event and conversation was happening for the first time in the lives of the Indian Island guests.

However, in the succeeding four scenes the production had sparkle. The element of suspense was sustained throughout — as was evidenced by the gasps and cries emitted from the audience. Each actor developed stature in his or her characterization and the play was received with justifiable delight.

Mrs. Gloria Jadwin, the director, did an outstanding piece of work in casting and directing. By using a well-written vehicle and by skillfully employing stage techniques, she gave Tecumseh an evening of pleasure and good theater.

It has always been this writer's contention that in a play there are no small parts—only small players. This production had no small parts. Each player contributed worthily to the whole.

Outstanding performances were given by Mrs. Richard Coak, William Sanford, Mrs. James Vanzo and Gene Earling.

MRS. JAMES VANZO

WILLIAM SANFORD

Mrs. Coak, as Vera, was poise personified. She maintained her character in a most unbelievable manner, which is difficult to do in a "straight" part.

William Sanford was every ounce General MacKenzie. His make-up and demeanor were superior. Unless one knew Mr. Sanford personally, it would have been impossible to visualize him as anything but a crotchety old man, resigned to his death.

Mrs. Vanzo, too, concealed her true age from the audience. Again, masterful make-up and a most convincing characterization assured the spectators that she was the super-righteous old maid who could not condone mortal frailities.

Gene Earling grew in his role as the play progressed. Early in the story, he did not clearly portray his strong masculine qualities, but no one doubted his virility or spirit after the first act.

Richard Kureth exhibited professional prowess in his performance. His confident stage manner put the audience at ease immediately, knowing he would make his character live as he has done in other roles.

Richard Boyd, as the paradoxical neuro-surgeon, exaggerated his part a bit too much—but was enjoyed for his frenzy when revealing the truth of his past and anticipating his unwonted death.

Guil Rothfuss concealed his paranoiac tendencies in an excellent manner. It took some time, though, before the character became a believable and assured individual.

William DePuy, a veteran of the Tecumseh Players, exhibited the value of experienc in a theater group. His portrayal of Rogers was, without doubt, his best contribution to the Players. Greater vitality was exercised, making the butler a living character.

Lucille Lawson deserves special recognition. Late in the rehearsal schedule she accepted the part of Mrs. Rogers, when a member of the cast had to be replaced because of illness in the family. The role was not as polished as it would have been under more favorable circumstances. In the tradition of the theater, the show must go on and Mrs. Lawson's contribution made this possible.

Ed McClain was "not long for the Island". He was an asset to the scene, suggesting a typically relaxed boatman-handyman.

The directors, cast and committees of this amateur presentation deserve honest praise and sincere congratulations. Ten Little Indians was well-organized, well-performed and well-received

MERLYN D. WAGNER

New Cleric Assigned To New Guinea

Merlyn E. Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wagner of rural Tecumseh, a member of the 1962 graduating class of Concordia Theological Seminary, Springfield, Ill., will receive his diploma and official call into the Lutheran ministry. The graduation service May 30 at 3 p.m. will be held in the seminary quadrangle.

Dr. Arthur Ahlschwede, St. Louis, Mo., will be the speaker. He is the executive secretary of the Board for Higher Education of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Mr. Wagner has been assigned as Lutheran Missionary to New Guinea.

Concordia Theological Seminary of Springfield is maintained by the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

The program is designed to serve students who are the products of the American system of colleges and universities. The school has an enrollment of over 500. The graduating class this year numbers 121, the largest in the history of the seminary since it was organized in 1846.

Prior to enrolling at the Springfield Concordia Seminary, Mr. Wagner received a bachelor of science degree from Michigan State University.

Charles Figy Seeks Senate Seat

Charles Figy of Morenci is going to go after the state Senate chair long held by Elmer Porter.

Mr. Figy, a Con-Con delegate and former state and federal agriculture official, will run on a "Progress for Michigan" program.

He'll probably square off against Senator Porter in the coming Republican primary, if Senator Porter decides to seek re-election.

The district comprises Lenawee and Monroe Counties and the primary will be held next Aug. 7.

☆

"FOR YEARS, we have had a stalemated situation in state government which has been bad for the people," Mr. Figy declared. "Problems have piled up, taxes have skyrocketed and the unsolved crisis continues. "I have been urged to be a candidate for the Senate to help solve these problems and put Michigan on a sound road for progress in the future," he adds.

Mr. Figy, who has operated a farm near Morenci for the past 42 years, has been active in government since 1942 when he was named Director of the State Department of Agriculture.

In 1953, he was named as assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture at Washington and served in that capacity throughout President Eisenhower's administration.

CHARLES FIGY

"AS a DELEGATE to the Constitution Convention, I fought the people's fight on legislative apportionment, the state tax structure and other items which would provide for a more efficient and economical government operation," Mr. Figy said.

"This experience should be of some value in the Legislature so that the goals of better government can be achieved.

"I think we must have direct and forceful action from the Legislature to meet Michigan's many problems.

"We must have economic growth to provide jobs, markets for farmers and better business opportunities.

"We must have some method of relieving the tax burden on property.

"We must have long-range planning in education and other fields to make sure we are getting full value for every tax dollar and that real needs are met in the most practical manner.

"It is important that we provide opportunity in Michigan for all our people. This is a great state, but it could be greater if we united on a program for progress which will benefit the people."

Mr. Figy is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Morenci Congregational Church.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO THE EDITORS:

I attended the school board meeting of May 14, and because the reporter left before the meeting was half over I feel it is my duty to report some of the facts.

No. 1 The school board has starting authorizing expenditures on the recommendation of the superintendent, that at this time are not warranted. Example: a new maintenance truck is to be purchased for $1600. The excuse given for this authorization was that some property had been sold, thus there were funds available.

No. 2 The board authorized an $800 expenditure for althletic equipment for the junior high school. One school board member, in the interest of saving money, made a motion to discontinue the athletic program if it could not be self supporting. The motion died for lack of support.

While, in the overall picture, these are relatively minor items, I feel that the superintendent is whittling away at the money voted specifically for retirement of the operating debt. And when the two years have elapsed the school district will still be saddled with a debt which will require more operating millage.

It is becoming more difficult each day to meet the financial requirements of the property owner. And with continued indebtedness facing everyone, I wonder how the millage issue passed in the first place.

Sincerely
Bernard Bishop
RR No. 2
Britton, Mich.

(Editor's note: Yes, reporters often walk out before meetings are through and there's always a good reason. BUT, we check back the following day with the various people involved to wrap up the details, which developed in the parts we miss. Readers end up with the complete story.)

Bill Thomas, THS freshman, gave notice of future potential when he tossed the shot 45'8" for second place.

John Hamilton Family Financially 'Adopts' 8-Year-Old Filipino

JESUS SEBASTIAN

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hamilton of 413 E. Shawnee St., have financially "adopted" Jesus C. Sebastian, an eight-year-old Filipino boy, through Foster Parents' Plan.

The foster parents have promised to contribute $15 a month toward the child's support for at least one year.

The father of the Sebastian family was involved in a violent quarrel and is now in prison.

Deprived of his support, the family is in miserable circumstances. Three of the children have been placed in institutions. Carmencita, Jesus and Rolando are with their mother.

The mother hopes to have all her children united under the same roof some day. At present, she works as a laundress and earns about 25 cents a day, but this is irregular. If she does not earn enough in a day for a little food for the children, she is forced to beg from friends. There are no relatives who can help.

"Home," for the Sebastians, is a small room in a house in the crowded district of Mandaluyong in Rizal Province. These houses have no running water, no sanitary facilities. Rent for the Sebastians' room is $2.50 a month.

Jesus is an attractive youngster, well-behaved, respectful and obedient. He has an active, inquiring mind.

He attends primary school, works hard and does well. He is anxious to continue with his studies.

Foster Parents' Plan, which has rehabilitated more than 76,000 children on a personal basis since its founding in 1937, is now helping more than 22,000 youngsters in Greece, Italy, Korea, France, Viet Nam, Hong Kong and the Philippines. Over the past 24 years, more than 600,000 individuals, schools and groups in America have helped needy children overseas through this plan.

Foster parents' Plan is a nonsectarian, non-profit, non-propaganda, independent, government-approved relief organization which provides children who are orphaned, distressed, or otherwise made destitute with the care, education, and moral support they need.

"Adoption" through Plan is financial, not legal. The foster parent promises to contribute $15 monthly for at least one year. Of this sum, the child receives $8 each as an outright cash grant. The remainder is used for periodic food and new clothing packages, translations of letters, medical services and education.

Because each child is treated as an individual, any special needs of the child or his family are taken care of by Plan from its general fund This fund is made up of contributions from the public.

To encourage a warm, personal relationship between the foster parent and child, the foster parent receives a history of the child and a photograph, and correspondence through the Plan office is translated both ways.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

MEET MISS MEAN

Think of all the words for mean—nasty, cruel, cheap, unfeeling, selfish, horrid, etc. — and that's me. At least for a little while it was. My "descent into disgrace" began with —well, it all began with the martin house and my overanxiousness to have backyard visitors.

At the first inkling that the martins were back I badgered dad into opening the house and putting out a "For Rent" sign.

The next day we had customers, the only trouble being, they weren't the kind we wanted.

Instead of the trim and sleek martins we had dull and uninspiring sparrows. Our martin house has six apartments and the sparrows, like any good house hunters, were thorough about looking things over.

They were in and out of every unit, carefully checking for size, view and all the things which sparrows look for when house-hunting, I suppose.

We laughed because it was an all too human trait, but guess which suite they finally decided upon—that's right, the very first one they inspected.

☆

THE NEXT thing, after the lease was signed, was moving in and like any good neighbor, I was of course anxious to see what furniture my new neighbors had.

In the sparrow-world, setting up house-keeping is quite a deal. The newlyweds really worked. We were amazed at the twigs, dried grass, leaves and feathers they carried up to the new apartment. It went on all week long.

While we were watching the sparrows, and it really was fun seeing how busy they were, we were also looking and hoping for martins. Would they come and would they be afraid of the sparrows?

People, who year after year entertain the clannish ones, said they wouldn't be a bit bashful about dispossessing the early nesting sparrows. Still we worried, sparrows after all are terribly scrappy and spunky.

SUNDAY, we took a ride and whenever a martin house was spotted, you can be sure it was well looked over. Several of them were occupied—and by martins, too!

We came home, took a look at our apartment house and quickly decided that the sparrows must go.

Dad lowered the house and removed the sparrows' nest. I was amazed— even though I had watched them settling all week it just didn't seem posible that they could have carried so much "stuff" up there.

Their selected apartment was jammed full. As Dad touched a match to the mass of grass and feathers I started having a few qualms. However, this was a martin house and sparrows had no business moving in.

The house was re-erected and we settled back to wait for martins. Well, to make a long story short, you have probably guessed what happened—the martins didn't come, but the sparrows did.

How terrible I felt as they went in and out, in and out, looking and looking. I was sitting in the yard and watching them was bad enough, but having to listen to their pitiful little chirps was horrible. It is almost unbelievable how cheap two little birds can make one feel.

The Sparrows were determined however and the next day they were sitting up housekeeping again. I must admit that I was happy to see them.

So it is that as matters now stand, two pairs are honeymooning in the martin house—we are still hoping for martins, but they will have to handle the sparrows themselves.

I have had enough of being Miss Mean!

Entertaining Team Makes Party Calls

Almost before the press stopped rolling at the Tecumseh Herald last week, Steve and Catherine Maples had a call asking their services at a birthday party.

The Herald printed the story of the two entertaining at little people's parties, Steve as a clown and Catharine as hostess.

Now they are in business, having already turned down several inquiries and booked a number of parties for June.

May 5 they entertained for two parties, one for Tommy McKenzie, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John McKenzie of 506 N. Evans St. and one for Cynthia Graham, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Graham of 211 Chippewa St.

Eighteen kindergartners at the McKenzie home nearly wore "Tooter" out, they were so delighted with his appearance.

Then he and Catharine went on to the Graham home where they entertained for an hour for Cynthia.

His arrival was a complete surprise to these children and they, too, were delighted.

More Tecumseh mothers will certainly take advantage of the opportunity to please their little people so easily at parties this summer.

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

I believe it is my responsibility as a physician to call to the attention of your readers and my patients any matter which I feel would affect their health care. Therefore I would like to comment on a proposal about which I am deeply concerned.

It is a proposal now before Congress called the King-Anderson Bill. All signs now point to very heavy political pressure being applied by the administration forces in an attempt to force this legislation down the throats of the American people shortly after May 20, at which time the President will address a hand-picked group of senior citizens in Madison Square Garden.

It is anticipated at that time there will be a maximum of pressure applied to our elected representatives in congress urging them to vote for this socialistic legislation.

My objections to this bill are as follows:

1. It calls for a "double increase" on payroll taxes—an increase in the percent of take, plus an increase in the tax base. One Washington planner, who is pushing the King-Anderson Bill and would have a voice in administering the plan, told a Senate committee that he envisions a payroll tax of 20 percent on a tax base of $9,000—or $75 a month for employee, $75 a month for employer, and more than $112 a month for the self-employed. This would be an increase of 525 percent over the 1961 tax.

2. It would compel wage earners to pay for medical care for millions of the aged who don't need help — but the proposal does nothing for millions not covered by social security — the group most in need.

3. It is a compulsory federal government - controlled plan which would place a third party —Washington bureaucrats — between the patient and the physician.

4—It would eliminate the privacy of the patient-physician relationship—making it possible for government clerks to examine the most intimate personal health records—records that are now a private matter between patient and physician.

5—It would be another step toward socialized medicine in this country—a system that has resulted in the deterioration of medical care wherever it has been tried.

6—It would eliminate the patient's free choice of hospital and physician.

Your freedom and mine are at stake at this moment. Freedom is what we all stand to lose. Your freedom to choose the doctor you believe is best for you. My freedom to treat you as an individual and use the best and most modern drugs available for you, not only those from a list approved by a government clerk without technical knowledge of medical problems.

Let's help those who need help. We are all in favor of this. The present Kerr-Mills bill has been established in 1960, and impleemnted by many states (including Michigan) since that time to help our aged population who need assistance. This is administered locally on the basis of need, and is available to all the aged population, not merely to those who are covered by social security.

The time has come for all of us to stand and be counted on the question of socialized medicine. If you feel as I do, it is my hope that you will convey your thoughts to our congressman, the Honorable George Meader, House of Representatives, Washington, D.C.

Being opposed to waste and unnecessary spending is not enough. We must let Mr. Meader know he has our support in trying to prevent reckless government spending of our tax money.

You and I can win the battle for our American Heritage of freedom every year, BUT WE WILL LOSE IT ONLY ONCE; WRITE MR. MEADER NOW!

R. E. Dustin, M.D.

Its reliability is probably its greatest single asset

When you build a quality truck, the inclination is to run around asking users what they think of it. We do quite a bit of this.

It's a funny thing. You'd think people would talk mostly about the mechanical features of the vehicle—the good ride, its power, the double-wall construction, cab comfort, or tough tailgate.

These things get comment, of course, but they're consistently outnumbered by expressions of satisfaction with the dependability of a Chevrolet truck. Its greatest single asset seems to be the fact that it does its job well day after day without a lot of fuss or attention—and that's what impresses people the most.

Quality is the key to reliability. The next time you have to buy a truck, call your Chevrolet dealer and make your money go farther.

Plays for Art Club

Four members of the famed Philadelphia Orchestra appeared in Tecumseh Monday, playing before members and guests of the Artists Key Club.

Attendance was limited to 75.

Named the Cremona String Quartet, after the famed violin-making area of Italy, the group included Schima Kaufman, first violin; Louis Gesensway, second violin; Sidney Curtiss, viola, and Bert Phillips, violincello.

The men had just completed the six-concert May Festival at Ann Arbor.

Included in the program were Haydn's Quartet in G Major, Turina's La Oracion del Torero and Brahms' Quartet in A Minor. Also, Mr. Gesensway arranged for the group a suite of traditional Russian folk tunes.

In addition to the music, the quartet presented an explanation of the development of stringed instruments.

Refreshments were served after the concert.

The engagement of Roberta Ann Easter and Red Deaner is being announced with a summer wedding planned. Miss Easter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Easter, Pittsburgh, Pa., is a graduate of Colorado Woman's College and is presently a stewardess for United Air Lines. Mr. Deaner, son of the Clifford Deaners, attended Eastern Michigan University and also is employed by United Air Lines.

Biggest News Since Hybrid Corn

When modern hybrid corn first replaced open pollinated varieties, every farmer remembers the yield increases that resulted – bringing the average number of bushels per acre to a new high. Today, agricultural authorities report that the same type of result has come about from the use of modern herbicides. Without weed competition yields have increased anywhere from 16 to 25 bushels, and a new and higher yield average seems inevitable.

The new herbicides responsible for boosting yields are really in the news. Most of them resulted from years of laboratory research testing and proving before they were released for sale to the modern farmer. In addition to weed control ability, the safety features of these weed control chemicals are often outstanding. For example, two widely used herbicides, Atrazine and Simazine are not only safe to corn, but safe to humans and animals, nonirritating to skin, but still lethal to weeds.

So progress continues with dramatic yield increases – first with the introduction of hybrid corn seed, and now with modern weed killing chemicals. What development will be next in this chain of progress? Modern farmers can hardly wait to find out. Meanwhile, valuable information may be obtained by writing Geigy Agricultural Chemicals, Department WN, Saw Mill River Road, Ardsley, New York, for their free manual on weed control in corn.

Nursery School Offers Many Benefits

Sometimes necessity finds results.

This seems to have happened with the Tecumseh Nursery Center.

The "necessity" seemed evident to a few mothers of preschool children last fall for the formation of a nursery school in Tecumseh.

Two mothers, Mrs. William L. Schroer and Mrs. Thomas Jacoby, worked together finding out how to go about organizing a parent cooperative type nursery school, finding a qualified teacher and getting together other mothers with a common interest.

THEIR EFFORT resulted in the Tecumseh Nursery Center which has been operating since Jan. 2.

The Nursery Center meets in the Sunday School rooms of the First Presbyterian Church every Tuesday and Friday from 9 to 11:15 a.m. It is non-sectarian, with several faiths being represented in the present group.

The Nursery Center is done on a cooperative basis with the mothers taking turns assisting the regular teacher, Mrs. Warren Puffer, who is trained in this field.

It is an operation licensed through the Children's Division of the Department of Social Welfare, State of Michigan, with Mrs. Helen Parks, the State Nursery School Consultant.

In order to be licensed, a nursery center must have a qualified teacher and pass inspections of health, fire, and social welfare in the building where the school is to be held.

☆

NON-PROFIT, the fees charged are used to cover teacher's salary, rent and supplies. (Cost this year included a $5 registration fee and $2.50 per week per child.)

The children are supervised in many activities, although self-expression is definitely encouraged. At snack time the children pass the food, ask the blessing and clean up afterward.

Sometimes things are brought to show and each child has many opportunities to lead and express his own abilities through various art projects, creative play, rhythms and games.

☆

A NURSERY school has many goals—as many as the individuals represented, perhaps. But some of the most outstanding are:

1. The parents are able to observe young children through their active participation, gaining a better understanding of their own child.
2. The benefit of group experience for the child. This can bring out the shy child, teach an aggressive child to give and take, give extra stimulation to an active, growing mind, and help the child to adjust to school more readily.

Plans are now being made for the continuation of the Nursery Center in the fall.

If you are interested in enrolling your pre-school child, you may call:

Mrs. Earl Baldwin, HA 3-4972
Mrs. Terry Mackin, HA 3-4724
Mrs. Thomas Jacoby, HA 3-4334
Mrs. William L. Schroer, HA 3-4438

☆

PARENTS interested in Nursery School may visit any Tuesday or Friday morning during the rest of the term, which will end June 1.

Guests may observe the children as they go about their activities.

VOICE OF THE HERALD

Tecumseh Gets Safety Lesson

Tecumseh is becoming safety-conscious.

Every year safety clubs and highway departments turn out reams of information on highway safety.

But when the lesson happens locally, it has a stronger effect.

Everyone who knows Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rice — and that covers a lot of people in Tecumseh — knows how auto safety belts recently saved them from severe injury or death.

Their car went off a 15-foot embankment, and landed upside-down.

The result, if their seat belts hadn't been securely fastened, is too grisly to imagine. If you want to know what could have happened, talk to any law enforcement officer who has had the misfortune to investigate one of these accidents.

Or talk to any member of a safety organization. He can tell you what your chances will be if you are bounced around in a careening auto, or thrown from it.

Seat belts, almost unheard-of in automobiles a decade ago, are the best thing to happen to autos since the shock absorber was developed. They not only make the ride more comfortable, they make it considerably safer.

So much safer, in fact, that at least one insurance company will offer double payments for deaths or injuries to those wearing seat belts during an accident.

But don't depend on seat belts alone to keep you safer in your automobile.

Be sure that your car won't let you down when you're depending on it.

The time to check your brakes is before you have to use them. The time to make sure your directional signals are working is before you suddenly slow down in front of an overtaking car.

The time to make this check is May 23-25, when Tecumseh Rotary Club will offer its annual Safety Check.

Practiced mechanics will check every car or truck which drivers want to guide to the check lane on S. Pearl St. They will make out a list for each driver, to tell him whether his car or truck is apt to fail in a pinch.

Last year's check, done by volunteer organizations on a national level, showed one out of six cars on the road was in an unsafe condition.

With some, it was too-free brakes. Others had headlights aimed so they would blind an oncoming driver. Some had so much play in the steering wheel that the car couldn't be turned out of danger quickly.

Some had an exhaust system that poured poisonous fumes into the car, and some had leaks in the radiator or engine which could ruin the mechanical parts.

As the slogan says, "Check your car, check accidents."

How Union 'COPE' with Politics

"Cope, probably from ME Coupen, to strike. 1. To contest hostility; struggle; now usually, to contend on equal terms or with some success."

That's what our office dictionary says about "cope."

August Scholle and his UAW colleagues, however, refer to cope as "Committee On Political Education," and they spell it with all capital letters.

May is the month when all CIO members are asked to "voluntarily contribute" to the COPE fund.

This is a form of education in itself.

If the union member "volunteers" his dollar at collection time, all is well and good. If not, he is subject to pressures from other workers and union officials.

The union insists that the committee is interested only in "educating" union members about elected government officials who are "good to labor." This, of course, means the congressmen, legislators and others who vote the way the union wants them to vote, regardless of whether the vote is for the good of the state or nation or, for that matter, for the union member himself.

And since the Democratic Party and the big industrial unions go hand-in-hand, this is whom the COPE money supports. It's a rare Republican who is "good" enough to the union-sponsored legislation to get any approval from COPE.

6,181 Boats Registered

Michigan boats statistics released this week show that Lenawee County now has 6,181 registered motorboats, an increase of 1,097 above last year.

According to Secretary of State James M. Hare, 431,014 motorboat certificates are now in the hands of marine enthusiasts using Michigan waters.

"As the summer vacation season nears we expect many new applications," Hare said. "We hope that those who are purchasing new watercraft register at once to avoid the June rush period.

"If new boat owners cooperate by registering early, we can process their applications promptly and get their boat numbers back to them within a few days, he adds.

Purchasers of old or new watercraft can obtain boat registration application forms at most marinas, water sport shops, sheriffs' offices, and branches of the Michigan Department of State.

The current license, good until December 31, 1962, costs $2.

To conform with a nationwide system set by Federal regulations, registered motorboats are numbered in a sequence of two letters, four numbers and then two more letters, such as MC-1234-AA.

MC is the Federal designation for Michigan, and the numbers and final letters are the boat's number.

"Thus no two boats in the United States carry the same letter-number combination on their bow," Hare says.

Use your head when you shop for a "new-size" car

The air is filled with claims about the so-called "new-size" cars—the ones that have finally caught up with Rambler Classic's size, but with little else.

Just use your head and you'll discover sizeable differences. Slide into the front seat and you'll find much more headroom in the Rambler Classic (actually more than Cadillac!). Full and ample room for six big and well-padded 6-footers.

You get better performance because Rambler is ahead in both horsepower and passing-power. And any Rambler owner will tell you how much he saves on gasoline.

Care about quality? Every Rambler has Double-Safety Brakes—of all U. S. cars, only Cadillac has a similar system. Only Rambler gives you Deep-Dip rust-proofing up to the roof. Only Rambler spares you the expense of replacing rusted-out mufflers and tailpipes—Rambler's are Ceramic-Armored.

Long & Short

By TERRI McENROE and MARY ALICE STUTESMAN

As part of the Michigan Week festivities, the Herald has acquired two student editors.

We'd like to tell you about our student government day.

On Thursday, the students of Tecumseh High will reign as government officials for a day.

Positions such as mayor, city councilman, chief of police, and many others will be forfeited by their regular holders and be taken over by the potential leaders of our community.

Patterned after our city government, the city council was chosen by all eligible voters in the high school.

There was quite a bit of excitement following announcement of the seven winners, including a requested recount of the votes.

The results proved that actually Arthur Collingsworth had ranked seventh by a margin of one vote, and he was declared an ex officio member of the council.

Others on the council are Mike Rohrer, Chuck Osburn, Niels Hansen, Norma Luce, Tom Simonds, Carl Wilt and Bob LaPrad.

The council chose Mike Rohrer to be the mayor.

Appointed by the council:

CITY MANAGER — Bob French
CITY CLERK — Mary Ann Mead. Assistants: Marielle Lugard, Gail Elliott, Mary Wing and Jolene Dragich.
FIRE CHIEF — Jack Dick. Assistant: Adolf Petrus
POLICE CHIEF — Ron O'Neill. Police Force: Roger Wittrup, Ann Hodges, Norman Tucker, Carol Bilby and Susan Frost
HEAD OF WATER DEPARTMENT — Mike Osburn
HEAD OF STREET DEPARTMENT — Tim Sisson
CITY ENGINEER — Allen Hizer
CITY ATTORNEY — Roger Fox
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE — Tim Whitney
HOSPITAL ADMINISTRATION — Linda Dicks. Assistant: Joan Allshouse

So, take care this Thursday and be sure to obey all laws. And why not read our column next week for the results of this exciting experience.

☆

For eight long months we've watched with eager eyes the progress being made on our new library.

"They're going to put the books in tomorrow," has been a standing joke among the students of Tecumseh High as they walk past the partially completed building.

Though we joke about it, we really do appreciate this supplement to our education. We realize that organizing and planning for this project took a lot of time and effort on the part of many.

Therefore, we, as students of THS would like publically to thank the librarians, the library board and the members of the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation for making the library possible.

Rattler Is Stoned By Youths

"He was making the funniest noise, Mom."

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wegner were speaking of a snake they had just stoned to death Sunday near Evans Creek somewhere near their parent's market.

With that remark, Mr. Wegner made tracks for the creek bank where he found the remains of a Massasauga rattlesnake.

David 13, John 11, Jean and Paul, both 7, and their guest, Lonnie Plato, had seen the 30-inch snake in the water as they were searching for minnows.

The reptile crawled out of the water and made the funny noise which was probably the shaking of it's rattles, a warning that it would strike.

It was then that the children pelted it with stones.

Clerks Must Report Vote List to School

By JAMES McDOWELL

There is an important school election coming up June 11.

Tecumseh Public Schools, District No. 11, is a registration district and you must be registered with your township or your city to vote. The Tecumseh Public School District rolls are made from the township and city rolls.

If you are not registered with your township or city you are not registered to vote in a school election.

Due to human error it is possible that the township, city, or school personnel may have made mistakes and you may find that you are challenged at the election.

Quoting from sections (318) G 340.535 (C) of the 1960 copy of the General School Laws of Michigan:

"The clerk of each city or township shall, at the time of taking the city or township registration of any person, determine in what school district the person resides, and, if it is a registration school district, the clerk shall prepare an additional registration card for such person and forthwith deliver it to the secretary of the board of the school district.

"Each city or township clerk shall prepare an additional copy of any cancellation of registration and of each transfer of registration and from time to time deliver such cancellation and transfer copies to the secretary of the applicable board, who shall apply such corrections to the registration records of the school district."

☆

IF YOU are in doubt as to your registration, first call your clerk and if you find you are registered, then call the school and see if you are registered.

There are many reasons why registration records may be inaccurate. Deaths of persons whom relatives have not reported to clerk's transfers which have not been reported to clerks, new registrations which may come too late to qualify for a given election, and failure to vote within the specified time limit within your registration unit.

To these may be added two others, the clerk may not have reported these changes to the school district and the school district may not have correctly recorded his information.

A person knowingly voting in an election who has transferred to another district if apprehended may be penalized.

It is the desire of the clerks and school officials to have accurate rolls. Your obligation is to see that you are registered to vote.

Council Offers $20,594 Option on Adams Park

By JIM LINCOLN

Council, somewhat reluctantly, authorized an $20,594 option to the Federal government for a new post office building in Adams Park Monday night.

The government, in no hurry to complete any transaction until just a few weeks ago, requested an option on the land across Chicago Blvd. from city hall.

The government still has failed to make any agreement with the city regarding the parking lot behind Adrian Federal Savings and Loan and Easton's Service.

The government's reluctance to make a committment on its parking lot caused some hesitancy among councilmen.

☆

IN OTHER action Monday night, Council:

► Scheduled a committee meeting for the retirement system ordinance.

► Approved a curb and gutter installation for scheduling.

► Discussed a proposed addition to the Jones Sealing Co.

► Discussed buying a chipper to grind up small limbs and branches.

► Heard a report from the city manager that a resident was making some unreasonable requests before granting an easement for the Evans Creek interceptor sewer.

► Approximately 10 high school students attended the session as part of their study and program to be acting city officials this Thursday.

High School Golfers Aim for State Crown

Fifteen Class B high school golf teams — including Tecumseh — will tee off Saturday morning at the Currie Country Club course in Midland.

Their goal the 1962 state championship.

Tecumseh's crew won its way into the Michigan "B" finals by pacing the district meet Friday in Brighton.

Coach Doug Murdoch's talented linksmen were running third at the end of nine holes, but then three of the crew caught fire.

Dave Blanden, Jim Newell and Jack Dick blazed in with 37's to push THS out front with an 18-hole total of 324.

Runners-up were Mason, 336 and Milford, 337.

Dave was second low man in the district with a 78, while Jim carded a 79.

Jack's total was 81 while Mike Rice rounded out the Tecumseh scoring with an 86. Mike and Dave both had 41's on the front nine.

Herald Has New Column

This week a new column appears in The Herald. It contains a miscellany of items, is dubbed "Behind Page One" and will be found on the next page. Readers are invited to contribute, either by mail or phone.

Best Well Is Closed In Hot Wave

During last week's torrid heat, the city's No. 4 well had to be closed down so that filtering screens could be acidized to eliminate corosion.

No. 4 is one of the best producers of the city's seven wells, pumping 600 gallons a minute.

It was back in operation Monday.

During the summer months, city residents will use about 3,200,000 of water gallons in a 24-hour period. This compared to about 2,800,000 gallons in cooler months.

Cal Zorn, city engineer, estimates that if needed the community's wells could produce 4,000,000 gallons each 24 hours.

500-Mile Trip Is No Problem for This Girl

Mrs. Mae Morgan returned to Tecumseh Monday from Lodi, N.Y., where she had spent the winter with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Smith.

This reads like an ordinary item for the "You Told Us" column, but it is far from that when one is told that Mrs. Morgan celebrated her 90th birthday anniversary May 16.

The 500-mile trip is a long ride, but it seems to be just another trip to this charming lady.

Spry, cheerful Mrs. Morgan brought with her three beautiful hooked rugs, which she had made this winter, the largest one is 5½ by 7½ feet.

TECUMSEH HERALD PHOTO

MRS. MAE MORGAN

Mrs. Morgan was born Mae Osgood May 16, 1872 in what is now the Vern Pennington home. She lived there all of her life.

Her father settled there in 1833. In 1893 she married Percy Morgan.

Mrs. Morgan's older sister, Hattie Osgood Sage, died last March at the age of 96.

Mrs. Earl Lindsley, 301 W. Shawnee St., went to Lodi last Tuesday to be with her mother Thursday evening when Mrs. Morgan was guest of honor at a mother-daughter banquet.

Another daughter, Mrs. Percy Bowen, and her husband went to Lodi over the weekend to bring Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Lindsley home.

An announcement of the 90th anniversary over the Renfro Valley program on radio brought many letters and greetings to Mrs. Morgan, for which she is most grateful.

Holiday Changes Herald Schedule

Because of the Memorial Day holiday, the schedule at the office of the Tecumseh Herald has been moved up one day for next week.

The Memorial Day Program at Macon will be held at the cemetery Sunday, May 27, at 2 p.m.

Dr. Vaughn Whited of Ann Arbor will give the address.

It may be only a coincidence, but . . . April 19 the Tecumseh Herald presented an editorial on "What Happened to the Post Office?", commenting that the city should send a pair of scissors to Washington to cut the red tape.

In short order, the city received a call from a Detroit postal official, and last week the project, delayed for three years, got underway again. The official even suggests a way to cut several months off the project.

Mrs. Byron Covell was a welcome visitor at the Herald office Friday. After an extended illness, Mrs. Covell has been recuperating in a Tecumseh nursing home and this was the first time in more than a year that she had been able to walk downtown.

Given a chair and refreshing soft drink, Mrs. C. was soon telling the office personnel that she came to pay her subscription so that there would be no interruption in the delivery of the Herald, which has been read in the Covell family since some time in the 1800's.

Voters in Cassopolis, going to the polls on a four-mill school levy, found every ballot counts. Result: 481, no; 478, yes. The issue decided by two votes. Reminds us of our recent school deal, which went over by a scant four votes, 1,381-1,377.

Blissfield Advance suggested in an editorial last week that Elmer Porter voluntarily end his career as a state senator. Editor Duane DeLoach wrote:

"Elmer's been serving in the Michigan Senate since 1936. That's 26 years — long enough. He'll be 74 his next birthday, August 16.

"He could retire now and rest on his laurels. As chairman of the Appropriations committee in the Senate, chairman of its Interstate Co-Operation committee, member of its corporations and liquor control committees, he's sort of fond of the sobriquet watchdog of the treasury.

"That's enough to retire on. Why don't you, Elmer?"

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Some have said that May is the most beautiful month of the year with the flowers bursting into bloom, tree leaves turning the world a lovely green and the birds heralding spring with their trilling songs—all this after the long bleak winter.

May day and Mother's Day stir our emotions and then are climaxed with the coming of Memorial Day.

Our thoughts are turned to those who made it possible for us to live in an America where God is known and worshipped; where family life is sacred and where we can share the myriad of duties and blessings which we hold dear.

It is the duty of every American to hold fast to these freedoms.

Group Hopes County Historical Society Will Save Church

Hopes to preserve old St. Peter's Episcopal church on its present site by a local group were pared last week when the vestry announced that it had rescinded its previous action to recognize the group as a church organization.

The parishioners interested in preserving the old building are now hoping to solicit help from the county historical society.

Acme Co. Is Blasted by Council

Acme Hauling, local garbage and trash pickup service, came under severe criticism Monday night by councilmen after residents of Pine St. reported poor service.

Residents in a letter said they had had no service since May 12.

Mayor Harold Easton and Councilman Terry Mackin both recommended putting pressure on Acme and requested City Manager Ed Nelson to tell the company "to produce or else."

Councilmen discussed defaulting the bond posted by Acme. City Attorney Beardsley said that it would be best to terminate the contract first.

Mr. Nelson stated that there might have been some confusion since the city was picking up trash too. He said city trucks took over 400 loads to the dump during the past week.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO THE EDITORS:

On all sides we hear it: "We must fight Communism!" "Keep America strong!" Indeed we must, yet it often seems there is little that we, as individuals, can do.

I would like to offer what I believe is one constructive idea.

I have attended the Memorial Day Services in Tecumseh for quite a few years and every year there are shouts during "The Star-Spangled Banner" and small boys dashing after empty shells during the rifle salute.

LET US TEACH OUR CHILDREN!

Teach them to love this great country and let us start by teaching them to stand straight and quiet during our national anthem

Let us tell the little boys, even the smallest, why those rifles are fired. Tell them of the men who have died to keep our freedom and of the gratitude and respect we owe those men.

It only takes a few minutes to mention these things to the children. But I say, as one parent to other parents, as one American to other Americans, the time to do it is NOW!

Eris Murphy
302 W. Pottawatamie St.

Ternes Rd. Houses Filled

The four empty homes on Ternes Rd. are now occupied. Residents there welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bosche and two children of Cape Girardeau, Mo. who moved to 713 Ternes Rd. about one month ago.

Mr. Bosche is a mechanical engineer and manager of Dundee Plastics, Inc.

Mrs. Bosche has been employed doing commercial art work for an offset printer.

Jean or Gene is a popular name in the Bosche family. Mrs. B. is Jean and the children are Mark Eugene, 3, and Sharon Jean, 1.

The men of the family are interested in fishing and woodworking.

According to a good neighbor, the Bosche family are the finest people possible and little Sharon has cried just once since they moved to town. This was when her bonnet string broke and Mama rushed in the house to sew it on.

The family attends St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

The Virgil Chumney family has moved from Smith Rd. to 706 Ternes formerly occupied by the Dustine Bihlmeyers.

Mr. Chumney is a maintenance man at Dundee Products Co. They have two children, Pamela, 13, and Stephen, 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Yale Kerby have purchased a home at 715 Ternes Rd. and have moved from their Malden Lane residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Conway and three children are now living at 709 Ternes Rd. after moving from Blood Rd.

Adrian Plant Effort Wins State Award

The Michigan Week Achievement of the Year Award has been made to the City of Adrian and the Adrian Area Chamber of Commerce for their efforts in obtaining a new employer to replace the Bridgeport Brass Co. which left Michigan.

Milton Kendrick, chairman of the awards committee, said Adrian was selected over 16 other regional winners from all over the state.

The loss of the brass company presented Adrian with prospects of great loss of jobs and resulting economic disaster.

The story of how Adrian Citizens, working with their Chamber of Commerce, influenced the General Services Administration to hold up the sale of the plant for salvage and how the Harvey Aluminum Co. of California was persuaded to establish a plant in Adrian, convinced the judges that this effort was the Michigan Achievement of the Year, Mr. Kendrick said.

Memoriam

IN LOVING memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, G. A. Abner, who passed away 4 years ago, May 26, 1958.
All is silent in our dwelling
Lonely is our home today
For the one who smiled to cheer us
Has forever passed away.
No one knows how much we miss him
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost him
Home has never been the same
Sadly missed by his wife, children and grandchildren.

The next meeting will be held at Debbie Osburn's home June 6 with Debbie Black and Debbie Osburn giving a demonstration on decorative arrangements. Mary Williams will speak on personal body care.

THS Drops Four More

Anyone have a four-leaf clover or rabbit's foot gathering dust?

Tecumseh High Baseball Coach Carl Hale would probably be interested in getting all the good luck charms available.

To date, his Indian nine has gone winless.

Maybe the clover could help turn the trick — although a few base hits at the right time might be the best solution.

Saturday, the crew goes to Grosse Ile for a double header and close the season with a single game against Blissfield Monday on the Indian diamond.

In recent action:

Milan grabbed a double win May 11, with scores of 8-4 and 5-0. Lonnie Head and Kenny Rooks were the winning hurlers. For Tecumseh, Norman Tucker and Gregg Allen were tagged with the loses.

On May 15, the Indians fell prey to Blissfield, which is coached by Ray Larned, former Tecumseh great.

The count was 5-3, with Jerry Helzer winning, although relived by Tom Billington.

Tucker and Allen worked on the hill for THS.

Airport stopped Tecumseh, 9-3, on May 17 with the Jets scoring all their runs in the second inning with Wayne Davis the victim.

Boy Scouts Hike Trail Near Holly

Troop 73, with Scoutmaster Fred Filber and committeemen Don Brees and Ed Beal, walked the Wilderness Trail in the Holly state recreation area over the weekend.

This cross-country trail is 22 miles long and open to all Scout troops.

It is located midway between Flint and Pontiac.

The climax of the campout came Sunday noon when the Wilderness Trail medals and second anniversary neckerchiefs were presented to each Scout who finished the hike.

Do Not Disturb Bunting

Gaza Kish, public relations officer for the Hall-Slater Post of the VFW, would like to bring to the attention of the residents a problem concerning markers and flags on veteran's graves.

The Post makes an effort to have every veteran's grave marked for Memorial Day.

Frequently the markers are pulled up and the flags just dropped anywhere in the cemetery.

This causes considerable work to relocate the graves because many of the head stones, especially those of the Civil War veterans are difficult to read.

The flags fit tightly in the markers and when one tries to remove the flag the marker often comes with it out of the ground.

It would be appreciated if residents would caution their children and perhaps tell them of the significance of the markings.

Primitive Camping Is For Girls

Primitive camping was enjoyed over the weekend at the Burns Lodge in the Waterloo Area by Troops 117 and 123 of the Irish Hills Girl Scout Council.

Sue Rutherford, Karen Creger, Edith Holmes, Carolyn Purple, Linda Spooner, Linda Hicks, and Diane Hoch of Troop 117 were accompanied by their leader, Mrs. Donald Creger and Mrs. Robert Rutherford.

Ann Drake was unable to attend because of illness.

Pamela Dabe, Kathleen Mitchell, Linda Sinkey, Cora Murphy and Caroline Morley of Troop 123 were accompanied by their leader, Mrs. Merrill Murphy.

Ted Durst Says Learn Provisions

Ted Durst, Adrian attorney and representative to the recent Constitution Convention, was guest speaker at the May 17 meeting of the Tecumseh Kiwanis.

Mr. Durst stressed the spirit of cooperation among the delegates as they performed the vast amount of work required in the revision of the constitution.

He suggested that each individual familiarize himself with the provisions of the revised constitution so he will be able to take an effective stand when it comes up for vote.

The Rev. James Brantingham of the Raisin Center Friends Church will be the guest speaker at the May 24 meeting.

His theme will be "Work and Pray For Permanent Peace."

MARDA GENE DUNCAN'S Thru My Window

SUCH A BUSY WINDOW-PICTURE

We were due in Farmington to celebrate Mother's Day with the Detroit branch of the family. It was the first time we had been down for a long time and everyone was quite excited. Our usual leisurely Sunday breakfast of hot, freshly-baked coffee cake was by-passed in favor of much quicker toast and cheese. Things were moving along well—my braces were strapped on, I was popped into the wheel-chair and wham, we ran into a snag.

Birds, and what birds! Marvelous, exciting Spring migrants were suddenly all over. My west window-picture was absolutely full.

They say that sometimes flocks of migrating birds pile up in back of weather fronts. That apparently is what happened Sunday and my, but we did enjoy the spillout. It was hard to leave all the excitement, very hard.

THE FIRST thing we saw were white-colored sparrows. Always before we have seen them in the company of the white-throats but goodness, they were through several weeks ago. At first the pretty little white-crowns behaved quite normally. Furiously they scratched through the grass searching for seeds. All of a sudden though they started coming right up on the feeding tray—one, two, three, four of them at once. Never had we had them do this before, it was wonderful.

The birds are as pretty up close as they are at a distance, maybe even prettier. The black and white stripes on their crowns are so clean and sharp looking. Rather fittingly for a Sunday visit, these stripes form perfect crosses at the back of their heads. With such attractive birds dining at the feeder, a most embarrassed 'yours truly' admits she has no pictures. After reloading we had neglected to focus and aim and, although that situation was remedied the first thing Monday morning, wouldn't you just know the birds didn't make a return appearance.

The white-crowns were still busy when a tiny speck of blue brilliance hopped in sight. Male indigo bunting — gorgeous. He had made a short visit Saturday morning and how nice that he came back for Mom and Dad to see. Rather shy and retiring, the bunting stayed along the top of the creek bank but even so, he was unbelievably beautiful.

☆

WE THOUGHT the bunting was small and bright but he was almost big and dull compared to the Blackburnian Warbler, our next visitor. Words can't describe this mite—look him up in your bird-book and then remember that few color plates can do justice to his orange bib, black and orange striped head and his black and white back and wings. A real handsome fellow.

A king-fisher, four bluejays, Papa Cardinal paying court to Mama Cardinal, and oh, the list of regulars could go on and on. By now, however, everything was in readiness for the jaunt to the city and hard though it was, away we went.

So it is that although our Mother's Day visit was never in serious jeopardy, it was a little hard to leave such a busy window picture.

Master Plan Alternative Is Proposed

There will be a public meeting in the Youth Center of the Presbyterian Church Tuesday, May 29, at 8 p.m.

Harry Duncan, chairman of the meeting said Monday, "The purpose is to explain fully to the people of Tecumseh a street and highway development plan which we hope will replace the one that is now incorporated in the Master Plan which is to be officially presented to you, by the City Planning Commission, at a public hearing in the near future.

"This matter is of vital importance to all those interested in the immediate as well as the distant, future of Tecumseh as a place of business, a place to work and live, or just a nice place to live.

"We feel that you, as residents of this city, should know the advantages and the disadvantages of both the present Highway Development Plan and the alternate plan which will be presented at this meeting," concluded Mr. Duncan.

Every Man a Lawn Care Expert

This is the time of year when every neighbor becomes a lawn care expert. But by following a simple plan instead of well-intentioned advice, you can have a lawn which can be viewed with both admiration and envy.

Such a plan can result in a thick, green carpet like lawn without great difficulty, according to Dr. Donald P. Watson, Michigan State University horticulturalist. Watson outlines the following five-step, time-saving schedule for successful lawns.

RAKING

This should be done as early as possible in the spring. A steel rake should be used to collect branches, twigs, stones, straw and leaves which have accumulated during the winter.

Most of the debris will have blown away if the grass was cut short late last fall. Raking can be omitted if there is nothing on the lawn which can harm the mower or create a safety hazard.

FERTILIZING

It is necessary to use fertilizer on all lawn, Watson points out. In three weeks, the results will show that the entire lawn can benefit from fertilizer.

In selecting lawn fertilizer, Watson suggests one of these methods:

1. Bags or boxes of fertilizer labeled "lawn food" used as recommended by the manufacturer. It takes 10 pounds of this fertilizer per 1,000 square feet of Kentucky Blue grass and about 20 pounds per 1,000 square feet of Merion blue grass turf. This fertilizer should have been applied in late April. Around the first of June and again in early September another application should be made.

2. A nitrogen application may be all that is needed if a complete "lawn food" was applied the past three to five years.

Five pounds of ammonium sulphate (or three and one-half pounds of ammonium nitrate) applied before the grass turns green and again in early June and September should be sufficient.

3. A Ureaform fertilizer could also be used on lawns which had previous applications of a complete "lawn food." One application will be sufficient. This is a good, fool-proof fertilizer because it doesn't burn the grass, Watson says.

Five pounds of Ureaform per 1,000 square feet of Kentucky Blue grass (double the amount for Merion) should be applied just as the grass turns green.

WATERING

It's wise to water after spreading fertilizer if the grass is green at the time of application. This will dissolve the inorganic chemicals and prevent turf burning.

Watson cautions home owners to cover only about 500 square feet of lawn area when applying fertilizer in June and September. Water this area thoroughly before putting fertilizer on the next 500 square feet, he says.

To keep a lawn attractively green during the summer and fall dry periods, it is important to water it thoroughly. Water should penetrate to a depth of six to eight inches where the bulk of the grass roots are located. Watering once a week is probably often enough.

CUTTING

Never cut a Blue grass lawn shorter than one and one-half inches. "Keeping the grass long prevents many weed seeds from germinating, helps smother the weeds and keeps the lawn in a much more healthy condition," Watson advises.

WEEDING

Use a 2, 4-D material as recommended on the container to control weeds. It should be applied now or soon after the grass is green—and again in late September.

To control crab grass, any of the commercial crab grass chemicals that are on the market can be used.

Watson points out that the amateur turf specialist can usually omit raking and weeding if proper fertilizing, watering and cutting is carried out.

Do these steps right and next year's lawn care will be greatly simplified.

SOCIAL SECURITY Questions and Answers

QUESTION: I applied for social security benefits in 1958 but had only 11 quarters of coverage so my claim was denied. I was born on August 12, 1893. Is it possible the recent changes in the social security law could make me eligible for monthly benefits?

ANSWER: Yes. At the time you applied for benefits in 1958, you required 15 quarters of coverage. The 1961 amendments reduced the number required to 7 quarters. Inasmuch as you say you have 11 quarters we suggest you see your nearest social security district office as soon as possible.

QUESTION: I was employed by the Federal Government until I retired at the age of 62 in July 1960. Of course I was covered under Federal retirement and not under social security. I now have an opportunity to go to work under social security coverage. How many quarters of coverage will I require to be entitled to a benefit?

ANSWER: At the present time a man who was born in 1898 needs the equivalent of three years' work. A woman born in the same year needs nine quarters or about 2¼ years of work.

QUESTION: I will be 62 years of age in October 1962. I am wondering how many credits I will need to get social security benefits when I retire in January 1963?

ANSWER: A man becoming 62 this year will require 3½ years of work or 14 quarters of coverage. A woman attaining 62 this year requires 2¾ years of 11 quarters of coverage.

Do you have a question about social security? If so, write to your social security representative for Lenawee County, James Hushion, 536 N. Jackson Street, Jackson, Michigan. All letters are confidential and you will receive an immediate reply.

Little Garden Club Hears of Seed Bed Preparation

Mrs. Earl Baldwin was hostess for the May meeting of the Little Garden Club.

Guest speaker was Paul Burns, Tecumseh High School agriculture teacher.

The program was on seed bed preparation. Mr. Burns suggested that the soil should be worked as little as possible to get a "mellow effect."

He demonstrated with some of the many tools that can be used for preparing the soil. He concluded with a demonstration comparing a well-cared-for soil and one which was not cared for properly.

Announcements, civic projects and the flower show were the main order of business.

New members are Mrs. Lester Fogelsong and Mrs. William Miller.

Exhibit chairman, Mrs. Richard Colson, announced the flower show, "World's Fair Impressions," will be held in early September.

Mrs. Earl Baldwin and Mrs. Bill Clausen will fill the planter of the VFW War Memorial before Memorial Day.

They will also see about the addition of another evergreen for the permanent planting and the possibility of other civic projects.

Club members are invited to attend a Rose Tour June 13 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Melvin Beebe residence at 442 Westwood Ave., Adrian.

Mrs. Max DuPark, an accredited flower show judge, will talk on "Flower Show Critique" at the June 12 meeting.

This meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Richard will be at 8 p.m. June 12, a week earlier than announced in the program booklets.

Members unable to attend are requested to call Mrs. Wilber Andrews, co-hostess for the evening.

Two months ago Rumpf moved the loading and unloading operation to the Toledo terminal and since that tine Mr. Stack has been employed there checking the shipments.

The company and his fellow drivers gave the retiree a transistor radio and a pen along with their best wishes for his retirement years.

Bad Checks Charge Goes To Circuit

Edward M. Opanowski, 42, was bound over to Circuit Court and bond was set at $5000 after he waived examination in Justice Ernest H. Oliver's court on a bad check charge.

Mr. Opanowski was charged with writing two $15 checks and cashing them at a Tecumseh tavern without sufficient funds to cover them.

He said that he knew he did not have funds to cover the checks but thought he would be able to do so.

He was convicted of a similar charge in 1960.

The Endless Watch

TRUAX FIELD, Wis.—In the endless watch of the North American Air Defense Command to guard the continent against aerospace attack, guidance for defending America's midwest industrial heartland comes from 30th NORAD Region headquarters here.

Some 52 million people in the heart of the United States — including residents of Tecumseh —depend on the 30th Region for aerospace defense.

Regional boundaries run roughly north to Hudson Bay, south to Little Rock, east to Erie, Pennsylvania, and west to Minneapolis.

All or parts of 16 states, including more than one half million square miles in the United States, and a large part of southern Canada are involved in this complex.

The command provides aerospace defense for numerous industrial and population centers like Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Youngstown, Minneapolis, Duluth Indianapolis, Little Rock, Nashville and Memphis.

☆

AIR FORCE Major General Donald R. Hutchinson directs aerospace defenses for this large area from his Command Post at Truax Field.

Also at this nerve center of midwest defense in his Vice Commander, Air Commodore Maurice Lipton of the Royal Canadian Air Force, spotlighting the international nature of the continental defense.

Air Force, Army, and Royal Canadian Air Force units, as well as Army and Air National Guard elements, make significiant contributions to General Hutchinson's aerospace defense forces.

Among the weapons that stand alert to sweep hostile bombers from midwestern skies are the supersonic manned interceptors of the Air Force like the F-106 "Delta Dart," the F-101B "Voodoo," the F-102A "Delta Dagger," and the Bomarc B guided missile, capable of streaking out 400 miles to destroy invading aircraft.

☆

OF HIGH importance in the aerospace defense strategy of the Region are the powerful, accurate NIKE missile units, ringing the great population and industrial centers of the area.

The nuclear-capable NIKEs, teaming with interceptors of the Air Force and Air National Guard, can destroy an entire fleet of enemy bombers seeking to attack key cities.

To manage this wide-scale job of aerospace defense, the 30th NORAD Region is sub-divided into four sectors, each named for a principal city within its bounds.

These are called the Detroit, Chicago, Duluth, and Sault Ste Marie NORAD Sectors.

The nerve center for monitoring the aerospace situation in each of these sectors is the Sector Direction Center. Aerospace defense specialists work at these centers 24 hours a day to maintain mastery of the skies which they protect.

Key to the speedy work of aerospace defense in the 30th NORAD Region and each of its Sectors is the Semi-Automatic Ground Environment (SAGE) system.

Through this system, air defense data like the speed, altitude, and direction of aircraft flow automatically from radar squadrons to the direction center

Here high-speed computers compare actual flights with flight plans, thus making it possible to spot an unknown quickly. If necessary, the direction center can scramble supersonic jets to intercept and identify the unknown.

The 661st Radar Squadron at Selfridge Air Force Base, Michigan, the 754th Radar Squadron at Port Austin and the 781st Radar Squadron at Custer Air Force Station, are among the radar units that send radar returns to the direction center of the Detroit NORAD Sector at the Custer station near Battle Creek.

Knowing their work is indispensable in the aerospace defense program of 30th NORAD Region, the Michigan radar stations' teams of specialists work around the clock to "keep the radars on the air."

Men and weapons of the 30th NORAD Region constantly take part in continent-wide exercises to perfect the roles they would play in the event of emergency.

NORAD officials regard this preparation as the highest example of team-work among the Air Force, Army, RCAF, and Army and Air National Guard.

FARM INVESTMENTS are necessary for a growing business, but be sure provisions for business uncertainties are made first. Some of these are: (1) Savings account to cover such things as temporary illness or crop failure; (2) provisions for mortgage payments if you are paying for a farm; (3) life insurance to adequately provide for your family in case of premature death. Investments are much less risky once these items are adequately provided for.

SIDEDRESSING CORN gives you a chance to judge plant population and soil moisture and fertilize accordingly. As a general rule, each additional bushel of corn produced requires up to two pounds more available nitrogen. With low rainfall and high temperature, fertilizer may have little or no effect on yields, but over the years you will lose more by limiting nitrogen than if you take chances with dry weather.

FIRST CALF DAIRY HEIFERS need more grain than producing cows. They have considerable growing to do and need nutrients for this in addition to body maintenance and milk production. Feed two-year-olds three to four pounds of grain per head daily over their milk production requirements. Three-year-olds should be fed one to two pounds of extra grain. Feeding a heifer for growth, as well as production, may result in an increase of as much as 2,000 pounds of milk per year.

SEDIMENTATION TEST will replace protein test this year to determine loan premiums for hard red winter, hard red spring and hard white wheats. Check with your local elevators before harvest to find how their wheat will be handled. Premiums run from 3c to 25c per bushel.

Black Bass Season Starts June 1

Fishermen are apt to find more action at the end of their lines than they're expecting during the early weeks of Michigan's black bass season this year. The season opener has been moved up to June 1 in all waters except Lake St. Clair, the St. Clair river, and Detroit river to give anglers a longer and better chance of catching large and smallmouth bass before these prolific fish head for deeper waters. When June 1 arrives, fishermen can look for largemouths mostly in shallow lake-edge water, in lily pad or bullrush areas, around stumps and submerged logs. Smallmouths favor rock, stone, or gravel areas in shallow water of lakes, near mouths of rivers, and in bays of the Great Lakes at this time of the year. Smallmouths strike small to medium plugs, spoons, poppers, bugs, and streamers cast—not trolled—into the shallows. For largemouths, most any artificial lure works well during early season fishing, and both casting and spinning gear are in order.

Directory Will Soon Go to Press

Volunteer workers of the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary are making every effort to get current information for the city directory, which will soon be printed.

Mrs. Ray Sluyter is asking that anyone who has moved since May 1, thus changing their status for the directory, call her with the correct information for the book.

She also suggested that good neighbors might do this too, when they see that a vacant house is being occupied in their area.

Mrs. Marsh Joins VFW Auxiliary

Mrs. Ray Marsh was initiated as a member of the Hall-Slater VFW Auxiliary May 16 at the regular meeting.

Memorial services were conducted for deceased members and it was reported that plants were sent to gold star mothers, Mrs. Perry Slater and Mrs. Richard Drouillard.

Members decided to cancel the first meeting in July and the second one in August, thereby holding only one meet-each of the two months.

Refreshments were served by LaVonne Gove and Wilma Kruger.

There is a steadily rising wall in Tecumseh. It is unlike the wall in Berlin, about which we read and see so much. Both walls are brick and mortar, true, but that's where the similarity ends. Berlin's wall is dispair, it helps enslave a nation of people. Tecumseh's wall is hope, it signals added prosperity for a community. The Tecumseh wall is built by free men in a free society. Their wall is a part of the city's newest plant, Faraday, Inc., manufacturer of signal equipment. Construction work is expected to be done by fall and the operation started. Here is another example of the progress wrought by a free economy the direct opposite of "progress" in a slave state.

Geraniums in Straw Planter

Social Room of the Methodist Church was the scene of the Mother and Son Banquet Saturday evening.

The speaker's table was decorated with a beautiful straw hat filled with geraniums and other spring plants.

The other tables were decorated with geraniums in straw planters. At each place setting there was a miniature straw hat filled with candy.

Mrs. Allen Wittrup gave the invocation, and Mrs. Donald Rodehaver, served as toastmistress, entertained everyone with her reading of "Is There One in Your House."

Mrs. Charles Trickey gave the toast to the sons, and her son, Charles Jr., responded with the toast to the mothers.

Special honors were presented

► Mrs. Andrew Woodward, mother with the most sons.

► Mrs. Joseph Balfe, mother coming from the longest distance.

► Wilfred Waldron, Jr., the son coming from the longest distance.

► Mark Oliver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Oliver, the youngest son.

Mrs. Wilfred Waldron gave a talk on "Thoughts for Mother's Day," telling of men in history and how they owed their success to the training given them by their mothers.

William Plank, a student at Adrian College, presented a rhythm-filled program of folk music from all parts of the world, first telling the background of the folk song, and then, accompanying himself on the guitar, singing the song.

Mrs. Rodehaver gave the benediction.

Committee chairmen for the banquet were.

Mrs. Ned Ver Hage, general chairman

Mrs. William Davis, kitchen

Vera Gilbert, clean-up

Mrs. Harry Stanifer and Mrs. Robert Bagdon, decorations

Mrs. Donald Rodehaver, program

Mrs. W. N. Winfield and Mrs. Lee Kayner, dining room

STONE EXTERIOR OF NEW LIBRARY IS PRACTICALLY COMPLETED

Library Opens in Fall

A library is more than a place to get and read books.

At least, Tecumseh's new library will be more than this.

The new building, open for business at the end of the summer, will include:

- ► Twice the space for books—and for people who use them.
- ► A community meeting room large enough to hold groups of up to about 100.
- ► A conference room for small groups which wish to talk undisturbed or for those who wish to use a tape recorder or typewriter for copying information.
- ► A scaled-to-size children's room.
- ► Spacious adult reading room.
- ► Periodical reading and storage room.
- ► Listening area for records.
- ► Storage and display area for the growing art collection available to library users.
- ► Public rest rooms.
- ► Workroom for library staff members checking and repairing books and magazines.
- ► Full air conditioning for comfortable year-around users.
- ► Ample parking areas for users.

☆

FINANCED BY collections from Community Fund donations since 1959, the library, complete with furnishings and landscaping, will cost upwards of $225,000.

The new building, located just west of the Junior High School, will have more than 10,000 square feet of floor area, not counting the basement storage and meeting areas, which is more than three times the space in the entire present building.

Book shelving already ordered will have space for some 32,000 volumes, about double the current number, and space will be there for more shelving when needed.

The modern building, designed by Carl Marr, has vast expanses of windows, but with a roof overhang to block out too-bright sunlight. Full draw draperies can be used when the school activities would be distracting to library patrons.

Wide use of wood tones will add visual warmth, with a contrast of bright and rich colors for the chairs and couches.

Greens and blues of the furniture will be separated and defined by neutral colors, and accented with bright yellow and touches of black.

☆

THE OLD LIBRARY will close in the latter part of August, while the books are packed and moved. The settling down is expected to take several days, with the opening the second week of September.

When the doors open, a new schedule will be established giving patrons more hours to use the facilities.

Opening six days a week at noon, the new building will close at 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

The hours are subject to change, if patron's desires are not being met.

TOM RIORDAN'S Long and Short

In case you haven't noticed, the yo-yo is making a terrific comeback.

Most of the kids have them these days and it sure brings back thoughts of old times.

According to my trusty old memory, which sometimes isn't so good on dates, the yo-yo first hit its peak in the early thirties.

Despite the fact those were depression days, everyone seemed to have a yo-yo. Well, actually they weren't too costly, starting at a dime with the real slick ones going for two bits.

The first trick a fellow had to learn was getting the yo-yo to sleep.

Then came around the world.

We used to wax our strings with paraffin and that was supposed to make for better performance.

For hours on end, it seemed, we spun those yo-yos, all the way to school and all the way home.

The other night, during a serious session of baseball practice with the Yankees in the city's minor league program, I was drafted into hitting fly balls to the outfielders.

All went well until I noted one lad wasn't ready for his turn. He was trying to put something in his pocket, but was all thumbs.

It was a yo-yo that he had been playing with while waiting to chase flies.

Yep, the yo-yo has made a great comeback.

He Helps Santa Claus

Santa Claus has found a year-round helper in Stanley Packard, 401 S. Pearl St.

Stan's tiny workshop, located in his back yard, has been a busy place for the past two months.

It would appear that the activity will continue for a long, long time.

Stan retired from Bruce Foundry Nov. 23, 1961, although the last day he worked was April 25, 1961.

His health had been bad and he kept hoping he could get back full time, but finally decided to retire.

As spring arrived, Stan got an idea. Feeling better, he decided to collect old toys, repair and paint them and give them to the Service Club for distribution to needy children at Christmas time.

Mr. Packard soon was inundated with all sorts of items and he began work on his new-found project.

He takes great care to disinfect everything he receives, starting with a bath of kerosene. Next comes a wire brushing with Stan's electric drill.

After repairs are made, the items are freshly painted. Materials are furnished by the Service Club, a member of the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation, Inc.

Stan has done a masterful job on broken, discarded sleds, tractors, pump carts, wheel barrels, bowling sets.

Two neighbor girls, Sandy Poley and Mary Connor, have lent a hand in painting some of the sleds. Otherwise, Stanley has handled the entire operation.

(ADDITIONAL PHOTOS Pg. 2)

From Stan's production line, the toys are taken to the Community Center for storage until Yuletide.

Even though the project is only 60 days old, there have been some unexpected and happy reactions.

In one, a switchman from the New York Central train which regularly serves Hayden Mill, across from the Packard home, stopped to see Stanley.

The railroader said he had watched Stanley paint a wide variety of toys in his backyard and wondered what it was all about.

When Stanley explained, the visitor said he had a sled in Toledo which he'd like to give Mr. Packard and would toss it into the caboose to bring to Tecumseh on his next trip.

Local folks including members of the Jaycee toy committee hearing of the program, give unused toys to Stan for remodel jobs.

If you have something for the program, it can be left at Mr. Packard's or the Tecumseh fire station.

Toy-fixing isn't the only thing keeping Stanley busy during his retirement. He maintains a 32-room martin house and last year provided 125 pounds of scratch feed for his bird guests.

He also purchased several bushels of corn for a squirrel family that lives in a giant tree next to his home.

STANLEY PACKARD FILLS RETIREMENT HOURS WITH MEANING

Manager Is Named for Van's

Leverett DeJonghe of Ridgeway has been named manager of Vans Bakery here.

Owner Joe Church, who has operated the local shop since 1955, is going to spend the balance of the summer in California.

Mr. Church plans to extend his knowledge of baking by working in several west coast specialty shops.

Mr. DeJonghe has been employed by Mr. Church for the past four years.

Mr. and Mrs. Church, who have three sons, will live in Long Beach.

Store policy of Van's will remain the same, explains Mr. Church.

Pole Vault Mark Set by Greene

Dan Greene set a school and county meet record in the pole vault Monday at Adrian when he flipped over the bar at 12'2⅞".

Whether he could have gone higher will never be known. The pole vault standards were extended as far as they would go.

Greene tied for second in the state Class B meet at Michigan State University Saturday when he vaulted 11'10" for a deadlock with eight others. First place vaulter went 12'4".

Tecumseh qualifiers in the invitational Lenawee County track meet Monday were:

Jim Johnson—100 and 220-yd. dashes.

Greene—120-yard high hurdles.

THS scorers Monday in the field events were:

Jay Osburn—sixth, broad jump.

Bill Thomas—second, shot put.

The finals were to be held Tuesday.

Work Starts on Medical Building

Ground was broken Saturday just east of Herrick Memorial Hospital, for a spacious medical building for Drs. Carlton Cook, Richard Coak, Harold Ocamb and William Adams.

Drs. Cook, Coak and Ocamb are physicians, and Dr. Adams, a brother-in-law of Dr. Cook, is a dentist who plans to move here this summer.

The contemporary, one-story brick building will face north and will include four sites and a total of 4,000 square feet.

Architect A. J. Smith designed a central waiting room, running the depth of the building with entries to each of the doctors' suites.

Rustic, red brick has been planned for the exterior, except for the large waiting room which will be completely glass.

All 28 rooms will be individually air conditioned with a central heating system.

Benedict & Cheever Builders, partners Charles Benedict and Russell Cheever, were low bidders for the clinic.

Clauda Plumbing and Heating and Industrial Electric are the sub-contractors.

Completion date is scheduled for Sept. 1.

Miss Mackey Wins Honor

Dorothy Mackey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Mackey of 6900 Mill Highway, received an award as an outstanding female graduate of Cleary College at the annual Honors Convocation held last week at the college in Ypsilanti.

Miss Mackey is a secretarial major and will receive her diploma at commencement exercises June 23.

Her Team Rated One Of The Best

Theresa Pickens, physical education teacher at Tecumseh Public High School, will again play in the outfield of one of the world's best women softball teams this summer.

The Adrian VFW girl's squad, of which Miss Pickens is a regular, played in the World's Women Softball Championships in Portland, Ore., last year.

The opening game of the season was slated to be held Memorial Day at the Island diamond in Adrian against East Side Sports of Detroit.

Sure she's happy. Susan Frost had just been chosen Safety Check Queen. For more pictures and details of the 1962 event, please see the second section.

Children's Programs Continuing

Despite the confusion of moving later this summer, Tecumseh's library will continue its vacation programs for children.

The story hours will be at 2:30 Wednesday afternoons, starting June 20, in the present library. Last summer's story hours attracted an average of 75 children.

This year's summer reading club will use as its theme Wanda Gag's "Millions of Cats."

Children who register for the club will receive a cutout of a cat. For each book read, the child will receive a colored, gummed dot to decorate the cat.

Last year's theme was the new library, with each book being "worth" a new part of the structure. The program last summer drew some 225 young readers.

Odds and ends, which are of interest to the folks, although not major news stories. Contributions from readers are welcome.

Mrs. Louis Schneider, Sr. is a real veteran in the sale of poppies. Last weekend's American Legion Auxiliary effort marked the 38th year she solicited much of the business district.

When Al Russell, Tecumseh Products advertising manager, heard on the radio last week that the USS John Pierce was chasing across the Atlantic to pick up astronaut Scott Carpenter, he was thrilled—and surprised.

Al served aboard the Pierce for 18 months as its gunnery officer during World War II. He explained that in its shakedown cruise, the Pierce hit 32 knots, but never did after that. The ship was reported doing 32 in its flight to get Mr. Carpenter.

Guess those old buckets improve with age.

"Brighten the corner where you are," runs a well-known hymn.

Harold Richardson of Richardson Hauling has really brightened the corner where he is, at the intersection of Russell Rd. and Raisin Center Highway.

Mr. Richardson, who hauls gravel from farther south in this area, arranged for a colorful flower bed at the intersection. Bright with dwarf marigolds and petunias, the corner is seen by the hundreds of Products workers driving that way daily, as well as by the neighborhood traffic.

Norge is currently running a double-page ad in leading magazines, telling "how America's most dependable refrigerator is built in the brand new, modern Norge plant."

Featured are pictures of various Norge component parts, including a Tecumseh compressor.

"TECUMSEH, the world's largest manufacturer of refrigerator compressors, supplies the 'Golden Heart' of the Norge refrigerators—the vital part that creates cold, keeping food 'garden fresh' This quality compressor assures extra years of quiet, low cost, dependable operation of your Norge refrigerator."

MARY ANN MEAD OFFICIATES AT CEREMONY FOR COUNCIL

New Council Tours City

(Editor's note: Last Thursday was Government Day in Michigan week for a select group of students, who took over duties of city officials. Miss McEnroe was named Herald editor and below is a report by her of the day's fun.)

By TERRIE McENROE

We began the big day at City Hall with the swearing in of officials by Mary Ann Mead, city clerk. Then Mike Rohrer, the elected mayor for a day, dismissed us.

Our first tour, scheduled at 9, was of Herrick Memorial Hospital. Mr. Gilbert and Mrs. Moll took us through the hospital and explained to us that it isn't run on tax money and makes an annual profit of about $30,000.

Next our Fire Chief, Jack Dick and his assistant, Adolph Petrus staged a fire drill at the high school.

They reported that the students were rather lacidasical in evacuating the building and took four minutes and 20 seconds to do it.

Herrick Park School was cleared out in 55 seconds, which Mrs. Garlic, the principal, said was a little slower than usual. The prize, however, was awarded to the Tecumseh Acres school.

☆

THE COUNCIL was then guided through the Tuttle Co. and the Products. Mr. Fortunato, after presenting them with safety glasses, showed them around the machine shop, housing, inspection office and the assembly line.

The tour ended with an inspirational talk from Mr. R. W. Herrick. He talked about the youth of Tecumseh and told the council members that to succeed in life, you have to put something into life before you can take something out.

When the council returned to City Hall, Tim Whitney, the Justice of the Peace, was performing a wedding ceremony. In the mock wedding were Candy McEnroe as the bride, Doug Goldsberry as the groom, Terri Clark and Ricky Tesky were the witnesses.

From there, everyone went to lunch. At 1 we assembled again at City Hall, there the office holders went to their respective places and the council members attended a shooting demonstration by Chief Clark.

He told us the fundamentals of shooting and emphasized the importance of safety at all times.

☆

NEXT WE toured the Sewage Disposal Plant. The operations that take place were thoroughly explained by the plant attendant.

Next on the agenda was a tour of the fire barn. There Mr. Manley explained the procedures used in fire fighting. We were allowed to look over the trucks, which we found in excellent condition. This ended our tours for the day.

At 7:30 we assembled for the last time at City Hall for the Council Meeting. The different department heads submitted reports of the happenings of that day. Following good parliamentary proceedure the rest of the meeting was carried out and the meeting was adjourned at 8:45.

We would like to express our sincere thanks to Mayor Easton and Councilman Welch for their patience and cooperation. Also Chief Clark, Mrs. Sallows, Mr. Fortunato and all of the other people who helped to make this day a success. Thanks again.

Memoriam

IN MEMORY of Mrs. Ruth Litton, who passed away one year ago today, May 29, 1961.
The sun and moon are shining
On a lone and silent grave;
Beneath lies the one we dearly loved,
But whom we could not save.
Friends may think we have forgotten
When at times they see us smile;
Little do they know the heartaches
That our smiles hide all the while.
Sadly missed by her husband and children. M31,p

Card of Thanks

WITH DEEPEST GRATITUDE we extend this word of thanks for the many kind acts of sympathy, expressed by thoughtful friends. These kindnesses have meant much to us.

With Michigan water accidents already having claimed 19 lives this year, the State Police urges greater safety precautions by all persons participating in water sports.

In addition to the deaths in the 28 accidents reported, there were five persons injured.

Five of the deaths were children under nine years of age who fell into water from bridges, banks, docks or piers.

These fatalities stress the need for proper supervision of youngsters wherever there are water hazards, said the State Police.

TREE HOUSE LIVING

Hurrah, our tree house living started early this year! Never before have we been out on our porch the middle of May but of course, never before has the temperature soared to the 90's the middle of May. I'm all for it, though, being outside so early is wonderful—and different, too.

Our screened-in porch sits practically at the top of the high creekbank; we call it the tree house because most of the trees grow down close to the creek and so, porch-level is about leaf-level.

After being inside so long, getting outside is marvelous and this year the treat is double. Enjoying tree house living already is well; it is an entirely new experience.

We knew that at blossom-time things were pretty from our south and west windows; they are pretty from the tree-house, too. Although the blossoms on the big cherry tree in back were going, they were still nice to see and for the first few days, the lilacs were at their peak.

A big beauty-bush in Cameron's border was absolutely lovely, a huge ball of delicate pink.

Our wild flower garden was another source of pleasure. The trillium came out just as we went out; the yellow adder tongues were still good; a surprise was a small clump of mayflowers we didn't realize we had; and, of course, violets, purple, yellow and white, sparkled everywhere.

Several days after the trillium turned from a snowy white to a delicate lavender, the Jacks-in-the-pulpit started popping up. Such odd plants, they are perhaps my favorite and we had some good luck this year—we had some new seedlings.

☆

SPRINGTIME finds the birds at their busiest and what fun to view all the activity from a new angle. Take the robins for instance, they put on quite a show.

Their homesteading was done in the elm tree by the back door. They picked a pert-house site which was too high for me to see well and so my good looking was along the creekbank. Big fat robin would walk just at the water's edge and try first patch of mud and then another.

When finally the perfect consistency was found, a big billful was picked up and into the tree the bird would hurry. It was interesting to note that not any old mud would do, the bird was quite painstaking about finding just the right thing.

☆

THE KINGFISHER puts on quite a show for us, too—especially before the leaves are full grown. Then, from the porch, one of his favorite fishing perches is in perfect view.

The other day he rattled up the creek, stopped at the spot and after but a short wait, dove for a late breakfast. Successful as usual, he came up with a tiny fish and gulped it down.

In a few minutes his bill opened, he jerked up a little, his bill closed and he settled down—it all happened much quicker than it takes to tell. Do birds burp?

The best thing about our tree house is the closeness of the creek. I know it's old hat to talk about "a rippling, bubbling brook merrily dancing along"—but that is exactly what Evans Creek does and we love it!

So it is that much to our great pleasure this year we are off to an early start on our tree house living!

Clerk Warns City Voters To Register

City Clerk Naomi Sallows is alerting all registered electors in the city to come to City Hall and check their registration to ascertain that the registration is up to date.

Because there are three precincts within the city, it is necessary for the office to keep a master file. In past years registrants have not always signed the registration and it is necessary to secure the signature of each registered voter.

Mrs. Sallows warns the citizenry to be sure to stop at the office if they wish to continue voting in the future.

This registration concerns only the voters of the city of Tecumseh.

HILLSDALE — To the good teacher, teaching is a way of life. It is wanting to teach and directing one's life toward this goal before the career begins.

Anne Preston, a Hillsdale College junior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Preston, 316 W. Pottawatamie St., has been preparing for a teaching career since she was in high school.

At Tecumseh High, she was a member of the Future Teachers club, active in the Girls' Athletic Association, art editor of the school annual, and special feature writer for the school paper.

In addition, she was in Girl Scouting for 10 years.

After graduation she attended Albion College, where she decided to major in Spanish in order to teach in junior high schools.

☆

HER WARM regard for people attracts many friends, and one in particular brought her a most unusual hobby. Through a blind friend, Anne learned Braille and is a reader for the blind.

Now at Hillsdale Anne continues to learn through many experiences.

As a member of the Leadership Workshop, she attended the National Youthpower Conference, in Chicago, where students from 23 states met in April, and the Super Market Institute in Chicago, May 13-16. She is a member of the Spanish club and of the International Relations club.

☆

AS UNIQUE as the study of Braille is Anne's Cub Scout troop. Working with Mrs. Penny Cooper, a Hillsdale polio victim whose son is a Cub, Anne and Jeanne Barlow, Detroit junior, meet weekly with the boys.

This is part of her elementary education Special Projects course under the direction of Professor Elizabeth Dickinson, Director of the Hillsdale College Nursery School.

In addition to these activities, Anne holds an Assistantship Honors in Spanish. She operates the language laboratory one day a week, tutors students two days a week, and observes teaching methods for a number of hours each semester.

☆

ANNE NOT only directs her winter studies toward her goal, but summers, too, are scheduled with this in mind.

For the past two summers she has been counselor at Camp Arbutus in Traverse City. This summer she will study at Guadalajara, Mexico, and travel for two weeks afterwards, "taking slides and buying souveniers to show my own Spanish students when I teach," she says.

After graduation, Anne hopes to attend the Merrill Palmer School for Counseling and Guidance.

Her goal is set.

If preparation is the handmaiden to success, good things will come to this direct young blonde with the flashing smile.

ANNE PRESTON

Sgt. Sokol Tells Rotary of Addicts

Detective Sgt. Walter Sokol of the Detroit Racket Squad Section, Michigan State Police, related his experiences and effects of narcotics on addicts at the Tecumseh Rotary Club meeting last week.

Sgt. Sokol, in the force for 21 years and a linquist in four languages, showed colored slides and narrated as to the difficulties encountered in apprehending smugglers and addicts.

Local Police Chief Murell Clark was program chairman.

Auction Ends Business Days Here

Claron "Skip" Rex closed his Western Auto store for the last time Saturday after a two-day auction sale completed his role as a Tecumseh businessman.

He came here in 1955 after employment with the Jim White Chevrolet Agency in Toledo.

Although not certain as to future plans, Mr. Rex and his family will move back to Toledo this summer.

His wife Ruth, a teacher in the Clinton schools, has resigned her position there. They have two sons in the Tecumseh grades.

QUESTION: I recently purchased a small business. I have four employees. How do I report their earnings for social security purposes, and how much do I pay on their earnings?

ANSWER: You should get in touch with your nearest Social Security or Internal Revenue office and ask for Form SS-4. Mail the completed form to the Internal Revenue Service. They will issue you an employers identification number and provide you with the forms to report your employees.

QUESTION: I hired a woman to clean my house one day a week. I pay her $10 to do this work plus 50 cents car fare. Is is necessary for me to pay social security taxes on the wages I pay her.

ANSWER: If you hire a domestic employee who is paid $50 or more in cash wages during a calendar quarter, you are required to report her earnings. The amount you give her in cash for car fare would also count as part of her earnings, and would be subject to social security taxes.

QUESTION: I heard that the social security tax had been increased this year. Could you tell me the present tax rate?

ANSWER: The social security tax rate at the present time is 3¼% each for employers and employees. Self-employed persons pay 4.7% for their first $4,800 of earnings.

Do you have a question about social security? If so, write to your social security representatives for Lenawee County, James Rushton, 536 N. Jackson St., Jackson. All letters are confidential and you will receive an immediate reply.

Visitors of Patients at Hospital Limited

At the request of Orrie Gilbert, administrator at Herrick Memorial Hospital, the Hospital Auxiliary members have agreed to assist with the visitation check.

Too many visitors, who stay for prolonged periods, are definitely a detriment to patients.

Recently it was necessary to move a heart patient from a semi-private room because her roommate had so many visitors.

The medical staff of the hospital and the patients themselves are emphatic when they speak of the need for visitors to cooperate with the regulations.

The program of visitors check requires four volunteer workers per day for the afternoon and evening hours.

☆

TWO CARDS for each patient are available for visitors at either entrance from 1 to 4:30 p.m. in the afternoon and from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in the evening.

Only two visitors will be allowed to see a patient at one time. Announcements are made over the public address system when there is a violation of the rule.

Mrs. Arthur Geisenhaver and Mrs. Royal Welch have charge of the program.

☆

WITH THE added need for woman power, the Auxiliary is requesting that more of the members volunteer to help.

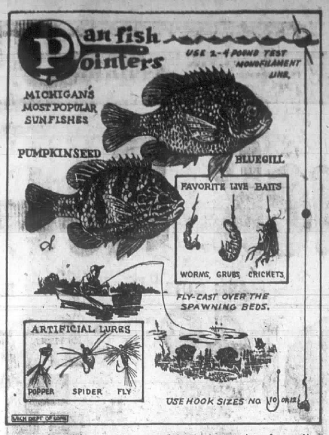
Mrs. Joe Rohweder, HA 3-2296, will be glad to register names of volunteers for any of the many services which the auxiliary provides at the hospital.

Mrs. Hugh Walter is in charge of the TV rental for patients.

Mrs. Rohweder and Mrs. Victor, Jr. have charge of the puppet making for child patients.

Mrs. Rohweder and Mrs. John Surratt conduct the hostess cart program.

These projects require the services of six ladies every day, not including those who make puppets.



Michigan's panfishing hits one of its highest points for angling action in spring and early summer. Figuring big in its early season thrills are the bluegill (top) and pumpkinseed sunfish (bottom). During their spawning period which runs from mid-May in the southern lower peninsula to late June and early July in the upper peninsula, these two fish are found in shallows (1 to 4 feet of water) along weedy lake edges. Early morning and after 4 p.m. are the most productive hours for fishing them. Small hooks and 2 to 4 pound test monofilament or gut leader are used for best results. Veteran spin and fly casters favor the smallest red and white popper available, a rubber spider, an artificial floating wiggler, or any dry fly that seems to work. Natural baits include worms, bits of shrimp or nightcrawler, grubs, wigglers, or crickets. If you want a simple but worthy fishing rig, here's what to get and how to string your tackle together: 1) a cane pole 12-14 feet long; 2) a length of monofilament about as long as the pole; 3) a single split shot pinched onto the line a foot or 18 inches from the end; 4) a No. 10 hook tied on the lower end of the line. A small bobber may be desired.

Donna Murphy, Diana Schultz, Lois Scriver, James Mobley and Gary Radar are new members of the club.

Connie Robinette was elected to fill the unexpired term of Carolyn Woods.

Mrs. Jack Brown will assist students of Miss Woods to finish knitting projects for the Lenawee County Fair.

Members gave a plant to Minga Shope, who had been hospitalized for several weeks and is now recuperating at home.

She will be unable to attend school for some time.

City Gets $22,200 from Fund

LANSING — The State Highway Department has started distributing first quarter Motor Vehicle Highway Fund collections to Michigan counties and incorporated cities and villages.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said net receipts of the Highway Fund during January, February and March of 1962, amounted to $81,731,669, a decrease of $1,222,333 over the same period of 1961.

The decrease, Mackie said, was because thousands of motorists bought their 1962 license plates earlier than usual.

License plate sales during November and December were up 30%, compared to the previous year and this resulted in a $4.3 million increase in Highway Fund collections during the final quarter of last year.

Lenawee County's share totals $362,875, with Tecumseh slated to get $22,200.

Children's Art Classes Begin June 11

The classes will begin June 11 and continue through June 22. Daily sessions will last three hours.

The 11-13 age group class will be in attendance from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, and the class for high school students will be held from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Powdered Milk Sent To Algeria

Through the generosity of Michigan residents, a carload of powdered milk is en route to France to nourish Algerian refugees.

This milk, which was shipped from Elsie May 15, was made possible by donations last fall by Michigan dairy farmers through a system of authorized deductions.

The shipment to France consists of 5,000 pounds of whole milk powder purchased from the Michigan Producers Dairy Company of Adrian, and 25,000 pounds of skim milk powder purchased from the Michigan Milk Producers Association.

The Association packaged the entire amount for Michigan CROP.

Russell M. Hartzler, Michigan CROP Director, revealed that this shipment contains enough powder to make approximately 125,000 quarts of skim milk and 16,250 quarts of whole milk.

Farm Home Fire Consumes Goods

The farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Gary E. Service in Monmouth, Iowa, was consumed in a fire caused when lightning struck the home May 11 at midnight.

The Services were only able to save the lives of their four-month-old daughter and themselves. None of their furnishings were saved.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Thomas of Clinton, parents of Mrs. Service, had arrived the day before for a visit. Everything that they had taken with them for the trip was also destroyed.

Mr. Thomas owns the large beef cattle farm and his son-in-law is the manager there.

Mr. Service is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Service.

It is expected that the loss is nearly covered by insurance.

Con-Con Report

State Groups Back Document

A suit to force a November vote on the new Constitution has been filed in Ingham County Circuit Court and Con-Con President Stephen S. Nisbet has urged Circuit Judge Sam Street Hughes for a decision soon.

If the suit is denied voters will ballot in the April, 1963, election.

Meanwhile, without waiting for the actual voting time to be determined, at least two powerful statewide organizations, both with memberships in the thousands, have given whole-hearted support to adoption of the new Constitution, by Michigan voters.

In statements issued 24 hours apart, the Michigan Farm Bureau and the League of Women Voters both endorsed the proposed new document.

☆

THE FARM BUREAU, which originally had opposed any broad revision in the state's basic law, issued the following statement through its directors:

"The more than seven months of study, deliberations and debate by the 144 elected Constitutional Convention delegates appear to have resulted in a constitutional document that can be supported by every citizen of the State of Michigan.

The Farm Bureau declared that "while much of the historic and proven values have been retained, there has been a strengthening of the three coordinate branches of state government—executive, legislative and judicial."

The group also applauded the maintaining and strengthening of local government, retention of the 15-mill property tax limit and the added limitation of assessments at not more then 50 per cent of cash value.

The statement concluded with an unqualified endorsement: "We believe the proposed new Constitution is a constructive improvement over our present Constitution and that the new document will stand on its merits. We believe that it deserves acceptance and adoption by the voters of Michigan.

☆

A DRIVING force to call a Constitutional Convention, the League of Women Voters endorsed the new document at its biennial session in Ypsilanti.

Council members, carefully compared Con-Con results with league recommendations before they urged "yes" votes when the document goes on the ballot.

They declared the proposed Constitution as very much improved over the present one. "It is not perfect," was one comment, "but when do you achieve perfection?"

It appears that a number of other prominent state organizations are about ready to declare themselves in favor of the new document.

E. Dale Kennedy, executive secretary of the Michigan Education Association, said, "We'll call a special board of directors meeting if necessary, to consider the proposed Constitution."

Kennedy indicated he anticipates his group will support the new Constitution.

At a recent state session the Junior Chamber of Commerce, another group active in obtaining Con-Con petition signers, passed a resolution congratulating and commending the delegates upon the substantial completion of their efforts.

This action was taken before the Con-Con recess. The resolution stated that the Jaycees look forward with anticipation to examining the results of the delegates' labors and urged all citizens of Michigan to give the new document careful and thorough consideration.

☆

JAYCEE leaders indicated a special board meeting in June was likely to bring an endorsement of Con-Con action.

The State Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People came out in opposition to the new constitution.

Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University and Con-Con delegate, blamed misinformation for the NAACP action. He said, "I can't believe they were given all the facts."

The NAACP voiced displeasure with the civil rights and apportionment provisions.

Dr. Hannah is chairman of the Federal Civil Rights Commission and chairman of the Legislative Organization committee of Con-Con that handled apportionment.

"Of all the constitutions in the 50 states, this new proposed Constitution of Michigan does more in the field of civil rights than has ever been done in any state constitution," he said.

"It provides for a Civil Rights Commission with real power, authority and responsibility."

The reapportionment provision, Dr. Hannah said, is fair, equitable and valid.

DAR Gives Large Flag for Center

The local chapter, Abi Evans, of the Daughters of the American Revolution, presented a large 50-star, nylon flag to the city at the council meeting Monday night.

Mrs. Cecile Smith, regent, presented the flag in a brief ceremony with Mayor Harold Easton accepting for the residents of Tecumseh.

The DAR regent asked that the flag, which included a stand, be used in the city's new Community Center.

The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862 . . . the same year that

IN MICHIGAN, the new mines in the southwest corner of the state were supplying the Union with desperately needed iron ore. And, all over Michigan, beer was supplying folks with sparkling refreshment.

For then as now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation—light, sparkling refreshment that adds a touch of hospitality to any occasion. Folks in Michigan have always enjoyed the good fellowship that goes with every glass.

TODAY, in its Centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.

$900 School Robbery Solved

By JIM LINCOLN

Last fall's Tecumseh High School burglary, which resulted in over a $900 loss to the schools, was solved Friday night when police arrested five men.

Three have confessed to the burglary here on Nov. 16 when they chopped through a block wall into the high school vault.

Police Chief Murell Clark says one of the men George Gondnoky, 42, Riverview, turned state witness and involved two others in the local burglary.

According to Mr. Clark, on the night of Nov. 16 Gondnoky dropped off Edward T. Trudeau, 29, Ecorse, and David Sarazin, 38, Lincoln Park, at the high school and then drove to Dundee for a cup of coffee.

He later returned to Tecumseh and picked up the two men, both of whom have past police records.

Gondnoky, who has no previous record, was taken to the Lenawee County jail, but has since been released on bond. He has promised to make restitution and has indicated that he will waive preliminary examinations for sentencing next Monday.

The burglary ring has confessed to over 100 jobs, including ones at Clinton and Britton.

Five other persons, including a woman, also are suspected of being involved.

The investigation which led to the arrests began when Marysville police stopped Trudeau on May 28 for driving through a stop sign.

In the car were gloves on which white dust matched dust of an attempted safecracking in Marysville high school a few minutes earlier.

Police said he admitted the robbery attempt after long questining. The safe had been damaged but was not opened.

Chief Clark says Gondnoky received just over $100 for his split in the Tecumseh burglary, although the theft netted the three over $900.

WREATH WAS PLACED ON MONUMENT TO WAR DEAD AT CITY HALL

Long AND Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Can the hands of time be rolled back?

It seems that maybe they can — and were for me last Saturday.

The occasion was a major league baseball game in Detroit, the first for my son. Suddenly I found myself re-living my initial Tiger contest.

Although the sign said Tiger Stadium, I'll swear I was strolling into Navin Field.

They said the battle was going to be between the Indians and Tigers, but I looked out on the diamond and saw the Yankees of Joe McCarthy ready to clash with Charley Gehringer and his mates.

The year was 1930.

Everyone was wishing that the Babe would clout one over the right field wall into Trumbull Ave., just so the home club still won.

The Tigers weren't too much of a championship threat, hadn't flown a pennant since 1909.

Being typical kid, there was the immediate business of getting myself a favorite — and don't tell me you never heard of Harry Davis, the Indian Rubber Man.

Harry covered first base for Detroit as a slick-fielding left-hander. When he took a throw at the initial sack, Harry would make a fantastic stretch, giving the impression he was made of rubber.

At bat, unfortunately, Harry wasn't much. As it turned out, a season or two later, a rawboned youngster from the Bronx pushed Harry back into minor-league oblivion. The upstart was named Hank Greenberg or something like that.

But on that hot summer day, Harry was "my favorite."

The Babe staged quite a show in batting drill, but for the life of me I can't recall if he did belt any into Trumbull during the game.

Lou Gehrig was on first for New York and it seems to me that Bill Dickey was doing the catching and Earl Combs patrolled center field.

For Detroit, Pete Fox and Gee Gee Walker roamed the outer gardens.

Up in the stands, my dad and brother and I sat munching those tasty ball park peanuts, just as my son and I were doing Saturday. They never taste so good as when you eat them during a game.

Who won that 1930 clash? Well, you wouldn't expect a nine-year-old to remember all the details.

One thing that did make an impression was how we left the field. Nearly everybody from the lower deck poured right onto the diamond after the last out and cut across the turf to the big gates in the outfield walls.

Is my memory playing tricks on me, or did I really scamper over and tramp on first base, the very bag that Harry Davis guarded during the battle? Well, anyway, it was a fun-filled afternoon, both the real thing and my dream of 1930.

MEMORIAL DAY SPEAKER SAYS:

First: Peace of Mind

Individual peace of mind is the first step in bringing peace to the world, the Rev. Allen Wittrup said in his Memorial Day address at Brookside Cemetery.

When people talk of "peace" they think of harmony between various countries.

But then they regard the places rife with civil strife where there is only conflict.

The speaker pointed out that "peace of mind can be ours when our will is surrendered to God and there is no conflict of purpose of disharmony of desire."

He concluded, "Lord, give us peace of mind, body and soul that we might bring peace to a troubled world."

The Rev. Mr. Wittrup's talk climaxed the city's annual Memorial parade and service.

Councilman Royal Welch served as marshall of the parade, which included 30 units and nearly 800 participants.

About 1,500 watched the parade and attended the impressive cemetery ceremony.

The event began at city hall, where color guards and firing squads from the VFW and American Legion fired a salute over the monument dedicated to community war dead.

A wreath was placed there by Mrs. Richard Eisenminger, president of the VFW Auxiliary, and Mrs. Dennis Goller, president of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The parads then moved out, going west on Chicago Blvd. to Union St. and north to Brookside.

Cloudy skies threatened during parts of the morning, but sun broke through during the service. The Rev. Paul Brantingham gave the invocation and Mayor Haroid Easton spoke briefly.

At the cemetery, wreaths were placed at the Civil War monument, one tossed into Evans Creek in honor of navy dead and another dropped from a plane to honor Air Force dead.

THS Grad Named To Study Russian in Soviet Union

Janet Graham, a 1960 graduate of Tecumseh High School, is going to spend four weeks in Russia this summer.

She was one of 40 American college students throughout America selected for the University of Michigan's Russian Study Tour.

Miss Graham completes her sophomore year at U of M this week, where she has been studying Russian.

The Soviet Union will become a temporary "language laboratory" for these select students.

The program, suported in part by the Carnegie Corporation, features a four-week tour of the Soviet Union after six weeks of intensive study of the Russian language on the U of M campus and on their way to Russia by ship.

JANET GRAHAM

The students from throughout the U.S., including seven from U of M pledge to speak only Russian while in Russia.

Launched in the sumer of 1960, the program's chief stress is on language learning, although it draws students from various fields of study with at least two years of Russian language training.

They are tested in their language proficiency before and after the trip to determine its values in improving their Russian.

Previous tests indicate that participants not only accomplished a great deal through direct contact with Russians, but that they also showed a significant improvement while studying at the U of M.

☆

ON THE TRIP, they will be accompanied by Instructor Sam N. Driver, Lecturers Howard Dwelley and Edith Ignatieff, and Mrs. Hedy Reeds, all of the U of M Department of Slavic Languages and Literatures.

The group will leave New York July 24.

Janet, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Graham of Macon, was salutatorian of her high school graduation class and has been in Michigan's Honors School since her freshman year.

Tecumseh District Seeks 10 Teachers

Tecumseh schools are short 10 teachers for this fall and are having difficulty in filling these positions, states Supt. James McDowell.

The Tecumseh salary schedule starts at $4,500 for beginning teachers.

The superintendent says he has been unable to interest many teachers gradaating from the colleges and universities, since other districts have starting salaries beginning at $5,000 and $5,200.

Yearly increments offered in Tecumseh are only $120 per year and are among the lowest in the state.

To date the superintendent has been able to secure six teachers for positions in Tecumseh next fall.

Residents knowing of teachers who might desire to work in the Tecumseh schools, should ask them to telephone Mr. McDowell.

If this is not possible, let Mr. McDowell know the name of the person whom you think might be interested.

The following positions are open at present:

First grade at Tipton.
First grade at West Branch.
Second grade at West Branch.
Third grade at West Branch.
Second grade at Tecumseh Acres.

Susie Rohweder, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Rohweder of 607 E. Logan St., will be among 30 students from various parts of the United States to tour Germany for a summer study session of ten weeks.

Professor of German, C. R. Goedsche of Northwestern University, where Miss Rohweder is a junior, and his wife and a professor from the University of Kansas will accompany the students.

The group will study six weeks at Haus Steineck south of Bonn on the Rhine River and then spend one week in Berlin and another week touring the large cities of Germany.

Can Save Millions of Dollars

Charles Figy and Clyne W. Durst, Jr., delegates to the recent Constitution Convention, gave a report at Rotary May 29. They told of many of the more important Constitutional provisions incorporated in the new Document.

1. Executive Reorganization— Executive branch of government would be streamlined from the present structure of over 120 departments and agencies into a simplified structure of not more than 20 principal departments.

This plan saved New York state millions and the savings were greater in improved service to the people, without additional cost.

2. Executive Budget — Governor would be required to submit a budget setting forth proposed expenditures, and his estimate of revenue for the next fiscal period.

Flips Car, Gets Ticket

Gary Keehl, 17, was given a summons for violation of the basic speed law Sunday when his car went out of control on Allen Rd. west of Bartlett Rd. at 3:55 p.m.

A tire blew out and the car skidded 390 feet and overturned in a ditch, according to Clinton State Police. He was not hurt.

Soapy is back, helping toss a monkey wrench in adoption of the new Constitution.

Wonder why? Could it be that the new document calls for 20 principal state departments and agencies, instead of the present 120?

Really cuts down on the appointments, eh, Soapy?

Vic Lawson wanted to contact John Henderson, new recreation director, heard he was at The Herald, called us and asked for Mr. Henderson.

Then the fun began.

Seems one of the editors never forgot he portrayed a five-minute stage role in "You Can't Take It With You" as Wilbur C. Henderson.

"This is Mr. Henderson," our cornball answered.

"John?" asked Vic.

"No, this is Wilbur C."

"I was trying to get the new recreation director."

There was silence and suddenly our clod realized the play is not always the thing.

In our story last week about Stanley Packard, the man who helps Santa Claus by repairing toys, we should have reported that the Jaycees are paying for the materials Stanley uses, not the Service Club.

Stanley got into the toy project at the suggestion of Ken Zornow, who is one of the Jaycee regulars in providing repaired toys to the Service Club for Christmas distribution.

Discarded toys are also welcome for the project and can be left at the fire station or Mr. Packard's home, 401 S. Pearl St.

Ronald S. Milner is a Detroit writer who just received a $2,500 grant from the John Hay Whitney Foundation of New York so that he might finish a novel. In a Free Press story about the event Allan Seager of Tecumseh gets credit for helping to encourage Mr. Milner write. Mr. Milner told a FP reporter that "my school is at Kirby and Woodward" (location of Detroit Public Library). His college consisted of one year.

It would appear that other establishments have a bit of a problem with spelling, as well as newspaper office personnel.

In Dayton, O. Postmaster Hugh T. Albright received a memo Thursday from his training superintendent:

"This training unit is in need of a dikshunary. Request that one be perchused."

Albright signed the purchase order immediatly (right away).

☆

For the first time in some years, there was absolutely no difficulty with the public address system during the Memorial Day service at Brookside Cemetery.

We think it would be well worthwhile if the city purchased its own PA, for use at this service and other events during the year.

The system could be rented to community organizations, too.

☆

A student from the University of Michigan reports that he is unhappy with the parking ticket system of Tecumseh.

About two months ago, he drew a parking ticket and says he promptly slipped 50c into the red envelope and deposited it at one of the receptacles.

Last week, he got a note from the police saying that he'd never paid and his fine was now $1.

☆

"How about equal time?" asked hardware baron Jim Hite.

Last week, this column reported that Al Russell's old ship, the USS John Pierce, had been in the shagging detail for Scott Carpenter.

Now it turns out that the USS Intrepid, also much in the act, was Jim's home for almost two years.

These navy guys are really proud of their old crafts.

Mrs. John Sarouk, sister of the groom, was the matron-of-honor and Mrs. Dean Craig was the bridesmaid.

The Bennetts have a boy! Yes, Les and Lee have a bass to add to the quartette. Jeffrey Haugn Bennett was born May 26 at Bon Secours Hospital in Grosse Pointe.

Gleeful Lee writes, "We're so happy it's a boy." Tecumseh friends of the Bennetts are "so happy" too.

With two lovely little girls, our favorite tenor just needed a little bass. Hey, what if he happens to sing tenor like his Dad?

3. Legislative auditor general—The establishment of this office will provide the Legislature with a staff trained in analyzing and interpreting fiscal matters.

4. Consolation of Elections—Elections for state officers would be consolidated into a November election every two years. This can save the state and local units of the government approximately $1 million per year.

This also incorporates a four-year term of office for the governor and other elected state officers.

5. New Board of Education—An enlarged elected state board of education would be provided, to grant general supervisory control over public secondary and higher education. It is estimated this will save the taxpayers of Michigan a minimum of 2 million a year immediately, and perhaps greater amounts in the future.

$158 Million Is Saved by Michigan Taxpayers

Michigan's Catholic schools are saving the taxpayers of Michigan more than $158,000,000 a year, according to a pamphlet distributed at all Sunday Masses in Catholic churches of the Archdiocese of Detroit.

The pamphlet, entitled "Catholic Education in Michigan," was the third in a series of four aimed at a better understanding of the role of the Catholic schools in the community.

A total of 2½ million pamphlets are being distributed in the four-week program.

Enrollment in Catholic elementary and secondary schools in 1961 was 292,254 or 15.14% of total school enrollment in Michigan, the brochure said.

On this basis, the taxpayers of Michigan were saved $109,500,000 in operating costs, and $48,500,000 in capital expenditures, which would otherwise be required to educate these children in public schools.

The Catholic school is a true public school, in that it fulfills all the secular demands made by the state, the brochure said. Teaching of religion is in addition to the standard curriculum.

The State exercises regularly powers over the parochial schools the pamphlet pointed out, in such fundamental matters as compulsory attendance, certification of teachers, fire safety regulations, inspection of school construction plans, and statutory requirements in the curriculum.

Kiwanians Equip Park for Picnics

Tecumseh will have another well-equipped public park, thanks to efforts of the local Kiwanis Club.

To be known as Community Picnic Grounds, it will be along Evans Creek, off Maumee St., just north of the high school.

Members spent many hours last year to clear the area.

This month, they are building picnic benches and outdoor grills.

There will be six eight-foot tables and benches and four grills.

The grills are being made of cast steel and will be atop steel poles, embedded in concrete.

Ten Kiwanians began the bench assembly job last week, following their regular dinner meeting.

Working in the rear of Meadowridge Dairy, they fashioned a bench which will serve as a model. Harry Beland of Tecumseh Woodworking is cooperating on the project by furnishing a design and the lumber at cost.

They will continue evening work sessions until the project is complete.

The park will be officially dedicated June 21 with the club staging its regular gathering in picnic form with wives and children attending.

Other guests will be city officials and members of the Parks and Recreation commission.

From this date, citizens will be welcome to use the park at any time.

A large rustic sign will mark the site of the park and three directional signs at the east, west and north entrances to the city will guide visitors to the area.

The Tecumseh Players, who just finished their own theatrical season, have copped four of the 10 parts.

Representing the Tecumseh group will be William Sanford, Mrs. Allen Russell, Mrs. Bertha Vallelunga and Mrs. Robert Murray.

Con-Con Report

Preamble Remains the Same

The preamble of Michigan's Constitution remains unchanged. The delegates did not believe they could improve upon the 1908 wording which says:

"We the people of the State of Michigan, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of freedom, and earnestly desiring to secure these blessings undiminished to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution."

The present document follows closely the wording of the 1908 Constitution in stating the fundamental rights guaranteed to citizens, commonly known as our "Bill of Rights."

Such things as the right peaceably to assemble, freedom of worship, freedom to speak and of the press, the right to petition the government, the right to bear arms, the privilege of habeas corpus and trial by jury, the right to be represented in court in person or by an attorney—all are included in much the same language. Ten votes in a 12-member jury in a civil case will be sufficient.

☆

NEGROES and members of all racial groups are protected, especially in areas of employment, education, housing and public accomodations. The section dealing with discrimination says:

"No person shall be denied the equal protection of the laws; nor shall any person be denied the enjoyment of his civil or political rights or be discriminated against in the exercise thereof because of religion, race, color or national origin. The legislature shall implement this section by appropriate legislation."

The highly controversial section on "search and seizure" means that such items as narcotics, guns, explosives and other dangerous weapons will be permitted as evidence in court even though they were obtained in an illegal search.

The Michigan Supreme Court has not ruled on the constitutionality of the provision, although several cases arguing this point are pending, including one from Lenawee County.

Protection of a person's home is continued.

☆

THE SECTION on subversion, which was added to the present Constitution in 1950, is omitted.

Considered a product of the anti-Red movement of the era, it was an unsatisfactory section because the offense was not properly defined. It was believed that this could be enacted as a law if the need demanded it.

Insertion of the right to keep arms is considered a safeguard. It would eliminate the possibility that state law could require that all firearms be housed in a central location (such as police headquarters) and used only during specified hours of the day.

Papers Acted Fairly

George M. VanPeursem, Republican state chairman, praised Michigan newspapers for "fair and impartial" coverage of the explosive medicare controversy.

"The performance of fair minded editors prevented President Kennedy from ramming the ineffective King-Anderson bill down the throats of the American public," the GOP chief told party workers at a luncheon meeting.

The President unfairly relied on his massive nationwide rallies and his horde of press agents in an attempt to bury all opposition under an avalanche of propaganda, asserted Mr. VanPeursem.

"The only thing that prevented a complete victory was a public-protecting press, which gave equal coverage to doctors arguments," Mr. VanPeursem disclosed.

The GOP chief warned that Mr. Kennedy has taken "grossly unfair" advantage of the vast publicity power of the nation's highest office.

"Unless some means is found to counteract Mr. Kennedy, he will destroy any semblence of loyal opposition to his programs," charged Mr. VanPeursem. "If that happens, democracy will crumble to government by presidential dictation."

Mr. VanPeursem said Michigan Republicans feel "no compulsion" to champion the Kerr-Mills Act.

"However, we know the bill is vastly superior to King-Anderson measure in essential provisions," the GOP leader asserted. "Therefore, we feel duty bound to protect the interests of our senior citizens by exposing the glaring weaknesses of the Kennedy-backed measure."

Mr. VanPeursem said, among other things, Kennedy's bill fails to cover surgical or medical costs—two vitally needed benefits.

Patients are also shortchanged on payment of hospital rooms durine their confinement.

"King-Anderson is bad legislation, politically motivated," charged Mr. VanPeursem.

Lack of Rain, Dam in Creek Drops Water

Lack of rain and a dam in Goose Creek have combined to slow the flow of water in the River Raisin.

The dam, which is creating the new Lake Columbia in Jackson County, has come under close scrutiny from city officials.

No action, however, is planned, reports City Manager Ed Nelson.

Dropping water levels in Red Mill and Globe Ponds last week prompted Mr. Nelson to investigate the new lake.

On Memorial Day, he examined the dam, which has a spillway about 10-feet wide. At that time, the lake's water level was four feet below the top.

Goose Creek, which has a normal bed about 12-feet wide, was dry, according to Mr. Nelson.

The River Raisin is fed by two major arteries, the outlets from Goose Creek and Vineyard Lake. They meet northeast of Brooklyn.

☆

PERRY Satterthwaite, who operates the Hayden Hydro Plant at the south end of Globe Pond, said the operation there, which normally runs 24 hours a day during April and May, was down to about three of four hours.

Electricity made at the small plant is sold to Consumers Power. The hydro setup has been in continuous operation since 1921, explains Mr. Satterthwaite.

He adds that lack of rainfall has been a contributing factor.

☆

ALTHOUGH the water levels of River Raisin have no effect on the supply of drinking water for Tecumseh, in Blissfield the river's condition is vital. Blissfield gets all its water from the river.

In the past week, residents there have complained of its taste.

Tecumseh's drinking water comes from seven wells.

Water from the river is used in the city's filtration plant and when the flow reaches a low level, more purifying chemicals must be used to keep the bacteria count down before the effulence is released into the river.

This hasn't been necessary as of Wednesday, Mr. Nelson reports.

☆

CITY ATTORNEY James Beardsley checked with Jackson County Clerk Floyd Poole to determine if the developers of Lake Columbia, the Central Realty Co. of Lansing, had received permission to dam Goose Creek.

As it turned out, the firm had worked through the State Conservation Dept., from whom it had received approval of its general plan for the lake.

The dam was mentioned in that the Conservation Dept. had waved the necessity for including a fish ladder, which sometimes is required.

A spokesman for Central Realty said that in development of two other such man-made lakes, Lake LeAnn in Hillsdale County and Lake Geneva in Ingham County, similar steps were followed.

In the case of Lake Geneva, some nearby property owners protested that the dam there had affected their land, but a survey proved the claims baseless, he said.

Norman Billings of the State Water Resources in Lansing explained that no permit is required to dam a creek by his department. If a daming injures an individual or city, court action may be taken.

Indians Await Next Season

Things turned out rather badly for the Tecumseh High School baseball team this spring.

The Indians never did manage a victory.

Final record, 0 and 14.

"But wait until next spring," reminds Coach Carl Hale, who will have a raft of sophomores and juniors back for diamond action.

The 1962 team edition was one of the most inexperienced in T-HS history.

Coach Hale loses only two boys, Kent Naugle, a catcher, and Wayne Davis, center fielder and pitcher.

Tecumseh finished off its year with a trio of tough defeats.

In a twin bill at Grosse Ile May 26, THS dropped a pair of tight battles, 4-3 and 3-2.

Freshman Ron Anderson, playing right field both games, had two long doubles and a triple.

Another frosh, Gregg Allen, allowed but four hits in the opener and Norman Tucker spun a three-blow performance in the second game. Tucker is a junior.

The last game, May 28, found the Indians facing the high-flying Blissfield, which tied Flat Rock for the Huron League title.

The Royals won, 8-1, but were held for six innings, when Tucker tried after a one-day rest and allowed five runs in the last frame.

For All We Hold Sacred . . . Attend Church

June Bride

In a moment, the organist will strike a chord. There will be a sudden hush in the church, then the strains of the wedding march will peal forth and she will take her father's arm and start up the aisle, her measured steps symbolic of the very real hesitation she will be feeling.

She would not be human if she did not hesitate. These steps she is about to take are the most important steps of her life. She is poised on the threshold of another existence in which the pronoun she uses will be "We" and not "I." Soon she will learn to think of another before she thinks of herself. Presently, she will come to know fully the meaning of the word "share."

As she moves forward, she falters for just a second. Then her step becomes sure, her lips curve in a smile. The church through which she walks is dear and beloved to her—and so is the man who stands waiting for her beside the altar. Her marriage, blessed by faith, is beginning where all marriages should begin—in the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

☆

"It is my feeling that the people have a right to know how their tax dollars are being spent and that public funds should be controlled stringently

GENE MACKEY

in order to provide the best possible results for the least amount of expenditure.

"We should be concerned with our educational curriculum to see that it serves the needs of our children, yet critical that we do not overemphasize the necessities in order to obtain additional funds.

"We should use the people's tax dollars wisely, be able to balance a budget and still provide good sound education, abide by state and federal pre-requisites as far as our bus system and lunch programs are concerned and not use the scare tactics and child indoctrination which was done in the last millage issue.

"Let's be completely honest with the people, consider them adults capable of making an intelligent decision and provide them with the information necessary to make the decisions in these issues.

"Let's operate our schools with economy in mind, yet not at the expense of our children. Let's find out why the costs are so high and work toward their reduction and finally let's operate our schools by one set of standards designed for the current and future needs of our children," he concludes.

Bill Frownfelder

William Frownfelder, cost analyst in budgetary control at the Tecumseh Products Co., was born in Adrian July 23, 1925.

He spent two and a half years as a second lieutenant in the Army Air Force.

He is a member of the Presbyterian Church.

"Our system of public education in this community as well as throughout the whole United States is undergoing one of its most trying times. Modern society is demanding more skilled people in all walks of life and a better educated citizen is now a prime necessity.

We must therefore teach our children to be able to think, work, and act in this fast-moving, technological world or be led like sheep to someone else's green pastures.

The biggest problem we have is the method of securing this education. I believe it can only be done in the secondary schools, by a well-informed public, a progressive board of education and an able administration.

There are many questions in the minds of the people of this district which need answering in terms that we can all understand. Where are we going? What are our goals? Have the people lost confidence with the administration? Is our tax dollar being spent wisely? How much can we afford?

These are only a few of the questions which must be answered before we can hope to eliminate the hand-to-mouth existence under which our schools are now operating.

"I believe the voters of our district have given the board of education and school administration a two-year moratorium to get their house in order and issue an instructive program within the means of our people.

"If the people of this district elect me to their board of education, I will do my best to see these questions get a proper answer and our children receive the best education that we can afford.

He served with the Army Air Force in World War II as a fighter pilot and currently holds the rank of Major in the Air Force Reserve.

He was president of the Tecumseh Acres PTA for the 1960-61 school year.

"The need for a well-rounded education for our children is obvious, of course, and our first duty to our children is to see that they have an opportunity for such an education.

"Most of us, unfortunately, leave this entirely to the school system. We cannot expect to find fault with any such system unless we become well acquainted with the system, the school board and the functions and responsibilities of each.

"No one can honestly criticize any action or function of any group unless he has first-hand exposure to such group or function. I feel strongly that one of the first duties of any interested citizen is to attend school board meetings, and I expect, if nothing more, to stir up enough interest to make attendance at school board meetings a matter of course."

"I am the only candidate who has worked in this area over the past year.

"I have every reason to believe that our school system can be operated within its income and still offer an outstanding curriculum to Tecumseh. I feel that the first order of business is to fulfill the pledge to the community that the deficit will be erased in two years.

"In doing so, I further promise that controls be set up through the business manager to assure ourselves we will continue to live within our expected income. I further feel that we can offer an improved academic program and still accomplish these objectives."

the Board of Education are responsible to the people of the district that elected them.

"They cannot be "Yes" men to the administration.

"It is their direct responsibility to see that the school system is operated within the economy of its supporting community, not above it.

"We should strive to get the very best possible education for our children at the least possible cost."

Good Boating Tips

If you're one of the 40 million who'll take to the water this year to enjoy boating, now is the time to brush up on the rules for safe boating.

There are booklets and pamphlets available from such sources as the Coast Guard Auxiliary and the Outboard Boating Club of America, and from manufacturers and dealers in boats and motors.

A second cardinal rule: Use a little common sense. It doesn't take much knowledge of boating to know that a big lake on a windy day can be dangerous to a small craft.

Here are good boating tips:

► Don't overload your craft. The more you put into the boat, the easier it is to capsize.

► Don't stand up or change seats while the boat is under way. If you must move about, keep low in the center of the boat and hold on the gunwales.

If you're a boatsman, get one of these booklets and study it.

There are certain basic precautions that all boaters should know and observe, but the cardinal rule is a very simple one:

Display good manners afloat.

Show proper respect for others and, most often, you'll get the same treatment in return.

► Buzzing a dock, wharf or anchored craft marks you as an irresponsible skipper. Don't do it. You may miss.

► Watch your wake. The waves can damage shoreline property. Pass through anchorage at minimum speed.

► Avoid boating too close to swimmers, fishermen and water skiers. It can be dangerous.

► Don't jump or dive from a moving boat. You may hit floating debris, or an underwater object. Or you may have the breath knocked out of you by the impact.

► Never take a boat out unless it contains life jackets for everyone aboard and the life jackets are donned. Even a good swimmer can get into trouble if thrown abruptly from a fast moving boat into cold water.

► Never venture too far from shore on a large body of water in a small craft. Sudden squalls can play havoc with unwary boatsmen.

► If your boat overturns, stay with it. The chances are good that, sooner or later, someone will pick you up. Very few of us are in good enough physical condition to hold up for a long swim, particularly in rough water.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

THE SLEEK GRAY ONES

What an unfortunate name! Actually we think they are among the most attractive, both in appearance and in manner, of all the summer bird guests. These sleek gray birds have so many good traits it is just a shame they are burdened with such a name—cat-birds!

Of course, there is a perfectly logical explanation for the name; they can sound exactly like a cat.

Expert mimics, their first cousins are the famed mocking-birds of the south. I must hasten to add however, that cat noises are but a small part of the repertoire.

They make all sorts of noises; whistles, trills, chirps, squawks, they mix everything you can think of together.

The blend may not always be musical, the scream of a cat is a bit jaring, but it's fun.

At least, the birds always act as though they enjoy themselves and we enjoy hearing them.

We enjoy seeing them, too. By far the neatest of any summer guest, a rumpled and mussed cat-bird is simply unheard of.

Neat as a pin and looking as if they had just stepped out of a band box—these are apt descriptions.

Not a flamboyantly garbed bird but dapper, yet! About nine inches long both the male and female wear trim suits of dark gray. They sport black caps, black bills and dark rust under-their-tail feathers.

SOME PEOPLE call them black robins but, oh, my, they have so much more personality than do the red-breasts. They do sometimes hop on the ground, robin fashion, but the similarity ends about there.

Of course, we are probably prejudiced. Cat-birds are great favorites around here.

Each year we have a pair who spend the summer with us. One of them occasionally comes to the feeder and, for a change, I can say that I have pictures. (I still have not forgiven myself for misisng the white-crowned sparrows.)

They are fond of the birdbath, both for drinking and for splashy baths. The corntree is mildly interesting to explore but really, the bird's love is not for our food.

They love us for our post and rail fence, our clump of barberry bushes and our big honey-suckle bush.

☆

THE FENCE is the best singing platform ever designed — it is also quite a nice trapeze. They run along the top rail much like a circus tight-rope walker.

The barberries are two-fold fun, also; food wise they provide tasty berries and I strongly suspect that the blossoms attract insects which the birds relish. Being quite dense and thick, this is a great hide and seek place, too.

Cat-birds often nest in bushes and each year we are just sure that they are building a nest in the barberries and each year we are wrong.

Week after week they spend the greater part of each day, in and around the prickly clump but apparently it is just to eat and play.

The fact that they are quite unhappy with visitors and always escort the intruding blue-jays and robins away, encouraged our maybe-they-are building-a-nest hopes.

It never works out. I don't think they have ever homesteaded there.

☆

THE BIG honeysuckle bush at the back of the drive is used much like the barberries. They might, however, have had a nest there last year; after the leaves were gone we saw one.

Dad says they are busy in the bush again this year so our fingers are crossed.

So it is that once again a pair of cat-birds are keeping things interesting—wonderful birds, we always enjoy the sleek gray ones.

Two Teams Are Tied for First

High winds pushed up scores in the Tecumseh Products golf league last Thursday night.

But the Gerald Baker team didn't mind, as it dropped previously unbeaten Ben Gillies' crew, 2-0.

This helped create a tie for first place in the loop as Robert Beevers' outfit dumped Wendell Ruem's four, 2-0, and moved even with Gillies.

People Must Help Others To Reveal Faith

The Rev. James Brantingham, pastor of the Raisin Center Friend's Church, spoke at the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club last Thursday evening.

Mr. Brantingham stressed the necessity for demonstrating our faith through our service to others.

He stated that only as people unselfishly seek to help others without regard to race or color or economic position do they reveal a deep and true faith.

ABOUT AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE

Do You Understand?

Responsible motorists are careful to carry automobile insurance on their cars—especially liability coverage—but it is a safe bet that many do not completely understand the protection they have.

A complete automobile policy consists of four parts:

- ► Liability coverage
- ► Comprehensive insurance
- ► Collision
- ► Protection against uninsured motorists

Some insureds purchase only the liability insurance, others buy various combinations of the basic coverages.

Basically, liability insurance protects you when you have an accident and you are at fault. If there is some question about your liability, the insurance company will defend you in court and take care of any judgment, up to the limit set by the policy.

Generally, the more negligent a driver is held to be, the higher the claim against him will be. Judgements running into the tens of thousands of dollars are not uncommon.

This coverage also extends to other members of the family when they drive the car and any outsiders who use the car with the insured's permission. And the insured and his family are covered when they borrow another car with the owner's approval.

There are three parts to liability coverage. Bodily injury liability protects you against claims arising from injury or death to persons. Property damage liability takes care of damage to other people's property.

The medical payments provision covers anyone who is injured while entering, riding in or leaving your car. This pays the medical bills, up to the limit set in the policy, regardless of who is responsible for the accident.

Actually, medical payments coverage is not liability, since the insurance company makes payment even when the insured was not at fault in the accident.

☆

THE LIABILITY portion of a policy is usually referred to as a "10/20 and 5, or 25/50 and 5 policy" etc.

This means that the company, in the first instance, will pay up to $10,000 for injury to any one person and not more than $20,000 for all injuries for all injured persons in any one accident.

The third figure, which in this case is $5,000, is the maximum the company will pay for property damage from one accident.

Coverages are available up to $100,000/300,000.

Comprehensive physical damage coverage pays for loss caused by fire, lightning, flood, windstorm, glass breakage, falling objects, vandalism or malicious mischief. It also covers loss caused by theft.

Collision insurance pays for damage to your car even if the accident is your fault.

Most insurance of this type is written as "deductible," whereby the insurance pays for damages up to a certain amount, usually $50 or $100, and the company pays the rest.

An increasingly popular type of coverage is known as "uninsured motorist" insurance. If you are in an accident caused by someone else, but who does not carry liability insurance, you can collect for personal injury damages from your own company.

It also protects you against collision with hit-and-run drivers and drivers of stolen cars. The cost of this insurance is small.

☆

IN COMPREHENSIVE and collision insurance, no amount of coverage is normally specified.

The policy is instead written for "A.C.V.," meaning that the company pays the Actual Cash Value of the car at the time of a "total" loss, or whatever amount necessary to repair the car.

Insurance companies are as concerned as drivers are about the rising costs of automobile insurance. However, insurance premium rates are based on claim costs resulting from traffic accidents.

Thus, three things are causing rates to go up:

- ► The increasing number of accidents
- ► Tendency of many court cases to result in very liberal jury awards
- ► Higher cost of repairing the modern automobile.

Insurance spokesman urge that the public keep two thoughts in mind that will help keep rates down:

1. Obey traffic laws and use courtesy in driving.
2. Take a realistic attitude when part of a jury, being fair, but not encouraging excessive awards.

For more detailed information about your automobile insurance, the Insurance Information Institute suggests that you see your local independent insurance agent.

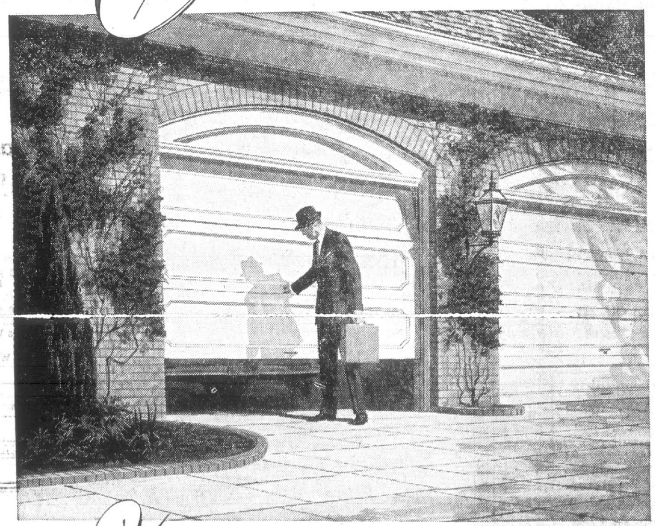
Cadillac



How to pay for a Cadillac—and not get one!

There are several ways that a man can pay the price of a new Cadillac car—and find himself in possession of an automobile of far less stature.

Because there are many motorists currently considering the purchase of their next car, we would like to enumerate these ways of going astray.

1. Assume that the purchase price of a new Cadillac car is higher than it actually is. (There are eleven models of other makes that this year cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac model.)

2. Fail to appreciate that the basic price of a new Cadillac includes important things that are extra on many other cars. (Including automatic transmission, power steering and power braking.)

3. Neglect to find out from a Cadillac dealer what your present car is worth in trade. (He is especially anxious this spring to welcome new owners.)

And if you take one of these detours, think of all the unique pleasures you could be missing.

There is Cadillac's styling—so majestic that it attracts attention wherever it goes.

There is Cadillac's comfort—so wonderful that every journey becomes a brief vacation.

And there is Cadillac's performance—so great that it is without rival on the world's highways.

So we suggest that you play it safe—and get all the facts from your dealer soon.

You might be closer to a Cadillac than you think.

REDUCE TRACTOR FUEL COSTS with inexpensive maintenance. Surveys have shown that better than 50% of farm tractors need some form of governor adjustment. Governors have a tendency to wear, which results in overspeeding the engine on light loads and failure to maintain proper load speed on heavy loads. As a result, you'll use more fuel to do less. Best way to find out if governors are worn is to have the tractor checked on a dynamometer by your dealer.

PREVENT EGG SWEATING by lowering the temperature of the packing room. It becomes most acute in hot, humid weather when eggs are moved from a cool holding room to warmer processing rooms or non-refrigerated transportation. Egg sweating promotes bacteria and mold, increasing the chance of spoilage. Moist eggs pick up dirt and stains easily from handling and from containers. If volume warrants the expense, a room air conditioner in the processing room will help.

CLEAN GRAIN BINS thoroughly before harvest. A 10% infestation in a bin can cost 45c a bushel on all wheat sold from it. First step is to sweep ceilings, walls and floors with a broom and remove all debris. Apply malathion or methoxychlor as a spray to the point of runoff. Allow at least 24 hours for the spray to dry before filling the bin. Clean the ground around the outside of the bins and spray after filling.

SPRING LAMB MARKET won't drop off sharply, but it will still pay to get lambs in as soon as practical. The 1962 lamb crop is smaller than last season, and more ewes lambed early this year.

Dawn Patrol Plans Made

Exchange Club members are getting their aprons and chef's hats ready for their annual Dawn Patrol breakfast June 17 at Meyer Airport.

The breakfast annually draws hundreds of local residents and visiting airplane pilots to feast on scrambled ham and eggs, sweet rolls, fruit juice and coffee. As many as 1,000 have been served.

Price for the meal is a dollar for adults and 75 cents for children. Breakfast will be served from 7 a.m. until all are fed.

Activities at the Dawn Patrol will include airplane and helicopter rides.

Exchange members voted Monday to use receipts from this year's Dawn Patrol to purchase a Freedom Shrine for the new library.

The Shrine includes reproductions of the United States Constitution.

Weather Won't Halt Power Class

Despite threatening weather, twenty-nine persons traveled to the Ellis Sharp Park in Jackson May 26, when the Power Class of the Tecumseh Friends Church was host to members and their families.

Softball preceded the potluck supper, part of which was cooked over outdoor grills. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hart and Norman Feller were in charge of arrangements for the evening.

Those attending were the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Brantingham and children, Paula and Sammy; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huber, with Douglas, Kenny, Ronnie, Tommy, and Merry; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Righter and Delores and Danny; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Furgason and children, Sharon, Gary, and Timmy; Carolyn Chase, Ardis Drewyor; Marjorie Martin; Mrs. Richard Butler; Mrs. Ray Sommers; Norman Feller; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hart, and Marilyn Burwitz, a guest of the Furgasons.

Congregation Honors Three Graduates

Dianne Spycher of the Tipton Community Church was guest soloist Sunday at the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church. She sang "He," to honor the graduates of the congregation, who were also presented with a rose and a Lutheran prayer book.

Joyce Anderson of Clinton and Mary Wing of Tecumseh were the seniors graduating from high school and Lana Wright will be graduated from Cleary Business College.

June 10 a class of eight youths will be confirmed at the Gloria Dei Church. Holy Communion will also be administered.

Monday, June 11, at 8 p.m., the new officers of the ULCW will be installed at the church following a business meeting.

The Men's Club will hold the regular meeting Tuesday, June 12, at 7:30 p.m.

Tipton Man Sees Rescue of Astronaut

Stanley J. Ball, fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Ball of 2825 Paragon Rd., Tipton, is serving aboard the anti-submarine warfare support aircraft carrier USS Intrepid, a unit which participated in the recovery operations of the "Project Mercury" orbital space flight May 24.

Lt. Commander Malcolm Scott Carpenter was picked from the Atlantic by a Navy helicopter which took him to the Intrepid. He later was flown to Grand Turk Island in the Bahamas.

VOICE OF THE HERALD

Senator Beadle Speaks Up

In a recent Blissfield Advance editorial, Publisher Duane DeLoach suggested to Senator Elmer Porter that he retire.

Reactions was swift—both pro and con.

One haymaker at the editor came from Senator Frank Beadle, one of Senator Porter's long-time associates.

In part, Senator Beadle said:

"Your question, 'Elmer, why don't you retire?' is a reflection on one of the finest records made by any legislator. It is also a reflection on the ability and integrity of an able and hardworking public servant,

"It has been my priviege, through my 12 years in the Senate, to serve under his chairmanship of the Senate Appropriations Committee. He has an unlimited knowledge of the activities and needs of all phases of our state government.

"He has been steadfast in his determination that the taxpayers get full value for their dollars, and all within the revenues available. You recognize this in your editorial when you refer to him as the 'watchdog of the treasury', a title properly and honorably won.

"And at the same time, he has been forward in his thinking, in his approach to new developments and new areas to better the operation of the various departments and agencies.

"In addition to his valuable service on the Appropriations Committee, he has a keen, analytical mind on any other legislation which gets out on the floor of the Senate. His comments and criticism are highly constructive and extremely helpful to his colleagues.

"It is unfortunate that this is the kind of thanks which comes to a person who has devoted his years to good public service. Age, in itself, is no criterion of justification for retirement, particularly when one is so well informed and able as Senator Porter.

"The last paragraph of your editorial indicates that you would be willing to substitute 'another senior citizen to take his place', one who has no legislative experience, no committee seniority, or does not have the respect and cooperation of his colleagues."

Senator Beadle is an astute fellow and we can see he was pretty upset by the blast at his associate.

At the same time, let's look at the other side of the coin. Our Legislature has been fumbling along for quite a few years, as the state suffers one black eye after another.

The best we have been getting is a series of negative approaches, stop-gap measures, short-term gasps of breath.

The Senate Old Guard has a record which its members might think is terrific, but most folks don't.

We have long been in opposition to a status quo philosophy. Our Legislature needs some new blood.

Let's Change the System

When organizations around town stage a public affair, one of the first things committee members do is collect free merchandise from local stores for prizes.

It has gotten so that shop keepers are being solicited about once a week. And who can refuse to give something when a good customer, from one of the local PTAs, comes in and asks?

Yet, the burden is becoming heavier and heavier.

The main benefit for the storeman is supposed to be the "free" advertising he receives when the prize is awarded at the affair.

With about 20 items being reeled off, it's doubtful if a great deal of notice is paid to any one donor.

The next benefit is supposed to come in the news columns of the newspaper, which is asked to print names of the stores and the winners.

Like the merchant who gives the gift to his good customer, the newspaper is slightly over a barrel. Its editors, anxious to help publicize these fairs, bazaars, dinners, fish fries, etc. suddenly find themselves top heavy with free advertising running as part of straight news stories.

Then, what sometimes happens, a committee member in reporting the prizes to us forgets one store (as happened two weeks ago.)

The owner vents his wrath on the newspaper for leaving his place of business off the list and we suddenly find ourselves with our own unhappy customer.

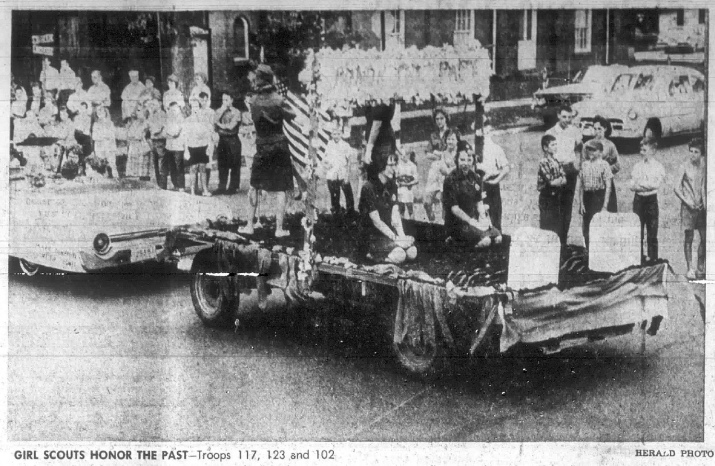
But we're not speaking here out of concern for ourselves, rather for the community's merchants.

Don't you think that this rash of prize-giving could be eliminated to a great degree? Or is is possible for the organizations (some of whom will net $500 to $1,000 on a single event) to buy, at cost from local merchants, the things to be awarded. Certainly most budgets could stand it.

In this way, instead of 20 little prizes, worth maybe $3 each, the sponsoring group could get one large prize worth $50 and a couple of runners-up valued at about $5 each.

Such a major door prize would do a much better job of attracting customers to an event than a raft of small prizes and, after all, isn't this the job of the prize list?

We'd certainly like to see a change.



GIRL SCOUTS HONOR THE PAST—Troops 117, 123 and 102 made this float for the Memorial Day parade. Standing near the front part of the float are Sue Ellen Rutherford and Diann Hoch. Kneeling are Ann Drake and Linda Spooner. This attractive float was the only one in the parade and attracted much attention. Possibly in future marches, other groups will prepare floats as the Girl Scouts have done.

A. J. Smith Receives New Trophy

A. J. Smith of Tecumseh added another soaring trophy to his collection last weekend.

Mr. Smith, current national champion of America's motorless flight enthusiasts, took his newest trophy in the top racing division in the Wright Memorial Meet at Richmond, Ind.

The meet, commemorating the Wright Brothers, America's first successful airplane builders, is an annual event. Mr. Smith previously won the senior, or second, division in the contest.

He was not at the meet in 1959 or 1960. In 1959, he was at the international soaring competitions in Germany.

Competing this year in the category limited to veteran sailplane pilots, Mr. Smith took first place in each of the three races held for the Indiana meet. Each consisted of a triangular course totaling around 80 miles.

Holiday Golf Scores Made

Mrs. Clarence Champanois was low gross winner Memorial Day, designated as Judge Rathbun Day at the Country Club.

Mrs. Robert May of Adrian was low net winner.

Low putts was scored by Mrs. Clifford Collins of Dundee. Mrs. Kenneth Smith of Adrian was blind hole winner.

Whitings Represent Four Generations

A mother-daughter breakfast, the first of its kind, was held at St. Elizabeth's May 27.

Arrangements were made by Mrs. Lawrence Cote, president of the Rosary Altar Society. Five husbands of members prepared the breakfast.

Mrs. Robert Murray was toastmistress at the event attended by 147 women in the school auditorium after the 11 a.m. Mass.

Onalee Cote opened the program with a toast to mothers and Mrs. Murray responded with a toast to daughters.

The Rev. Fr. Thomas J. Collins said, "This is another first, and I hope this will become an annual event."

He then presented life membership awards to 30-year members, Mrs. Carl Gruber, Mrs. Richard Drouillard, Mrs. Donald Blesing and Mrs. Harry Dewey.

Mrs. Dewey was honored for her 42-year service in the Altar Society.

☆

A BRIEF history of the altar group was given, tracing the organization, founded in 1913 by the late Mrs. Anna McCann, to the present group which has a membership of 151 women.

Past presidents of the Society were cited. Those present received corsages, including Mrs. Blesing, Mrs. Paul Brietenwischer, Mrs. Richard Limes, Mrs. Jack Osburn, Mrs. Kenneth Kitson, Mrs. Theodore Golat, Mrs. Robert Sage and Mrs. Ray Whiting.

Past presidents unable to attend were Mrs. Russell Berry, Mrs. Viola Corkery and Mrs. James Wallace.

Deceased past presidents named include Mrs. McCann, Mrs. Barbara Gruber, Mrs. Elinor Tressler, Mrs. Mamie Stevenson and Mrs. Lula Cook.

☆

MRS. MURRAY paid a tribute to Mrs. Cote for her service as president this year.

Corsages were given to:

Mrs. C. F. Sage — the most attractive grandmother

Mrs. Stephan Kruger — the youngest mother

Mrs. Edward DeLisle — having the most daughters (six) present.

Mrs. Thomas Morgan, the former Karen Golat — having the youngest daughter present.

Four generations were represented by Mrs. Ray Whiting, Mrs. Wallace Whiting, Mrs. James Fielder and her three daughters.

Since Mary Helen Greene's mother, Mrs. Fay Greene was in the hospital, Mrs. Victor Lawson brought Mary to the breakfast.

The breakfast was prepared by Mr. Cote, Mr. Whiting, James Tressler, Mr. Golat, Leonard Cote and Mr. Kitson.

4-H Group Examines Projects

Summer projects were viewed Sunday as the North Franklin Hustlers 4-H Club toured members' homes.

Gains on summer projects were discussed at each stop, along with what is expected of the projects before county fair time.

Mary Ann and Jim Woodward invited members to their home for a hot dog roast after the tour. A ball game and visiting ended the day.

The next meeting will be June 18 at the home of James Cregar.

Long AND Short

By TOM RIORDAN

With all this talk of television taking over everyone's entertainment hours, you wonder how the growth of the little theatre can be explained.

The Clark Lake Players are entertaining their ninth year and each season seems to top the previous one.

Our own Tecumseh Players — a non-summer production group — are already getting in motion with plans for the 1962-63 shows.

Now, a new theatre enterprise enters the area and we hope it gets a rousing welcome.

This is the Irish Hills Playhouse, located in, of all things, a remodeled super market on M-12, near the Towers.

Unlike Clark Lake and Tecumseh, Irish Hills productions are being staged by a professional company.

Opening night is Friday at 8:30 with "The Play's The Thing" on tap. Irish Hills will have a performance each evening except Mondays.

At Clark Lake, "The Thurber Carnival" enters its second weekend and is a production you should not miss.

By a happy coincidence there are five members of the Tecumseh Players in the cast (did we say our Player group was a non-summer outfit?)

Mrs. Al Russell, Mrs. Bob Murray, Mrs. Bertha Vallelunga, Mrs. Rik Kureth and Bill Sanford all have roles in the various sketches written by humorist James Thurber.

Who will forget "Walter Mitty," the timid fellow, browbeaten by his wife, who day dreams of himself as a world-famous surgeon and then as a naval officer.

All told there are 11 such skits, plus a fabulously-funny word dance at both the beginning and end of the evening.

"Thurber Carnival" runs June 14, 15, 16, 21, 22 and 23.

Convention For Twins Is Planned

Twins of all ages are invited to attend the 16th Annual Convention of Michigan Twins.

Saturday and Sunday, June 23 and 24 at Harris Motor Inn, in Kalamazoo.

This non-profit organization was organized "by twins and for twins" by this year's co-treasurers, Jake and John Oumedian of Grand Rapids, and has been an active yearly get-together since its organization in 1947.

Its primary object is to promote a general acquaintance, social get-together and fellowship among twins.

Voters Select Orville Bishop, Robert H. Moore

In a 10-man race, Robert H. Moore and Orville Bishop were elected to the board of education Monday.

They both were named to serve four-terms and are replacing Jens Touborg and Virgil Tucker, who did not run for re-election.

A total of 1,004 balloted.

Mr. Bishop topped the field with 426 votes.

In a pre-election statement, he had said:

"As a member of the Citizen's Advisory Group I have studied the problems concerning the school and the viewpoints of the taxpayers from the recent survey taken. I feel that this will be helpful in planning for the future of the school system."

Mr. Moore, a retired retail lumber dealer, drew a total, 320.

Prior to the vote he said, "We must have good sound education without deficit spending."

Remainder of the count:

No. 13 on the 13th

June 13 was a happy day for Mr. and Mrs. Atamacio Lopez of Ridgeway, even though two weeks ago he had been laid off of the cleanup crew at Tecumseh Products.

Wednesday was the day that Mrs. Lopez delivered her 13th child, a daughter.

The family now has six girls and seven boys.

127 Will Receive Diplomas

It's 94th Graduation

This has been a busy week for Tecumseh High School's 127 graduating seniors.

Climax comes Thursday evening at 8 p.m. when the school's 90th commencement program begins.

Highpoint of the exercise will be announcement of 15 scholarships, including the four coveted Herrick Foundation awards, which are each worth $2,800 over the four-year college period.

Festivities began Sunday with baccalaureate service.

Conducting it were the Revs. Frank Hawthorne, Blair Bashore, and Paul Brantingham with the Rev. Allen Wittrup giving the sermon.

The Tecumseh High School symphonic band and the chorus also took part.

Class Night was Wednesday evening with the keys presented by Ron O'Neill, senior president, to Tom Dickinson, junior prexy. The class history was given by Jeanette Allen and Nancy Beland.

Prophecies were made by Gail Elliott, Robert French, Tom Hicks, Allen Hizer, Norma Luce, Charles Osburn and Mary Wing.

Giftatory was handled by Arthur Collingsworth, Susan Frost, Mary Lectka, Mike Rohrer, Tom Simonds, Mary Alice Stutesman and Tim Whitney.

Class will was read by Jean Allshouse and Donna Cubberly. The evening concluded with the president's address by Ron.

The complete commencement program, along with pictures of all the graduates, appear on pages four and five of the second section.

SIGN DAMAGED—Jean Forresterm, 502 S. Occi dental Hwy., examines destruction of the sign, which was erected at the city's new park just last week. Someone had hurled rocks at it, tearing one hole through the board and cracking it in several other places. The park is scheduled to be dedicated by the Kiwanis Club members and their families Thursday, June 21. Kiwanians developed the area, off N. Maumee St. at Evans Creek, and have equipped it with picnic benches and grills for public use. (Please see editorial on sign vandalism, back page of the second section.)

Parking Meters Give Merchants Headaches

Parking meters are the biggest thorn in the sides of downtown merchants.

This fact is being brought out in a survey Charlie Butler, retired Ford dealer here, is conducting for the Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber members sought Mr. Butler's help in the group's reorganization.

He suggested that a starting point would be a survey of merchants—and this is where the parking meter comments popped up.

The meters were installed so that off-street lots could be improved. Revenue from them is currently paying off the $65,000 bond, which provides funds for hard-topping, lining and lighting and also purchase of some property.

How the meters could be removed and free parking offered to downtown shoppers is still a question.

Another item that Mr. Butler reports is the need for unity among retailers. He noted a certain amount of complaints—one storeman against another — although he points out there is not a great deal of this.

The survey shows that merchants approve city-wide promotions.

Charlie, who declined the position as Chamber secretary and is donating his services to help in reorganization, has so far talked with nearly 50 Chamber members.

He expects to have his survey complete in another week.

One question that has received over-whelming approval: "Do you want a full-time secretary?"

Flouride Program To Start

Seventy dental and dental hygiene students from the University of Michigan and University of Detroit schools of dentistry are preparing now for the summer topical sodium fluoride program which this year will be conducted in 200 Michigan communities.

The students were recruited by the Michigan Department of Health last fall and were given special training from health department Dentistry Division consultants during the year.

This week the students are attending a two-day orientation program conducted by the Dentistry Division at Ann Arbor in which they are receiving intensified instruction.

The schedule for the program to be conducted in Tecumseh was printed in the June 7 issue of the Tecumseh Herald.

The first day of the program is Monday, June 18. It will continue throughout the summer months.

Each student is assigned a community which has requested the topical fluoride program.

Depending on the number of children to be treated, a student may spend the entire summer in one community or move about.

There will be five students working in Lenawee County, treating an estimated 3,600 children.

Weekend Guests

Michele, Julie and Mike Aten of Tecumseh were weekend guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Kahle.

4-H Club Earns $195 To Put on Horse Show

Five members of the Horse Club of the Country Hi-Steppers 4-H Club have worked earnestly for $195 to stage a junior horse show Sunday, June 24.

Trophies were generously donated by Tecumseh merchants and Edwin Randolph has donated the arena.

It is located three miles west and one and one-half miles north of Tecumseh on Matthews Hwy.

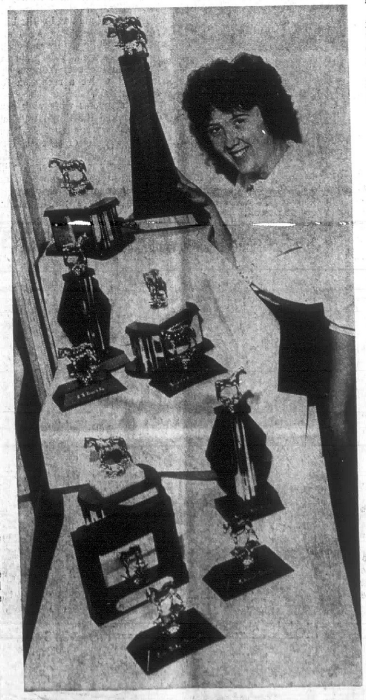
The young people, under the direction of Sharon Mitzner, superintendent of the show, have made every effort to produce a professional show with classes in showmanship, pleasure, model, working stock horses and trail class.

Anthony Borton of the staff of Michigan State University will be the judge.

Tim Neill will be the announcer. An ambulance from Collins-Corkery Funeral Home will be on the grounds. Refreshments will also be available.

Members of the Horse Club are Pat and Gary Randolph, Gary Stretch, Sharie Osburn and Diane Mitzner.

Bake sales, candy and pop sales at the County Fair are some of the projects the group used to obtain funds for the horse show.



TROPHIES FOR THE JUNIOR HORSE SHOW—Sharon Mitzner is shown with awards to be presented at the Country Hi-Steppers Junior Horse Show Sunday, June 24. Anyone 21 years or under may participate. 4-H Clubs from Jackson, Monroe, Washtenaw, Hillsdale and those in Lenawee have been invited. Events will be held beginning at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Trophies were donated by Tecumseh merchants.

Ex-Tecumsehites Stage Reunion In California

(Editor's note: There are quite a few former Tecumsehites who live in California. All of them receive The Herald, so it's only natural when they plan a reunion the notice would run in the old hometown paper.)

All former Tecumseh residents now living in the Southern California area are invited to attend the Tecumseh picnic to be held in Long Beach Sunday, July 8, starting at 12 noon.

Recreation Park on 7th St. will be the setting for the occasion.

Each family is to bring its own food, drink and table settings.

Mrs. Arthur Lepon (nee Margaret Williamson) extends a special invitation to the newcomers in Southern California who have not attended the picnic before.

Anyone wishing further information may call Mrs. Arthur Sargeant (nee Margaret Wehr) at GE 1-4174.

Commission Re-Elects Its Officers

Tecumseh's Planning Commission re-elected officers Tuesday night and rejected a request from Mrs. Ethel Hammack, 805 W. Chicago Blvd., to change her property zoning to commercial.

John Zeigler is again chairman, and Mrs. Gale Fisher, secretary.

A presentation of a new plan affecting the master plan was scheduled for July 10.

Butlers Attend Auto Dealers Gathering

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Butler will attend the Michigan Auto Dealers Association convention at the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island June 14 through 17.

This marks the fifth year that Mr. Butler, retired Ford dealer here, has been on the nominating committee.

Singers, Dancers Are Being Sought for Talent Show

WANTED — Singers, dancers, jugglers, yo-yo experts, comedians, musicians, anyone in the area with a talent. You'll have: fun!

Tecumseh merchants are the folks looking for people to take part in a Talent Show, being staged Friday, June 22 in conjunction with the city's annual Moonlight Sale.

Anyone interested is welcome to enter.

Those wishing to sign up may do so at Eggleston's Jewelry or Cal's Tog Shop between now and the evening of the event.

The show, being organized by Forrest Abner for the merchants, will be held outdoors on a stage set up at Ottawa St. and E. Chicago Blvd.

There will be prizes for the winners.

Other features of the evening will include a chicken barbecue dinner, being served by the Jaycees along Ottawa St., starting at 5:30 p.m.

Free rides are being organized for the kiddies. The Beach Brothers, Chet and Clarence, are cooperating on this part of the program.

They'll provide a miniature car and trailer, a stagecoach and buckboard pulled by ponies. Free tickets for these rides will be available at all participating stores.

☆

EACH BUSINESS place taking part in the sale will contribute $10 to cover expenses.

Arrangements for this fourth annual late-late promotion are being made by the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce with co-chairmen being Mrs. Dick Eggleston and Mrs. Cal Damon.

As in previous years, stores will close at 6 p.m. They'll reopen, with Moonlight specials from 8 until 11 p.m.

There were several comments about last week's editorial on donations from merchandise of local stores for prizes at various parties and dinners around town.

Folks said they agreed that stores shouldn't be constantly asked for gifts.

To give away a $3 item, a merchant must then sell about three or four of the same to pay for the one he donates.

The Gemini's have it at the Tecumseh Herald office this week. Many members of the staff and close associates are observing their birthday anniversaries.

Mrs. Robert Murray, also a gemini girl, delighted the office personnel with a surprise presentation Monday of a prettily decorated cake in the form of a hat banded with foil and decked with blossoms of syringa.

She also served a delicious lemonade and presented lovely little packages to the gemini gals.

☆

Two redwood buckets, filled with arbor vitae and geraniums, have been placed at the rear entrance of Wright's Drug Store. They add much to the already fine appearance of the corner pharmacy.

☆

Leave it to Gin!

When Mrs. Bob Murray was about to take pictures at the Detroit circus parade Monday, guess who she had set her camera?

Why, Tony Spina, chief photographer of the Free Press. Mrs. Murray was having difficulty, saw Tony standing close by and asked for help.

The talented Mr. Spina was quick to offer aid.

Mrs. Murray was at the parade with her four sons and Mrs. Reginald Dixon and her twin boys.

Did you know that Tecumseh High graduated its first class in 1866?

Its eight members, now all deceased, included Seaton W. Anderson, Francis Bell, Annetta Wilson, Eugene Norcross, Nellie Bidwell, Charles Cook, L. Cass Miller and Aiphonzo Stacy.

In 1869 and 1874 there were no graduations — apparently no seniors — but from that latter date there has been a commencement every year making 1962 the 94th.

☆

Our spring storms are following a schedule — they like to hit at about 4:45 on Monday evenings. The one this week arrived in almost identical fashion to the big blast of last month.

Mary Fuller, Doug LeFevre Are Wed

MRS. DOUGLAS LeFEVRE

Mary Catherine Fuller of Manchester became the bride of Airman 3c Douglas J. LeFevre of Wurtsmith Air Force Base at Oscoda, June 9 in ceremonies at the St. Elizabeth Church performed by the Rev. Fr. Thomas Collins.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fuller of Manchester and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph LeFevere of 117 Burt St., Tecumseh.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father in a gown of white silk organza styled with a scoop neckline of re-embroidered lace, three-quarter sleeves and a dome shaped skirt with lace motifs, an obi sach and chapel train.

Her bouffant veil of English illusion fell from a crown of pearlized orange blossoms.

She carried a white lace prayer book topped with a white cattelga orchid and stephanotis.

Mrs. David Merillat of Ann Arbor was matron of honor in a street-length white lace dress over champagne taffeta.

School Board Delays Change at Junior High

By JM LINCOLN

With the school's deficit in mind, the school board Monday night delayed any action to return the junior high to a full-day schedule until after July 1 when the exact deficit amount will be ascertained.

A census report indicates that the Tecumseh schools will have about 25 more pupils in school for 1962-63. Coupled with new state legislation just passed, the local schools will receive about $39,000 additional money for next year.

Return of the Junior High to a full session and allocation of funds to the libraries would use a considerable amount of the additional $39,000.

The schools, in debt about $150,000 to [illegible],000, plan to apply approximately $100,000 of the four mills passed in April to the deficit the first year.

The board approved new library hours, effective about Aug. 18.

New hours are:

► Monday through Thursday, 12 noon to 9

► Friday and Saturday, 12 noon to 6.

The new hours will be come effective when the change from the old library to the new is completed.

A request to use the present library for board offices, superintendent, business manager, school library headquarters and for general receiving was tabled to the next meeting.

☆

DR. HAROLD OCAMB was appointed to complete the unexpired term of Allen Russell on the library board. Mr. Russell's resignation was accepted by the board.

After the regular monthly meeting business was conducted, the board adjourned and then reconvened to swear in new members Orville Bishop and Robert H. Moore.

IN OTHER action, the board:

► Approved an expenditure of $150 to straighten the light poles at the athletic field.

► Authorized hot lunch and milk applications to the state for subidization.

► Authorized a letter of appreciation to Fay Greene for his gift of asphalt runways for the broad jump and pole vault at the athletic field.

► Set the regular monthly meeting schedule as the second Monday of each month at 8 p.m.

► Approved offering a contract to Mrs. Ruth O'Neill as cafeteria manager and the placement of three assistants on hourly pay basis.

► Heard a report from Supt. James McDowell that it was the township clerk's responsibility to have registration books up to date. The board also asked the superintendent to solicit the clerks cooperation with the school to review all registrations.

Dr. Ocamb Welcomed To Board

Dr. Harold Ocamb was welcomed last week as the newest member of the Tecumseh Library Board.

Although a relatively new member of the community, Dr. Ocamb and his family have been among the best "customers" of the library, never without an armful of books on loan.

Dr. Ocamb was named to replace Allen Russell, who tendered his resignation because he did not feel he had sufficient time to devote to the library board, in the midst of its building program.

Welcomed to the board by its chairman, Joseph Galazzi, Dr. Ocamb expressed his appreciation for the honor of being chosen to the board.

Other board members are Mrs. Laine Holden, vice chairman, and William Wright, Mrs. James Beardsley, the Rev. Frank Hawthorne and Mrs. Gordon Comfort.

New Playhouse Opens

"The Play's the Thing" — the comedy of continental manners and morals by Ferenc Molnar opens the Irish Hills Playhouse season Friday.

This new summer theatre is located on US-12, just east of the Towers.

The season of five plays will be produced by Larry and Dorothy Burns and directed by Jay Kleindorf with an all-professional cast.

The Molnar offering last revived in New York in 1948 with Louis Calhern and Faye Emerson in an adaptation by P. G. Wodehouse, is a variation of the play-within-a-play theme.

Its story is of a clever playwright who manages to pull several people out of an embarrassing situation by writing a special play for them to perform. In it a damaging piece of conversation, that a young man has overheard, will seem to be merely innocuous dialogue which they have been rehearsing.

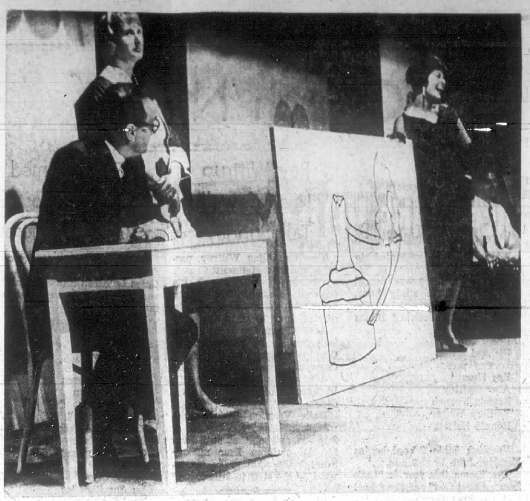
One of the amusing incidents of the play is that the dramatist in the play insists on trying three different endings of the second act, halting the fall of the curtain each time to try another ending.

The Playhouse company, drawn from actors in the New York area, will present the Molnar comedy from June 15 through June 30.

The theatre itself, housed in a log and fieldstone building, has a 200-seat capacity and uses flexible arena staging.

Curtain is at 8:30.

The company, listed alphabetically, includes Patrick Christie, Clinton Dunn, Rachelle Fernandez, Joan French and Walle Welle.



THURBER CARNIVAL—In a skit, "The Pet Department," the cast included Bill Sneden, Mrs. Rik Kureth and Mrs. Al Russell. The feminine performers are both from Tecumseh, as are two other thespians taking part in the current Clark Lake p roduction. "Thurber Carnival" will be staged Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, also June 21, 22 and 23.

Ken Blumerick Is Named Top Kiwanian of 1962

Tecumseh Kiwanians and their wives celebrated the Sixth Anniversary of the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club Thursday evening at the Hathaway House in Blissfield.

President Fred Nash served as toastmaster.

The club history was given by past president and charter member, Gene Tuckey.

The Club was chartered June 4, 1956. It was sponsored by the Adrian and Blissfield Kiwanis Clubs.

Mr. Tuckey related the many fund-raising projects the club has engaged in over the years and the youth and civic projects it has undertaken.

☆

PAST PRESIDENT Carl Lamb presented the report of committee appointed to select the nominee for the outstanding Kiwanian of the Year Award.

This year's recipient of the award is Ken Blumerick, owner of Meadowridge Dairy.

He was selected on the basis of his overall contribution to the work of Kiwanis in the community.

In presenting the award, President Nash stressed the outstanding job Mr. Blumerick performed as chairman of the Boys and Girl's Committee and his ready-willingness to assist on the fund raising projects of the club.

The speaker for the evening, Capt. Howard Froberg, Commander of the Salvation Army Citadel in Adrian, was introduced by Dr. Richard Coak.

Capt. Froberg told about the growth and service of the Salvation Army from its founding in 1865 by General William Booth.

HE STATED that its members are now serving in 86 countries and colonies, preaching in 136 languages in 17,126 churches and have 2,259 social services institutions.

He stressed that the social services of each are financed locally by contributions from members and people in the community interested in the work of the Salvation Army.

The Adrian unit last year provided aid to 105 transients, lodging for 44 individuals, temporary financial relief to 192 families, 86 grocery orders and supplied 1,782 garments to those in need.

Winds Kill Farm Animals, Drop Trees Near Tipton

A hog was killed and cows, sheep and other swine were hurt Saturday evening when a 30x60 foot hip roof barn was blown down by high winds on the farm of C. J. Lewis, Paragon Rd.

One end of the barn fell down, striking the hogs during a ten-minute gale about 7 p.m.

A shed on the LeRoy Titley farm was destroyed by wind and trees there and on the Virgil Demings farm were blown down.

More trees went down at the George Sackett residence and the intense rain drove water through the siding of the house.

Scholarship Loan Fund Is Initiated

BRITTON—A scholarship loan fund was initiated this year at Britton-Macon High School.

The fund was started by the Britton - Macon Teachers Club, which asked the Board of Education to join in sponsoring the loan. Both groups hope that future years may bring outside contributions which will allow the loan to become an outright grant to a deserving student.

Now, the $300 annual loan must be repaid by the student within two years after he leaves college, whether through graduation or dropout.

First recipient of the loan is Raymond Richards. Raymond, son of Mr. & Mrs. Gerald Richards, plans to attend Eastern Michigan University, majoring in business administration.

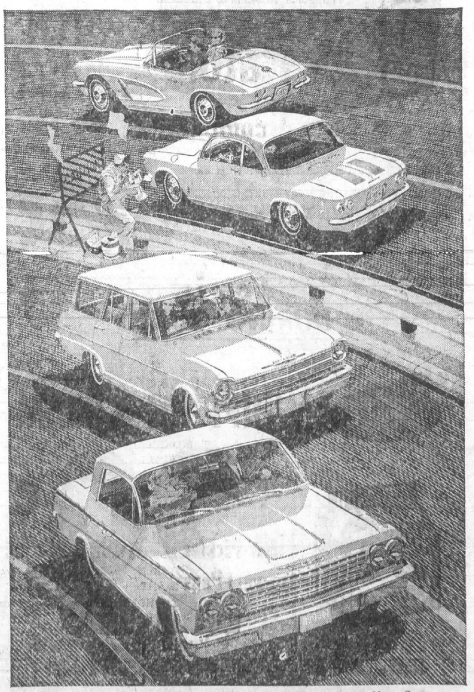
PICK a Chevy PACK up the family & GO traveling

If variety is the spice of your life, see the choice selection of buys now at your Chevrolet dealer's One-Stop Shopping Center. One of those new Chevrolets, Chevy IIs or Corvairs should suit you perfectly and spare your budget any strain!

We wouldn't presume to tell you which one to buy, but your Chevrolet dealer has more ways of helping you make up your mind. Like the Jet-smooth Chevrolet Impala, luxurious, extremely comfortable, undoubtedly the best riding car in its field; the Chevy II Nova, lively, lovely, and inexpensive, too; the Corvair Monza, a family car that rather thinly disguises its desire to be a sports car; and the Corvette, America's out-and-out sports car. As you see, your Chevrolet dealer has just the tonic for that "let's go traveling" look in your eye. And, what's nice about buying one, you won't have to juggle your life around to afford it. You know?

CHEVROLET



Four Sure 'n' Fun ways to get away (shown top to bottom) are the Corvette, Corvair Monza Coupe, Chevy II Nova Station Wagon and Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan.

Now, beautiful buying days at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's Golden Sales Jubilee!

CARDINALS, BUSY, BUSY BIRDS

One of the things which we who enjoy birds must guard against is humanizing them. They do things by instinct and we ascribe how people-like their actions, are, they are not motivated by thoughts and reasons as are ours.

For example, I'm afraid that in the spring-time Mama Cardinal doesn't deliberately make her handsome husband 'eat humble pie' just to make up for his abusive nature in the wintertime. It gives me satisfaction though to see him taken down a peg or two, so let's continue.

It was a long courting this year, Mr. Bright had to work hard at wooing his lady.

Day after day we would see her sitting in the wren-tree patiently waiting for him to bring her an especially tasty tid-bit.

Then she moved to the fence and still, like a dutiful suitor, he carried food out there.

When the romance really became serious, she joined him at the feeder; occasionally she even returned his affections and fed him. Ah—love!

At last, his courtship being successful, the two cardinals started house hunting. They began building in the climbing honeysuckle vine right by the garage door.

It would have been fun to watch but we were glad when they changed their minds and sought another location. A pair of the red beauties did raise a family there last year and it was a nerve racking experience for all concerned.

We were so afraid they would be frightened away and they were terrified of all the noises which, even though we tried to be careful, well — I'm sure that for the cardinals it was a harrowing nightmare.

☆

WHERE OUR Mr. Bright and his bride finally settled, we are not sure, but it can't be far away.

They continued to free-load at the feeding station and it was amusing and satisfying to see how completely smitten he was.

He would not let her out of his sight, the minute she flew away he followed. Somedays she had him flying quite a bit, too!

From the birds' actions we assume that eggs have been laid and they are now awaiting the blesesd event.

They are still regulars at the feeder but no longer do they come together.

They take turns, first one, then the other—the visits are comparatively short and frequently when Mr. Bright flies away, he carries a sunflower seed in his bill.

Incidentally, all this family responsibility is telling on Papa C; he is but a mereshadow of his winter's handsome self. His color is a bit duller and his feathers a bit droopy. He has had a strenuous season!

☆

MARSHES, by the way, are having a cardinal experience too, of quite a different nature than ours, though. They are very happily hosting a family of wrens; the tiny songsters signed the lease on the house which hangs right by their screened in porch.

No sooner had the birds moved in than a mate cardinal (I'm sure it can't be our Mr. Bright) developed a "just-before-dark" interest in the bush.

Every evening he flies in and gives the little wrens fits.

As he hops from limb to limb, one of them follows and, as the saying goes, if looks could kill—

Finally, when the red boy has had his fun, off he flies to one of the bushes along the creek bank.

The virgin vanquished, oh how the little wren sings a song of triumph. All the world is told that once again he has protected the home and family.

So it is that both here and across the street, the cardinals are indeed busy, busy, birds.

IT WAS A BALL—Tecumseh High School juniors entertained graduating seniors (all but 49,, whom we'll tell about at the end of this caption) at Hidden Lake Gardens June 1 in the annual Junior-Senior Picnic. Teachers Jim Howard, senior class advisor; Don Brazee and Jim Hoffman were on hand. There was a tug of war, won by the juniors and marred slightly by the rope breaking. Volleyballs, footballs and softballs were also flying. The affair was topped off with chow of punch, potato chips, cheese sandwiches and barbeques. The 49 who were left back at school were those who earlier staged a Skip Day. Their "reward" was to stay in school during the picnic and put in two hours of time after school for each hour they missed. This photo was taken by Dixon Studios.

VOICE OF THE HERALD

Fly Your Flag Thursday

Get out the stars and stripes this week, Thursday, June 14 is Flag Day.

Everyone who owns a flag should proudly fly it.

An Ohio weekly we get editorialized recently on the lack of respect shown our nation's flag and our National Anthem.

It's really too bad and we flinch when the flag is not recognized properly as it passes by in a parade or when someone talks during the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

But on the whole, we would rate folks in this area highly on their respect for their flag.

It gives us a real thrill when someone refers to Tecumseh as "The City of Flags."

We don't know how many other towns can boast of such an excellent display of flags on holidays, with the highlights being the downtown business section where the Stars and Stripes are placed every few feet, giving the appearance of an Avenue of Flags.

These flags were purchased three years ago by local merchants, who also pay a yearly stipend to the Boy Scouts for handling the duty of putting up and taking down the flags.

This is one of the best investments local storemen can make. They and the Scouts are certainly doing the community a wonderful service.

Be sure and fly your flag Thursday.

Turnout Was 'Healthy'

It would seem to us that the turnout for Monday's school board election could be labeled "healthy."

Just over 1,000 voted—in fact, 1,004, which leads one to wonder about that number "four." If you'll recall, it was by four votes that the recent four-mill levy passed.

There are 5,000 eligible voters in the 90-square-mile Tecumseh School District. We realize that 1,004 is only one-fifth of these folks, but in a vote strictly for two positions on the board, the turnout was reasonably good.

It won't be often that 3,000 will ballot, as they did in the recent "all four" affair.

We extend our congratulations to the two winners Orville Bishop and Robert H. Moore, and also the other eight men who ran.

Just as this sort of election doesn't get a strong grasp on the voters, neither does this type race usually hold great appeal for a large cross-section of candidates.

Having pulled such an excellent slate underlines the fact that more and more folks are becoming seriously interested in the operation of our school system—which is wonderful.

Lesson in Honesty

The temptation is great to write, "It takes the mind of an idiot to destroy public property." But we'll steer clear of this harsh angle.

We would rather think that an unthinking youth—not an idiot—was responsible for pelting the new Community Picnic Grounds sign with rocks last weekend, shortly after it went up.

This editorial is directed more to parents and we hope it will include the folks of the vandal or vandals.

Children have to learn respect for other people's property, but first they must learn respect for their own. And both of these traits have to be taught in the home.

Kids can get off the track now and again and we are inclined to think this was the case with the shattered sign.

This unhappy incident can serve as an example for mothers and fathers to call to the attention of their children as what not to do.

For the guilty one or ones, we would suggest that they admit what they did to police, who in turn would delegate them chores at the new park to work off the dollar damage they wrought. It could be the best lesson in honesty they ever received.

JEAN OSWORTH

As a result of her scholastic achievement, she was a member of the National Honor Society for three years and a member of the panel in the academic contest for three years.

During her senior year she was elected president of the Student Council, of which she had been a member for four years.

Miss Osworth participated in Girls Athletics, Future Homemaking, intra-murals and Pep Club activities. She was an "A" team cheerleader for three years.

She has chosen Wisconsin State College at Oshkosh to further her education, majoring in liberal arts.

Band Boosters Entertain at Third Annual Banquet

Band Boosters entertained about 70 senior band members, members of the Board of Education and parents at the third annual banquet May 31 at the High School cafeteria.

Tables for 170 were attractively decorated with arrangements of peonies, daisies, roses and iris and pastel colored programs at each place setting.

The dinner was served by Mrs. Charles O'Neill and her staff after the invocation given by Russell Cooper.

Fred F. Dickinson, toastmaster, introduced those persons on the program with his original wittiicisms.

Miles Cowdrey led group singing during "the Burping Break" while tables were cleared.

President Don Nettleman introduced the Band Booster officers and thanked Mrs. Harry Beland for a nicely planned banquet.

He also explained the David Day Memorial Fund. Mr. and Mrs. Murray Day were guests at each place setting.

The dinner was served by Mrs. Charles O'Neill and her staff after the invocation given by Russell Cooper.

Winners of the scholarship this year are Larry Harper and Tom Dickinson.

Larry Harper, newly re-elected band president, introduced the band officers and explained their duties and thanked the Bosters for the banquet.

Remarks were heard from Don Johnson and Miles Cowdrey. Mr. Johnson introduced the six seniors leaving the band. They are Mary Wing, Craig Winters, Grodon Williams, Mary Lectka, Patricia Long and Larry Flowers.

Presentation of awards highlighted the evening with a special award of a "T" letter given to Robert Glascock for his willingness to assist the band and director in rearranging and improvising to suit the immediate needs of the bank.

A variety program was presented by members of the Tipton PTA.

Willis Davenport and Wesley Whelan assumed different characters each time they introduced an act.

A male quartet called "The Obsoletes" composed of the Rev. Paul Frederick, Ray Jackson, Ray Stockinger and Dean Cook sang.

Tipton's "Charlie Weaver" portrayed by Mrs. Frank Crosby read one of Charlie's "letters from Mama."

The "Beverly Brothers," Mrs. Richard Platt and Mrs. Garrett Linger, rendered "He's a Bird Dog" in pantomine with dashing costumes.

Tipton's Al Jolson, Paul Frederick, entertained with two of Al's old favorites.

Mrs. Chester Blaaska accompanied the singers.

Finally the "Kitchen Kuties" performed a vocal and instrumental number. They were introduced by their leader, Lin Wimple. Appearing in costume were Mrs. Wesley Whelan, Mrs. Jack Allen, Mrs. Kenneth Munger, Mrs. Willis Davenport, Mrs. Ray Jackson, Mrs. Guy Cox, Mrs. Bill Luce and Mrs. Lin Wimple.

Long AND Short

By TOM RIORDAN

They're making a nuclear submarine to be named the Tecumseh.

News of this interesting event arrived in our office via one of our "European correspondents."

David A. Linden, now serving with the army in Germany, spotted a UPI dispatch in the European edition of Stars & Stripes regarding the sub.

He clipped and sent it to his sister, Marjorie, an employee of the United Savings Bank.

Dave and Marj are son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Linden, 4600 Blood Rd. Marjorie dropped it off to us.

Here's the way UPI reported the news datelined Groton, Conn.:

"The keel for the Polaris submarine Tecumseh has been laid on the ways vacated May 8 by her sister ship, the nuclear submarine Lafayette.

"Tecumseh is one of seven Polaris submarines under construction at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp.

"The craft is named for the Shawnee Indian chief who attempted to unite Indian tribes but failed, and later died in the War of 1812 while serving as a brigadier general in the British army.

"The Tecumseh is the same length as the Lafayette, 425 feet, and displaces 7,000 tons."

As far as we know, this is the second ship named Tecumseh.

The first was a Union monitor in the Civil War, which suffered an unfortunate fate Aug. 5, 1864 in a day-long engagement in Mobile Bay.

Admiral David G. Farragut commanded the Union Fleet while Admiral Franklin Buchanan was chief officer of the Rebels.

The South drew first blood in the engagement with the Tecumseh struck by a torpedo and sank at 6:47 a.m.

The brisk battle which followed ended with Admiral Buchanan finally ordering the white flag of truce hoisted.

☆

There was a Riordan family reunion Saturday on the farm of cousin John, following the marriage of his eldest daughter.

Janet was a beautiful bride as she exchanged vows with her Marine, handsome in his dress blues.

Now they're off to Camp Pendleton, where they will call a trailer on the base home. Young love will face any trial.

As the bridal party left in a flurry of confetti, the old folks settled back for a late afternoon and evening of chatting.

The children dashed about the 10 acres of fruit orchards and young mothers knew everyone was safe. Oh, there was a cut lip and a few minor bruises, but nothing serious.

Laughter wafted across the spacious lawn as the old family happenings were re-lived.

Uncle Anthony was his usual zanzy self, between playing his ukelele, singing and showing the kids how to make whistles from tiny willow limbs.

Quiet Uncle Tony Cravotte of Arlington Heights, Mass., who married a Riordan girl, summed up the clan, "You can't beat 'em so you might as well join them."

Boy Befriends Baby Red Tail Hawk

How would you like to wake up come morning and find a hawk sitting in your back yard?

It might give you a start at first, but when you found that he was only a baby, it might not be so startling.

This is the experience that Jack Metcalf, Tecumseh postmaster, who lives at 308 E. Logan St., had last week.

He told one of his carriers, Robert Hart, 506 E. Logan St. of the experience and Mr. Hart relayed the story to his son, Bobbie.

Right away, Bobby said he'd like to care for the hawk until it was able to fend for itself.

☆

SO FROM the Metcalf. backyard, Bobby gently scooped up the bird, which is almost as big as a turkey.

Its curved beak looks treacherous and the hawk's talons are long and sharp.

The Harts put in a call to the Conservation Office and an agent dropped by to check the bird. He said Bobby could keep the hawk until it was able to fly, then he must release the bird in the country.

☆

BOBBY, a 16-year-old junior at Tecumseh High School, rigged up a roost next to the barn behind the Hart home, using the handle of a rake propped between a temporary fence and a trellis leaned against the building.

For food, Bobby found that his guest prefers hot dogs, which he eats raw in chunks — not chewing, simply swallowing.

The first night that Bobby entertained his red tail hawk, he noticed that about a dozen adult hawks were slowly circling the area, apparently looking for the missing youngster.

Bobby did his best to help in the search, tossing his guest onto the roof of the barn, hoping he'd call out and be seen.

☆

BUT NOTHING happened and when the search party eventually flew off, Bobby climbed up and brought the baby down.

Bobby finds no difficulty in handling the bird, lets him sit on his arm or shoulder, but he admits,

"He has pretty sharp claws, they can dig in."

Moonlight Madness Is '62 Theme

This year it's called "Moonlight Madness" — that's the annual late-late sale sponsored by Tecumseh's retail division, Chamber of Commerce.

It comes Friday evening, with all stores being open from 8 until 11 p.m. A wide variety of bargains are promised at the city's places of business.

There will be more features — a barbeque chicken dinner, talent show at 7:30 and other events.

Persons interested in taking part in the show should sign up at Cal's Tog Shop or Eggleston's Jewelry before Friday night, or with MC Forrest Abner at the stage, which will be set up at Ottawa St. and Chicago Blvd.

A special 16-page tabloid section is being issued with this week's Herald, devoted to the Moonlight event.

An additional 2,500 tabloid sections were ran, they'll be distributed to all cottages in the Irish Hills chain of lakes.

Can You Vote?

Every Tecumseh voter is being asked to check his voting registration.

A recent ruling by the Michigan Attorney General has taken many off the voting lists, according to Mrs. Naomi Sallows, city clerk.

The problem is the city's master voting file.

The file has been signed by those registering to vote since 1956, except for short periods when no registration cards were available.

An earlier attorney's opinion was that those who already were registered did not have to sign the master file, but the new ruling says everyone must sign.

Also, anyone who has not voted in the past four years is taken off the voting records, if he does not re-register within a 30-day notice period.

Mrs. Sallows said 1,500 letters have been sent out to those who definitely are not going to be eligible to vote.

She asks all city residents to check with her office, just to make sure they don't lose their voting privileges.

Deadline for registering for the August primary elections is July 9.

Youth Center Officers Hold Press Dinner

Representatives of the county newspapers gathered at the Lenawee Youth Center Thursday for dinner.

The purpose was to assist the paper in acquainting county residents with the needs and the progress of the new Youth Center under construction at 2748 Airport Rd., Adrian.

Board of directors members were present for question and answer period following the dinner.

A tour through the present center was conducted prior to dinner.

At present twelve boys are living on the premises.

Pressing needs are a station wagon and an automatic washer. A piano would also be welcomed, and books.

Perhaps some club would like to help furnish a room at the new youth center as a project, the board members suggested.

A garden club or group could donate toward the landscaping, shrubs, plants and trees, they added.

Walter Bennett, center director, said, "Don't throw away anything. We can use almost anything at this time, but if we can't, we can find a good place for it. There is always a welcome at the Youth Center."

Graduation Highlighted by Awards

By JIM LINCOLN

One hundred-twenty-seven seniors joined the ranks of the alumni last Thursday night in impressive commencement exercises conducted in the Tecumseh High School gymnasium.

Highlight of the evening for parents, relatives and seniors was the presentation of diplomas by Supt. James McDowell.

Almost equally important was the announcement of the four Herrick Foundation Scholarships and scholarships from various universities and colleges.

The Rev. B. O. Bashore announced Herrick scholarships for Nancy Lee Beland, Mary Alice Stutesman, Thomas Hicks and Raymond Charles Osburn.

These scholarships amount to $70 a month for 10 months, or $700 per college school year.

The local Baptist minister also reported that this may be the last year for the Herrick scholarships since the Herrick Foundation could come under pending Federal taxation legislation.

The four annual scholarships, most prized by every senior, are given by Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Herrick through their foundation.

8 or 10-Ton Unit?

Officials at city hall will have to wait a bit longer for their air conditioning after Council requested further information Monday night as to building's requirements.

Two bids received and opened for installation of an air conditioner were from Paul Clauda and Forest Abner.

Mr. Clauda's bid was $3,200, based on a 10-ton unit. He said the building's specifications called for a 10-ton air conditioner.

Mr. Abner's was $2,300, based on an eight-ton unit. He reached this air conditioner size after measuring the building.

City Manager Ed Nelson was asked to get expert advice as to the needs and re-advertise for bids.

IN OTHER action at the meeting, Council:

✔ Renewed sidewalk contractors license for John H. Smith.

✔ Accepted retirement system ordinance for first reading.

✔ Approved resolution to request permission from state highway department for a one-inch water line under N. Evans St. at St. Peter's church.

Mortgage To Provide Needed Library Funds

A mortgage on the new Tecumseh library was recommended recently by the Board of Trustees of the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation.

The foundation, established to administer money collected in the annual charity fund drive, asked for the mortgage to complete construction work, and landscaping, and provide furnishings and parking facilities.

The mortgage will be repaid from future foundation drives.

Three years' collections for the fund, gathered by both private and public donations, built up a "nest egg" of in excess of $150,000 for a major community project, in addition to more than $60,000 raised to carry on the charitable program of the foundation.

Contract price of the library was $169,800.

In asking approval for a mortgage, the board showed a construction completion cost of $16,800 and a need for $32,000 for furnishings and landscaping.

The foundation board accepted the recommendations of the Tecumseh Library Board, which spent several months examining equipment produced by various manufacturers, and took bids on the furniture and special items needed to complete the library.

Some of the present special library equipment will be used in the new building, along with part of the furniture. Other furniture will be sold to a community group.

The foundation board acknowledged its gratitude to the Library Project Study Group under the direction of Joseph Galazzi and William Wright, with the assistance of Librarian Jule Fosbender, "whose diligence and painstaking efforts have expedited the completion of the building."

The moving operation from the present library is expected to get underway Aug. 18, with the opening scheduled tentatively for Sept. 10.

The foundation board expressed hope that the formal dedication ceremonies could be held the first Sunday in

Mrs. Libby wrote, "Have been enjoying The Herald since we moved to Norwalk last September, it's fun keeping up with Tecumseh news since we can't be there to participate in local affairs anymore. No matter how far away we get it'll always be 'home' to us, I think."

We appreciate Mrs. Libby's kindness and have written the Daily News for permission to reprint the article on the Rev. Mr. Benedict.

You must remember him, he was the one that was always making speeches on the socialists.

Tavern Sale Plans Ok'd by Council

Council paved the way for sale of the Rocket Tavern Monday night on the stipulation that several improvements in the building be made first.

Several of the improvement recommendations are to be requested from the building's owner.

Brother, Sister Open Offices in Building Built by Father

A sister and brother are opening a new business building Monday — one built by their dad.

The Schafer family, which has called 10680 Macon Hwy. home since the late 40's, has combined on the unique venture.

It had long been the dream of Ilene Schafer, a beautician for the past three years, to have her own shop.

Her brother, Melvin, an agent for Farm Bureau Insurance, working out of the family home, needed an office.

This spring, Ilene decided to establish the Country Side Beauty Salon and her dad, Joseph Schafer, a retired farmer, volunteered to do the building.

Melvin agreed to establish his office in the new structure, which was completed last week and officially opens Monday.

The two business places will have open house all next week, with free coffee and cookies for all guests.

The frame building, located three miles from the Meyers airport on Macon Hwy., is 28x18 in size. There is parking space for 15 cars.

Both Ilene and Mel are graduates of Tecumseh High School, Ilene in 1956 and Mel in 1954.

Mel attended Michigan State for two years and Ilene is a graduate of Alexandria Beauty School in Ann Arbor. She has been employed for the past three years by Eva's Beauty Bar in Tecumseh.

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

I do believe Tecumseh is growing up and is just about ready for "long pants."

Tecumseh made the big time in one of the nation's leading newspapers. Recently on the front page of the Sunday Toledo Blade is a big headline article on the great increase in awareness of school problems in our little city. This in the center of the page, and snuggled up against a four column spread on Bill Sol Estes yet . . .

This awareness was evidenced by the eagerness of more men to run for school board election than ever before. And what was pure gold was the fact there were so many well-qualified men. One was hard put to narrow the choice down to two.

We begin to show signs that we want to strive for the best in important fields like education, and stop settling for second choices all the time.

Another glimmer on the horizon was the recent editorial in the Herald about not imposing on our merchants in money-giving matters; more consideration shown.

"Second choices" might be overcome in the important field of service. REDUCE the eternal money-making projects by just giving, by utilizing our capable and available Senior Citizens, such as our town's new toy repairman, by using our capable, available and often bored young people.

In so doing we could reduce the busy, busy, busyness of our present service organizations. Who knows, some fine day our social responsibilities might even find their way back to the churches.

Issues and answers, as well as real service, are all submerged by too many bake sales, card parties and just plain "gimmicks" to raise money. There are only so many hours in a day.

Small beginnings can be made in small towns.

There was a recent Saturday night social event at our new Community Center, to bring parents and their children together to have fun. It was a walloping success in fact but not in number. Too many other things going on the same night. Please, SOMEBODY, what happened to that Community Calendar???

Teen-agers, parents and grandparents will never ALWAYS speak the same language — agreed. But working and playing together at times will help us all in our perspective, not to treat each other like a breed apart.

A Hopeful Tecumseh Citizen

Mrs. Charles Butler and Max Smith won low net Friday night in the mixed couples league at the Tecumseh Country Club.

Foundation Names 2 New Boardmen in Annual Election

Kenneth Conway, manager of the Tecumseh office of the General Telephone Co., and the Rev. Paul J. Brantingham, pastor of Tecumseh Friends Church, were named recently to the Board of Trustees of the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation.

They were elected to fill vacancies caused by the resignations of Virgil Tucker, a charter board member, and James P. McKenna, who has served since late 1959.

New board members are nominated by a five-member committee. This group includes presidents of three civic groups (such as Kiwanis, Rotary, Business and Professional Women Clubs), the current mayor of Tecumseh, and one member selected at-large.

Membership rotates among the various service organization.

The nine-member board of trustees elects its new members from this list of nominees, but the vacancies occuring during the board's terms are selected by the trustees.

Vern Manwaring again was elected board president.

In other action, the board selected Mr. Conway to direct the 1962-63 fund drive. He is expected to organize his drive committee within the next several weeks.

What Price Are You Paying??

Ask yourself this question. Am I paying more for the same prescription drug than my neighbor? Or better, yet, ask your neighbor. We know that when you compare notes, you will find many different prices being charged for THE SAME DRUG. Why the difference? The answer is quite simple. Many stores charge "whatever the traffic will bear." If a customer requests a price or complains about a price, they lower it. If nothing is said, the customer pays the high price. We feel this type of pricing is very unfair. It is a shirking of the very trust that the customer places in the store in which he trades.

We at Hodges do not subscribe to this type of pricing. We feel that "what's fair for one, is fair for all." We know that our average prescription prices are from 10% to 30% lower then our competitors. (How do we know this? We regularly "shop" our competition) That is why we are always willing to quote our prescription prices when you come into our store. So bring your prescriptions to Hodges, where you get lowest prices, and prompt, efficient service. You'll be glad you did.

PEE WEE LEAGUE GETTING UNDERWAY

Pee Wee league action will get underway Monday, June 25. All boys of 7 or 8 years who are interested should report to John Oberlin at the softball field at 1 p.m. Bring your gloves.

At this meeting we will play a little ball, draft into teams, and schedule games for the entire season.

COLT LEAGUE STARTS

Thanks to the efforts of Glen Work, we now have a baseball league for boys 15-17 years of age. We had a good turnout of boys and are expecting more. We will have two or three teams from Tecumseh, one from Deerfield and one from Blissfield. Games will be played on the high school field.

SWIMMING SCHEDULED

There will be competitive swimming from 5 to 5:30 p.m. daily if enough boys and girls are interested. See Vic Lawson at the pool.

More adults are needed for swimming class Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 8:30 to 9:30. Don't forget family nights are Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6:30 to 8:30 at 75c per family.

☆

ATTENTION BLOOPER BALLERS

There will be a meeting Thursday, June 21, at 8 p.m. All teams wishing to enter the league should have a team representative at this meeting at the Community Center.

Playing time has been set for Wednesday nights under the lights.

☆

GIRLS TO COMPETE

The Community Center will be open on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 1 p.m.-3 p.m. for all Junior and Senior High School girls who are interested in playing volley ball, badminton, table tennis and shuffleboard.

A tournament will be held in each activity if enough interest is displayed.

☆

Thirty girls signed up for tennis lessons. The deadline to sign is Friday, June 22. Please contact Carol Kapnick of you haven't enrolled yet.

☆

Only 22 girls have signed for the junior girls softball. There is no age limit, and we need at least 10 more girls to complete the program. Call Carol if you would like to play.

☆

Four Tot Lots are open to all children ages pre-school to 10 yrs. There is no charge, and more children are wanted for the program. Information about the Tot Lot in your area may be obtained from Carol.

☆

UMPIRES NEEDED

Volunteers for base umpires are needed for all the baseball leagues. All games are played at 5:30 p.m. Special training will not be required for these volunteers. Training classes already have been held for the home-plate umpires.

SWIM POOL OPENED FRIDAY AND IT COULDN'T HAVE BEEN A BETTER TIME WITH HOT, SULTRY TEMPERATURES

This Marks 25th Boys State

Eleven hundred and twenty-five boys from all parts of Michigan are at the Michigan State the 25th Annual American Legion Boys' State.

Tecumseh's representatives are:

Donald Becker
David Blanden
Michael Carney
Richard Cobb
Michael Cook
Paul Decker
John Dick
Tom Dickinson
Larrie Eaton
Lee Frost
Dane Greene
Larry Harper
John Hartley
Michael Osburn
Robert Oswald
Philip Radant
Michael Rice
Tim Sisson
Norman Tucker
Adolf Petrus

The boys formed a make-believe "51st State" and will learn democracy-in-action during their eight-day session in government and civics. The teen-agers, who range from 15 to 18 years, are mostly juniors from high schools throughout Michigan. During the 25th Anniversary Year of te Legion's Boys State the youths will also be involved with organizing a newspaper, athletics, swimming clinic, glee club, and meetings. Boys' State is not a schoolroom activity, but is designed as a practical experience in the problem of self-government.

The group was divided into 20 "city divisions" in order to become better acquainted and to campaign for city, county and state elections.

Before the end of the sessions, the members of Boys' State convene at the state capitol building where they visit administrative offices and hold their own sessions in the Senate, House and Supreme Court. Like the real governing bodies of Michigan, they will try to pass laws.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

EARLY EVENING GOSSIP

A chance remark in "Birds of America" gave us a clue worth looking into. "....the Thrasher's aria, delivered usually from a conspicuous perch at the top of a tree or bush (and most frequently in the morning or evening)....". Wt might dispute the frequently, but could our mystedy birds be brown thrashers?

Almost every evening, after dinner and just before dark, we hear the birds. Dad noticed them first, and since then, we have all come to more or less expect their rather raucous gossiping.

At first they will be quite a distance apart, maybe one in the walnut tree out in back and the other across the street in Doctor's big elm.

The conversation goes back and forth and, as the recital of the day's doings gets more and more gossipy, the birds work closer together.

It's easy to follow the 'getting together'; their voices are loud and by listening, it doesn't even have to be carefully, we know when and where they move.

Like the true gossipers they are, they don't especially care who hears their tales but, owning up and actually letting people see who is doing the talking is a different matter.

☆

A VERY different matter — we have had only one slight look. The light was poor but in silhouette it was a long slender bird. This, of course, is another reason we think maybe the busybodies are thrashers.

There is a pair in the neighborhood; we catch brief glimpses of them once in a while. Most attractive birds, as mentioned above, they are fairly long and slender.

"A slim rufous bird. Slightly longer than a Robin; bright rufous-red above, heavily striped below. Has wing-bars, a curved bill, and a long tail."

This description hardly does justice to the richness of their reddish-brown color, the sharpness of their long bills, nor the slender gracefulness of their tails. Most welcome summer-time visitors.

☆

THE PAIR we have is quite shy and not overly inclined to spend much time in the yard but oh, how they love the creekbank.

We will see a mad thrashing in the dry grass, dead leaves, etc., and sure enough, you know who is busy at work.

The commotion they cause while 'scratching up' the tasty snack of bugs and insects is quite like a towhee's.

By the way we have one of those around too, but he must wait until another time.

If our early evening gossips are thrashers, they are so faithful that quite probably they are nesting nearby.

There are certainly a great many ideal spots — the bird books say they prefer dense thorny shrubs or trees.

They build quite close to the ground and if the cover is thick enough, the nests are sometimes on the ground.

The nests are rather interesting, large and built in layers, the outer of coarse twigs, next leaves, then small twigs or stems and the lining is a soft cushion of very fine rootlets.

I realize that the most obvious way to identify our mystery birds is by their voices. To be truthful though, my ear for bird-calls is nothing to brag about.

They converse in a loud, rather shrill manner but, I can't really say it sounds like a hissing, clicking noise with a three note whistle which is how one authority hears the thrasher.

So it is that we are not sure but there is some evidence and maybe brown thrashers are our early evening gossips.

NEXT WEEK:
A Happy Ending

'62 State Fair Dates Advance

The Michigan State Fair will open earlier than usual this year, advancing the deadline for agriculture and livestock entries up to Monday, July 30.

Walter A. Goodman, general manager, explains that the Michigan State Fair, which has opened for years on Labor Day weekend, will close on Labor Day this year, and cautions all exhibitors to be aware of the new 1962 entry deadline and the State Fair dates, Aug. 24 through Sept. 3.

A record $141,000 in prizes will be offered. Thousands of premium books and entry blanks have been mailed to past exhibitors. New exhibitors may obtain these by writing to the Agriculture Entry Office, Michigan State Fair, Detroit 3,

Eldon McLachlan, state fair agricultural director, said that changes listed in this year's Premium Book include:

Livestock and agricultural products will not be released until 4 p.m. of the last day, Monday, Sept. 3, so that Labor Day patrons can view them.

Last year, junior show exhibitors were allowed to exhibit only prize-winning stock in the open show. They will now be permitted to show all animals in open show that they have shown in the junior show.

Premiums totalling $100 have been added for a performance class for Tennessee walking horses.

Added in the sheep competition is prize money for top-rated pairs of yearling rams.

Commissions are not paid on arguments won, but on sales made.
